Churchill Urges Invasion Watchfulness Bomber, Bound From Aliford To Patricia Bay, Meets Disaster

Danger Of Attempted Landing In Great Britain Is By No Means Over

Prime Minister Tells of Unsatisfactory News From Somaliland—Hitler's Program Now Behind Schedule

LONDON, August 15: (CP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House of Commons today that, "although we are much stronger today than we were in May, the danger of invasion has by no means passed away." The Prime Minister referred to persistent forecasts from neutral countries of an invasion attempt. He said that there was still necessity for the utmost precaution against fifth column activities. The danger of this, however, had been reduced to proper proportions and was being taken care of.

The Prime Minister said he had unsatisfactory news about Somaliland and added that a small British force had been driven back from Jugurgen position by greatly superior Italian forces. The Italians were moving against Berbera, the port of British Somaliland, from two directions—from inland across the desert and along the coast.

Meantime the London press jubilantly told readers that the Nazi timetable for the invasion of Great Britain had gone wrong, pointing out that August 15, today, had been set as the day for Hitler's triumphal entry into London. The papers referred to the accomplishments of the Nazi air attack despite the great effort that was being expended and referred to the record of the Royal Air Force in warding off the German attack and carrying the battle into enemy territory.

That the next ten days will bring about a turning point in the whole war appears to be agreed.

Meantime, there are reports that German troops are being concentrated in Norway and Holland for an attempted invasion of Britain.

It is reported that the German High Command is planning to invade Britain by means of a large force of motorized troops, which will be landed in the south of England.

The Home Guard, the new and better name for Britain's Local Defence Volunteers, has added 1,300,000 men to the forces an invader would meet. That is the greatest number that can for the present be armed and employed and there is a growing waiting list of men anxious to serve.

As their original title implied the Home Guards have a specific role. It is not the intention to organize them or equip them as a second line on the model of the regular army.

Their primary duty is to observe and report the enemy's movements and to hold him in check until he can be dealt with by the field army. This particularly applies to watching for and checking parachutists, other airborne enemies.

But their tactical role includes guarding road blocks, stubborn defence of villages and other centres of resistance, protection of factories and vulnerable points of all sorts.

Essentially the Home Guard is a well trained auxiliary force distributed in small groups throughout the country. Naturally the arming, organization and administration of this great mass of men has not been an easy problem.

Arms A Problem

There has of course been no question of arming them up to the standard of the national army. But even to provide small arms and ammunition for such numbers at short notice was a huge undertaking.

The closest co-operation with the military commanders exists. In active operations in any area the military authorities assume direct command.

In any form of operations there is no doubt that the centres of resistance provided by the Home Guard should be of immense value. They would restrict enemy movements and liberate field army troops for offensive action. In particular enemy airborne troops would for the first time encounter an organization prepared to deal with them.

British Expert Sees Home Guard Capable Of Resisting Enemy Movements

Written for The Canadian Press By Maj.-Gen. Fifty-Five German Planes Brought Down Today With Seven British Missing

LONDON, August 15: (CP)—Fifty-five German planes were reported destroyed up to 5 o'clock this afternoon. Seven British fighters are missing. The Air Ministry announced that a large force of enemy bombers had unsuccessfully attacked several Royal Air Force airdromes in southeastern England.

Uncounted numbers of the enemy swept over the coastline seeking out military objectives in the heart of Great Britain.

Bombers attacked an important transAtlantic port for the third successive time.

There were some fatalities in the Tyneside area.

After seeming to veer for a time this morning to northeastern England after a night of comparative quiet, the main force of German attack swung back to the southeast coast this afternoon.

ROYAL AIR FORCE IS SMASHING VIGOROUSLY AT BASES OF GERMANS

Fires Can Be Seen From As Far Away as Channel Coast—Nazi Attack Turns to Northeast England—Yesterday's Score 31 to 9

LONDON, August 15: (CP)—As the Battle of Britain continued with the centre of attack turning today to northeastern England, the Royal Air Force last night conducted a blitzkrieg of its own on German bases along the Continent shore for a distance of one hundred miles. The British were engaged in vast counter-attacks and the effectiveness of them could be seen even from the British coast, the blaze of large fires being evident at that distance. Heavy explosions across the Channel also told of the terrific raids on possible bases for the German blitzkrieg on the British Isles.

Thirty-one enemy planes were brought down and nine British machines were lost yesterday as history's greatest air in history proceeded. German air raiders continued fierce attacks upon Great Britain for the fifth straight day following a night of bombings in Wales, southeast England, north-west Scotland by smaller planes without extensive damage. Today the centre of attack turned to northeast England where there were widespread bombing, early reports showing eight enemy planes were lost.

But, Mr. Eden said, the war department had in hand, not only the work of providing for the present, but was building for the future. He had recently reviewed a part of this army and he had been astonished at the progress made. In the country were half a million troops from Canada, Australia, France, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Holland.

The Home Guard, now a million and a half strong, was admirably adapted to the work it was expected to perform. It was not expected to do the work of the regular army but would be scattered all over the country, an effective check to any attempt to invade the country by means of parachute troops.

Navy In Control

The War Secretary referred to the fact that the British Navy still controlled the seas and the Air Force was steadily gaining strength and proving its worth. With the second phase of the war which had now opened it was well to remember that this was not only a European war. It was a world war. Looking at the map of Europe alone it was plain to see that Hitler had gained spectacular advantages. With the map of the world laid before them the picture changed. Over the oceans came the resources of the world and it was easy to see, without any braggadocio, how the British were going to win the war. Britain had the sea power, so the Germans went after air power. That alone was a strong factor but when combined with sea power, it was stronger far. The chances of victorious for Great Britain were much greater than for Germany.

"When the time comes for Great Britain to strike, where will Hitler find friends?" inquired the speaker. He asked would he find them in the countries he had ravished? These would turn on him when the opportunity came. He would be alone and friendless.

The War Secretary referred to the "new order" of which Hitler spoke. It was just another name for tyranny. There was nothing new about tyranny. Hitler had established no order except the rule of force. The British were determined that there would be a new world after the war, a world made up of free nations. In future there would be no buying off. Peace must be a peace between free nations.

Concluding, Mr. Eden said that the British Empire was standing alone, determined to win the victory, "and by God's help she will succeed."

All Five on Board, Including Squadron Leader R. C. Proctor of Edmonton, Lose Their Lives

OTTAWA, August 15: (CP)—Another Royal Canadian Air Force bombing plane out of the new base at Aliford Bay, Queen Charlotte Islands, has been lost with five men on board. An official announcement issued early today by Hon. C. G. Power, minister of defence for air, gave no details other than the names of the dead and that the plane had crashed while on a routine flight from Aliford Bay to Patricia Bay, Vancouver Island. The cause of the accident has not been determined.

The five killed were:

Squadron Leader R. C. Proctor of Edmonton.

Flying Officer H. L. Gordon of Regina.

Flying Officer J. G. H. Desbiens of Vancouver.

Captain G. H. Bourne, Royal Canadian Air Force Ordnance Corps, Ottawa.

Corp. R. G. Brown, Vancouver.

The announcement followed reports from Courtney, Vancouver Island, last night that an unidentified plane had crashed in Discovery Passage, a mile south of Seymour Narrows. The cruising Swedish yacht Southern Cross, which figured in the Athenia rescue on the first day of the war, two halibut boats and a police boat had taken up a rescue search at that time, finding two red striped pontoons.

EDEN SAYS REAL WAR STILL DUE

Defence Of Britain Is Only Second Phase, Declares Secretary Of State For War—Defeat Of Germany Inevitable

LONDON, Aug. 15:—"The real war will begin when we take the offensive," declared Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, secretary of state for war, in an address last night. The second phase of the "Battle of Britain," that in which the Army would take part, might be about to commence, Eden said. "We make no boasts but we feel confident," the war secretary declared.

Mr. Eden warned the people of England that the war had hardly begun. The defence of Great Britain was only another stage. The final and most important stage would come when the British took the offensive.

Reviewing the events of the past few months the minister referred particularly to the big effort in saving practically the whole of the forces at Dunkirk. These men, after their arrival in England, had to be sorted out and various units to which they belonged brought up to strength. They also had to be equipped throughout, a tremendous task.

But, Mr. Eden said, the war department had in hand, not only the work of providing for the present, but was building for the future. He had recently reviewed a part of this army and he had been astonished at the progress made. In the country were half a million troops from Canada, Australia, France, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Holland.

SUCCESSORS OF KEY WAR OFFICIALS ARE NAMED BY CANBERRA GOVERNMENT

CANBERRA, Aug. 15: (CP) — Major General John Northcott was appointed chief of Australian Army staff yesterday, succeeding Lieutenant General Cyril White who was killed with nine others in a plane crash on Tuesday. Senator Phillip McBride and Representative Arthur Fadden were sworn in as acting ministers of defence and air respectively, succeeding George Grey Stess, defence minister, and J. V. Fairbairn, air minister.

ITALIANS SINK GREEK WARSHIP—CRISIS APPEARS STILL HEADING FOR SHOWDOWN

ATHENS, Aug. 15: (CP)— All telephonic communication with Rome was severed today shortly after the government announced the sinking of the 2000-ton light cruiser Helle by an unidentified submarine. There were thirty-one casualties.

Following the refusal of Premier Metaxas to comply with the Italo-German demand to renounce the security guarantee treaty with Great Britain, the danger of an Italian attack on Italy is held likely. The Premier is in consultation with army, navy and air force chiefs.

The Helle was sunk at a quay 100 miles south of Athens during a religious celebration. Two torpedoes hit the quay and one the ship. Some pilgrims on the quay were killed.

ORGANIZE REST ROOMS

LONDON, Aug. 15: (CP)— Rest rooms where people may go "to pull themselves together" if their homes are bombed, are being organized. Victims will receive free refreshments while they make arrangements to go elsewhere.

THE STUFF THAT WINS

All the evidence available seems to indicate that the British airplanes and airmen are far superior to the Germans. That accounts for the difference in the number of casualties on either side. From all the information available it seems that very many of the British airmen look upon the shooting of Germans as a sport and they talk nonchalantly of "yesterday's bag" or "today's bag," expressions used in shooting birds. There is no such thing as worry there but only a spirit of supreme confidence in the outcome. That is the spirit that wins.

MARKET IN ENGLAND

Evidently the British people are carrying on their ordinary vocations as usual during this trying time. The German threat is worrying them very little. The factory workers are being urged to carry on producing goods for export in order to pay for the guns, ammunition and airplanes they are importing. All are going about their daily tasks only with increased tempo.

A trial shipment of cottonwood logs has recently been shipped from British Columbia to that country for use in manufacturing veneers for chip baskets. Much of this wood has in the past been imported from the Baltic states but that is not now available. Prince Rupert people should be interested in this because there are some large stands of cottonwood in this district.

ANOTHER GOEBBELS MYTH

"Propaganda Minister Goebbels is having the time of his life telling the German people that Canada and Canadians are bitterly opposed to participation in the British Empire's war effort and are 'rising' against the policy of the English warmongers," says the Victoria Times. "But the Herr Doktor always manages to knit into his manufactured yarn a few stitches which carry some slight idea of a pattern. He assures the Nazi reader that Canada's armaments industries have developed but very slowly.

"But Goebbels always overplays his hand. Large front-page headlines in Berlin newspapers, for instance appear over the most fantastic ditties about 'mass arrests in Canada' and confident assertions that 'a far-reaching expression of change of outlook is gathering momentum. Back of this of course, is the recent affair with Houde. All the Nazi radio stations last week seized upon the Montreal mayor's defiance of the Dominion's registration law. But half-starved Germans will require more than this to keep up their spirits. They are probably wondering what has happened to Hitler's timetable. He is due in London today. And Canada 'carries on' with greater speed from day to day."

ITALY BEGINNING TO GET IT

Italy is beginning to feel the war coming home to her. It seems as if the British high command ignored the Italians until the people from across the Alps joined with the Germans in the bombardment of Britain. Now they must expect reprisals. Several cities have felt the weight of Britain's hand and the Italian forces in Somaliland have been repulsed and a small drive has been made into Italian Libya. No large scale operation against Italian forces can be expected while Britain is threatened with invasion. Once that situation is cleared up, the course will be all set for more active participation of the British in the Mediterranean.

WAR SECRETARY EDEN LOOKS OVER ENGLAND

Large areas along England's east coast have been ruled military areas and have been evacuated of their civilian populations. Secretary of War Anthony Eden is shown inspecting one of these areas, where "vines" of barbed wire now take the place of climbing roses. Behind Eden is Lieutenant-General A. F. A. N. Thorne, who is commanding this particular area. It is reported that the British have fortified these zones with pill boxes and a great array of artillery. Premier Winston Churchill is reported to have remarked on viewing a sector, "I'd hate to be the Nazi who landed here."

FRENCH CANADA DOING PART ON MANY FRONTS IN CANADA WAR EFFORT

Gives Men For Land, Sea and Air While Plants Work at Capacity to Provide Sinews of War

QUEBEC, August 15: (CP)—Sons and daughters of New France, like the rest of Canada, have rallied to the Empire cause, some of them already in the war zone, others in training to serve and still others working on the home front. Shells, ships, tanks and planes are among industrialized Quebec's contributions of war materials in addition to quantities of army clothing and accessories for the soldier.

Some ships for the Royal Canadian Navy already have come off Quebec ways. In ever increasing numbers others will follow. Some planes also have been produced and the tempo is being speeded up. Before long "Mark III" tanks will rumble out of Quebec shops, the first such machines of war to be built in Canada.

At first, however, as in most areas, French Canada's initial contribution was in manpower for the 1st division, such as those men who formed the Royal 22nd Regiment, famed in the First Great War.

Thousands of men have been recruited in the province. Modern war necessitates skilled men and the demand has been for tradesmen of all kinds to serve in the forces.

Among Quebec regiments which have become mechanized are the Duke of Connaught's Royal Canadian Hussar and the Duke of York's Canadian Hussars. Formerly cavalry regiments, these now are motorized and armored car outfits. At Sherbrooke, centre of military activity in the Eastern Townships, the 35th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, was mobilized on the outbreak of war and became part of the 1st Division. The 73rd Battery from Mascois went on active service with the 2nd Division.

After a lull during the early spring, recruiting stepped up to bring thousands of young men out for training in the militia at camps at St. John's, Bruno and Valcartier.

Air Force Attracts
The air beckoned other youths and in Montreal several hundred are in training at No. 1 wireless school of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Many other training establishments for air force personnel are operating or being prepared in the province.

Many others, living near the St. Lawrence and within striking distance of the sea, have turned to the navy and gone into service through the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

Women are serving too, in factories, for the most part making shells and clothing. Virtually all of Quebec's industrial plants are working at capacity; textiles, fabrication plants, airplane factories and chemical works.

One of the most important industries in Canada, Vickers' Limited, already has produced several anti-submarine craft for the Royal Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy. The Aluminum Company of Can-

QUEEN IS WORRIED

Alice Marble Fears Helen Jacobs And Others More Than Rising Stars

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15: (CP)—When Queen Alice Marble puts her national singles tennis crown on the block at Forest Hills, there will be a promising pack of rising stars nipping at her heels.

They may be a bit worrisome to the winsome young blonde who rules the tennis world at 26, but they're not her biggest worries—not by long odds.

Some of them, Queen Alice confides, are good enough, of course, to upset even the best laid plans on the right day, but Miss Marble fears a couple of court-wise veterans far more.

Who might be the ten young women most likely to dethrone her?

"First of all," she said, "there's Helen Jacobs. Don't forget her. She's been playing regularly and should be in top-notch form by the nationals. In top-notch form she can play plenty of tennis and I look for her to be right in there at the last."

Next, Miss Marble listed Sarah Palfrey, last year's No. 3 in the national rankings. Miss Palfrey was topped last year only by Miss Jacobs and Miss Marble. Miss Jacobs, Alice recalled quickly, carried her to three torrid sets in the 1939 finals.

After those two, the field is wide open, Alice believes, but of the next best challengers she picked Virginia Wolfenden, No. 5 for 1939, as the most likely winner. Miss Wolfenden has been playing excellent tennis, improved greatly over the form that carried her to the semi-finals last year when she forced Alice to three sets.

The other seven could be Gracyn Wheeler, Helen Bernhard, Pauline Betz, Dorothy Bundy, Mary Arnold, Hope Knowles or Patricia Canning.

Pledges Loyalty To Slain Fiance

LEAMINGTON, Eng., Aug. 15: (CP)—Two women stood in front of a soldier's photograph in a small house here while one, Mrs. E. Arnold, placed on the other's finger the engagement ring which the soldier intended giving the girl, Kathleen Canning.

Private Edward Potts, adopted by Mrs. Arnold when he was six weeks old, was killed in action before he could come home to marry the girl of his choice. His last request to Mrs. Arnold was that she sanction the engagement to the 18-year-old girl. The marriage was arranged before they heard he had been killed.

Kathleen told a reporter: "I shall wear this ring all my life. No man could ever replace him and so I shall never marry."

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Peoples Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and peevish.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car, it takes the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

WEDDED IN VANCOUVER

Former Prince Rupert Boy is Bridegroom at Ceremony Last Saturday

Canadian Memorial Church in Vancouver, with Rev. A. M. Sanford officiating, was the scene last Saturday evening of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Mary Bennett, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bennett of Vancouver, and Gordon Henry Williscroft, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williscroft, formerly of Prince Rupert and now of Vancouver. A reception was held after the church ceremony at "Green-croft," Vancouver residence of the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber.

Classical white French slipper satin slightly entrain, with a tulle veil falling from a satin cap on which orange blossoms clustered at each side, and a bouquet of roses and swainsonia was the becoming wedding costume of the beautiful bride. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Margaret Williscroft, as maid of honor and her own sister, Miss May Bennett as bridesmaid. The former was frocked in blue taffeta, the latter in peach chiffon. Made alike with pleated boleros and little flowered toques to match their gowns. They carried armfuls of pink and blue delphiniums and pink carnations.

James Foster was groomsman and Messrs. Keith McKee, George McTaggart and Gordon Fetterly ushered.

Receiving the guests at the reception the bride's mother wore chiffon, in Indian earth shade with lace bolero, embroidered in gold sequins and brown felt hat, while Mrs. Williscroft favored a dusky pink sheer with navy hat and accents.

The house was filled with white gladioli and planted greenery while the wedding cake, lighted by white tapers, was surrounded with a white floral wreath in which there were sprigs of white heather for luck.

Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Charles Ashcroft of Victoria, Mrs. W. A. Williscroft, Mrs. Robert Davie and Mrs. V. Turner, while serving were Misses Dorothy English, Ellen Hart, De Heart, Eleanor Aherns and Irene Traup.

Brown, beige and green was the attractive color combination of the bride's three-piece travelling ensemble, the topcoat collared in wolf-her-hat in the green.

The couple will live in Vancouver. The groom is Captain of the oil tanker Dinamic.

Prince Rupert people attending the wedding and reception included Mrs. Janet Smith, Miss Peggy Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Reid, Mrs. Robert Davie, Miss Molly Frew, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Jabour, Mrs. William Sims, Mrs. G. V. Wilkinson, Mrs. W. T. Kergin, Miss Ruth Wilkinson and Mrs. Fred Stewart.

Surprise Party On Her Birthday

Mrs. Julius Johnson Guest Of Honor At Affair This Week

A delightful surprise party was held on Monday evening last in honor of Mrs. Julius Johnson, the occasion being her birthday. The home of Mrs. Hveding, where the party was held, was tastefully decorated. Games were played during the evening, the following being the winners: Mrs. C. Johnson, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber.

Classical white French slipper satin slightly entrain, with a tulle veil falling from a satin cap on which orange blossoms clustered at each side, and a bouquet of roses and swainsonia was the becoming wedding costume of the beautiful bride. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Margaret Williscroft, as maid of honor and her own sister, Miss May Bennett as bridesmaid.

Present were Mrs. S. Skog, Mrs. J. Ivarsen, Mrs. E. Evensen, Mrs. H. Helland, Mrs. J. Jerstad, Mrs. J. Murvold, Mrs. T. Solien, Mrs. E. Valen, Mrs. H. Hogan, Mrs. H. Knutson, Mrs. J. Feness, Mrs. C. Johnson, Mrs. M. Hveding, Mrs. Platen, Mrs. H. Erikson, Mrs. O. Bendickson, Mrs. C. Strand, Mrs. J. Strand, Mrs. O. Skog, Mrs. O. Kildal, Mrs. O. Wick, Mrs. P. Petersen, Mrs. P. Leland, Mrs. A. Erickson, Mrs. M. Jensen, Mrs. T. Hill, Mrs. C. Jensen and Miss A. Petersen.

The gardens are in a sad mess after the continued rains and blustery weather of the past two weeks. Many of the lawns have not been mown and the sweet peas and other tall plants are sprawled about, except where they were well tied. However, a few days of sunshine and the color will be returning to the gardens.

It is hoped that there will be good weather from now until the flower show next week. Otherwise, the show is likely to be disappointing. However, this is the dahlia season and also the season for gladioli and the competition in these classes should be keen. Manager C. P. Balagno is not at all worried and confidently expects there will be a fine exhibit.

Local gardeners seem to be of general opinion that there has never been such a plague of slugs and caterpillars as this year. If this continues we shall have to turn our thoughts to spraying at the time when spraying is likely to be of value. It might be well to discuss this with the flower show judge, Mr. White, who will be in the city next week. He is a professional horticulturist and should be able to advise for next year.

THESE ARE THE FLAKES FOR ME TRA-LA!

They'll really give you the "lift" you need

The busier you are, the more vital is a breakfast that does three essential things: (1) rouses your sleepy appetite; (2) gives you the quick energy you need; (3) helps sustain you through hours of driving work.

Proven first in flavour, rich in energizing "carbohydrates," Kellogg's Corn Flakes help keep you going for hours. Time-saving, too—30 seconds to serve... no pots to clean.

Get Kellogg's Corn Flakes—several packages tomorrow! When you breakfast out, insist on the wax-wrapped individual package! Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

"Kellogg's five to one," say families across Canada. Yes, when housewives in every province answered this question: "What ready-to-eat cereal is favoured in your family?" five times as many said "Kellogg's" as said ANY other kind of corn flakes. The trained palates of flavour experts, testing all four brands of corn flakes, back up the housewives vote. One of many to take this impartial test, M. Claude Bujard, Chef of the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, says: "This corn-flake taste-test definitely proved to me that Kellogg's win on flavour!"

ECONOMICAL! A few pennies provide the family's breakfast or supper when you serve fresher, crisper Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Ask your grocer for the new family-size package tomorrow.

JR. RIFLE CLUB HERE

Idea Brought Up At Regular Canadian Legion Meeting—Other Business Last Night

At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion last evening, with Jack Preece in the chair, the formation of a Junior Rifle team was discussed. William Brass gave an outline of the activities of the Canadian National Recreation Association Rifle Club and also indicated how a junior club might be formed. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting and, depending on the number of boys interested, action will be taken. The members were very anxious that this form of sport and its attendant advantages should be made the most of. Prince Rupert was particularly fortunate in having the Dominion of Canada championship team in its midst and the members were generously offering their services as coaches.

There was a lengthy report of the activities of the Canadian Legion War Services Incorporated. These included a progress report on the Educational Program. This has meant a great deal of work as it was necessary to co-ordinate plans for British Columbia with those of the other provinces so that troops moving from one area to another, could continue their studies. There were twelve courses now planned. A beginning had been made for the inclusion of the naval services in the general plan.

Reports of the Canadian Legion Defence Corps showed that the scheme was being rapidly extended throughout the province though details must await recommendation of the Attorney-General with regard to province wide co-ordination and official recognition. In connection with the local War Savings drive the branch will support this and H. A. Breen was appointed delegate to the local committee.

Mrs. Jan C. Smuts Appeals for Big War Effort by South African Women

JOHANNESBURG, Aug. 15: (CP)—An appeal to women to join men in taking the place of men released from their work for active service was voiced by Mrs. Jan Smuts in addressing members of the National Council of Women here.

der, torture—call it what you like—but we are up against something terrible," the wife of the South African Prime Minister said. "We have gone back centuries to barbarism, to things which we thought could never happen again."

The fate of millions, said Mrs. Smuts, hangs in the balance and it is essential that every South African strengthen the hands of the government in its efforts to combat Nazism.

ECONOMIES IN STYLES

LONDON, Aug. 15: (CP)—Shorter skirts—a matter of economy and not of fashion—are to be the style for British women.

For weeks new styles have been displayed and generally can be summed up briefly as follows:

(1) Shorter skirts for the daytime. "We must save material," say the designers, so hem-lines are 17 or 18 inches above the ground—about two inches shorter than a year ago.

(2) Slick-fitting jackets for suits with a well-defined waistline, big pockets—four is the ordinary allowance on a coat. Jackets come about four inches below the hip-bone.

(3) Wrap coats are very loose with a full back, are sometimes belted, or close-fitting to the waist and flare outwards at the hem.

(4) Fur being on the "luxury" list, its use as trimming is strictly rationed. The majority of wrap coats are plain and collarless; some have a shallow fur collar, and a narrow band of fur outlining the pockets.

British tweeds and woollens are "star" turns. An agency for these materials had been opened in New York.

ROYAL AIR FORCE IS

planes brought down. The authoritative London Times said: "This is, in fact, the beginning of the blitzkrieg" as waves of at least five hundred raiders appeared over various areas yesterday. A furious ninety minute attack on the southeast coast was broken up by Royal Air Force fighters and anti-aircraft guns. Reports from southeastern and southern ports told of major sky battles waged there. First reports for the day indicated ten raiders shot down, the number increasing as the day proceeded. The industrial plants were subjected to the heaviest and most severe bombing of the war. Several were killed when bombs hit three buildings.

Seventeen parachutes bearing German markings were found in Midland villages yesterday and elsewhere similar parachutes were found. The Ministry of Home Security appealed to the public to report information there might be in regard to parachute troops landing in England. Police and home guards on foot and in armored cars, stopped all traffic in areas where the parachutes were found. Earlier reports said that eleven German airmen who apparently bailed out by parachute from planes shot down, had been captured in the Midlands. There was no further evidence that German parachutists had landed. A Berlin dispatch suggested that parachutists had been dropped to sabotage factories in industrial England.

An Air Ministry source said that more than 140 German planes were "probably destroyed" and damaged in air battles on Monday and Tuesday in addition to 140 definitely destroyed.

British bombers attacked Junkers aircraft factories at Dessau and Bernburg and munitions factories at Lunen and Gravenbroich, the Air Ministry announced. Fourteen airdromes in Germany, Belgium, Holland and France were also bombed.

Send In Your News Earlier

Due to changed conditions arising from the handling of late war news, the Daily News finds it necessary to set a 10 a.m. deadline for local news contributions. To insure publication it will be necessary for contributors to have their copy in by that time or earlier if possible, preferably the night before. Otherwise it may not be published.

"FREE FRENCHMEN" CELEBRATE IN LONDON

The 14th of July, national holiday of France, was celebrated in London, England, by those "free Frenchmen" who are still defying Adolf Hitler and his Nazis. General De Gaulle, leader of the "free Frenchmen," is shown here inspecting French troops in London on Bastille Day.

Whifflets From the Waterfront

C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil McLean, in port from 10 o'clock yesterday morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon on her way from Vancouver to Skagway carried another large list of round trip tourist passengers for Alaska. Space on the vessel for the voyage is at a premium. She will be back here next Monday southbound.

Completing the third of three special Alaska tourist cruises she has made this season, C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte, Capt. William Palmer, was in port from 9 o'clock yesterday morning until noon. She had not called northbound on this voyage. Aboard the Princess Charlotte on arrival here were 207 passengers, all but two of whom were round trippers. These two were local passengers from Ketchikan who disembarked at Prince Rupert.

Illness has made it necessary for W. E. Baillie, chief engineer of the steamer Prince Rupert, which was in port yesterday, to remain ashore at his home in Vancouver. George Davidson, second engineer is acting as chief during his absence.

TROUT FRY FOR LAKES

Kamloops Minnows Are Placed At Diana and Denise By Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club

Planting of some 100,000 Kamloops trout fry in lakes around Prince Rupert has been completed by the Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club. The bulk of the minnows, liberated following hatching of the eggs at the hatchery at the government wharf, were released in Diana Lake, this having been carried out at the first of this week. Previously some 15,000 had been put into Rainbow Lake and about 5,000 in Denise Lake. About one thousand were also liberated at Barrett Point.

The planting of the fry was carried out under the general direction of Charles Balagno who had also supervised the hatching. Assisting in connection with the planting at Diana Lake were G. W. Abbott, J. M. Walker, William Rothwell, Terry Grimble, Arthur Hingston, Fred Withers and Ed Martin.

In connection with the planting at Rainbow Lake Leon Blain, Theo Fortune, Bruce Blay, Peter Gamula and S. J. Hunter assisted. The fry were transported to Denise Lake by R. G. Large and C. E. Stern with their boats Neiris and Rudan. James Boyd and Joe Scott assisting.

ALL'S WELL OVER THERE

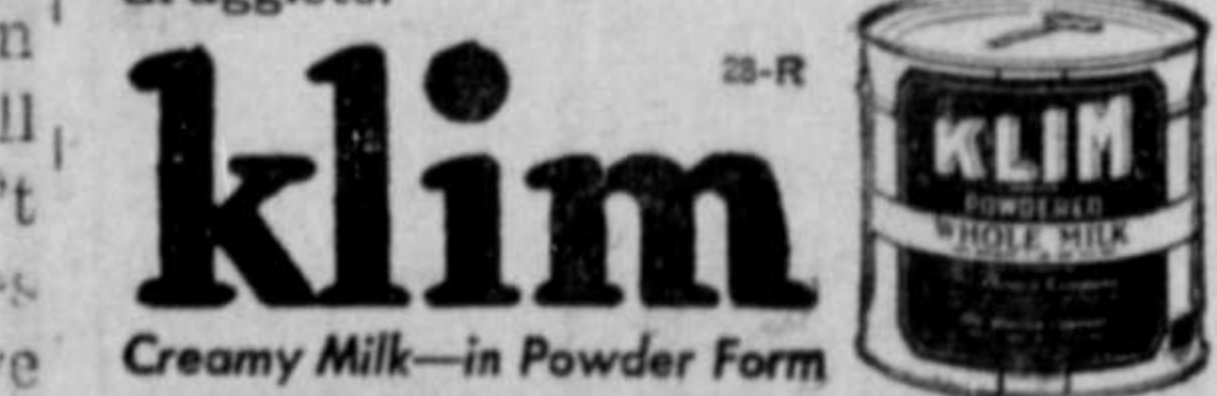

"We Have Nothing to Worry About," Writes Sister of Mrs. Elfert From Sussex, England

"We have nothing to worry about, no matter how long and tedious the task of squashing the 'Nasty Nazi' may take," writes Mrs. John Turpie from her home in Sussex, England, to Mrs. J. R. Elfert of this city. Mrs. Turpie was a visitor in Prince Rupert a couple of years ago and many who made her acquaintance will be interested to hear what she has to say about the Old Land in wartime. "I suppose you wonder about us all in this island fortress of ours and try to picture what kind of lives we live. Well, really, life goes on as usual although we are in a defence area here. We are all well prepared and getting stronger every day. The general feeling is that Hitler will either shirk an invasion or, if he does attempt one, it will be a complete failure so you don't need to worry about us. Our forces are great and, as for food, we have all we want of everything with no possibility of it being otherwise. "Don't believe a word of the German propaganda that our morale is completely broken with their air raids. As a matter of fact, they only stiffen us up. They have done us no important damage anywhere."

It's the cumulative effect of an artistic that counts

"AN IDEAL MILK for Babies!" says Elsie, the Borden Cow. "Klim is pasteurized cow's milk with only the water removed. Simply replace the water and you have superior quality milk. So you can use your favorite formula method by simply modifying Klim milk. Wherever you go, your baby is assured a milk supply of unquestionable safety and uniformity. Formulas made from Klim are more digestible because the milk forms a smaller, softer curd. The fat particles are broken down very fine. Get Klim at all good grocers and druggists."
