War in Yugoslavia Seems Increasingly Apparent—Croats Pledge Support to Serb Policy Strategic Mid-Atlantic Island Subject of interesting discourse to Gyro Club by Rev. J. H. Myrwang

BELGRADE, April 3.—The imminence of war in Yugoslavia came even closer today as the German government ordered home to Berlin the entire embassy staff with the exception of a charge d'affaires and military attaches. All other Nazi consular representatives throughout Yugoslavia have also been ordered home.

An extraordinary meeting of the Yugoslav cabinet was called following the definite collapse of Italian efforts at mediation.

Indications were today that full support had been pledged by the Croats to the foreign policy of the new Yugoslav government.

United States Demands Recall Of Nazi Envoy

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 3: (CP)—The United States today demanded the immediate recall of Admiral Alberto Lais on the grounds that he was connected with sabotaging of Italian merchant ships in this country.

"The hinge upon which the door swung that opened America to Europe" were the words which had been used by one historian in referring to Iceland. Those words might be of significance and, possibly, not in a very agreeable way before the present crisis in world affairs is over. So it was suggested by Rev. J. H. Myrwang, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, in speaking interestingly upon the subject of Iceland before the regular weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club yesterday. Mr. Myrwang gave a very enlightening discourse on this strategically situated island nation in mid-Atlantic. Clearing up what might have been a misunderstanding in the minds of some, Mr. Myrwang emphasized that Iceland was by no means subject to or under Denmark. It was absolutely independent and self-governing. The only tie-up with Denmark was an agreement which expires in 1943 whereby the King of Denmark was the nominal King of Iceland.

Mr. Myrwang gave information respecting the geography, location and size of Iceland and described its appearance. The coastline was one of long and deep fjords with great valleys and peninsulas with many islands. Inland were high mountains with a central plateau. Glaciers, waterfalls, lakes, geysers and hot springs were numerous. The north coast was very cold in winter and none too warm in summer but the south coast was temperate due to the gulf stream. There were no forests of evergreens although there was some deciduous growth. There was an abundance of grass which was very rich and the valleys were highly productive from an agricultural standpoint, growth being promoted by warm water in the soil. There were no wild animals but stock was successfully raised. The speaker had seen in that country the largest dairy farm that he had run across anywhere in the world. Sea birds were abundant, Iceland was a misnomer for much of Iceland was mild and verdant.

The principal industry of Iceland was the fishing, the seas being prolific with cod the principal variety. There were also herring, halibut, haddock, salmon and trout. As well as the ocean, the streams abounded in fish. Eighty per cent of the exports of Iceland consisted of fish.

Local First Aiders Asked To Go North

Charles Graham, inspector of mines, appeared before the men's first aid class of the local St. John's Ambulance Association at this week's regular session with an invitation for a local team or teams to participate in the annual First Aid Competitions of the Portland Canal district which are to be held at Premier in May. Mr. Graham suggested that Prince Rupert first aiders might compete in the novice and senior classes. As the competitions are held on a Saturday it would be possible for local teams to make the trip north with a minimum loss of time. Teams consist of five members each.

On Tuesday evening of next week the men's class will be having examinations following the course which has been in progress for the past couple of months. A week from Tuesday the women's class will have examinations.

CHAMBER OF MINES MEET

Prince Rupert Men Included on Directorate of Smithers Body

SMITHERS, April 3.—The Omnipaca Branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines held its annual meeting in the village hall at Smithers on Friday evening. There was a fair attendance and a considerable amount of business pertaining to the branch was dealt with.

In the election of officers for the ensuing year the same slate was re-elected. Several members representing Prince Rupert were included in the directorate, these being R. C. Mutch, as vice-president, with T. W. Brown and Dr. R. C. Bamford on the executive committee.

Several applications for small appropriations for mining trails were recommended.

IDENTIFY REMAINS

By means of a liquor permit found in the clothing as well as by the clothing and general appearance of the remains, a body which was recovered at noon yesterday from the harbor where it was found floating near the Prince Rupert cannery on the ocean dock has been identified as that of John ("Big Jock") Morrison, well known as a teamster and packer here and at Stewart for upwards of twenty years. Morrison had been missing since February 8 from his quarters in the Dominion Rooms. He had been unwell and friends were anxious as to what might have happened to him. All the circumstances appear to point to drowning. An inquest is being held this afternoon.

The body was sighted about 100 yards off a float at the end of the ocean dock by two natives, Silas and Robert Innes, who were in a rowboat. They tied a rope to it and secured it to a log, notifying the police who took it out of the water.

The inquest opened yesterday afternoon and, after the body had been viewed by the jury, was adjourned until this afternoon when taking of evidence commenced. Coroner Norman A. Watt is conducting the inquest and the jurors are Rev. J. H. Myrwang, Joseph Crowder, George Ciccone, A. Dominato, S. J. Hunter and Allan Ritchie.

Morrison was a native of Scotland about 57 years or so of age. He had been employed here by the Lindsay Cartage Co. and at Stewart by the Crawford Transportation Co. He is believed to have a brother, Frank Morrison, at Jasper.

Demise Of Hungarian Government Head Said To Have Been Under Tragic Circumstances

BUDAPEST, April 3.—Premier Paul Teleki of Hungary died last night at the age of sixty-two under what were officially described as "tranquil circumstances." Reports to London said that Count Teleki's wife was also dead.

The official Hungarian news agency later said that Teleki had committed suicide. This was after the Foreign Office had said that the Premier's unexpected death during the night had resulted from a heart ailment, reported that the count had taken his own life having been at first denied.

Earlier dispatches said the Count's wife had died an hour before her husband but the Foreign Office later she was alive although very ill.

The Hungarian government is said to have resigned as a result of Teleki's death.

MANITOBA ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Premier Bracken Goes to Electors on Program of Coalition Government

WINNIPEG, April 3: (CP)—Manitoba's April 22 election will be the first electoral test for a coalition government in Canada since the outbreak of war. Hon. John Bracken, premier continuously since August 8, 1922, of Progressive and, later, Liberal-Progressive governments, announced formation of a coalition cabinet last November 4. The premier expressed hope the union "will result in a spirit of unity on the part of all our people with respect not only to the war but to progressive measures to meet the immediate post-war problems."

Supporting the government during the subsequent legislature session were the 23 Liberal-Progressive members, 14 of the 15 Conservatives, the six Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation members, four of the five Social Crediters and three of the four independents with two seats vacant in the 55-member house. Opposed were Miss Salome Halldorson (S.C. St. George) where a few days ago they first cut the rail life line leading to Djuibuti. Miesso is about 113 miles east of the Ethiopian capital. Its capture was announced today by the Middle East command.

During the month of March the Royal Air Force announced that Italians lost 178 aircraft in the Middle East.

peg's relief costs. A Royal Commission investigated the city's financial set-up and the legislature authorized the city to raise additional revenues through taxes on liquor sales and power consumption and through increased water rates. For Agriculture Supporting Premier Bracken in a fight for better treatment of agriculture, the legislature passed resolutions urging Dominion legislation to protect debt-burdened farmers from their creditors and to establish "parity prices" for farm produce. In the fifth and last session, with the coalition cabinet in office, government legislation received easy passage. The House adopted unanimously a Bracken resolution urging the Dominion to make the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act effective in Manitoba and approved a bill which would authorize the courts to reduce principal of a farm debt where crop conditions show returns insufficient for the farmer to meet his indebtedness. Status of coalition in the election is not yet established but leaders of all groups supporting the union have announced their candidates will run under their own party banner as coalition supporters.

FALL OF MASSAUA IS NEAR

Complete Control By British Of East African Country Is Due Momentarily

British Sinking More Destroyers Drive Against Addis Ababa is Continuing Rapidly—Miesso is Latest Capture

WORST TO COME ROME, April 3: (CP)—Mario Appellus, Fascist military commentator, prepared Italians today for news of "further painful losses" in what appeared to be virtual admissions of the loss of Ethiopia through the imminent fall of Addis Ababa and Dessie.

CAIRO, April 3: (CP)—Massaua, Eritrean port on the Red Sea and last big objective of the British campaign in Eritrea, is expected to fall at any minute, military sources said tonight. The fall of Massaua will completely end Italian control in Eritrea. It is not expected the Italians will make any serious effort to defend Massaua.

A second Italian destroyer has been sunk and a third lost in a sinking condition by British naval airplanes after the craft attempted to escape from Massaua, the British Admiralty at London announced today. Sinking of a first destroyer attempting to leave Massaua was announced yesterday.

Meanwhile the British drive in Ethiopia towards the capital of Addis Ababa continues uninterrupted. The capture by advance troops of Miesso has carried the British almost a third of the way into Addis Ababa from Dire Dawa where a few days ago they first cut the rail life line leading to Djuibuti. Miesso is about 113 miles east of the Ethiopian capital. Its capture was announced today by the Middle East command.

Withdraw in Libya In North Africa the British command announced that troops in Libya had withdrawn to positions north of Agedabia followed by Axis mechanized forces, Germans having joined the Italians. During the month of March the Royal Air Force announced that Italians lost 178 aircraft in the Middle East.

Want Peace Badly . . .

A great many German people including Adolf Hitler, want peace and want it badly. Already the war has been strung out much longer than was anticipated and has been carried into German territory.

There is no suggestion that the German people are ready to sacrifice their leader in order to bring about peace. There is no indication of such a move. The only indication is that the people do not like living on poor food and none too much of that and that it seems likely many more German lives will be lost before the end comes.

What is true in Germany is much more accentuated in Italy. That country is beginning to suffer from an inferiority complex which is replacing the feeling of exaltation that was fostered by Mussolini when he pictured to the people the rise of the old Roman Empire holding a dominant place in the world of the future. That dream has disappeared. What is needed now is a land defeat for the German army. It is likely to come at any time and, if it does, we may well say that German power and prestige are on the wane.

Ambition Was Fatal . . .

Prior to the first great war Germany was capturing the trade of the whole world. Her sea power was increasing, her merchant marine was very large and she bid fair to oust Britain, her only remaining important competitor. But that was not fast enough. She wanted to gain supreme power more quickly so she set out to try to smash her neighbors by force of arms. She failed, lost her navy and her merchant marine. She made another start and was encouraged by her former foes to rebuild her country. Then came Hitler and sowed anew the old seeds of militarism. She became ambitious to win quickly and the result we see today. She has the whole world in chaos but she cannot win. She will have to start from the bottom once more when the war is over and this time she will be given little encouragement.

Growing Power . . .

British power is steadily on the increase. The combined efforts of the Empire and that of the United States are so increasing the air power and the shipping facilities that Germany is being beaten in the air and on sea. The British armies are being steadily built up into a most formidable force that, together with her allies, are probably a match for the German armies. So far their relative strengths have not been tested but, knowing our men and having a just cause, we feel sure we can beat them anywhere. The Italian resistance has crumbled before our forces and there is nothing to show that Germany is any stronger than Italy. Germany has evaded actual fighting as much as possible and, except under the terribly adverse conditions of Belgium and France, has not yet met the British army. British Tommies are anxious to test their relative strength.

YEAR OF TRIUMPH IS SEEN

Speaker Sees Opportunity For Canada To Take Leading Part In Preserving Democracy

There is a wonderful opportunity today for all Canadians to take a leading part in the united effort of the three English speaking democracies, said Mrs. Irene Baird, guest speaker of the Women's Canadian Club, at a dinner last night in the Commodore Cafe, Miss E. M. Esel presiding. Mrs. Baird said that all the European democracies loved their freedom just as Canadians do and today they looked to the English speaking democracies as their only hope. "Because of that we Canadians have a great responsibility as being the important link between Great Britain and the United States," said Mrs. Baird.

Mrs. Baird referred back to the year 1909, the birth date of the International Joint Commission formed to prevent disputes in regard to boundary waters and other problems connected with the common frontier of the two nations. The undefended boundary between Canada and the United States was a by-word and the wonder of the whole world.

The American people, after the last war which ended fruitlessly, resolved never again to concern itself with European quarrels. England and France, as well as America, shut their eyes to what was happening in Germany in the years that followed. The policy of each was more and more self-centred. Only one man was awake to the true facts during those days and he was Winston Churchill, who spoke out clearly but the country would not listen. Hitler was treated as a grotesque joke but to Churchill he was a real menace. His warnings, however, fell on deaf ears. All know what happened.

Today democracy was on the offensive, not the defensive. The speaker urged all to take heart for the new democracy. When the pressure tightened the strength was there. These were the names to give encouragement—Dunkerque, Ilibya, Churchill, The Royal Air Force.

Mrs. Baird paid tribute to Prime Minister Mackenzie King for his part in keeping up friendly relations with the United States, for which he had often been criticized but which was standing the Empire in good stead today.

The speaker referred to the little the average American knew of Canada today and how anxious she people to the south were to learn about the British Empire and their close neighbors to the north. Canadians were the natural people to keep Americans informed of the true aims for which the British were fighting. She said it was a patriotic duty of the people of this country to see that America was truthfully informed. She urged that speakers be sent through the country on educational tours. This was desirable in order to offset Nazi propaganda.

"We have a splendid trust" declared the speaker. "No generation has had a more magnificent assignment. Keep true to it. This Canadian nation of ours has a date with destiny. Not long ago Hitler boasted that this would be a triumphant year for the New Order in Europe. I venture to contradict Hitler. If the three sides of the triangle—Canada, Britain and United States—are true to themselves and to their history, this will be a triumphant year for the new order of English speaking democracy."

Miss Earle thanked the speaker for her interesting address, stating that it was a great privilege to hear her speak and that her address had been an inspiration. Band Sergeant Docker entertained directly following the dinner with a song.

Meeting Of Boy Scouts

Last night the Prince Rupert (Legion) Troop of Boy Scouts held its final meeting under Scoutmaster Ernest Meadows. The evening took the form of a social with J. H. Nor-dan, J. A. Teng and Capt. R. C. H. Durnford as visitors. J. A. Teng will take charge of the scout meetings commencing next Tuesday.

At the close of the meeting Scoutmaster Meadows spoke to Henry Shimizu and Harry Nishikaze who were invested at the last meeting. John Moore was given his ambulance and cyclist badges and Bruce Carter completed his tenderfoot tests. Mr. Meadows then spoke of his unwillingness to leave Prince Rupert but he thought he must go. He hoped the boys would continue to progress under the capable leadership of Mr. Teng as they had done under him.

Mr. Meadows was presented with a gift by the assistant Scoutmaster, Ken Dakin, who spoke very briefly on the great work that the departing Scoutmaster had done for the Scouts since he had taken charge. "Not only the boys but also the parents should be sorry to see Ernie go because I feel that he has educated not only the boys to the Scout program but also he has educated the parents," said Mr. Dakin.

Capt. Durnford then spoke a few words. He praised Mr. Meadows for "sticking to the job" at all times. He said that it was a great loss to the Scouts in Prince Rupert but he sincerely hoped that he would not be long away. He then read the inscription on the pen stand that was presented: "To E. W. Meadows from the scouters in Prince Rupert—for faithful service."

DRIVE IN SMITHERS

Campaign on Behalf of Canadian War Services Fund in Interior Town Well Under Way

SMITHERS, April 3.—The parade which was arranged for last Saturday evening to promote interest in the Canadian War Services Fund proved to be a very successful demonstration from every point of view.

Main Street was well thronged with people when the High School cadets, marching from the High School under command of K. G. Houghton and headed by Const. Todd playing stirring marches on the bag-pipes, swung into Main Street. They marched down Main Street as far as the Royal Bank corner and then counter marched to the Village Hall where they went through rifle drill.

The Brass Band under Bandmaster Gray played a concert in front of the Village Hall, the various numbers played being interspersed by short speeches through a loud speaker.

C. P. Bussinger, chairman of the Smithers and District Chamber of Commerce, was announcer for the proceedings. H. B. Campbell made a speech, recounting the activities of the various organizations participating in the services being rendered to the Active Service Forces at home and abroad and the great need for making the drive for funds sembly was formed. The fundamental laws written in 1117-18 still existed and operated in the country today.

In passing Mr. Myrwang referred to the story of the hot-headed Lief Erikson who was credited with discovering America.

In 1276 Iceland went under Norway and in 1380 became subject to Denmark under which it declined. Then in 1374 Iceland gained home rule and in 1918 was made wholly independent, the only arrangement with Denmark being to have the same King, this arrangement to terminate in 1943.

Mr. Myrwang described a trip he made himself to Iceland in 1930 to attend the thousandth anniversary of the establishment of the national assembly, being one of two delegates from the state of Wisconsin. Mr. Myrwang had been deeply impressed with the culture, enlightenment and democracy of the people. That brief visit he had made would have been worth a lifetime.

The speaker closed with the reading of a saga of Emil Skallagrím who, as a result of a life time of resourcefulness and activity, had become a rich and mighty man in Iceland.

Mr. Myrwang was thanked by W. F. Stone, president of the club, who was in the chair.

A guest was S. Svenson of Forestburg, Alberta.

Next week the Gyros will be holding their regular monthly business luncheon with an executive luncheon on Monday.

Large Number of Recruits Have Been Signed Up at Smithers Recently

SMITHERS, April 3.—Frank Simonds left a few days ago for Victoria where he hopes to get admission into the Tank Corps for active service. He was recruited here during the recent visit of the recruiting officers. A number of other young men have enlisted for various branches of the service, among them being three young Dutchmen who have been farming in the Buckley Valley for the past few years and are anxious to get action against the Germans, thinking that the quickest way of doing it is through the Canadian Army rather than in the Dutch forces.

TELLS OF ICELAND

In Iceland, Mr. Myrwang related, raising cattle and sheep. Numerous ponies were exported from Iceland to England for use in the coal mines.

The population of Iceland was 135,000 people and thirty thousand of these were located in the capital of Reykjavik which meant "smoke bay." It had been so named by the early explorers because of the vapors from the surrounding hot springs.

The people of Iceland were typically Nordic—strong, brave, enduring, independent, friendly, generous, well informed, highly intelligent and cultured. Their language was the old Norse of a thousand years ago.

History of Iceland

Mr. Myrwang then delved into the history of Iceland. The first reference in history to the island was in 340 B.C. by the Greek explorer Pyteas who had sailed west out of the Mediterranean. In 825 Irish monks told of the island which they had visited. In 872 settlement by Norwegians had gradually begun as a result of the rise of Harald Haarfager who had ended the earldoms comprising the country, bringing all of Norway under his sway and setting up a rule that was deeply resented by the strong men who left the country for the westward, taking colonies with them, some to the Faroe, Shetland and other islands, some to Scotland, England and Ireland and others even further west to Iceland. The latter had included Ingolf Arnarson who had organized a large expedition in many ships. By 925 the settlement of Iceland had reached a total of 50,000 people and the necessity arose for a government. Ulfjot had been sent back to Norway to study the laws of that country and in 930 the national as-

HELP TO GREECE

Word has been received from the Canadian Red Cross Overseas Committee of emergency help given to the Greek Red Cross Society. British Red Cross supplies ready to be shipped to Greece were destroyed by enemy action. On hearing this, Major C. A. Scott, acting Overseas Red Cross Commissioner, immediately offered available Canadian supplies. This offer was made Friday afternoon, accepted immediately and the Red Cross transport staff worked nights and days and had almost a trainload of supplies despatched by Monday noon. A total of 174,194 of every type of hospital supplies and knitted articles were sent. The British Red Cross was most appreciative.

Four of the five plaques, indicating that organizations named on them had contributed an amount to finance a bed unit placed in the wards at Taplow. (Canadian Red Cross Base Hospital No. 1.) bore the names of Vancouver organizations. These were: Rotary Women's Auxiliary, Independent Order of Oddfellows, Women Golfers and Junior League. Word has just been received at provincial headquarters that the Indians of Bella Bella have raised $250 to be contributed to a bed in Taplow.

OCEAN FALLS UNITES

Irrespective of race, creed or age, residents of Ocean Falls unite in Red Cross work. The annual report lists donations from the Pacific Mills "payroll," Japanese Association, Junior "Busy Bees," Rover Scouts, Girl Guides, Canadian Legion, St. Paul's Church and local unions, to the approximate amount of $6,000. Volunteer workers have made hundreds of needed Red Cross supplies. A weekly home nursing class of 60 members is very popular.

ROMANTIC, COLORFUL

"Down Argentina Way" Also Has Much Music—Ameche and Grable in Technicolor

Music and romance—rhythmic, gay and lavish—are combined in "Down Argentina Way," the feature offering starring Don Ameche, Betty Grable and Carmen Miranda at the Capitol Theatre tonight and Thursday. It is a technicolor production.

The romance between Ameche and Miss Grable covers thousands of miles from staid old Westchester to the alluring Argentina. The story concerns the scion of a wealthy South American family who is sojourning in North America for the purpose of selling some of his father's choice horses. The horses become irrelevant when Ameche meets Grable. Despite the fact that enmity exists between his family and Betty's, they fall in love and, when Don returns to Buenos Aires, Betty hops a plane and follows him. Things begin to happen

PLAYS ARE ENJOYABLE

Another Pleasurable Evening Furnished Large Crowd by Prince Rupert Little Theatre

Last night in the Central Annex Hall the Prince Rupert Little Theatre presented another very acceptable set of plays which were well received by a large and appreciative audience. There will be a repetition of the program tonight and, in view of the favorable comment evoked from last night, there should be another good attendance.

Two plays were offered on widely divergent themes and in completely varying type. One—"The House With the Twisty Windows"—was a dramatic episode in human emotions which found its setting in the cellar of a house in Petrograd during the Red Terror. There a group of English refugees from the Bolshevik purge faced the stark reality of death before the firing squad. The piece was evry convincingly done by a cast consisting of H. Collings as a crusty English King's Counsel, Richard Forrest as an overwrought youth, Mrs. Shelford Darton as a calm and collected matron, Mrs. Cleely Thomson and Coral Rogers as young women in love under tragic circumstances, Douglas Kerr as the hero and Dr. C. H. Hankinson as a formidable Red Guard. Capt. F. H. Allwood was the capable director.

"The Signal Lamp" was a comedy-drama in two acts depicting the amusing complications resulting from the efforts of a maiden aunt to curb the adventures and romance of her niece and nephew. This made excellent entertainment and was carried off very well to a satisfactory conclusion by a capable cast consisting of Len Griffiths, Ken Dakin, Mrs. Pat Yorston, Miss Credly Morgan, Miss Honora Silversides and Douglas Boucher. All had their parts in good shape and acquitted themselves creditably. Direction was by Len Cripps, assisted by Bruce Stevens.

A much enjoyed interlude between plays was by Capt. Allwood who offered two humorous vocal monologues—"The Egg" and "My Word."

Another feature of the evening was fine music by the Rocky Mountain Rangers' Orchestra which has become so popular here.

In charge of the stage was Alf Rivett with William Johnson as electrician, John Good was property manager, Mrs. F. N. Good was in charge of make-up.

Usherettes were Miss Jean McLean and Miss Ruth Nelson.

They Rely on You

• For the things that are not given to a fighting man with his uniform . . . things that are not part of his military equipment . . . things of the spirit . . . Canada's fighting sons, wherever they may be, rely on you.

The Government provides them with uniforms, rifles, ammunition—but for comforts—recreations and wholesome opportunity to make their precious moments of leisure a genuine boon . . . they rely on you.

Of course you help to buy airplanes, guns, ships, tanks—BUT for the things that express to the soldier the affection and thoughtfulness of the folks back home . . . he relies on you.

Six great national organizations labour unceasingly to provide him with those things.

They can do it only with your money. Your money started this work—your money is needed to carry it on. The need is urgent. Be generous.

Let the volunteer helper who calls on you carry back your pledge of fullest support for our fighting men.
