British Prime Minister Con- to Empire—Reviews Suc- Future Mov.s

LONDON, February 10.—"Give us the tools. We will finish the job," promised Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a radio address last night which was carried to the world by means of all British and American broadcasting networks.

Hitler could not and would not win if United States gave aid. The Prime Minister declared that Britain's cause in war had prospered during the past few months more greatly in many ways than might have been anticipated.

"GIVE US TOOLS AND WE WILL FINISH JOB"—WINSTON CHURCHILL

mindful of the men of Waterloo. Their spirit and glory was the same but, in the end, their victory would be far greater than that of Waterloo.

Mr. Churchill paid tribute to the civilian services which had helped in the greatest ordeal that any nation had ever been called upon to endure. He spoke especially of the police and quoted the words of a working woman who had written to him saying: "What gentlemen they are!"

Two-thirds of the winter had now gone, the Prime Minister continued, and there had been no epidemic. Credit he gave to the medical and sanitary services, the nurses and the Health Ministry.

In spite of all the new wartime conditions, all the opportunity for looting, there had been less crime this winter in Great Britain and there were fewer people in prison than in times of peace.

Mastery of Air
Turning to other phases of wartime conditions, Mr. Churchill pointed to the mastery of the air in the daytime which had been established by the Royal Air Force. With increasing daylight, attacks might be sharper but they would be shorter.

First, the repulse of the invasion had been accomplished. Second, there had been the frustration of the bombing terror.

Turning his attention to Italy, Mr. Churchill recalled how in October the "crafty, cold-blooded and blackhearted" leader of Italy, Mussolini, after stabbing France in the back, had sought a new Empire in Africa but had only got into trouble himself. The Italian forces had been hurled back ignominiously by the great Greek army which had revived its ancient glory. While Mussolini was still writhing and smarting under the defeat by the Greeks in Albania, General Wavell and General Wilson had moved with well equipped and concentrated forces in Africa to break irretrievably Italian power. Britons could not help but feel gratified at the defeat and humiliation of the enemy. Affairs in Libya during the past two months might be dwelt upon with some satisfaction. The secret had been well kept and the preparation had been well made. It had been a hazardous adventure but, after the first decisive victory at Sidi Barrani, the whole Italian force in Africa was endangered.

The Prime Minister paid tribute to General Wavell, the other leaders and the men—British, Australian, New Zealand and Indian. With reference to Scripture, Mr. Churchill said they had asked and it had been given them, they had sought and they had found, they had knocked and it had been opened unto them.

An entire Italian army of 150,000 men had been captured or destroyed, the Prime Minister said in scornful tones. A country as large as England and Wales had been conquered. The Arabs had been liberated from their Italian oppressors. Egypt and the Suez Canal were now safe. In Bengazi had been obtained a port and air base of high strategic consequence.

Now it was time to speak of the leaders, went on the Prime Minister and their distinguished service to the King and Empire. General Wavell had proven himself to be a "master of war, daring and tireless." General Wilson in actual command of the Army of the Nile, had proven himself a fine tactician. Generals O'Connor, Mackie of Australia and Gray of the armored divisions had ably assisted in the execution of an astounding movement. The success of Bengazi had been due to O'Connor and Cray, ably backed by Wilson. Then there had been the amazing feat of British tanks which had beaten all records and stood up to all trials. They were a credit to the factories at home and the workers within them. Nor could there have been such victories without the co-operation of the Air Force and the Navy which had chased the Italian fleet into its harbors.

Even this day there had been an example of this British mastery of the seas when the western Mediterranean fleet had entered and bombarded the great Italian naval base of Genoa with a shattering attack. Possibly, the Prime Minister suggested, the French might have been stirred by these feats.

Reparation Of Ethiopia

Two or three hundred miles to the southward, Mr. Churchill went on, the British were marching steadily through Eritrea to isolate all Italian troops in Abyssinia which had also been entered from the west. The Ethiopians had risen in arms, with their Emperor in their midst, to fight for their freedom and their throne. Thus had begun the protest for reparation against wrongdoing. True it was "the mills of the Gods ground slowly but exceedingly small."

"We can speak with sober confidence of our power to discharge our duty in the future," declared Mr. Churchill.

The Prime Minister then went on to refer to the mighty wave of goodwill and effective aid which had started to flow from America. Mr. Hopkins, said Mr. Churchill, had been his frequent companion for the last few weeks. Mr. Wilkie had also been here. "I am sure they will both tell the truth of what they have seen. The rest we can leave with confidence to the good judgment of the President, Congress and the people of the United States," said the Prime Minister.

There might be sound basis for confidence and comfort for the future, but it was also necessary to face the more dangerous aspects of the serious future. What had Hitler been preparing? What new devilry might he be up to? What new small country was he about to tread down? What would be the nature of his next assault upon "our fortress?" Of one thing we may be sure and that is that the war is about to enter a new era of violence.

What Of Bulgaria?

With Rumania now under subjection, Mr. Churchill said it must be supposed that Bulgaria was acquiescing to the movement of German troops by the thousands through that country. Maybe the movement had already begun. Evidently Germany was establishing bases in Bulgaria. If all the Balkan peoples had stuck together, aided by Great Britain and Turkey, it would have been long months before Hitler could have prepared an army for invasion. But, acceding one by one, they must meet the same fate as the low countries. Were they so dense that they could not see? The Prime Minister referred to the position of Bulgaria in the last war and the action of the then King Ferdinand. For the third time in forty years Bulgaria was now being made to embark upon a war disastrous to itself.

Mr. Churchill referred to Mussolini as the Italian Quisling and Laval as the French Quisling—both trying to make their countries into doormats for Hitler.

"I cannot tell you how matters will go," said Mr. Churchill "but we will do our best as we did in the fight for the Central Mediterranean."

Referring to the serious injuring of the aircraft carrier Illustrious by enemy dive bombers, the Prime Minister revealed that the dive bombing attack had been met by the fleet air arm and the Royal Air Force and, in the space of a few days, ninety out of 150 enemy dive bombers had been destroyed. In spite of continued efforts to destroy her, the Illustrious had been able to make all necessary repairs and then steam to Alexandria at twenty-three knots per hour. The danger in the Mediterranean was not to be dismissed but Britain would be able to give a good account of itself.

"This war will be settled on the ocean, in the air and above all, in this island," asserted Mr. Churchill. It now seemed evident that the United States had decided to send all the aid Britain needed. This aid was not required in the way of United States armies "this year, next year or any year I can foresee."

but what was needed was immediate and steady supplies of war materials and equipment. "We will need in 1942 a great mass of shipping, far more than we can build ourselves. This was well known to the enemy who could be expected to prey upon British shipping and to endeavour to prevent American supplies from reaching this country."

Complete Confidence

"I have complete confidence," said Mr. Churchill "in the Royal Navy and in our air force," in their ability, one way or another, to meet every changing phase of the "mortal struggle." Sustained by the merchant marine and the people they would outfight and manoeuvre, all the enemy's ingenuity.

Nor should the warning of an invasion as voiced by General Sh John Dill be disregarded, asserted the Prime Minister. Great Britain was far stronger than ever before immeasurably stronger than she had been in August. The Navy was more powerful, the Air Force vastly stronger, the army was much more numerous, mobile and better trained. He had full confidence said Mr. Churchill, in the fighting forces and the greatest faith of all in the determination of the people to conquer and survive.

It was not going to be easy for Hitler to invade Great Britain without command of the air and the seas, to say nothing of what his forces would have to face when they got here. However, Mr. Churchill warned against false security and negligence to be prepared. A German invasion now would be supported by much more thorough preparation and equipment. Britons must be prepared to meet gas, parachute and glider attacks.

In order to win the war, Hitler must destroy Great Britain. He might create havoc in the Balkans, tear provinces out of Russia, he might march to the gates of Italy, he might reach far into Europe and Asia but he would still not avert his doom. The countries he had trodden beneath his boot were coming to hate the German yoke. All these countries, with the British Empire would yet bear sword against him.

"And what answer shall I give to that great man?" said Mr. Churchill in closing, referring to President Roosevelt and the message Mr. Wilkie had brought. "My answer shall be: 'Put confidence in us. Under Providence all will be well. We shall not fail nor falter. We shall not weaken or tire even under the greatest of trials. Give us the tools. We will finish the job.'"

The Prime Minister spoke more than half an hour. He seemed to have a cold and coughed several times. His tones were as usual firm, measured and decisive.

On a regular voyage to Alaska, C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock yesterday morning from Vancouver and sailed at 10:30 a.m. for Skagway and other northern points whence she will return here Thursday afternoon southbound. The Princess Norah, which has been operating on a two weeks' schedule during the deep winter months, is now going on a ten-day schedule for the spring. The vessel brought 50 passengers here, eleven disembarking at this port and three going north from here.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Em-est Sheppard, arrived in port at 9:15 last night from the south and sailed a couple of hours later for Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning southbound.

Salvaging of a good deal of heavy machinery and deck cargo including trucks from the United States Army transport steamer Kviehak, which wrecked a couple of weeks ago on Sisters Island in Finlayson Channel near Milbank Sound has been carried out. Later some further cargo may be removed from the wreck. There is still some question, however, as to the possibility of salvaging the hull which has been pretty well battered although it is still believed to be largely intact despite the fact that the upperworks has been carried away.

Quebec Catholic Churches Beseech God For Victory

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—In thousands Roman Catholic churches Quebec yesterday special "Vigilary Mass" was celebrated. Cardinal Villeneuve, in Notre Dame Church here, called for a victory at arms to restore peace to the nations.

Did Not Know She Was Beaten . . .

Britain has been beaten more than once in this war but she did not know it and neither did her enemy. It is generally acknowledged now that, if Hitler had had his way and had invaded Great Britain about the time of the collapse of France, he would have been able to wipe out the British nation. That, of course, is only guess work for most people do not understand how those British people fight when they have their backs to the wall. If Germany had been as strong as she was alleged to be, there would have been very little retreat from Dunkirk. She would have wiped out that three hundred thousand men instead of letting them get back home.

The African Situation . . .

What is true of Dunkirk might possibly have been true in Egypt. The country was invaded by the Italian army and, if they had been willing to give an exhibition of courage by advancing on Suez, the history of the war may possibly have been quite different. Italy had a strong army in Africa but they bogged down soon after crossing into Egypt and never moved until they were driven out by the British. Today the British have had time to reinforce the Army of the Nile and have driven the Italians out of eastern Libya.

To Shorten The War . . .

The way Canadians can help shorten the war is by using effort, not only in recruiting men for the air force but in keeping the British supplied with every possible ounce of food and clothing we can send and also by supplying our own government with money to make it possible to keep up a regular supply of foodstuffs and other supplies.

We have heard several people say they will not buy bonds because the government is not carrying on as they would like to see them. In a democracy we cannot hope to agree as to methods but we can agree as to aims and the amount of help we give. If we pay our taxes and buy all the war bonds we possibly can, that is the best we can do. We can spend a little less and put the amount saved into war savings certificates or war savings stamps.

Advance Advertising . . .

A newspaperman reminds us that the present spring-like weather is probably just a little advance advertising of the real spring that will come, we hope, in April. Mid-February is much too early for spring and we must not fool ourselves or be fooled by wishful thinking. Spring is not here and we must not expect it for two months yet. The flowers that are blooming now will probably be frozen pretty soon.

Sunday School Rally Success

Large Turnout At Joint Gathering Of Children Yesterday Afternoon

The Religious Education Council was responsible for one of the most successful and best attended Sunday rallies that have ever been held in Prince Rupert when on Sunday afternoon students of all the Sunday Schools in the city gathered at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral in conjunction with Religious Education Council week in the city.

P. H. Linzey was the chairman and he was ably assisted by K. F. Harding, Frank Skinner and the United Church Junior Choir under the direction of H. T. Lock.

One of the outstanding items on the program was the presentation by Mrs. Ivan Halsey of prizes which were recently competed for in a competition sponsored by the local branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Nobles, the local organizer, was sorry that she was unable to attend the gathering but she had been called to Vancouver. Mrs. Halsey stated that she hoped what the boys and girls learned at Sunday School by taking these lessons would stay with them and aid them in later life.

P. H. Linzey then called upon Rev. (Capt.) Roy Durnford, the guest speaker, to give a few words. Capt. Durnford named many Bible characters and showed how they had achieved their greatness. He compared life to a book. "Many

METLAKATLA WAS WINNER

Defeats High Intermediate A's In Basketball Saturday Night

Both Memorial High School basketball teams won two out of three games Saturday night before a good-sized crowd of fans. In the feature game of the evening the Intermediate A boys of the High School went down fighting before a clean-playing Metlakatla team, the score being 37 to 33.

High School started the scoring but Alan Prevost and Arnold Leighton soon got their sights on the basket and did some spectacular shooting to put the Metlakatla team on top 21 to 12 at the half-way mark. Alex Bill was the best for High School in the first half, making three fine long shots. In the second half Teddy Arney and Don F. McDonald, two of the juniors, trying out for a spot with the High School seniors, sparked the attack with eight and six points respectively. Shorty Santerbanks, who has been definitely off his game of late, returned to form to score two quick baskets in the dying moments of the game. Although they outscored their opponents 21 to 16 in the second half, High School could not overcome the first half lead against them and the final score was 37 to 33 for Metlakatla.

The second game of the evening proved a big upset when the newly formed High School Intermediate B's downed Co-Operatives 31 to 14. C-Op just could not get the ball to go through the hoop and the youngsters ran them off their feet. Zbura played a nice game at guard while Jone Lee and Boyo Gurvich were popping them in from all angles. Torger Rysstad was high for Co-Ops with six points.

The girls showed the effect of their long lay-off between games. Score at half time was four to nil for High School and at full time 8 to 7 for High over Fraser Street. Molly Winslow played with Fraser Street in the second half to bolster them up and scored five points to keep them in the running. High School scored four of their eight points from foul throws.

Dominic Montesano refereed the girls' and junior games and Johnny Comadina had the whistle in the Intermediate A game.

KEEP THE WAR WHEELS TURNING

Canada needs your dollars now!

You will be glad of them later.

Canada's 2,000,000 wage and salary earners are asked to save—every week and every month—to help provide arms and equipment for our fighting forces.

In Total War, civilians must fight, too. Their weapon is their money. You can fight with your money, as it provides the sinews of war.

The bounden duty of every civilian, therefore, is to save to the limit of his or her ability and loan the savings to Canada by investing in War Savings Certificates.

Remember, you are not asked to give your money, but to loan it. For every $4 you loan now, you will get back $5 in 7½ years. Your savings will earn 3% interest.

Tens of thousands of men and women have already pledged themselves to invest in War Savings Certificates by means of the Payroll Savings Plan which is now in operation, or which is being organized by every employer. But tens of thousands are not enough. There are two million wage and salary earners in Canada, and every one is expected to do his or her share.

If you have not already done so, pledge yourself and invest by means of the Payroll Savings Plan. Canada asks no more of you. Your conscience should demand no less of you.

Just how much you can invest will depend upon your circumstances. Do all that you can. The following table is suggested as an average basis for saving:

Earnings per Week	Savings per Week	Maturity Values of Annual Purchases
Up to $20	25c to $1	$15 to $65
Over $20 to $30	$1.25 to $2	$80 to $130
Over $30 to $40	$2.25 to $3.50	$145 to $225
Over $40	$3.75 to $9.25	$245 to $600

To Employers

Take the initiative. Urge your employees to save. Give them leadership. If you haven't already done so, organize a Payroll Savings Plan at once. See that everyone participates in it. The Payroll Savings Plan has proven to be the most satisfactory method for getting employees to save and invest regularly.

Planning Boys' Camp This Year

This is Discussed at Religious Education Council Father and Son Banquet

Highlight of Religious Education Week in Prince Rupert was the father and son banquet held in the social parlors of First United Church Friday night. One hundred and thirty men and their sons from the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United Sunday Schools taxed the capacity of the hall for this annual banquet which is sponsored by the Boys' Work Board of the Religious Education Council. Tables were arranged and decorated to portray the four-sided Religious Educational Council boys' program: Intellectual, recreational, devotional and social, equal emphasis on which lead towards the development of a normal, healthy boy.

Grace was pronounced by Rev. J. C. Jackson, pastor of First United Church. As chairman of the Boys' Work Board, Ken Dakin remarked briefly on the activities of the board during the past year. Special reference was made to the boys so successfully conducted last summer with tribute being paid to the services of Rev. E. E. Brandt as boys' camp director and Mrs. E. J. Smith and Mrs. J. L. Lee as camp cooks. The chairman then mentioned proposed plans for this year's camps, the successful promotion of which will require some financial assistance. Generous support was asked for in the forthcoming financial campaign of the Religious Education Council. A large amount of the funds thus raised will go towards providing better accommodation at camp and the securing of a director from Vancouver.

The tables having been dismantled in a very rapid and orderly fashion, the dads and lads gathered in a semi-circle around the platform, arranged to depict a camp scene. Here an enthusiastic and original campfire program was conducted by Ken Dakin with the assistance of H. T. Lock at the piano. Group games, challenge games and community singing provided a means for all the boys and their dads to get together and enjoy themselves in a spontaneous manner. By the light of the campfire, the evening came to a close with the singing of a negro spiritual and "taps."

Isadore Goldstein, prominent business man and former mayor of Juneau, was a passenger aboard the Princess Norah yesterday returning to the Alaska capital after a trip to Seattle and elsewhere in the south.

KEEPING THEIR EARS WARM

It is cold in London, even when firebombs are raining from the sky, and these members of a pioneer squad find their new headgear just the thing for keeping their ears warm. They are members of the Royal Engineers, charged with the duty of cleaning up debris and re-opening blocked streets after raids. Some of the men wear eye guards of a transparent material.

RED CROSS AT TERRACE

Interesting Features of Committee Meeting

TERRACE, Feb. 10.—The Terrace Red Cross Association got down to business on Wednesday of last week with the first committee meeting of the New Year. President E. T. Kenney was in the chair and business included committee matters. An interesting report was presented by the Junior Red Cross of which Brian Sessions is president and Lorna Smith, secretary-treasurer.

The Junior Red Cross was organized at Terrace on October 11 last when talks were given by Mrs. Dudley Little, Mr. Crocker and Mr. Kenney. The first effort was an auction sale of articles donated by the students of Terrace High School.

the proceeds being used for the purchase of materials of which some were also provided by the Senior Branch. Articles completed so far have been one scarf, two sweaters, three pairs of socks, patchwork quilt, mitts and other sweaters. The boys are working on several pieces of woodwork such as guitar, book table, medicine chest, hall tree and book shelf. Some of the material for these has been donated by the school board and some has been provided by the boys themselves. It is expected to have a public raffle of these articles, the proceeds to go part to the Senior Red Cross branch, part to the Junior Red Cross branch at Vancouver and part to be set aside for the purchase of additional materials.

WHERE WOMEN FIRST

SPENNY NSW, Feb. 10: (CP)—Noel Coward, British actor, visiting this Australian city in connection with the war effort, shook hands with 794 women and 21 men.

No less a personage than Prime Minister Winston Churchill himself showed Harry Hopkins how England intends to defend herself if Hitler attempts his long-threatened invasion. Premier Churchill is shown here, wearing an old naval pea jacket and cap, with Hopkins during a visit to a northern naval station. It was on this occasion that Churchill made the out-and-out prediction that Britain would win the war, provided the U.S. came through with the promised aid. The personal envoy of President Roosevelt broke his official silence in an address to an air raid precautions group on January 17. What he said was not revealed.

Even with the greatly increased accommodation, housing is still at a premium at Ocean Falls.

'RHYTHM ON THE RIVER'

Comedy With Music, Featuring
Basil Rathbone, Mary Martin
And Bing Crosby, Showing
Here

An entertaining comedy with music entitled "Rhythm on the River," a Bing Crosby picture starring Basil Rathbone and Mary Martin, comes as the feature offering to the Capitol Theatre here tonight and tomorrow. This is not to be confused with musical comedy which it is not. More attention is paid to plot and story with just enough music to lift audiences out of the doldrums.

The picture tells the story of a small town composer who goes to the big city and becomes a "ghost writer" for a prominent song composer who has lost his knack. There he meets the girl and they collaborate in doing the melody and she the lyrics. Finally, they branch out for themselves. Many hilarious incidents lead up to an hilarious climax.

Seven new songs are featured in this picture—"Only Forever," "I Don't Want to Cry Any More," "That's For Me," "What Would Shakespeare Have Said?" "Rhythm on the River," "Ain't It a Shame About Mame?" and "When the Moon Comes Over Madison Square."

For the big scrap for which they all long.

Jake says he's Irish. That's why he enjoys life so much.

George Donald, a Scotch farmer, discovered a time bomb in his turnip field. He kept the matter secret while he worked diligently day and night for three nights. Then he notified local authorities who wanted to know why he had been so coy. He knew the answer: "If I told you chaps, you'd come right away and blow it up and ruin all the turnips."

It was father's birthday and mother had bought him a new tie. "I wonder what would go best with it?" she cried cooly as she held it up.

Father eyed the many-colored horror and replied briefly: "A beard!"

And here's another true one. Two Canadians gazing through the black-out towards a German bomber.

One points his finger to the sky. "And if that feller thinks he's got
