BRITISH EVACUATE CRETE
LONDON—Withdrawal of a British force of 15,000 from Crete to Egypt is announced. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy in the course of the fighting there which was the fiercest in the war. The British losses were also severe. It was officially stated that it had been found impossible to carry on the defence indefinitely. Sufficient air support could not be maintained from Egypt for the support of naval and land forces. British experts acknowledge that the loss of Crete makes the defence of the Eastern Mediterranean, including Suez, Alexandria, Malta and Cyprus, more difficult. Qualified observers conceded tonight that Britain had lost the Mediterranean as a life line shipping link.

IRAQ WAR IS OVER
LONDON—Bagdad is quiet and the Mosul oil fields are safe following the collapse of the anti-British revolt in Iraq and the signing of an armistice. The armistice provides for no interference with Iraq independence. The pro-British regent is returning to Iraq to form a constitutional government. The boy King Feisal is understood to be safe in Bagdad.

MAY BAG IS LARGEST
LONDON—During May night fighters and anti-aircraft defences brought down 143 German night raiding planes, 46 more than in April which was the previous record. Altogether 260 enemy planes were brought down over Britain, Europe and home waters during May, the British loss being 85.

CIVILIAN DEAD GREATER
LONDON—Civilian dead in Britain in April totalling 6365 were greater than the military losses in the Battle of Greece.

HAMBURG BADLY DAMAGED
LONDON—The Air Ministry has received further details of vast damage which has been wreaked by the Royal Air Force on Germany's second largest city of Hamburg. Industrial areas have been completely devastated and shipbuilding plants and factories wiped out.

AUXILIARY CRUISER LOST
LONDON—Loss of H.M.S. Salopian, 10,500-ton auxiliary cruiser, is announced by the Admiralty. She was formerly the liner Shropshire of the service from England to India and is not to be confused with another cruiser, H.M.S. Shropshire.

BRITISH CONTROL IN SESSION

Are Now In Full Possession Of Bagdad, Capital City

LONDON, June 2.—It was officially announced here Saturday that Iraq's twenty-nine day Nazi-supported revolt against Great Britain had collapsed and that the rebel army, deserted by its dictator, had sued for an armistice. British troops were in control of Bagdad's suburbs then and advance units later entered the ancient city. An authorized British spokesman said the armistice request had been presumably granted and that, "as between ourselves and the rebels, the whole thing is over."

The pro-Nazi Premier, Rashid Ali Al Galani, who seized power April 4, had fled the capital and was reportedly in neighboring Iran, it was added.

CHURCHILL, KING, TALK OVER RADIO

Inspiring Messages— Loan 1941 Campaign Gets Under Way

OTTAWA, June 2.—On the eve of the launching of the Victory Loan 1941 campaign, there was an inspiring exchange of messages last night between Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King of Canada and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain. Their speeches, pledging mutual defence and support in the testing time and trial of war against aggression and for freedom and democracy, were broadcast throughout the world. A third speaker was Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, who spoke both in French and English.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated that, while this, the largest public loan to be floated in the history of Canada, was called the Victory Loan 1941, it did not imply expectation that the war would be over in 1941. Canada was ready, as long as the war lasted, to do all in her power to help to assure victory, sharing the burdens of Great Britain. Canadians felt deeply the losses and sufferings of the people of Great Britain, admired their great endurance and sympathized in their grief. Canadians were horrified by the brutal bombing of children and women, workers at their tasks, the aged and the infirm. The wanton destruction of historic buildings and institutions, well known to many Canadians, only served to deepen their resolve. Above all Canada was inspired by the courage and determination of the people of Britain in their fight in the citadel of world freedom. Prime Minister King paid tribute of admiration to the King and Queen whom Canadians would ever remember most affectionately following their visit to Canada in 1939. The fortitude and the spirit which they smilingly epitomized made Canadians increasingly proud of the race to which they belonged.

"We are completely at one with you in Britain," said the Prime Minister, "at one in love of liberty and in loyalty to the cause of humanity."

French-Canadians, Mr. King continued, well knew the significance of British freedom. There were many Canadians who might not speak the English language but they all realized and were appreciative of the value of British institutions. They had come to Canada to get away from inequality and injustice and to find freedom and happiness.

Mr. King repeated a statement that he had made soon after war commenced to the effect that, if he was called upon to give up everything he possessed in the world, he would wish to retain to the last the influence of Christian training of his childhood days—something that had been a sheet anchor throughout life. The Nazis sought not to establish a heaven on earth but a hell. They had blasphemed all the commandments and all the beatitudes. What could be expected from their new order?

The Prime Minister of Canada then referred to armed forces which had already been sent by this Dominion to Britain. "Our armed forces," he said, "like yours, are defenders of the realm, defenders of the faith." Canada's whole war effort would be to send a steadily gaining stream of men and materials in growing volume, momentum and power. Many had already gone. Still more would come to Great Britain to help drive back the enemy, to help garrison the vital citadel of the defence of which would be the issue of this war.

Mr. King stated that a third division, a tank division and armored brigade were going over this year. Canadian warships were playing

MANCHESTER IS STRAFED

Important British Industrial City Heavily Hit By German Bombing Attack

LONDON, June 2.—Thousands of incendiary and high explosive bombs were dropped last night on the important industrial city of Manchester in the heaviest German air raid in months. Considerable damage was done and quite heavy casualties are feared. The Luftwaffe also ranged elsewhere along the west coast and London had its first air raid alarm after twenty-two peaceful nights, there being little action, however. Heavy smoke over Manchester hampered defensive operations over the great industrial centre.

A number of nurses were buried when a direct hit was made on a nurses' home. Two hospitals, three churches, three hotels and a moving picture theatre were among the buildings struck. Numerous homes in a working class section were destroyed and four shelters were also struck.

Appeal For Recruiting

VICTORIA, June 2: (CP) — Major General R. O. Alexander, general officer commanding, Pacific Command, has issued an urgent appeal for recruits for the active army. In a statement he said that the British Columbia quota for the present campaign was 3200 by the end of June but less than five hundred had enlisted throughout the province during May.

BIG CROWD TURNS OUT

Meeting at Capitol Theatre Marks Opening of Victory Loan Campaign Here

Featuring interesting moving pictures, some appropriate addresses, a quiz contest, prize drawing, community singing and other novelties, a public meeting and free show in support of the Victory Loan 1941 campaign, which opens today, was held last night in the Capitol Theatre, drawing out a large and appreciative audience. Norton Young was organizer and master of ceremonies for the gathering and kept things moving throughout in great style.

The speakers were Col. J. W. Nicholls, divisional chairman of the campaign, J. J. Little, Capt. G. W. Marsden and Mrs. J. A. Teng, all of whom spoke of the importance of all Canadians making every effort and sacrifice possible to subscribe to the loan and, by lending to their country at a good rate of interest, saving profitably for themselves and, at the same time, doing their part in the salvation of democracy and institutions as known and enjoyed by a free people.

Col. Nicholls presented to Mr. Little, who is the unit chairman for Prince Rupert, a large Victory Loan flag which was carried on to the stage by members of the Women's Service Corps who acted as usherettes. It was pointed out that a twenty-five per cent oversubscription was the goal. So was the Royal Canadian Air Force. The commonwealth air training scheme was sending a never ceasing stream of pilots, observers and gunners. Already thousands had been sent. Many more were to come. Sovereignty of the air would be added to mastery of the sea. Canada

Prominent Pioneer Of City, Contracting Official, Crew Member Lost From Bentinck

PETER LORENZEN, FRANK McRAE AND JOHN BARKER ARE MISSING AND BELIEVED DROWNED—SCENE OF AFFAIR OFF MOUTH OF TLELL RIVER—FOUR OTHERS SAFE

PETE LORENZEN'S BODY RECOVERED
QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, June 2: (Special to Daily News)—The boat Bentinck of the Armour Salvage Co. fleet was wrecked on Sardonyx Rocks yesterday in a southeast gale. The lifeboat was smashed by huge waves and washed overboard. The crew made a raft from wreckage and doors. Four made shore north of Tlell River. Three are missing. One body, that of Peter Lorenzen, has been recovered. Skidegate and Queen Charlotte City were advised by Dead Tree radio station. A large speed boat and plane from Aliford Bay went out but, owing to the Bentinck having given the wrong position in thick weather, could not see the wreck or survivors. Dr. and Mrs. Duncan McColl proceeded to Tlell to attend the survivors who drifted ashore north of Tlell. The survivors are now in Queen Charlotte Hospital where their condition is said to be very good.

Peter Lorenzen, well known pioneer contractor and building inspector of Prince Rupert is dead and Frank McRae, rock foreman of the E. J. Ryan Contracting Co. and husband of the former Miss Florence Rose, and John Barker, a member of the crew of the Armour Salvage Co.'s service boat Bentinck, are missing and believed drowned today following the wreck of the Bentinck on Sardonyx rocks off the mouth of the Tlell River, east coast of Graham Island, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Four other men who were aboard the Bentinck including the captain, C. J. Couture, and A. E. Richards, superintendent for the E. J. Ryan Contracting Co., Robert Morgan and William Notation are safe at the Queen Charlotte City Hospital.

Capt. W. P. Armour, manager of the Armour Salvage Co., and other local officials were this morning endeavouring, from meagre reports so far received, to piece out the circumstances of the serious tragedy. Another of the company's boats, the Daly, was dispatched last night to the Queen Charlotte Islands to investigate and give such assistance as may be possible.

The Bentinck left Prince Rupert at 8 o'clock Saturday night, taking Mr. Richards and his party on a trip to a contract which the company is to carry out between Port Clements and Tlell on the Graham Island highway and of which Mr. McRae was to be in charge. The Bentinck was heading for Queen Charlotte City whence it was the intention to drive across Graham Island to Port Clements. Evidently, a lifeboat from the Bentinck had become lost and was not available for use when required.

In response to "S.O.S." messages a crash boat from the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Aliford Bay was dispatched but it seems to have been misdirected.

The Bentinck, which is understood to be now on the beach and salvageable, is a 52-foot diesel powered vessel which was acquired by Armour Salvage Co. in Vancouver last year and had since been engaged in towing and other general marine service work out of Prince Rupert. Built at Hoquiam, Washington, in 1912, she was at one time in the service of the Pacific Mills.

The late Mr. Lorenzen was sixty-three years of age and was born in Schleswig-Holstein. He had lived in Prince Rupert for some thirty years, having come from the United States, spending some years around Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago. For some time he was building inspector for the city of Prince Rupert, acting on one occasion as city engineer. He was a member of Tsimpsean Masonic Lodge, Kaia Chapter, Kincolith Preceptory and Gizeh Temple of the Shrine. He has a widowed sister in Saskatchewan and there are nieces and nephews, children of a deceased brother, living at Sydney, Vancouver Island.

AIRCRAFT FACTORY HAS FIRE

Administration Building of Boeing Plant in Vancouver Destroyed

VANCOUVER, June 2: (CP)—A two-alarm fire on Sunday destroyed the $75,000 administration building of the Boeing Aircraft of Canada Ltd. plant at nearby Sea Island and did $5,000 damage to an airplane factory building before being brought under control by firemen from the city and nearby Richmond Municipality assisted by student airmen from Elementary Flying Centre No. 28. There was a two-hour battle against the flames.

President Stanley Burke said the cause of the fire, which apparently started in the second floor of the administration building, was not known. The building will probably be rebuilt. Work at the plant will proceed uninterrupted.

The office and administration staff went to work this morning in temporary quarters.

Some of the company records were saved while some were lost. The whole Boeing plant was for a time menaced and the Sea Island airport threatened.

No damage was done to the airport although some of the planes were removed for a time to a safer place.

IRELAND HIT AGAIN

Germans Drop Bombs in County Wicklow Despite Protest Regarding Dublin

DUBLIN, June 2.—Bombs were again dropped from the air on Eire during Saturday night, this time in County Wicklow. There were no casualties and damage was light. The list of dead as a result of the severe raid on Dublin Saturday morning has been placed officially at twenty-seven with eighty injured.

Investigation showed the bombs to be definitely of German origin. A vigorous protest has been laid in Berlin at the violation of Irish territory and reparations are claimed.

Campaign Is On . . .

The Victory Loan campaign is on and this week will see the biggest part of the canvassing carried out. It is an all out effort to raise money voluntarily for the carrying on of the war so that the Canadian forces shall not be at the mercy of the mechanized units of the Germans. Nobody is asked to give anything. All that is asked is that they buy.

The appeal is particularly to those who have money in the savings banks or in current accounts in the banks. They are asked to purchase to the best of their ability.

It has been rumored in some places that this money is to save the English. It is not to save anybody. It is to destroy Hitlerism and to enable the world to carry on decently without terrorism and destruction. Hitler should be destroyed just as we would destroy a poisonous snake. He is a real danger to the whole world.

Feeding British People . . .

The British people are being rationed and there are certain rules and regulations in regard to it that have to be obeyed. We have heard of local people sending through food supplies. While we do not know their regulations, it is evident that British people must not buy goods from outside points. A recent case is reported of a lady in Devonshire who received a shipment of bacon from friends in Ireland and who asked for more, offering to pay for it. The letter she wrote was intercepted by the censors and the lady was fined twenty pounds and costs. She was convicted, not of receiving the goods but of trying to get bacon from Eire in contravention of the rationing order.

Women In Fighting Forces . . .

"The way women's auxiliary services in Great Britain have supplemented the fighting forces gives sound precedent for recruiting women in Canadian auxiliary services," says the Winnipeg Free Press. Not alone have some women's auxiliaries in Britain given admirable service, but they have proved themselves so adept in some branches that many men have been released for more combatant duties.

"Such units as the Auxiliary Territorial Service and the Women's Auxiliary Air Force were said by the British secretaries for war and air to have become invaluable and to show an efficiency that permits them taking over many responsibilities previously entrusted only to men.

"Of course these women are employed only at work for which they have special aptitudes, but the range of that work has expanded immensely.

"Both these women's organizations have now been definitely declared members of the Armed Forces of the Crown. Each is given full military status.

"That Canadian women are as capable and probably are as desirous to perform the duties of similar auxiliary corps to release man-strength for more combatant duties, may be inferred from the fact that though comparatively few Canadian women are serving in the British women's auxiliaries, it is notable that so many are outstanding in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, and some have been promoted to commissions in the force."

Terrace Lost Double-Header Played
On Victoria Day

USK, June 2:—All Usk, and most of Terrace, turned out in grand style to celebrate May 24 at Usk.

Children's sports dominated the forepart of the afternoon while the remainder of the sunny day was used to good advantage to turn back in a very decisive fashion two picked teams of Terrace Hardball players. First Usk defeated the Terrace High School boys by a score of 19 to 3. Quickly following this the same Usk team easily sent the Terrace Seniors down to defeat by a score of 25 to 9.

The opening looked glum for Usk. Later on the story was much different as Usk got her big guns going so that the runs came in on the heels of one another. At the end of the sixth inning, Terrace had had enough. They wanted no more.

Usk was invited to Terrace over next week-end so that the latter might get her revenge.

RANGERS

Baseball Game, Although Errorful, Was Exciting—Old Timer Is Winning Hurdler

Rocky Mountain Rangers made their debut in the Senior Baseball League yesterday afternoon with the former winning fourteen to eleven.

The big hit of the day was a home run by Downey, the ball being lost in left field. Another long hit was by Gagne of the Rangers whose three bagger went deep into centre field.

Tommy Green knocked in the first two runs for the Rangers while pinch hitting for McKee. Incidentally Green, who substituted for Cooper in the pitcher's box, won the game for Rangers by allowing only two hits. Green is an old timer on the diamond. During the last war he pitched in an exhibition game before the Prince of Wales in England.

The game was marked with many errors which made for excitement and the enjoyment of the crowd.

Dido Gurvich was umpire of balls and strikes. Jim Wilson was score-keeper.

Civilians and Composite Services meet in the next game Wednesday evening.

Attended Roman Catholic Service

Members Of I. O. D. E. At Mass On Sunday Morning

On Sunday morning members of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, attended High Mass at the Church of the Annunciation on the occasion of their annual church parade. Between fifty and sixty members were present under Mrs. J. A. Teng, Municipal Regent, with the four standard bearers.

As this was the feast of Pentecost, High Pontifical Mass was celebrated by Rt. Rev. Bishop E. M. Buno, assisted by Fathers Lantagne and Racette. The Bishop addressed the congregation, the text being taken from the royal prophecies. He spoke in inspiring words on the Empire and the need for unity in prayer for victory. He also welcomed the I. O. D. E. members in his usual kindly manner.

With Mrs. Loiselle and Gillis Couture as soloists, the choir rendered Barde's Mass with much feeling with Charles P. Balagno as organist and choirmaster. The service concluded with the National Anthem.

ANGO-KELTS

Editor, Daily News:
We note that former German names of certain towns in Canada have been replaced by appropriate Canadian names. Justice and charity should commence at home in other things of equal importance. We should always use the true, fair-minded term "Anglo-Kelt" because Britain was never entirely Teutonized. Some years ago there was a public appeal for abolition of "Anglo-Saxon" in favor of "Anglo-Kelt" because the former was known to be too one-sided and inadequate. Famous writers of history had previously told us that the latter term was the correct designation for our race because it represents our main racial elements—Kelt and Teuton.

"Anglo-Kelt" brings better feeling and respect to the brave soldiers, sailors and airmen etc. from all parts of Great Britain who have fought, suffered and died for us. This also applies to those of our Empire who are of British descent. "Anglo-Kelt" represents people of British origin scattered throughout the world. Then again "Anglo-Kelt" is a necessary and patriotic antidote to help combat certain pro-Nazi elements which are fond of dishing up the lie that the people of our Motherland get most ould also send all the food that ships could be found to carry. Further Canada would bear all in its power of the financial burden.

To Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Mr. King sent warmest greetings in remembrance to a treasured friendship of many years. He only wished he could say in adequate words what Canadians thought in admiration of the British Premier, how he was regarded as the personification of Great Britain in her greatest hour, an inspiration and a tower of strength, the captain of a great host of free men of magnificent courage. He (Mr. King) prayed that God would continue to give Mr. Churchill the strength, the wisdom and the vision that was so greatly needed.

Premier Churchill

Premier Churchill, in reply, spoke appreciatively of the part Canada was playing in fighting this evil in the world. These evil men did not understand the spirit of the British Empire, its voluntary unanimity of thought and action. Traditions of valor and freedom of old France lived in the French people of Canada who would help to keep it alive and bring it back to life. Britons knew that the prayers, toil and anxious thoughts of all Canadians were with them in this hour. Canada had already given abundant proof of her resolve. Soldiers of Canada were now a familiar sight in cities, towns and villages of Britain. He had met many of these soldiers himself, said Mr. Churchill, never had he seen a finer body of troops. They, like the people of Britain themselves, stood ready to defend the heart of Empire when and if the time of test came. Mr. Churchill recalled the valor of Canadians in the storming of Vimy twenty-four years ago. Not only could the valor of Canadians in action be relied upon but so could their persevering efforts in field and factory. The British Premier also referred to his old friendship with Mr. Mackenzie King.

Mr. Churchill expressed confidence that this, the greatest Canadian war loan, would be crowned with success.

Making from No. 10 Downing Street, the seat of government of an inviolable city and island, Mr. Churchill gave assurance that "our citizens have learned their own strength under hardship and danger."

Now the whole Empire, the whole new world, were together, there was no doubt of the issue. Canada would play its full part in laying the foundations of a wider and better world.

Mr. Lapointe

Mr. Lapointe referred to this as one of the most momentous periods in modern history. On the outcome of this struggle depended whether there would be a long and arduous period or a better and a peaceful world. Canada was fighting today for something that it had not already lost. Its position in that regard was different to that of other less fortunate nations who fought. "We must work and fight, win or perish together," he declared.

Appealing for unity of purpose and resolve, Mr. Lapointe declared that to divide friends was a basic factor of German strategy. Let Canadians bury all their conflicts, he exhorted, uniting in a national soul. Let there be no division at this very critical time. Every Canadian had a stake in this war Canada was fighting for her life. Let the money of Canadians become the money of victory. It was essential that all the materials of war should be assured and available when the need came. The French mistake was the mistake of not being ready. "Great Britain, Canada and the United States shall not make that mistake," he declared. Canadians would stand firm in the face of the greatest menace that had ever faced civilization.

"Take my word," concluded the minister of justice, "if we stand together, we shall come through with colors flying, with bands playing. There'll always be an England. There'll always be a Canada."

ATTEMPT KVICIAK SALVAGE

Another Effort Being Made To Recover Steel Ship Down Coast

Salvage outfit left Prince Rupert today for Sisters Island at the north of Milbank Sound not far from Klemtu to join equipment which is now on the way from Vancouver and institute another effort to salvage the United States Army Transport vessel Kviclak which stranded and sank there several months ago. Under favorable weather conditions, it is thought that the Kviclak might be salvaged in about a month's time. She is now down in some eighty or ninety feet of water. The steel ship would be brought to the Prince Rupert dry dock. The repair job, it is estimated might run to $200,000.

Capt. W. P. Armour is in charge of the Armour Salvage Co.'s equipment going from this end. The tug Peerless and Pachena will be used. Coming north from Vancouver are the tugs Escort I and Caprino.

COLORFUL FILM HERE

"Tin Pan Alley," With Alice Faye and Betty Grable, Revives Days of 1917

Romantic, tuneful and picturesque "Tin Pan Alley," starring Alice Faye and Betty Grable with Jack Oakie and John Payne heading the featured cast, comes to the Capitol Theatre here for the first half of this week and should be a popular offering. The story is built around a romance between a rising young music publisher and a singer of songs. Woven into the story are a number of stirring and haunting old and new song hits, some of yesteryear and some of today.

Most of the action of the picture is of the 1917 period and Tin Pan Alley (West Forty Sixth Street) of that day was recreated down to small details for the film. Brownstone flats, famed musical firms of the day, struggling musicians in a world of hopes and dreams, songwriters, illustrious actors, colorful characters—all are seen again.

Alice Faye and Betty Grable are paired as a sister team and a highlight is when they sing that great old number "K-K-K-Katy," this being only one of many surprises contained in the picture. Allen Jenkins, Esther Ralston and Ben (Shadrach) Carter also have important parts while the Nicholas Brothers, dusky dancing stars of "Down Argentine Way" fame, are also seen.

In the Hazelton Hall to tender a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson who are leaving for Vancouver.

Mrs. Doris Brentzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Robinson of Terrace and a graduate of the Hazelton Hospital training school for nurses, has joined the staff of the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

scription would bring a pennant to be added to the flag. The first ten cities in Canada to reach their quota would have corvettes named after them.

Col. Nicholls felt that the loyalty and patriotism of the people of Prince Rupert was something that could be depended upon. He told of the organization of the campaign, remarking that it was but good sense to buy victory bonds. The price was cheap when it was considered how much was at stake.

J. J. Little also told of the organization and urged the importance of making the campaign a success.

Capt. Marsden declared that every effort must be made to catch up with the dictators. It was essential that money be made available to the government so that the forces might be adequately equipped to prosecute the war successfully. He spoke from first hand experience of conditions in countries which had been subjugated by aggressors. He appealed to all people to do their part in this easy way and to urge their friends to do likewise.

Mrs. J. A. Teng emphasized the importance of lending as much money possible, even if it was temporary sacrifice, that the mites might be backed up in fight against the enemy.

Called to the platform as part in the quiz contest were Stuart May, James Molloy, W. Zolisko, Col. J. W. Nicholls, Nicholls, G. A. Hunter, E. W. fold, Gordon German and G. Tinker. This evidently proved interesting to the audience, conducted by W. F. Stone, assisted by Miss Leah Basso-Bert.

J. A. Teng led the communal singing of patriotic songs. C. Balagno was accompanist for the evening.

Art Murray was the winner, the drawing of a $50 Victory Bond, the first one to be sold in Prince Rupert.

It was announced that James Killas was withdrawing her money from savings bank invest in Victory Bonds.
