NEW YORK—Although Allied reverses in the Balkans and North Africa are expensive and unwelcome, Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, speaking here last night, urged that a long view of the situation be taken. These reverses were black spots and might have grave repercussions but would never win the war for Germany and Italy. Only direct success against Great Britain could win the war for the Axis, Halifax referred to the growing production and resources of the British and the importance of the mastery of the sea.

Fires were caused by short circuits of electric wiring and at least twelve alarms were turned in. The first shock came at 11:12 a. m. and lasted for two-and-a-half minutes. The second shock was at 11:50 a. m.

The city of Colima, 300 miles southwest of here, was hardest hit. It is reported half in ruins with at least 40 persons dead and many injured. Numerous large fires were started. British Lines Holding Everywhere Although Attack Is Intensified

At No Point Has Main Defence Been Broken Through By Enemy—Damaging Raid By Royal Air Force on Valona

ATHENS, April 16: (CP)—Fighting was general along the British front in Greece today, British sources said, but, despite vigorous mechanized thrusts, the Germans had not reached the main British-Greek defences for a battle which may decide the fate of the Ionian Peninsula. Authoritative sources said that, before Greek troops retired in western Macedonia, they inflicted heavy losses on mechanized German forces. Strong reinforcements of men and material are reported in position in the new line.

United States and Canada would become arsenals of peace, the Governor-General declared.

UNABLE TO GET THRU

Some Nazis Bombers Driven Off When Attempting to Attack England Yesterday—Belfast Heavily Hit

LONDON, April 16.—Nazi bombers, approaching wave after wave, failed in their attempt to get past the aerial defences of many British centres last night. After repeated tries, they were turned back from the southwest coast of England and sped homeward. Others, however, got through and some cities were bombed. The attempts were widespread and Northern Ireland had its heaviest attack with Belfast bearing the brunt, suffering heavy damage and casualties. Three Nazi planes were brought down during the night. Bombs crashed into London today.

Mr. Mackenzie King Leaves For United States To Meet President Roosevelt

OTTAWA, April 16.—Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King left Ottawa last night for the United States and will confer with President Franklin D. Roosevelt at either the White House or Warm Springs, Georgia. Matters connected with the war and further co-operation between Canada and the United States will be discussed. Some momentous results may ensue. The trip was made in response to a personal invitation from the President, Mr. King said.

TO DEFEND GREENLAND

President Roosevelt Makes United States' Stand Clear—Navy To Convoys Ships

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 16.—United States will protect Greenland against attack or invasion by any other nation, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared yesterday. Such a defence would be carried out under the terms of the Monroe Doctrine, the President said.

At a press conference, the chief executive also said that United States reserved the right to protect its shipping in any zone that was ruled as non-combatant. This is taken as an indication that the United States Navy may be assigned to the conveying of war materials at least as far as the war zones to countries which the United States deems are defending democracy against aggression. This would include the giving of armed protection to United States ships going into the Red Sea. This could be done under the law, the President declared.

Fires Started in 140 Spots in Cardiff During One Raid but All Were Quickly Under Control

(This is the first of a Canadian Press series on the March air raids over Wales.)

BY DOUGLAS AMARON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
CARDIFF, March 17 (CP)—Wise in the ways of German bombers, the people of South Wales went the limit in preparing to meet the menace of air raids.

The busy Bristol Channel ports in the ways of German bombers, where great ocean liners still load and unload and factories turn out munitions for Britain's war effort, suffered much from bombing, but damage might have been far greater had it not been for the way in which people were able to counter each attack as it came.

Cardiff's civil defence services, which officials here term the finest in the country, are the result of careful planning and constant training. They typify the way people, not only in South Wales, but everywhere in Britain, are combating effects of air raids. The first bombs fell in Cardiff last June 20, and until September when the big attacks began on London, there

CAPE BRETON STRIKE

British Fleet Helping In Effort To Remove Axis Threat In Egypt

Fort Capuzzo Changes Hands Several Times And Is Finally Recaptured By British—ElGazala is Shelled

LONDON, April 16: (CP)—The Royal Navy has gone into action against the Axis threat to Egypt, the Admiralty announced tonight. Axis operations are being constantly and successfully harassed by bombardment. A communique said that enemy positions and transport columns on an escarpment road west of Saloum have been bombarded with particularly good results and warships have also shelled El Gazala airdrome west of Tobruk. Tripoli, far to the west in Libya, has again been bombed by the Royal Air Force.

British military sources at Cairo said tonight that, in the struggle with the Axis forces at the Egyptian frontier, Fort Capuzzo had changed hands several times before the British finally recaptured it. Earlier it was officially announced that British forces in North Africa had successfully attacked the rear of the German position in the Capuzzo area on the Egyptian border. Fort Capuzzo is a Libyan stronghold just across the border from Saloum where British troops are fiercely resisting the Axis thrust forward.

Military observers say that the situation in North Africa, following the lightning Nazi drive eastward, is now stabilizing itself and the turn may, indeed, be turning. The Axis forces appear to have been stopped dead in the vicinity of Saloum and the successful counter-attack from Tobruk is another favorable factor for the British whose forces are being strengthened.

EDITORIAL

Different Minds . . .

There are everywhere people of different tendencies. Their minds work differently. Now and then we meet people who always have some word of appreciation or encouragement. They like something you have written or they appreciate some feature in the paper. It is a pleasure to meet them. Then there is the person who always has a kick coming. Something the paper has published or failed to publish is criticized but there is never a word of appreciation.

A newspaper never minds constructive criticism. Anything helpful is appreciated. It also makes life a little more pleasant if now and then the newspaper reader lets us know what he likes to read and also lets us know when he appreciates something that has been written.

Was Not Featured . .

The news of the treaty signed recently by Russia and Japan was not published in Germany. Evidently it was not considered favorable to that country. The well known news commentator, Ramond Gram Swing, suggested that the new treaty weakened the agreement Japan had with the Axis. Should Germany attack Russia, it seems likely that the more recent agreement with Russia would make it impossible for Japan to side with the Axis and that would disrupt the whole combination. Italian newspaper mentioned the new treaty but made it seem of no importance.

Will Germany Attack Russia? . . .

A number of writers continue to assert that Germany plans to attack Russia. They reason it out in various ways, mostly the need of oil supply as the great inducement.

In his book, Hitler made the taking of the Ukrainian wheat lands part of this big scheme of conquest and, if this is to be followed out, it should be done soon. For weeks past these writers have been saying that Russia is to be one of the next victims of German aggression. Will Russia calmly await the attack or take up the challenge and attack Germany while there is a chance of winning?

A despatch received yesterday indicates that Russia is following out an appeasement policy with Germany. If she does that she is likely to get about as good results as did Britain and other appeasement nations.

Norman Angell's Views . . .

Norman Angell, apostle of peace, the man who wrote a book telling about the futility of war, now says that, if Great Britain had taken a strong stand against Japan at the time of the Manchuokuo conquest by Japan, there would have been no war today. It takes no particular brains to come to that conclusion. It has seemed evident to most people for a number of years. If Great Britain had failed to loan money to Germany for her rehabilitation and, if the League of Nations had taken a firm stand when it knew Germany was rearming, there might have been no war today. If Britain and France had refused to allow Hitler to get away with his seizure of the Ruhr and so on ad infinitum, here might have been no war. It would be easy to find at least a dozen or perhaps a score of "ifs" that would fit into the situation. What was evident was that Britain had no intention of trying to prevent the just aspirations of any nation but, evidently, there were administrations in Britain that had read Norman Angell's book and tried to be pacifists when they should have been militarists in a world in which militarism was all powerful.

We think that much of what Mr. Angell wrote was true. We do not see anything but loss for everybody in this war, no matter who wins. Yet when this struggle is over we shall probably find a peace movement in force that will be so strong that the Germans will be given more favors than the victors and even our own country will refuse to recognize that in this age of quarrelsome countries and quarrelsome people a country must be strong enough to hold its own and to enforce good international laws and fair dealing.

Man in the Moon

Norwegian independence is something to regain rather than to celebrate. However, we shall join them in their festival.

Norway is the place where they know how to pack sardines. It's a great thing to know how to do something well.

Jake says he's a past master at loafing so he thinks he ought to get a medal for doing it well.

He was an actor of the old school, inspecting his provincial "diggings." With a regal air he surveyed the bedroom, and noted the absence of a washstand. In dignified tones he inquired: "And where do I perform my ablutions?"

"Is it's a new trick," replied the landlady, sharply, "you'll do it at the theatre, and not here. I had two chairs busted by a bloomin' ar-robat last week!"

"Miss, there's something hanging from your hair." "I beg your pardon, that is my hat."

Goering wanted more night bombers very urgently. So he went along to a factory.

"I want a dozen of your planes," he ordered: "they must be ready three nights from now."

"Impossible," cried the works manager.

"I command!" roared Goering. "The crews will be here at the time stated."

The time came, and so did the crews. German efficiency had triumphed; there were the planes. Without loss of time they set out for their target—England.

Over London the leading pilot pulled the bomb-release lever—and out dropped three of the factory's night shift.

Her Hitler was peeved, feeling deeply aggrieved.

Over getting a plate of cold soup.

So Dr. Goebbels, with a couple of yells.

Sank the whole British fleet at one swoop.

NO TIME FOR TEA

British Women React to "White Feather" Movement Which is Now On

LONDON, April 16.—White feathers have already been received by office girls in Essex towns with accompanying notes saying, "Join your sisters in uniform." Girls who had been turned down as too young to be recruited into the voluntary service have also received white feathers.

Stenographers and government service girls who received feathers replied: "Yes we do take tea in the cafe in the late afternoon. But we wonder if the A.T.S. sergeant who wants to white feather us knows that we work seven days a week, all through air raids and take our turns at first aid and fire watching service?"

Another A.T.S. girl wrote that she'd like to meet the sergeant whose views she shared and suggested that perhaps tea should be added to the feathers for those whose wartime service is tea-drinking.

A Mother's View Another reaction is expressed in a letter from the mother of two "Wrens" (Women's Royal Navy Service):

"I have two daughters in uniform, but I venture to say that neither one of them is doing the work I am doing—without glory, uniform, or pay either."

"They tell me that they are not finding enough to do. I cannot complain of that. I have my house and shop to look after, drive an ambulance, take my turn in A.R.P. work and fire watching."

The girl employees of another business organization write: "Are we to be called cowards and given white feathers? No we don't wear khaki but we work long hours after which we do part-time shelter service, go on fire-watch duty at home or the office or fill posts at first aid stations—after our day's work is supposed to be done."

One girl who received a white feather had two brothers and her father in the army. She helps support of her mother and younger members of the family and takes regular turns in A.R.P. work and helping during night raids.

Endured Athenia Becomes Mother

Baby Born To Survivor Of German Outrage First Day Of War.

John Chrichton seven days after the attack on the liner.

Mrs. St. Clair Stobart, the new baby's grandmother, was condemned to be shot as a spy by the Germans in the First Great War but was freed at the last moment.

ACCURACY

What counts in a bicycle!

SMART appearance—strength—long life—easy pedaling—sure-acting coaster brake—all of these and a dozen other things that you get in a C.C.M. Bicycle are important. But the most important of them all is the Accuracy with which C.C.M. bicycles are built.

A C.C.M. is a beautiful piece of precision-built machinery down to the smallest detail. Particularly is this true of the main moving parts—the front hub, the rear hub, and the hanger to which the main sprocket, cranks and pedals are attached. These parts are carefully machined by precision tools and are closely tested for accuracy.

Thus the fast moving parts fit so accurately together and work with such sweet harmony that very little leg-power is required to make the C.C.M. move swiftly along the road. It's this amazing accuracy that is the secret of the C.C.M.'s smooth, quiet running, and the long life of its main working parts.

Even a small imperfection in the machining of a fast-working part, or a bearing that is not quite true, can set up a surprising amount of internal friction, which, if continued day after day, will shorten the life of the bicycle and make it harder to pedal. C.C.M.'s extreme accuracy in manufacture safe-guards against this.

Therefore, when you go to buy your bicycle look for the things that count. First for C.C.M. Accuracy. Then for C.C.M.'s Chromium plate over 20-year nickel; C.C.M. Frames of steel tubing; C.C.M.'s free-running Coaster Brake; C.C.M. Hanger; Dunlop Tires; and other famous C.C.M. features. Choose a bicycle that comes from the plant where Accuracy is the watchword of the institution. It's your assurance of long years of riding satisfaction.

Table with bicycle models and prices: C.C.M. Boy's or Girl's $33.95, C.C.M. Ladies' $42.50, C.C.M. Rambler, Men's $48.50, C.C.M. Special $44.50, C.C.M. Rambler, Ladies' $39.00, C.C.M. DICKENS FAVORED

People of Air-Raided Hub of Empire Reading More Than Ever Not About War

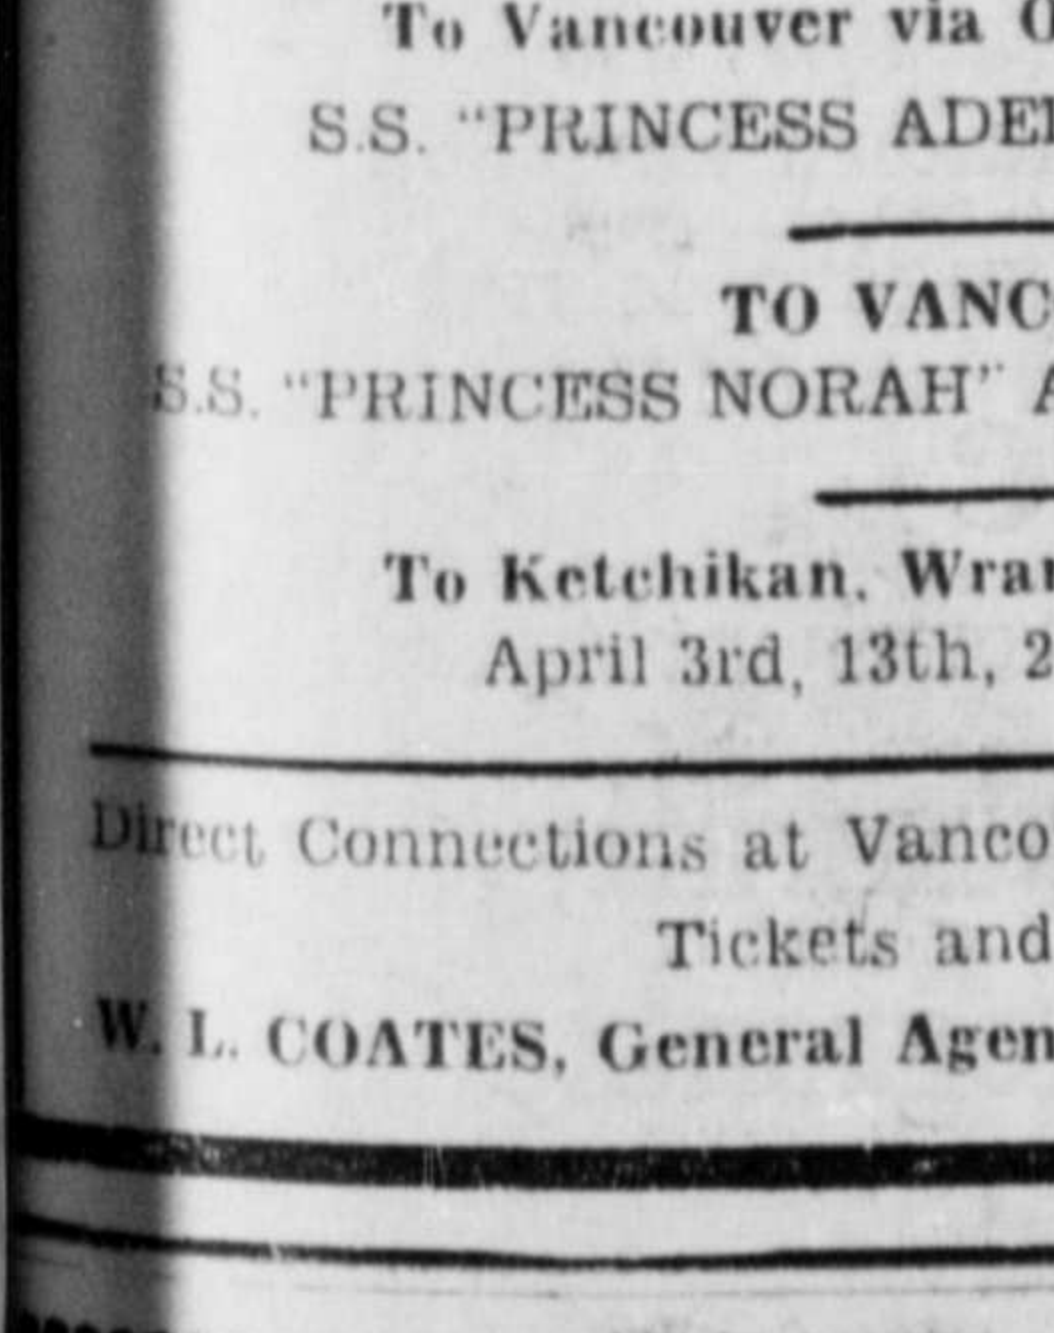

By DOUGLAS AMARON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
LONDON, April 16 (CP)—Kept indoors by nights of bombing and blackout, people of Great Britain are reading more today than ever before. Stores and libraries are crowded with people looking for something to help them forget hardships and almost any book without regard for its subject has a place on the market.
The kind of reading has changed, popularized by cheap editions, the classics, biographies, books about Britain, religion, gardening, sports and scientific or technical subjects are favorites. A 10-cent volume of Dickens or Anthony Trollope has more readers than a $2.00 modern novel.
Stories of the fall of France or the bombing of London, war novels and mystery stories may have a big sale across the Atlantic but they take second place here. The English don't need to be told about the war; they know all they want to know about the bombing of London; they are living their own lives.
The first of the war books, high-priced, got a good reception when they were published.

and some well-known authors are still popular but it takes a four-star war story to win the public's fancy now. Give the Englishman his choice between a symposium on the war and "Pickwick Papers" and he'll take the Dickens' novel.
Re-Printing Pickwick
Five million books were destroyed in the fire raid on London last December, among them many of the old favorites that are so much in demand. "Pickwick Papers" is out of print and publishers are rushing more editions off the presses.
"We can scarcely keep up with the demand," said Christina Foyle, trim young directress of one of the largest book-selling and lending companies in the world. "We're selling 10,000 books a day, one-third more than a year ago."
In rambling, old-fashioned offices damaged by bombs, 500 girls in M. S. Foyle's company deal with 20,000 letters a day, filling orders or replying to criticism of books already delivered.
Crowded book stores and libraries everywhere in London are evidence of growing interest in reading and men and women in multi and uniform daily 'thumb pages of old and new books on display along Charing Cross Road's open book-stalls.

PLAYGROUND BASKETBALL AT MASSETT PLAY GOING ON TONIGHT

New Sports Field At Island Village Formally Opened At Ceremony Last Saturday

MASSETT, April 16.—The Massett Recreation Park, new playground made by the Massett Athletic Club and the Young People's Educational Society during a two week's effort, was officially opened last night by B. T. Phillips, Indian Agent, William Matthews, chief councillor, and his daughter, Miss Phyllis Matthews.

The road leading to the new playground was decorated with flags and colored streamers. The population of the village lined up in the street and, led by the Massett Concert Band, paraded to the gate of the new ground where "O Canada" was played while a Union Jack was slowly hoisted up the flag pole of the ground. Chief Councillor Matthews then gave a short speech, followed by Mr. Phillips who unveiled the name plate. Miss Matthews then cut the ribbon which stretched across the gate of the park and the chief councillor and the Indian Agent walked through the gate.

The ground had been marked out for softball, football and other sports. It was used for sports on Easter Monday and Tuesday with dances being held in the Community Hall both nights.

Ocean Falls and Local High School Teams Arrive Today—The Boys' Game Last Night

To renew the inter-High School basketball series which started with three sets of games at Ocean Falls since last week-end, the players of the Ocean Falls girls' and boys' High School teams arrived in the city on the Prince George this morning. The two Bo-Me-Hi teams returning home on the same boat. The series at Ocean Falls resulted in each team winning once while there was a tie in the third game. This makes an interesting situation as far as boys' play is concerned. The local girls lost all their three games to Ocean Falls. The local teams report having had a most enjoyable visit at the paper town with generous hospitality and round after round of entertainment.

In Tuesday night's basketball games between Ocean Falls High and the Bo-Me-Hi team of Prince Rupert the paper-town girls won by 11-8 and the boys' game was tied 35 all. This deadlock had to remain because the boat was waiting for the teams and there was no time for overtime.

The girls' game started very unevenly for Rupert and, at the half, the score stood 7-0 for Ocean Falls. In the second half, however, Rupert girls stepped out and the final score stood 11 to 8 for the paper town.

In a fast, furious, and evenly-played game the boys' teams tied. Up to the beginning of the second half the Ocean Falls boys kept the lead but, during the last quarter, Rupert took the lead 35 to 34 on a nice shot by Bussey. In the closing seconds of the game Wall made good a foul which was called on Bussey.

The scoring:

Girls
 Ocean Falls—Jean Lewis, 5; Joan Rhodes, 6; Dot Widsten; Edith Benson; Elsie Adams; Margaret Larsen; Margaret Gillanders.
 Prince Rupert—E. Yamanaka; J. Owens; M. Yamanaka, 4; A. Clapp; Josey Murray; Zilla Sherman; Betty Payne; Molly Winslow, 4.

Boys
 Ocean Falls—Gahans, 11; Oxenbury, 13; Adams; Clozza; Wall, 11; Charleston; Anderson; Larsen.
 Rupert—Macdonald, 8; Arney, 4; Santerbane, 14; Bussey, 4; Oland; Bill, 5; McCouper.

It was announced today that the Northern British Columbia Intermediate challenge cup would be at stake in the last four games of the boys' inter-High School series including the games here tonight and tomorrow.

AIRFORCE IS WINNER

The Navy met the Air Force in a softball game at Gyro Park last evening with the Air Force batting out a score of 34 to 19 to win the match. The game was the scene of much skidding, tumbling and shouting and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The Navy players showed good possibilities and, with a little practice, should be able to field a winning team. Sergeant Dodge of the Air Force pitched for his team while Irving and Husoy were on the mound for the Navy.

Teams and players were as follows:
 Navy—Akerman, Irving, Fairburn, Morton, Mercer, Husoy, Brophy, James and Stauffman.
 R.C.A.F.—Watt, Dodge, Walsh.

SPORT CHAT

New York Rangers, sparked by the two-goal performance of Frank Boucher, defeated Montreal Maroons 2-1 at Montreal 13 years ago last night to win the Stanley Cup. It was a hard and bitterly-fought game, 21 penalties being handed out, including three majors. It was the first time the world's hockey championship had been won by a United States team since Seattle took it in 1917.

George (Twinktoes) Selkirk, picked to succeed baseball's mightiest hitter, Babe Ruth, made his debut with New York Yankees an auspicious one by slashing out a clean single in his first time at bat at New York six years ago today. Selkirk, who comes from Huntsville, Ont., still is with the Yankees.

W. O. Hanson who was stationed for some months at Brandon in the Air Force, has been moved to Calgary where he expects to remain for a month before entering the initial training school at Regina as a student pilot.

SEASON IS UNDER WAY

None of the Season's Favorites Won Their Baseball Games Yesterday

NEW YORK, April 16.—None of the favored teams for 1941 won their games in the Big Leagues yesterday. Except for Washington, where the New York Yankees trimmed the Senators on Monday, it was opening day of the season. The Yankees came home for their first stand and were trimmed 3 to 1 by the Philadelphia Athletics. The much-vaunted Cleveland Indians lost to the Chicago White Sox, not even Bob Feller being able to save them, he being banished to the showers to be succeeded by Brown. In the National League the favored Cincinnati Reds, despite Paul Derringer's pitching, lost rather decisively to the St. Louis Cardinals for whom Lon Warnecke worked. Yesterday's results:

National League
 St. Louis, 7; Cincinnati, 3 (Lon Warnecke pitching for St. Louis, Paul Derringer for Cincinnati.)
 Boston, 5; Philadelphia, 6 (Crantham pitching for Philadelphia, Dick Errickson for Boston—three home runs.)
 New York, 6; Brooklyn, 4 (Adams pitching for New York, Johnny Wj- at pitching for Brooklyn.)
 Pittsburg, 4; Chicago, 7 (Passell pitching for Chicago, Bob Klingner for Pittsburg, home run by Nicholson for Chicago.)
American League
 Chicago, 4; Cleveland, 3 (Bill Dietrich pitching for Chicago, Bob Feller losing pitcher for Cleveland, home run by Ray Mack for Cleveland.)
 Philadelphia, 3; New York, 1 (Dean pitching for Philadelphia, Red Ruffing pitching for New York, home run by Chapman for New York.)
 Washington, 6; Boston, 7.
 Detroit-St. Louis, postponed on account of rain.

WINNER IN PING PONG
 Sergeant Brown Defeats All Opposition in Series

Last evening at the United Services Hut Sergeant Brown of the Rangers defeated all opposition of the services to win the ping pong crown.

The highlight of the evening's play came in the finals when Brown defeated Bandsman Fraser of the Rangers 11-21, 21-19, 21-16. This was Fraser's first defeat at the Hut's weekly tournament. Fraser had no difficulty in taking the first game; but the second game told a different story. The rally became so long and fast that Fraser tired noticeably and, with the score 19-19, Brown pushed his advantage to take the two winning points. The last and deciding game again saw both players working under the strain of long fast rallies but, with Brown the more confident, finally winning the game 21-16.

The prize for the last was two theatre tickets to the "Y".
 After the ping pong and players alike enjoyed evening's fun with a Ball at which theatre tickets were prizes.
 Jim Wilson of the Hut officiated at ping pong and club.

IMPORTANT KINCOLITH GATHERING

Naas River Indians Bury Hat- chet at Kincolith—Dedication of Church Improvements Impressive

With over two hundred visitors to the villages for the occasion, a notable conference of Naas River and coast natives was held at Kincolith last week-end. Villages as far away as Hartley Bay were represented. The purpose of the gathering was two-fold—first, to iron out differences of opinion which had existed for many years between the coast and river Indians and the land question and, second, to dedicate extensive improvements which have been made to the Church of England at Kincolith.

The meeting in regard to the land question adjusted all differences and, with the shaking of hands by the leading men of each party, it was determined to forget all past disagreements and to stand together in all matters that involved the welfare of all the people. This was carried out with great enthusiasm.

For some months the people of the Church of England have been working the edifice there a thorough renovation. The whole interior has been renovated and a fine new electric lighting system installed.

It looks like a completely new church and no less a person than the Bishop of Caledonia himself is authorized by the statement that there is not a church north of Vancouver that excels it either for size or beauty. On Sunday Bishop G. A. Bix, with the assistance of the incumbent, Rev. Norman Green, dedicated all the improvements and additions made. Overflowing congregations were the rule of the day and music that would do credit to the churches of large cities was rendered. The splendid work of the women of the church is a feature.

For three days they provided sumptuous banquets for about three hundred persons. Everything was in abundance and all arrangements were left in the best of order.

KISPIOX

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McDames with their son Rufus and daughter, Sally, returned to their home in Skeena Crossing after visiting with their daughter, Miss Annie McDames, who is teaching in Kispiox.

Most of the residents of Kispiox returned to the village for the Easter week-end. They have been out all winter to their various camps trapping and pole cutting.

Interesting and enjoyable services were held in the Kispiox Church during Easter. These were most enjoyable because of the beautiful renditions by the choir and school children.

Miss Annie McDames left on Tuesday's train to spend a few days in Prince Rupert visiting her sister, Mrs. R. A. Wagner, who is in the hospital there.

Rev. D. W. More and little daughter, Donna, motored to Smithers for a short holiday trip.

WOMEN AS COOKS NOW

Class of 40 Ready for Duty in Camp or Hospital Kitchens Whenever Needed By FRANK A. HEALY

(Canadian Press Staff Writer) TORONTO, April 16 (CP)—If Canada's armed forces ever run short of army cooks, they should have no difficulty finding new recruits—the results being women.

Because they felt the urge to do something worthwhile in Canada's war effort, 40 Ontario women, backed by the Red Cross and the Canadian Auxiliary Territorial Service, took a seven-weeks' course in "quantity cooking" at the Toronto Central Technical School. They studied and practised seven hours a day, six days a week.

Miss E. Middleton, head teacher of the class and dietician of the school staff, says the women will be ready to enter any army kitchen and do competent work after completing another two-week course in hospital kitchens receiving practical experience.

"In fact," she said, "I wouldn't hesitate for one moment to place any one of the girls in army kitchens or canteens right now. I know they would come up to the standards we've tried to teach."

Miss Middleton believes most of the women will find permanent jobs in army canteens across Canada. "Already one woman has been placed in a good job," she said. "She is now night cook at a large Toronto gun-making plant."

With Army Rations

A day's classroom work consists of two lectures and experimental work in the laboratory. The students are taught fundamentals of cooking small quantities before tackling larger ones. In the "lab" they also learn the art of cleanliness, economy and nutrition values of different foods. And, Miss Middleton points out, "all work is performed on strict army rations."

Eight are chosen each day to cook and serve dinner to the rest of the students with the idea, as one teacher put, "if you can cook for 40 you can cook for any number."

The qualification needed to take the voluntary course—the only one of its kind in Canada—are that students be between the ages of 25 and 45, and that they have a high school education. Most of the women had received no previous cookery training before taking the course.

"The majority of these girls," Miss Middleton said, "are longing for a chance to go overseas where they could be of real service. They realize of course that at the present time it is rather unlikely they will get that chance." She pointed out a number of women in a classroom, refugees from Nazi-invaded European countries.

May Be Extended "Those women in particular," she said, "would give their right arms to go overseas, right now. They have relations living in England."

Miss Middleton said the federal authorities would decide whether similar courses will be conducted across Canada.

"It's proved successful and worthwhile in Britain," she said, "and I don't see why it shouldn't be worthwhile in Canada."

Dear Ladies,

Thanks for the lovely things you have sent me, a little evacuee boy. I am seven years old. I like living in the country where flowers grow, birds sing, pigs grunt. It is great fun. I hope you are all happy in Canada. You have Eskimos there haven't you?

NAZI TANK CREWS PERISH IN FLAMING INF ERNO

This blazing German tank is just one of scores that met a flaming end fighting in Greece. The Greeks discovered that dynamite and gasoline are very effective in stopping these red juggernauts. Crews are usually burned to death before they can escape from the trapped tanks.

NO BOMBS CAN KILL OLD CITY

Quentin Reynolds Calls for Aid to Victims of Luftwaffe

On his way back to London, Quentin Reynolds, the famous foreign correspondent, made a statement urging generous aid to the victims of air raids in Britain.

"Bombs will never kill the spirit of London," he said, "and the people do not complain. But if those who live undisturbed by air raids and sirens, who enjoy bright lights at night, could be transported to London for only a few hours, they would, in mere thankfulness for their own safety, start sending every cent they could spare—and more—to relieve the sufferings of victims."

Reynolds, correspondent in London for Collier's, passed through Canada on his way back to his post. His statement was made to an officer of the Queen's Canadian Fund for Aid Raid Victims, whose appeal he earnestly endorsed.

Mr. Reynolds has toured the United States during the last two months on a lecture campaign urging "all out" American aid to Britain. He has designated his share of two movie shorts he made recently for the relief of bomb victims. He has himself been "bombed out" three times in London. He takes it with the same wry fortitude as the other inhabitants of London, and all he would vouchsafe of his own troubles was the remark: "It's not very comfortable suddenly to find all your belongings scattered to the four winds."

But he gave a vivid account of a tour in the East End of London the morning after an air raid. "You don't forget the sight," he said. "You see mothers and their children huddled with few bits of clothing outside of what was once their home. Until help comes you can almost read in their faces a look of despair and shattered hope."

There may still be fires burning and smouldering and firemen who have been up all night still on duty. Somewhere, there are almost certain to be rescue workers digging carefully and patiently on the rubble of ruined houses. They have to go carefully—there are people underneath—and if the rubble is violently disturbed it may come down and crush them."

On a "noisy" night in London, Reynolds said, there might be a hundred German planes over the city looking for places to drop their bombs. "If they don't find what they're looking for, they'll drop them anywhere. In the morning London will count its dead and face the new day. London is fighting for its existence. London can never die as long as the spirit of London lives. No bomb, no land mine has yet been devised which is capable of killing this spirit."

WALES WAS READY WHEN NAZIS CAME

were more alert here than in any other city in the United Kingdom.

Fire services, a major part of every civil defence organization, received their first real test in mid-September when a big blaze started in a cold storage plant. Firemen were on duty more than 12 hours and saved 90 per cent of $2,225,000 worth of food. The greatest task for the services came March 3 when bombers subjected Cardiff to the fiercest incendiary bomb attack any city outside London has received. More than 140 blazes started, a score of major proportion, but all were under control before the blackout ended.

Fire Services
To combat fire, Cardiff has 50 men in the regular brigade. 250 paid Auxiliary Fire Service men and 600 volunteers who give their services three nights a week and put in as much as 100 hours a month. More than 300 volunteers turned out March 3.

Chief Constable James Wilson, who also heads the fire services, is proud of his men's work and of the organization he developed during 20 years in office. A policeman for 42 years, Wilson wanted to retire to the quieter occupation of a criminal lawyer, but when war came he decided his place was with the police and firemen and postponed his legal plans.

Much of Cardiff's fire prevention organization was his idea. He started the system, since adopted by most British cities, of placing sandbags for incendiaries at the foot of every lamp-post. Cardiff, too, was the first city to equip its buses and trams with fire-fighting equipment.

The fire service has its own wireless system, which Wilson says has been instrumental in saving lives and lessening damage. Extra equipment and ambulances can be summoned without delay and much valuable time is gained.

Every street is organized for ARP work and a thorough fire-fighting system has been evolved, making it almost impossible for a fire-bomb to land unnoticed. "There are usually a half-dozen people ready to hop on every incendiary," the chief said.

Give Their Lives
Firemen and ARP workers have given their lives in service at home and in neighboring Welsh towns, but there are always a dozen volunteers ready to fill a vacant place. Typical of these civilian heroes was Frank Gaccon, motor-engineer and insurance assessor, who sacrificed his business to join the fire-fighting services. Commandant of the AFS, he was killed by a high-explosive bomb on his way to fight his sixth blaze of the night. "We can ill afford to lose workers like Gaccon, as brave a man as ever fought a battle," Wilson said. "But I can assure you that no matter how many men we lose, there are others eager to take their place and if Hitler hopes to break us down this way he's a goner."
