BRITISH ATTACK
LONDON—The British made a heavy daylight attack on the German submarine base at Denhelder, Holland, scoring a number of hits on barracks and other buildings, the British said. The attack was reported to have started at 11:30 p.m. and lasted for about an hour.

EVACUATION OF GREECE
CANBERRA, Australia—Less than 500 men were lost at sea in the evacuation of Greece, it is officially stated here. Forty-three thousand were safely removed in spite of the fiercest Nazi attacks. Possibly some 3,000 or 4,000 were left behind. A minute to minute schedule was maintained by the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force and some seeming miracles were performed. One hundred Australian nurses who had been in a British hospital in Greece were among the forces safely removed. They expressed sorrow at having had to leave wounded behind.

UNITED STATES GOING IN
WASHINGTON, D.C.—Military and high government authorities now appear definitely to favor actual entry of United States in the war in order to save Great Britain from defeat. The feeling rapidly gains ground that defeat of Great Britain would mean slavery for this country.

GERMANS IN LIBYA
CAIRO—There are now estimated to be about 50,000 German troops in Libya.

CANADA AT WAR

Canadians Publish Record of Activities to Meet Desire in U.S. For Information

By J. F. SANDERSON
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 2. (CP)—A misconception, if not an abysmal ignorance of Canada's war effort exists in the United States. The average American has no idea of the extent and diversity of Canada's contribution to the fight for freedom, freedom on this continent as well as Europe.

To fill this gap, to provide a comprehensive record of Canada at war, John W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, has edited "Canada Fights, An American Democracy at War," which has been published in the United States by Farrar and Rinehart, Inc. It is the joint work of five Canadian newspapermen, Grant Dexter, Bruce Hutchison, George V. Ferguson, B. T. Richardson, Mr. Dafoe and Dr. Percy Corbett of McGill University.

It is a storehouse of facts and figures relating to Canada's war effort presented in a way to appeal to American readers. Indeed, the average Canadian will find in it many things he never knew about his own country's war effort or knew only in a sketchy sort of way, things that should fill him with pride.

For Information

A preface supplied by Mr. Dafoe says the book was written "primarily to meet what is known to be a desire on the part of many citizens of the United States for information, comprehensive and up-to-date, about the participation by Canada, and American democracy, in the war in defence of the democratic way of life; and also about Canada as joint protector with the United States of the integrity and independence of the North American continent against the designs of totalitarian powers."

The book starts with the Ogdensburg meeting in August, 1940, of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt, when the Canadian-American Joint Defence Agreement was signed, and shows, in the light of that historic pronouncement, that Canada can carry her own weight in any war involving the defence of the North American continent. It goes further than that: It shows that Canada is making a tremendous contribution.

OTTAWA, May 2.—Two want of confidence motions in the government, arising out of the budget, were voted down in the House of Commons yesterday. One was by the Conservatives and the other by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

MORE HELP IS NEEDED

Premier Menzies of Australia Says Britain Must Become as Well Equipped as Germany

LONDON, May 2.—Premier R. G. Menzies of Australia appeals to the United States for more help for Great Britain on an immense scale. This war cannot be approached in an amateur manner, Menzies says. Great Britain must become as well equipped as Germany and, to bring this about, the people must "work like beavers."

To Be Interned In Canada It Is Being Expected

OTTAWA, May 2.—Four German airmen, removed by H.M.C.S. Prince Robert from the American liner President Garfield off the Hawaiian Islands may be interned in Canada for the remainder of the war.

SITUATION IS TENSE

Crisis Developing Between Great Britain And Iraq

BRITISH FIRED UPON
NEW YORK, May 2. (CP)—A British Broadcasting Corporation broadcast today said that Iraq artillery began shelling the British air base at Habbaniyah today. The British forces at the post are taking counter-action. The broadcast added that, after Rashid Ali Al Gailani seized power in Iraq last month he appealed to Germany for armed help to oppose the British.

LONDON, May 2.—Tension is developing between Great Britain and Iraq. Yesterday another contingent of British forces landed in Iraq over the protest of that country's government. Today Iraq troops refused to withdraw from a Royal Air Force airport sixty miles west of Baghdad.

Great Britain claims that it has every right under agreement with Iraq to land troops for the protection of the Mosul oil fields and the flank of Suez. The Iraq government has assumed an unsympathetic attitude, presumably due to German influence.

According to German reports, the Premier of Iraq has called on Iraq men to shoulder rifles and refuse to submit to any foreign incursions.

AIR WAR KEPT UP

Royal Air Force Hits at Holland—Liverpool Attacked

LONDON, May 2.—The Royal Air Force yesterday delivered a heavy attack on a Nazi submarine base on the Dutch coast, making direct hits on a power station and barracks. Islands off the Dutch coast and oil stations were also attacked yesterday. There was another night attack last night by the British on Brest, it being the thirteenth since the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were found to be sheltering there.

A German air attack of blitz proportions on Liverpool and Merseyside was commenced last night but it soon faded out owing to poor weather conditions. Some damage was done although casualties were not large as a result of flares, fire bombs and incendiaries. Scattered attacks were also made on other areas in the British Isles.

No Sentiment For Peace In England

CAIRO, May 2.—Despite continued attacks by Stuka dive bombers and continued assaults by mechanized land forces, the British garrison at Tobruk was still holding out today. The Royal Navy is endeavouring to relieve the pressure and is having a measure of success.

A British counter-attack in one sector of Tobruk's outer defences today cost the Axis attackers eleven tanks and many casualties and fighting is still in progress in other sectors of the Libyan port, the Middle East command announced today.

Possessing what is said to be one of the best brains in the army, he works like a beaver and seems to make no enemies. Brigadier Burns wastes no time in arguing about errors of the past; his whole concern is with the tasks of the present and the future. New Material, Much of it American-Made, is Pouring In—Army of Nile Back Across Mediterranean

CAIRO, May 2. (CP)—New war material pouring into Africa in recent weeks, much of it American-made, offsets loss of equipment in Greece, British sources said today. General Sir Archibald Wavell is losing no time in reorganizing his armies for any German move in the Middle East. It is pointed out that much of the army which conquered Italian East Africa is now free for new action alongside divisions returned from Greece. Of course, some of these forces will need rest and refitting.

IS GIVEN BIG POST

Beaverbrook Becomes Deputy Prime Minister of Britain and Dictator of War Industry

LONDON, May 2. (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born minister of aircraft production, was appointed to the new portfolio of minister of state in charge of all war production today in a move which observers believe will make him virtually deputy prime minister. He has been succeeded as minister of aircraft production by Lieut. Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, former minister of transport.

The new post is expected to make Beaverbrook virtual dictator of Britain's production of war materials. Prime Minister Winston Churchill will be left with all his time to devote to military, naval and diplomatic activities.

Simultaneously, in connection with the sudden cabinet shuffle coming just before a Parliamentary debate on the war, it was announced that Frederick James Leathers had been appointed head of both shipping and transport ministries which will be merged as speedily as possible under the title of wartime communication.

Rt. Hon. Ronald Cross, who has been minister of shipping, was appointed British High Commissioner to Australia.

British Did Not Lose More Than Four Thousand Men In Greece—No Ships Lost

CAIRO, May 2.—The evacuation of British forces from Greece has been completed, it was announced last night. Not a single ship was lost despite the severe harassing by the enemy, particularly bombing attacks from the air. The British have been landed either in North Africa or the Island of Crete. The British casualties in Greece, it is now estimated, did not exceed four thousand.

Canada's Contribution . . .

We are told that Canada now has at least a quarter of a million men in the three defence forces on active service and there is another 175,000 on reserve. In spite of this more men are needed so that the country may do its part in the destruction of Hitlerism. The Prime Minister reminds Parliament that this country also has its own army corps, destroyers and air squadrons overseas helping to win the Battle of Britain. While there have been delays in production and in enlisting, the work done so far is very creditable for a country such as this.

Who Is Enlisting? . . .

Most people have been very surprised at the type of young men who are enlisting. One man tells me he can point to a dozen families, the heads of which have always been critical of Britain and things British and apt to jeer a little when others utter loyal sentiments. These people practically all have sons in some branch of the service, men who were among the first to volunteer. Then there were the people who talked a great deal of loyalty to Britain. Their sons are still at home or at the University. It is difficult to understand.

Japanese Census . . .

The taking of the census here reminds us that the Japanese government is also said to be taking a census of all its nationals and people of Japanese origin. Statistics are being gathered as to the 30,000 people in this country. The Japanese have found out where they live, what is their wealth and all particulars about them. This information is not being obtained for the fun of it. We are wondering what it is all about, especially since the Japanese seem to be definitely aligned with the Axis powers and are making things very unpleasant for the British people on the other side of the Pacific.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

May 2, 1916

In view of the necessity of providing employment for returned soldiers throughout the country, the establishment of government employment bureaux is being considered. The local city council has approved the idea.

The Westholme Theatre was reopened under new management last night. There was a cabaret show by ladies of the city which was much appreciated. Those taking part included Mrs. J. E. Merryfield, Mrs. W. E. Burritt, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. E. H. Shockley, Mrs. William Millar, Mrs. I. N. Linnell, Miss Barnsley, Miss Jenns, Miss Coyne and Mrs. V. A. Cole as well as the Bailey sisters and Gladys Kemp.

Man in the Moon

It seems as if there was the spring shake-up in cabinets. Beaverbrook is evidently the man to control all war production since he has made good on airplane production.

What about a shake-up in our local city council? It seems as if it was just about due.

What I like about quiz programs is that the know-it-all people never win prizes.

The employer was leaving the office. He was instructing his new secretary as to what to say if anyone called in his absence.

"I may be back this afternoon," he told her. "And then again I may not."
The secretary nodded. "Yes, sir," she said. "Is that definite?"

The furious diner bellowed to the waiter: "What's the matter with you, man? I began with fish, and now you've brought me soup. Surely you know that soup comes first."
"Yes, sir, quite, sir," said the waiter in a whisper, "but between ourselves, sir, the fish couldn't wait any longer."

A woman refugee asked the Red Cross to locate her husband and tell him she was getting along all right and didn't need any money.

The chap was located by cable and the message delivered. Back came his reply:
"Can't be my wife. She never said that before."

Father Hobson Speaks—

UNITY IS BIG PLEA OF PADRE

Visiting Air Chaplain Urges All Sects And Religious Denominations To Unite In Common Cause

A plea for unity among all classes, religious denominations and sects to defeat the evil of Nazism was made yesterday in an address to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club by Father Hobson, Command Chaplain to the Royal Air Force throughout Canada, who came in from Alford Bay. He described the work of Hitler as devilish, a terror to all mankind.

The speaker said no one could mistake the significance of events taking place today. For the first time democracy was facing its supreme test. Nazism was out for world domination, the stamping out of personal and social liberties. Democracy stood for liberty of conscience and the right to worship God in any way desired.

Under democracy, there were certain deficiencies. Realizing these deficiencies in our way of life the war has awakened a resolve that these deficiencies shall be permanently removed. Never before had there been such unity of creeds and classes. All were uniting on the foundation stone of democracy. In England they understood more about the war and the people there had sunk all their differences in order to obtain complete victory. All the churches, fraternal organizations and other groups were unifying their efforts. The only thing they feared was the domination of a tyrant and they were united to prevent it.

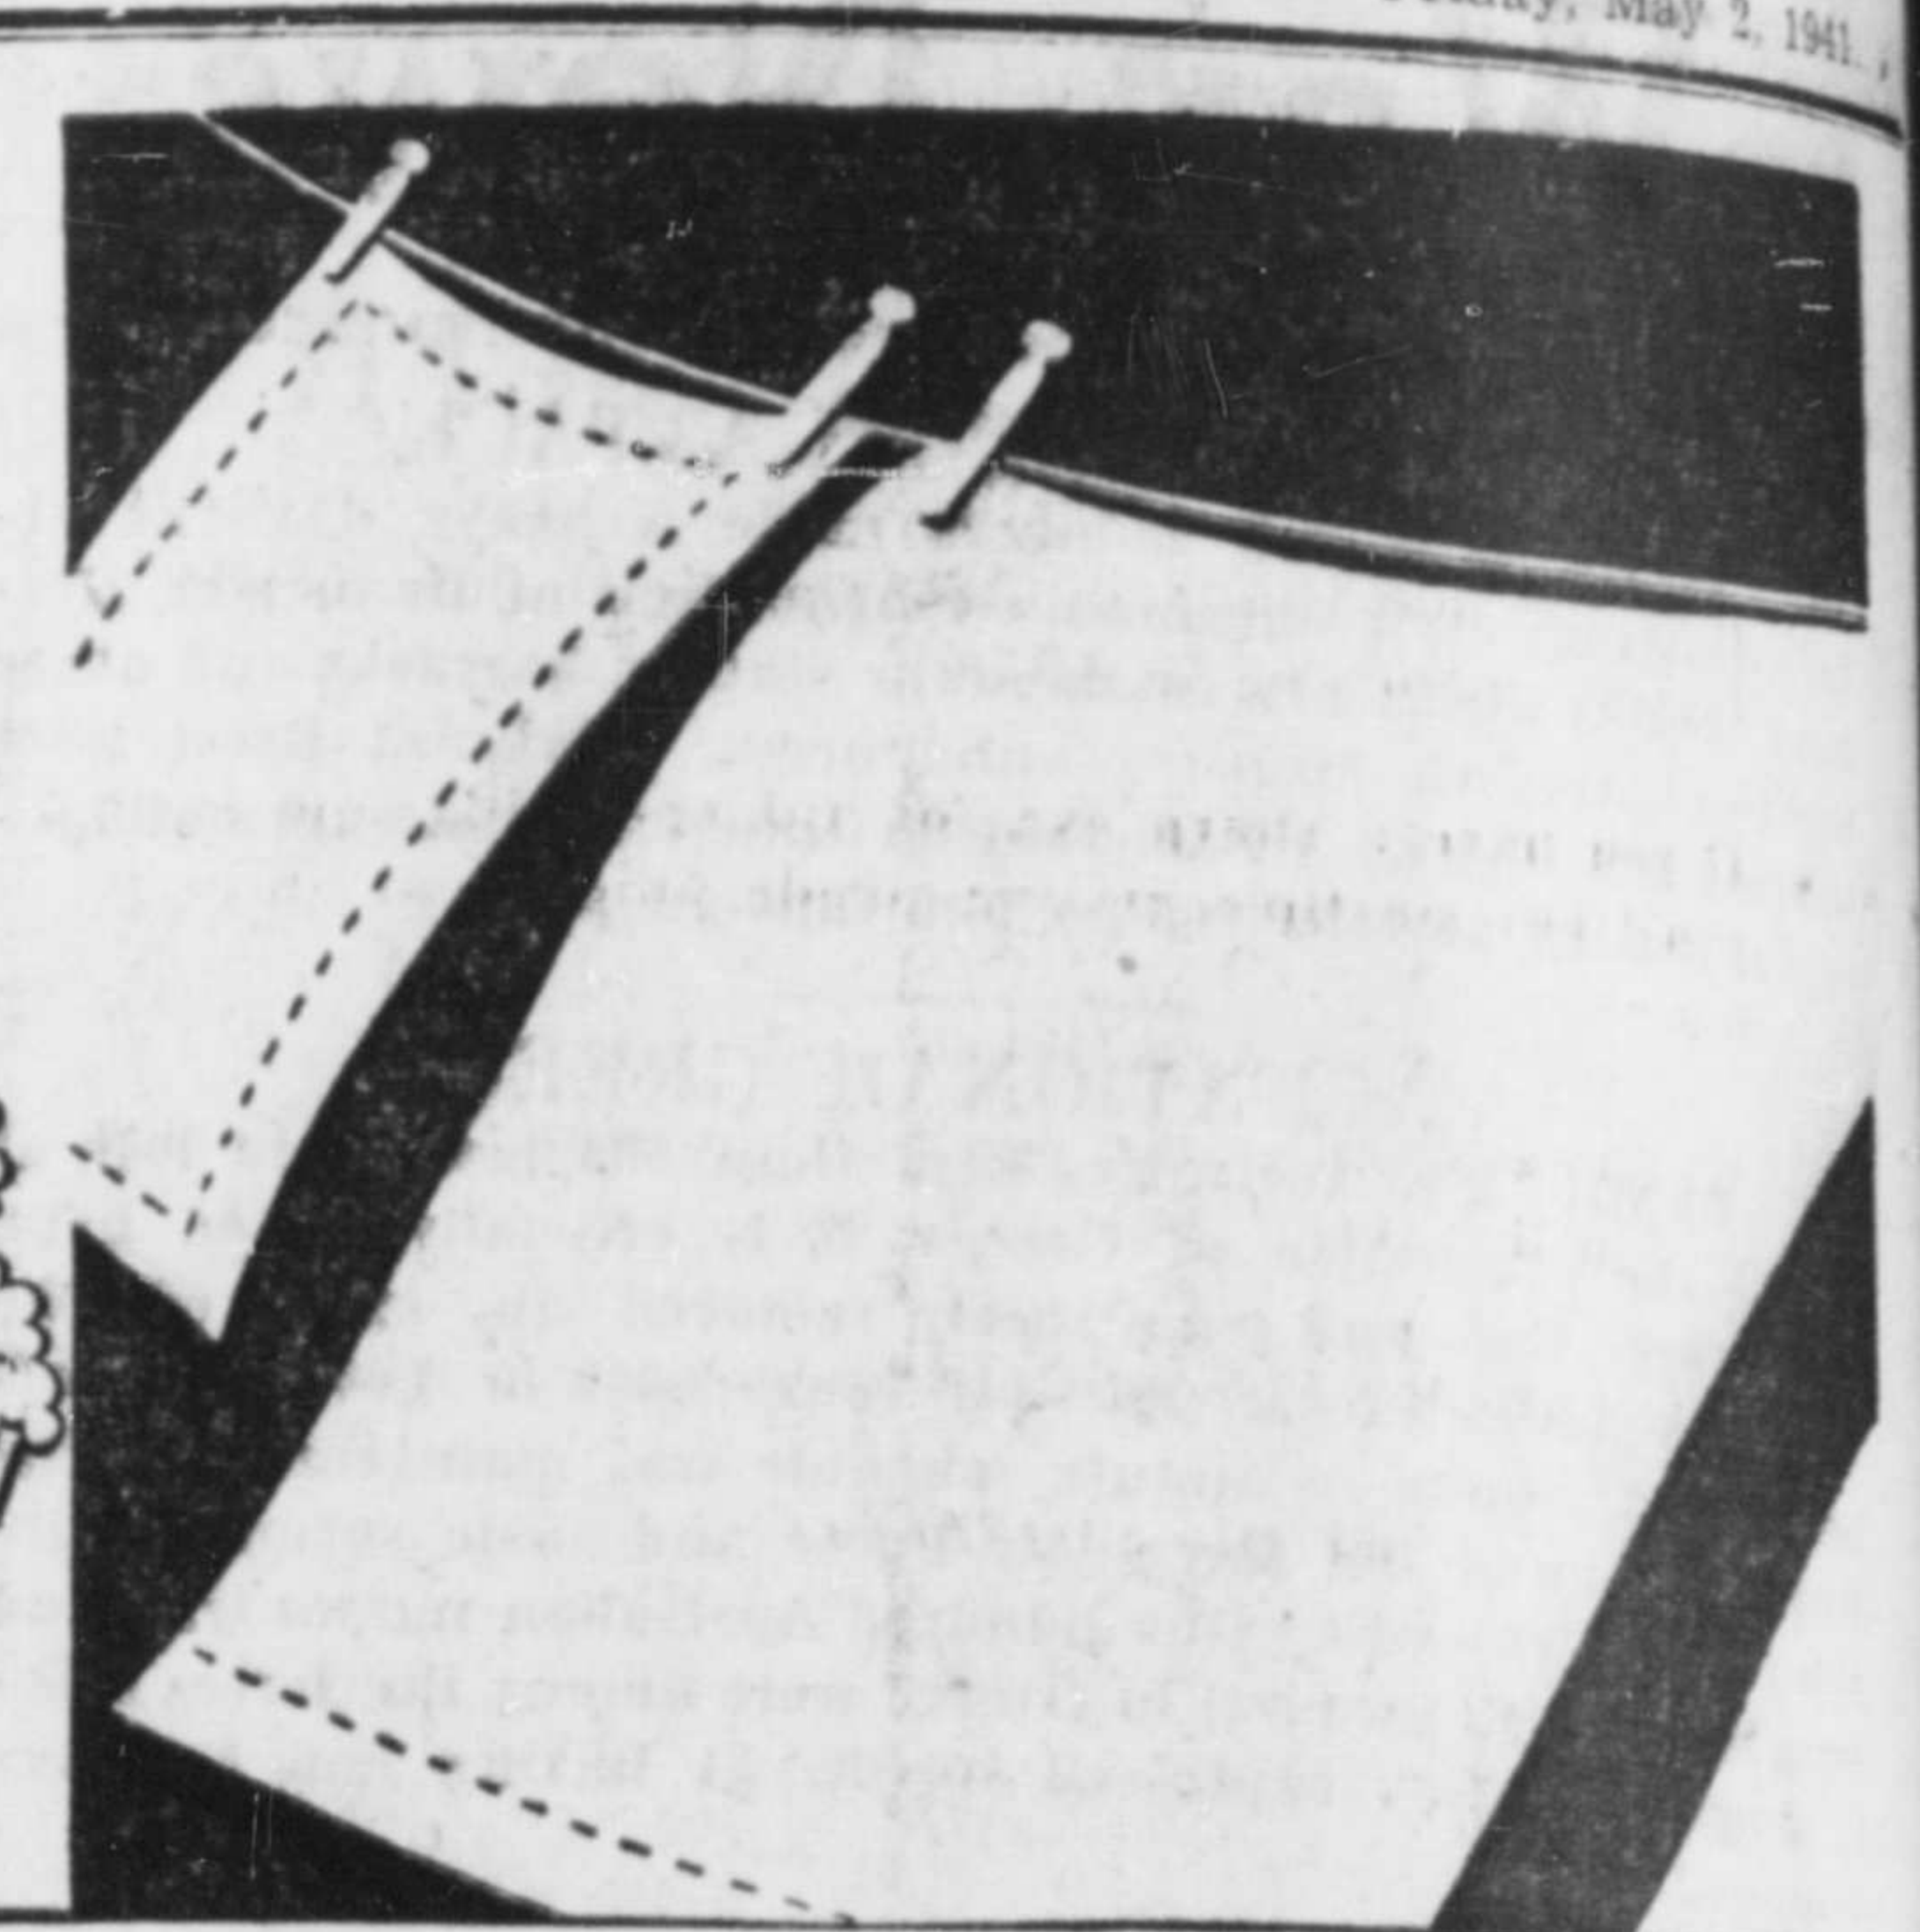

Speaking of his work in the R. C. A. F. the padre said he was proud to be allowed to wear that uniform and especially proud to wear the wings of the R. A. F. He was allowed to wear those because there was a shortage of badges for the Canadian organization. There was urgent necessity for a strong air force and he paid a sincere compliment to the Canadian government for its work in this connection. It was doing splendid work both in connection with the coastal defences and the Commonwealth Air Training Scheme. The aim was to provide bases for use in case of invasion as well as the articles of defence. A smooth working organization of the various training stations had been set up and the plan was working well. He said he had visited all bases and he spoke highly of the personnel and the organization.

Religious Needs Appeal

Father Hobson then mentioned that religion today did not have the appeal that it should. Yet he felt that good contacts were made that were well worth while. He drew a very humorous picture of the difficulties of crossing Hecate Straits by boat. So great was the difficulty that some of the men refused to take the weekly 48 hours leave. On some trips all the men had a session at the rail. One man became so sick that he was heard to pray earnestly, the pith of the prayer being that the Almighty should either sink the blankety blank ship or stop the storm.

All the padre, both Catholic and protestant, looked after the spiritual welfare of the men. One of their duties was to meet the mothers, relatives or sweethearts when they went to town. While this took a lot of time, it was very valuable. He found there was general unity of purpose, of sacrifice and splendid courage shown by those who combed the skies. He recently met one of the overseas men who was on furlough in Vancouver and this was the story he nonchalantly told:

It was on one of those nights when about five hundred German planes came over and 150 British planes went up to meet them. This had said he found himself on the tail of a German and just about to let him have it when, in the mirror, he saw the reflection of a German plane right behind him. The German let go and destroyed the controls of the British plane so he thought the best thing to do was to get out of his seat and bale out. As he turned he saw the German plane alongside and a cannon ball came through the side of his plane and he was loosened from his position and began to fall. The parachute rip cords were difficult to reach and as he was trying to find them he noticed the German following him down. The enemy plane flew around him three times and then, as the rip cords were found and his parachute opened, the German pilot leaned out, saluted and flew away. He saw beneath him what looked like an open field but it turned out to be the Thames River. He was picked up by two old navy tars in a punt and taken to a ship where he soon came around and in a few minutes was back at the airport in time to get another plane and help finish the fight.

An Earnest Prayer

The padre also told a story of an old charwoman who had lost everything in an air raid in London. She sat on the sidewalk very disconsolate. The Queen came along and offered her help. Asked what she did when she was bombed she said she had gone on her knees in prayer and then looking after the plane that had bombed her she shook her fist and exclaimed "Damn you."

Padre Hobson concluded his talk by a final appeal to the members of the club for unity of effort and unity of purpose in the great fight that was going on, a unity that he hoped would become permanent after the war was won.

Business Women's Contribution To Harmonies Of England Makes Hit

OTAWA, May 2: (CP)—Canada's Federation of Business and Professional Women got headlines in the London papers when the first shipment of mouthorgans and other musical instruments for the forces arrived.

"Mouth organs from Canada," "We shall have music" they read while Field-Marshal Lord Milne welcomed them enthusiastically and expressed appreciation of the troops.

"The playing of these instruments is exhilarating and good for the soul—if not always for those who listen," he said. "It would be a mistake to worry about the listeners. After all I know men who would hate listening to an excellent performance of a Beethoven symphony as bitterly as to the worst performance of Walsinghame, Meville on a mouth organ—so ahead boys."

Hugh Forrest Promoted From General Office Of C. N. R. To Dry Dock

Last evening members of Kaien Island Division of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees comprising clerical and steamship members, met for the purpose of farewelling their past president and local chairman, Hugh Forrest, who has been promoted from the railway to a position on the dry dock accounting staff.

Presenting Mr. Forrest with a portable typewriter, a token of esteem and appreciation of the members, H. R. Hill, president, spoke fittingly of the unselfish and tireless efforts of the recipient in furthering the cause of the Brotherhood. The high regard in which he was held by management and employee alike was ample evidence of his ability and judgment as an arbitrator. While his loss would be a blow to the organization it was gratifying to know that his sterling qualities had not gone unobserved by the management and the good wishes of all present went with him for success and happiness in his new field.

Thanking the assembly for their demonstration of affection, Mr. Forrest reminisced on his twenty years' association with the Brotherhood. He had joined as a young man and watched it grow to be a power in the labor movement. He would keenly miss his association with the members but they would always be in his thoughts. He spoke appreciatively of the loyalty and support of the members during his long term of office without which it would have been difficult to carry on. However, he would not be leaving Prince Rupert and would still be able to meet the members and talk over the pleasant memories of his association with the Brotherhood.

BRITONS "TAKE IT"

Overseas Officer Tells of Their Courage Under Fire

A striking testimony to the courage of the people of Britain in face of "devilish punishment" from the air is paid by a Brantford artillery officer who has been overseas for many months, in a letter published in the Brantford Expositor. He writes:

"There is not much use dwelling on the bombing about which you hear in the news. However, all that has been said and written about the staying power of the average English civilian under horrible, devilish punishment is not propaganda. It is plain fact. The determined stand of the people, however, does not make the punishment less destructive and terrifying. They are suffering just as much and more than the people of some other countries attacked. The only difference is that the British will suffer and resist to the end."

Publishing this letter, the paper says: "It is a tribute in which attention is drawn to those who suffer and will suffer and resist to the end. Yes, suffer and resist. Who is there among Canadians whose heart does not beat in sympathy with such a people? Who is there who would not give if he could? To those who can, the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is an appeal that should not go unanswered."

SILHOUETTE HOLDING ON

Idea Will Perk-Up in the Fall—Mother's Day Favors and Veils

By AMY PORTER
Associated Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK, May 2: (AP)—Who wears the new silhouette—narrow sloping shoulders, tight skirt, lower waistline?

About one woman in ten, a stylist estimates. Popular price manufacturers, discovering women didn't like this last word in silhouettes, returned to tight waists, square shoulders, billowing skirts for summer.

Nevertheless, high fashion authorities, insist the newer silhouette will gain ground in the fall. So enjoy your full skirt while you may.

For May 11
Mother's Day (May 11) best sellers will be, in this order: Flowers, handkerchiefs, hats, accessories. The flowers-by-wire people have signed several corsages especially suitable for the older woman—notably one making smart use of comparatively inexpensive irises. "Mother" handkerchiefs are embroidered with red and white carnation motifs, sometimes have the word "Mother" embroidered on them too (a sticky notion in the opinion of this department). Big-brimmed and youthful rather than small and matronly hats will appeal to this spring's mothers, as the stores see it.

In accessories, the newest and gayest are bags and hats with a spun ice, sugar-candy look. These are made of crystal clear plastics, crocheted or knitted. Other new bag materials are crocheted wool, raffia and beads.

Keen on Veils
The National Geographic Society says the women of America wear more veils than the women of Turkey. Easy to believe, if you viewed the Easter Parade. Clouds of veiling—pink, white, red, green, purple, black and brown—will continue to soften the fashion scene, right through the summer.

In its newest use it is tied about the crowns of big-brimmed hats and drips down the back.

Big-brims are really big this time, up to nine inches. Usually soft, may not stiff, in outline—made of rippled black organza, Champagne-colored straw, chicken wire white straw, shirred red felt.

Miss Gandy Makes Fine Donation Of Refugee Garments

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was held last night with the president, Mrs. William Rothwell, in the chair over a good attendance. A fine donation from Miss Edith Gandy of twenty-four dresses and knitted garments was reported as well as garments from Mrs. W. H. Goodsell's sewing club. Final arrangements were made for the spring sale and a tea to be held at the end of May.

John Bull Calls Efficient Girls

Ability Rather Than Good Looks Stressed By London Wartime Employers

LONDON, May 2: (CP)—Experience and ability rather than good looks are in demand in office, and business establishments nowadays, said the head of a large London secretarial agency.

About six months ago employers insisted on attractive girls, preferably blonds, as secretaries, even if they could type with only one finger. Now they want girls who are efficient.

Although glamor girls never made good secretaries they were always in demand, the agency said. Blondes were favorites, but brunettes came into their own and it was a case of a lovely girl—whether dark or fair—always being able to find a job.

Now the positions are reversed and the efficient girl is in demand. Some employers specifically ask for girls who discard make-up.

real. Headed early for the army, he went to Royal Military College in Kingston, and was there commissioned during the last war in the Royal Canadian Engineers, in 1915. The following August saw him in France as Signal Officer of the 11th Canadian Infantry Brigade, commanded by Major-General Odium. For services with this unit on the Somme he received the Military Cross. At Vimy, General Odium recommended his attachment to the staff of the Ninth Canadian Infantry Brigade. After the Armistice, Brigadier Burns was sent as Staff Captain to the 12th Canadian Brigade in Belgium, commanded part of the time by Col. Ralston. It is an interesting, if grim, drama that sees Ralston, Odium and Burns all working together again in leading roles.

Brigadier Burns made a peacetime name for himself in the world of science. A pioneer in the Geographical Section of the General Staff, he collaborated with the newly established Royal Canadian Air Force in the 1922 aerial mapping of the Mallorytown district of Quebec Province, which, if a somewhat crude job, made history.

A decade later, General McNaughton, as both Chief of the General Staff and chairman of the committee on Survey research at the National Research Council, made Brigadier Burns head of the Geographical section of the General Staff and convenor of the sub-committee on methods of plotting aerial photography at the Research Council. Brigadier Burns invented three machines for plotting maps from aerial photographs and for this and his development work in general was awarded the O. B. E. in 1935.

When the present war broke out, Brigadier Burns had just finished his course at Imperial Defence College in London. He was kept over there, subsequently attached to Canadian Military Headquarters, London, as General Staff Officer to Major General Crerar during negotiations with the War Office concerning the dispatch of the 1st Canadian Division to England. Last May he was appointed G. S. O. to the 2nd Division under General Odium. He was in Aldershot during June and July as Officer-Commanding details of Canadian troops, reinforcements and other units. Later he was recalled to headquarters in Canada. Brigadier Burns has taken on the spot that series of shocks that has forged the magnificent British morale we are watching in the Battle of Britain today. In peace he showed ingenuity, inventive capacity, expert mathematical ability. In war he is serving his country hard and well.

Overhead great numbers of planes filled the skies like a cloud.

Relative Health May Settle Sex

London Doctor Talks Of State Of Parents As Determining Factor

LONDON, May 2: (CP)—Sex of a child is the sex of the weaker of the two parties at the time of conception, Dr. Edward W. McCormick said in emphasizing the parental health theory on the predetermination of sex.

"It is nature's ingenious method of keeping the sexes in equal ratio, and by waiting until the one whose sex it is required to duplicate is in a state of health below that of the other partner, the sex of the child may be predetermined," Dr. McCormick said.

Success of the method was dependent on duration of ill health at the time of conception and might prove of use where a male heir was essential.

Dr. McCormick quoted a case to show that nature is wiser than man. A famous athlete became the father of a boy although, according to the predetermination theory, it should have been a girl as the mother was ill. Six months later the husband developed acute appendicitis.

COOKIES OF NAVY

Breezy Notes From Training Bases on Canada's East Coast

HALIFAX, May 2: (CP)—Notes about the Navy gathered by a reporter in a visit to the two Stadacona land bases where they train the men who go down to the sea in warships.

Youngest applicant for a commission was a 12-year-old American who sent along sketches of a few of his inventions in a fruitless effort at persuasion. . . . Every man who goes to sea is given a full day's mask drill ashore. They still practice at Stadacona One about the chamber with a hangover. It isn't steady but this victim wishes it would.

The silence and speed of hundreds of the blue boys at the Stadacona two dinner table is a constant surprise to Chief Cook William Nuttall of Saskatoon and Victoria. . . . Some rush through their heaping meals in eight minutes. . . . Substantial food with little fried stuff is on the menus.

Chief Yeoman Edward W. Stubbington, Winnipeg, of the signalling school has turned his office into a hangar for plane models he clips out of funny papers. . . . In the same office is CPO. C. E. Hawes of Toronto who won the D.S.M. at Zebrugge in the last war.

Regulating Petty Officer at Stadacona Two, Samuel Kennard thought he had settled down for life on a farm near Edmonton until the war brought him back into the blue. He left the R.N. in 1923. . . . Edward Kennedy, chief yeoman of signals, was an R.N. man with French light naval forces until France capitulated.

The future sailors learn to recognize enemy and friendly warplanes before going to sea. The bell which tolls each passing hour bears the words "H.M.S. Niobe—1898."

The Niobe was the first Canadian warship, a transfer from the R.N.

Four of five mongrel dogs keep Stadacona Two to themselves, keeping a strict eye on the gate lest any intruders should appear. The sound that ends the meals is their signal for a gallop to the kitchen. . . . At Stadacona One, Mike, a mongrel with a dominant touch of bulldog, is top pet and is a familiar figure at the daily Divisions.

Canada At War 25 Years Ago

May 2, 1916:—Zeppelins raided northeast England and southeast Scotland, French troops advancing from Salonika, occupied Phlorina in western Macedonia, British submarine sank a Turkish transport in the Sea of Marmara.

Reach ten thousand people with a "want ad." in the Daily News.

There is a section of Ontario known as the garden of Canada where they grow all kinds of fruits. Unhappily, the people there seem to have become so engrossed in fruit growing that they seem to have neglected the growing of flowers. I am basing my judgment on a special number of the St. Catherine's Standard which, in an edition of ninety-six pages, did not find room for even a quarter of a page of flower gardens. After looking it through I have come to the conclusion that they do not have any flowers in the peninsula worth showing or they certainly would have at least one picture. After hearing so much of the Niagara Peninsula it comes to me as a great shock to find that it is presumably without flowers or that flowers are so little esteemed that it is not considered worth while to mention them in a 96-page exposition of the attractions of the district.

After reading the Standard I drove over to Jack Fuller's to get back the breath of life once more after crossing the arid desert of commercialism. It was a delightful change. Spring had come to the garden and it is doing wonderful things there. Primroses and polyanthus and daffodils are in bloom and the primulas are there in hundreds although not yet showing flowers. I can't begin to tell you all the good things he has but the feature of it all is that Mr. Fuller knows every flower by name, its capabilities and its method of cultivation. I always enjoy a visit to Mr. Fuller's garden.

The rains came just in time to save our gardens from drying out. Already there were signs of distress among some of the plants when the rain commenced but the next day all that had disappeared. Now it is almost possible to hear the plants grow.

This is a good aubretia year. This showy rockery plant does not always winter well. In sheltered gardens and especially on a dry wall it usually winters without loss. This plant comes in many shades of mauve and purple and is by far the best rock plant for our climate.

I regret not having to visit many gardens this year so far. There is so much work to be done that I feel I do not have the time and energy this year but later I hope to be able to see some of the newer operations and also a few of the old ones. If I do not come it is not because I do not want to.

Begonias are difficult to secure this year. The prices are high and many dealers do not carry much variety. We shall have to await the after-the-war period to get a proper supply. Those who acted promptly have in some cases been supplied.

I see notices of a New Zealand spinach which produces huge bushes of green leaves that taste like spinach and may be cut as needed while the plant continues to grow. One full grown plant is said to be as large as a bushel basket. It is planted as soon as the ground is warm. I have no idea where to get seeds but some of the houses must be handling them.

Some of the dwarf plants are disappointing here. They usually develop slowly and heavy showers of rain will mess them up rather badly. I have yet to see a good display of ageratum and lobelia is rather late in developing although it makes a fine display when it is out. Daisies do well and many people like "Little Gem" alyssum.

Last night I drove along Fourth Avenue and was struck by the

BLOOD ARMY IS STRONG

People Who Donate Their Blood To Saving Others, Lauded By Chief

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 2: (CP)—A famous bacteriologist, Col. Lionel Whitby, heads a voluntary army of 100,000 people whose purpose is not to take life but to save it. Col. Whitby is in charge of the blood transfusion service of the British army, both in this country and abroad. His "army" consist of blood donors of both sexes, ranging in age from 18 to 80 and drawn from the five southwestern counties in the centre of which his headquarters are situated.

Heart of the organization is a small room about the size of a larder. In it 2,000 bottle-resembling pint milk bottles are stacked from floor to ceiling. They represent, said Col. Whitby, "the difference between life and death to approximately 20,000 casualties."

In them is the precious serum without which thousands would bleed to death. Col. Whitby's main responsibility is to ensure a constant supply of this serum to military and civilian hospitals. The head of the blood transfusion service was one of the men who discovered and perfected M and B 693, the drug discovered in 1938 and since used with marked success in treatment of pneumonia and kindred illnesses.

The "army" is classified and indexed. Each member gives a pint of blood on the average once in three months. "They're great-hearted people," he declared enthusiastically. "They look on transfusion as an honor. But the older they are the more pleased and proud they seem to be."

Swell Chapeau From Gay '90s

Cleveland Lady Official Resurrects Ancient Creation

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 2: (CP)—When it came pring, Miss Grace B. Doering, assistant city law director, did a bit of thinking about the bonnet situation. Result was a confection of straw, silk violets, ribbon and whatnot. City hall co-workers not only were dazzled but absolutely flabbergasted when Miss Doering told them it was resurrected from an old hat box—dated 1898.

blaze of color when passing the homes of R. M. Winslow and D. C. McRae. The combination of white arabis and golden alyssum was the outstanding feature. When a group of homes get together and arrange a display it is much more effective than one place alone. Also I should like to suggest that this is the time to sow seeds of Alyssum Saxatile (Golden Alyssum) for next spring blooming.—H. F. P.

MANY LANDS TO BRITAIN Canadian Legion At Terrace Has Regular Session

For Census Purposes List Is Made Of Widespread Parts Of Empire

OTTAWA, May 2: (CP)—From Zanzibar and Socotra, from the Solomon Islands and Grenada, from Sierra Leone and Gambia, from Basutoland and Trengganu come varied peoples with a compelling hand of unity—their British citizenship.

The census enumerators who make the rounds in Canada starting June 2 must be able to say who is entitled to be marked as a British subject, and no matter how obscure the colony or protectorate he will know its status.

One trade and commerce official reciting the list of lands which make up the British Empire said it reminded him of the roll of drums, and here it is prepared for the use of enumerators:

Any person born within the British Empire or on board a British ship is a British subject by birth. Following are countries, colonies or other parts of the British Empire:

The building will be approximately 1,352 feet high, including a 325-foot statue of Lenin. This is 102 feet more than the Empire State Building in New York City, now the world's tallest, and 238 feet more than the Eiffel Tower in Paris. It will be faced with marble and granite.

SMITHERS

Flocks of cranes were seen flying north over Smithers on Wednesday, there was an estimated two thousand of these birds altogether. Some flocks of geese also have been going over but these do not seem to be as plentiful this year as they have been in other years. About sixty trumpeter swan, rested on Lake Kathlyn and Toboggan Lake enroute north this spring. This is about double the number that stopped on these lakes last year, which would indicate that these birds which were nearly extinct a few years ago are now on the increase.

Roy Calderwood has spent the past week in the hospital suffering from an attack of appendicitis but is reported to be doing well.

Jack Wallace, who was stricken a week ago and was operated on for a ruptured appendix, has been holding his own but has not yet been pronounced as being out of danger.

G. E. Wootton of the Western City Finance Co. in Vancouver has opened an office in Smithers for two months. Here he will make his headquarters, while organizing the northern territory for the forthcoming Dominion government loan, sale of which will soon be under way. It is planned to make an intensive drive for buyers of the government bonds that will soon be offered.

During his stay here at the first of this week, a reception for Ed. Borders, University of Alaska student, who has been on a ski snowshoe trip over the Highway route, was held at Bulkeley Hotel.
