COMPROMISE IS REACHED

Reported That France And Japan Have Come To Terms

TOKYO, March 3.—It was reported yesterday that France and Japan had agreed upon a compromise in regard to the ending of the war between French-Indo-China and Thailand. The French minister, Charles Henri, finally went into conference Sunday with Foreign Minister Matsuoka of Japan after having stood him up since Saturday when he failed to keep an appointment. No official announcement was made regarding a settlement although it was felt that one would be reached.

A hitch in last minute negotiations of the Japanese-initiated peace agreement between French Indo-China and Thailand had developed Saturday night. Foreign Minister Matsuoka waited six hours for French ambassador Henri to keep an appointment, it was said, but the meeting did not take place then.

PLANNING FOR HALL

Community Centre At Queen Charlotte City Under Consideration

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, Mar. 3.—The Associated Study Clubs of the Skidegate Inlet Credit Union held a rally at the home of Mrs. E. Size. Twenty members were present, with the president, Charles Valley, in the chair. Besides matters of routine business two new projects were dealt with—the forming of a buyers' club and the obtaining of a community hall.

A committee of three—N. Shafer, William Joll and T. White—was formed to investigate the possibilities of forming a buyers' club. Another committee, consisting of Mrs. D. McCall, Bert Roberts and B. A. Munro, was appointed to work in conjunction with other local organizations towards obtaining a community hall.

The sum of five dollars was taken in collection to pay the balance owing on the set of book-keeping books purchased by the Skidegate Inlet Credit Union.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

EXCELLENT RESPONSE

Canadians Safe Over

LONDON, March 3.—Several thousand more Canadian troops of the Canadian Active Service Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force landed safely in England yesterday.

Prince Rupert Making Good Showing In War Savings Drive

The War Savings Committee reports that the pledge campaign has already brought out a splendid response from the public even though only the business section and waterfront have been canvassed yet.

From the commencement of the War Savings scheme in Canada in June 1940 to the end of January this year, when the pledge campaign started, a total of $36,592 in certificates and stamps was sold in Prince Rupert through the banks, Post Office and the employer-employee co-operation scheme—an average of $4574 a month. During the month of February $10,545 were sold or almost two and a half times the average sales per month previously.

While the progress made to date is very satisfactory from the point of view of the dollar volume of certificates sold, the committee points out that this is due to some extent to heavy purchases by some individuals who cannot be counted on to do the same for the balance of the year. The extent to which Prince Rupert will continue to do its part in the national war savings campaign will depend on as many wage and salary earners and business men as possible signing pledges to invest their money regularly in the country's war effort.

The canvassing of the residential sections begins today and, if the response is as splendid as it has been in the business and waterfront sections to date, the committee is confident that the local campaign will be a success.

PASSING OF MRS. KING

Wife Of Well Known Local Business Man Succumbs After Lengthy Illness Borne With Fortitude

Several years of illness borne with patience and fortitude culminated in the death at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Prince Rupert General Hospital of Mrs. Harriet (Hesse) King, wife of Stephen King, pioneer business man of this city and herself a resident of Prince Rupert for eighteen years. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from the chapel of B. C. Undertakers with Very Rev. James B. Gibson, dean of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, officiating.

The late Mrs. King was born at Rye, Sussex, England, fifty-five years ago. She is survived by the widow; one daughter, Faith, one son, Hemsby; her father, Pulford Smith, at Rye, England; one brother and four sisters in the Old Country. The sisters include Miss Adene Advant, a professional singer, who visited Prince Rupert some years ago.

Mrs. King was a member of the Anglican Church. She was highly esteemed by many friends who will deeply regret her passing and who will extend their heartfelt condolences to the bereaved.

State of War Between Great Britain and Balkan Nation Expected to Exist by Tuesday—Breaking of Dipomatic Relations Due at Once

SOFIA, March 3.—German troops are now in full occupation of Bulgaria and are sweeping across the country to the Greek and Turkish frontiers. Great Britain has not yet broken off diplomatic relations although it is expected it will be only a matter of hours before this has been done and that a state of war between Great Britain and Bulgaria will exist by Tuesday.

London hints that military action will follow, suggesting that German troops are just as likely to be bombed in Sofia as they are in Wilhelms-haven. Sofia is completely blacked-out and anti-aircraft guns are ready for action.

There is no confirmation of reports that Germany has already demanded that Greece yield to Italy. It is reported that Berlin has suggested that Turkey is in a good position to propose mediation of the war between Greece and Italy.

The German troops, sweeping southward across Bulgaria, were reported late today to have reached the Greek frontier at four points amid expectations that a state of war would exist between Great Britain and Bulgaria by Tuesday.

Nazi armored units are also reported racing toward the Bulgarian-Turkish frontier.

British quarters said the British minister, George Rendel, had informed King Boris in a talk Sunday night that Britain would break diplomatic relations with Bulgaria "probably Tuesday" and a state of war "undoubtedly would follow."

Twelve Bulgarian divisions have reached the Greek frontier.

Eden In Athens

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and General Sir John Dill are in Athens today conferring with the Greek authorities. One of the matters being taken up is the landing of British troops at Salonika, Virginia Gayda, Italian editor, said British troops had already been landed at Salonika.

The British officials were given an enthusiastic welcome and the Greek press reiterated the determination of the country to stay in the war with Great Britain against Italy in spite of German threats. Confidence was expressed by the papers in final victory.

Fire Damage Is Inconsequential

Prince Rupert Has Had Sixteen Alarms So Far This Year

There were eight fire alarms in Prince Rupert during the month of February. The only damage, inconsequential at that, was when sparks from a chimney started a small fire which scorched a few shingles on the roof of the residence of Mrs. J. G. Viereck near Seal Cove. So far this year there have been sixteen fire alarms as compared with thirteen in the first two months of 1940.

The Case Of Bulgaria - - -

Bulgaria joins the list of nations forced to submit to Hitler either by duress or force, certainly not by choice. Like Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, France, Rumania and the rest—to say nothing of poor misguided Italy—The Bulgars will now co-operate with Germany while hoping for Great Britain to win. The reason is, of course, obvious. Bulgaria is more fearful of what Germany will do to her in the meantime if she fails to co-operate than what Great Britain will do in the course of fighting the war. And, after the war is over and Great Britain wins, she knows she will get a square deal.

This is the condition that places the diplomacy of the fair-dealing democracies at a disadvantage with the duplicity and menace of the ruthless dictatorships whose sole object is to gain their ends by fair means or foul. It is the rule of fear or force, lying and double-dealing. Certainly Bulgaria must know from the experiences of the others that any undertakings Hitler may have made to her will be respected only so long as it does not interfere with the Fuehrer's program of aggression and his lust for conquest.

It is just another illustration of what might eventually happen to Canada and the United States unless Hitler is stopped before he has conquered all else.

The obvious aim of the Nazi drive through the Balkans is, of course, to strike at Great Britain in the Mediterranean area. All intervening events are merely incidental to that aim. If Turkey and Greece hold out, they will, doubtless, be attacked. It is useless to think otherwise.

That is why Great Britain is rushing to the aid of these nations and it is why we here in this country should do everything we can now in aiding Great Britain through supporting our own government in its war effort.

Efficiency In War - - -

In spite of criticisms, the federal Department of Munitions and Supply is, doubtless, fully alive to the necessity of increased efficiency in Canada's production of the sinews of war. Even here in Prince Rupert we may become restless at times and wonder why this and why that is not being done.

In changing the country from a peace time easy-going basis to the hard-working was status, a great deal of organization is required. The ministers themselves are, doubtless, doing all in their power to find and rectify the weak spots. They, we are confident, are as anxious as we to win this war and criticism will be welcomed by them, no matter whence it emanates. It is a low and unpatriotic person, however, who would be inspired by solely political reasons to take advantage of and embarrass the situation. Unfortunately that appears to be the object of some.

War Savings Certificates - - -

In urging all to buy or pledge themselves to buy war savings certificates to the full capacity of their ability to do so, we would suggest that this is not a charitable matter but sound good personal business. Many of us may be glad a few years hence that the government encouraged us to save. The savings thus accrued may stand us in good stead at a later date.

Buying war savings certificates is making no gift. We might also remember that, if we do not respond to the appeal to save voluntarily, the government has it in its power to take from us in the form of taxation what it needs and not give it back either. By all means, buy war savings certificates. You yourself will in the end be the greatest beneficiary by so doing.

Q. C. CITY

The sum of $107 was cleared at the dance given on Valentine's Day by the Board of the Skidegate Inlet General Hospital. The affair, which was held in the Skidegate Mission Hall, was exceptionally well attended. Members of the board residing in the village had charge of the decoration of the hall and also supplied the cakes for the midnight supper. In the gaily decorated hall, amid hearts, serpentine, balloons and confetti, the merry-makers danced until 2:30 a.m. Several novelty dances were held, the winners being Mrs. George Chastaney, Mrs. O. Hill, George Turner and Bill Murray. At supper time a drawing was held for a black slate toilet case—hand carved and eight inches in length—which had been donated by a member of the Mission. The winning ticket was held by George Rasmussen. A grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. William Russ, was a feature of the evening. Music for dancing was supplied by the Harmony Boys. At the door were Mrs. Solomon Wilson, Mrs. Albert Jones, Mrs. D. McCall, Mrs. E. C. Stevens and Mrs. W. Barry. During the evening Dr. McCall thanked all present for their support and paid tribute to the many individuals who assisted in making the dance the success it was.

It was a gala night for the youngsters recently when Rev. B. S. Hartley's amateur movies were shown in the church here in aid of the Auxiliary to Alford Bay. Very interesting were the views, including those of beauty spots on the Islands, logging camps, Indian relics, etc. Some scenes were shown of Vancouver Island including the famed Butchart Gardens. There were excellent views of the United Church Mission boat the Thomas Crosby. To bring the enjoyable evening to a close, a brief cartoon comedy was shown, to the delight of the little ones.

Alfred Carlson of the Extension Department of the University of British Columbia has been a recent visitor to the Islands in connection with the work of the Credit Unions. He spoke to an interested audience at the school, Queen Charlotte, illustrating his lecture with lantern slides. The progress of the Maritime Credit Unions was shown, as well as many local scenes. Excerpts from articles by leading thinkers of the day, including Dorothy Thomson, Bruce Hutchison and J. B. Priestley, were read. Mr. Carlson reported that more progress is being made by wage-earners than by those having seasonal work as far as the Credit Unions are concerned. In November of last year there were in British Columbia thirty-one unions while by February this number had increased to thirty-six. At the close of the talk a question period was held.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the United Church was held last Thursday at the Manse when Mrs. B. Hartley was hostess. The newly elected president, Mrs. Gordon Joliffe, was in the chair. Rev. B. Hartley led in prayer after the opening hymn was sung. Mrs. Hartley played the piano accompaniment for the hymn. The president opened the business meeting by making a short speech in which she thanked the ladies for the honor they had done her and in which she outlined the aims and objects of the auxiliary. After routine business, a novel "Hobby Sale" was held, at which the sum of six dollars was realized. This money will be used to purchase curtains for the chancel rail. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Agnes Mathers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gale entertained their friends in their new building at Queen Charlotte recently. There were sixty guests, both old and young. The young people enjoyed dancing in the spacious store to the music of the local boys' orchestra. Two prizes were given for "spot" dances. At supper delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Miss Elsie and Eileen, and their young friends. All present admired the splendid structure that is covered outside by a brick-like composition of red and has a green roof. Inside, the store and upstairs apartments are finished in beautifully grained fir veneer.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Alford Bay held a meeting last week at the hospital when Mrs. McCall, the wife of the superintendent, was hostess. A letter of thanks from the boys at the "Bay" for curtains the auxiliary had provided was read. It was decided to hold a showing of amateur movies in the church soon to raise funds to purchase further necessities for the airmen. A collection amounting to five dollars was taken and will go towards the same purpose. Tea was served by Mrs. McCall at the close of the business meeting.

The Queen Charlotte Social Club held a bridge party in the school recently. The winners were: Mrs. Roberts, first, and Mrs. Duval, consolation Mrs. D. McCall and Mrs. G. Chastaney were in charge of arrangements. Refreshments were served at midnight. Proceeds will go towards a new Community Hall.

The fourth anniversary of the Rug Bee Club was celebrated recently when the regular fortnightly meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Joliffe. There were nine members present. As the hostess had finished her hooked rug, the afternoon was spent in knitting on Red Cross garments and in playing a few hands of bridge. Tea was served at a daintily appointed table in the afternoon.

Members of the cast of the forthcoming production of the Farthest West Dramatic Club include Edna Beaven, Claude Duval, George Turner, Mrs. V. Douglas, Mrs. Ruth Barry, Alwyn Chastaney and George Rudge.

CONCERT BY BAND IS FINE

Entertainment Staged Last Night By Rocky Mountain Rangers Best Thing Of Its Kind Ever Held Here

An audience which completely filled the Capitol Theatre last night thrilled to the music provided by the regimental band of the First Battalion, Rocky Mountain Rangers. Never before in the city had such a fine band been heard. Rarely has there been such a musical treat. An ovation was accorded and it was heartily merited. Those who had seen and heard the band on the occasion or so it had been on parade since the regiment arrived here knew it was a smart marching band. The concert last night revealed that it is much more than that—an outstanding concert organization. The group, numbering twenty-seven, is complete and well balanced. Evidently, each of the individual members is an artist in his own right. Not only is the band a credit to the regiment itself but also to the city of Kamloops which is its home. Prince Rupert music lovers will not be satisfied until they have heard more. That was apparent from last night's acclaim.

Fully equipped with effects in addition to the conventional instruments, the band featured descriptive numbers which were flawlessly executed and timed. Outstanding were the humorous "Lightning Switch," an ingenious knit medley of many familiar numbers which veritably brought down the house; the pastoral fantasia "The Smithy" (Alford) and the humorous march "Jolly Copper-smith." Fine indeed with its tonal effects was also Kotelby's intermezzo "In a Monastery Garden." Rounding out the program were the rousing opening march "Old Glory" and Miller's medley overture "The Golden Crescent."

Equally excellent solo features were the song "Without a Song" (Elison) by Band Sergeant Docker who gave as his encore "Prayer Perfect," violin solo by Bandsman Holt "Scene de Ballet" (Beriot) with "Chansonette" for an encore; piano solo by Bandsman Edwards "Children's Overture" (Quilten) the encore being "Waltz in C Sharp Minor" and the grand "Lost

Near the close of the program, Dr. H. L. A. Tarr took to the platform to extend appreciation to the band and the theatre management for having staged a wonderful entertainment in aid of the Red Cross of which he (Dr. Tarr) is local president.

BATTALION AT CHURCH

Rocky Mountain Rangers Attend First United Morning Service

With the First Battalion, Rocky Mountain Rangers, parading smartly to the First United Church yesterday morning the church was crowded to capacity. The Junior choir of twenty-one voices led the singing with good effect and presented a fine rendering of the anthem, "March In." Rev. J. C. Jackson gave an impressive sermon.

On their way to and from the morning service the Rocky Mountain Rangers were accompanied by both their full brass band and their bugle band and their alternate playing provided continuous music for the regiment and fine entertainment for the general public.

In the evening Mr. Jackson spoke on "prayer as communion with God." The childish belief in prayer as an asking for gifts or even in its power as a charm changed as experience proved the fallacy of both. Instead of prayer being an asking for benefits, it became a request to "make me." Some people claimed it to get strengthening of spirit and courage. To some it was a meditation. But this was not prayer in its fullest sense.

Jesus' own prayers were not always answered and the disciples asked him to teach them to pray. With Him it was communion with God and the disciples knew what it meant. It should not be an occasional act but an habitual attitude. Added to this there should be definite acts of devotion at set times and seasons. Prayer was a search of the soul for God rather than a request for His gifts. This was not a modern view for the men of all ages had found the same satisfaction. As a result of the communion with God, God became real and, through it, people could keep themselves in the love of God.

The senior choir sang the anthem, "From the Rising of the Sun" (F. A. G. Ouseley) as a special musical number.

Graham Island Pays Tribute At Mallory Rites

PORT CLEMENTS, March 3:—

The funeral of the late A. R. Mallory, which took place at Massett, was attended by a very large number of friends from all over the Island. A very impressive service was conducted by Rev. J. Murray at the church in Port Clements the evening before. Practically all the inhabitants of Port Clements and the East Coast were present, showing the very great esteem in which he was held.

The following morning the casket, which was covered by the Union Jack, was conveyed to Massett by the mission boat Western Hope. The cortege was preceded by the Massett band from Old Massett with "The Dead March in Saul" being played. Then the procession proceeded to the little cemetery on the North Beach where the remains were laid to rest after a brief service.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from the following: Wife and Son, Mr. and Mrs. Dyson, Fred and Louise and family, Port Clements Community Club, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. LADIES' CURLING

Mrs. Harley Lewis' Rink Winner in Final At Smithers Last Week

SMITHERS, March 3:— In a closely contested game for the Home Oil Cup in the Ladies' Curling Club the rinks skipped by Mrs. Loude and Mrs. Harley Lewis met in the finals Wednesday evening and the Lewis rink was the victor by a score of 8 to 7.

Many spectators had gathered to watch the final game and the ladies were pretty nervous but this did not seem to interfere with the excellent manner in which they made almost professional shots to get their rocks into the centre or to remove the shot rock of the opponent. They really displayed good curling all through the contest and there was nothing to choose between the two teams, the breaks of the game alone being the deciding factor.

Mrs. Lewis was supported by Mabel Berg, Mrs. Vic McDonald and Ada Mayer while the Loude rink had Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Cheater and Mrs. Ball on the firing line.

A. Dando, president of the Smithers Curling Club, presented the cup to the Lewis rink immediately after the contest and it will probably be christened by the ladies at some future occasion.

The ice remains in good condition and the Lucky Luge, Boushel is going right along. It is the intention of the curlers to keep going as long as weather permits.

Many Honors Were Heaped On Late Sir Frederick Banting, Writer And Scientist

BODIES IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 3:—The bodies of Dr. Frederick G. Banting, William Bird and William Snailham, killed in the crash of a military plane at Musgrave Harbor last week-end, were brought here Saturday from St. John's Newfoundland.

Banting's funeral will be held in Toronto and those of Bird and Snailham in Hamilton. Two military planes carried the bodies as well as the sole survivor, Capt. Joseph C. Mackey of Kansas City, the pilot of the ill-fated plane.

Few scientists received such speedy and enthusiastic recognition for their discoveries as the late Sir Frederick Banting. His finding that use of pancreatic hormone helped diabetes sufferers was greeted at first with considerable doubt by medical authorities but its speedy and undoubted benefits won it general acceptance.

Medical men in many countries hailed the young Canadian's discovery as the greatest since those of Pasteur. The Canadian government granted him an annuity of $7,500 to enable him to pursue an uninterrupted program of research.

Honors heaped on Dr. Banting following announcement of his discovery failed to affect his sense of loyalty to his co-workers. He thought it an injustice that the Nobel prize committee failed to give equal recognition to Dr. Best and declared at once he would share with that scientist his own half of the prize, which, when it reached him through the exchanges, amounted to $5,600.

One of Dr. Banting's first concerns was to insure means of establishing a medical research foundation through which he could carry on his work. The endowment for the institution which later bore Dr. Banting's name was begun by donations of patients who had benefited from insulin treatment. The need for research facilities was recognized by Sir William Mulock, Ontario chief justice, who headed a campaign for collection of money and who insisted on naming the institution the Banting Research Foundation. The first $22,000 for establishment of the foundation was donated by diabetic patients.

Frederick Grant Banting was born at Alliston, Ontario, November 4, 1891, a son of William Thomson Banting. He received his early education in his home town, attended Victoria College, Toronto, and was graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1917. He enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force and served in Canada, England and France, finally, in 1918, as medical officer of the 44th Battalion. He was severely wounded at Cambrai, where he was awarded the Military Cross.

and was invalided to England with blood poisoning.

Discovery that removal of the pancreas resulted in diabetes in animals was made as far back as 1889, two years before Dr. Banting's birth. It remained for Banting and Best, working under the direction of McLeod, to extract insulin from the pancreas and to discover that lack of insulin caused diabetes.

Experimented On Dogs

In their experiments they found that dogs deprived of their pancreas developed distressing symptoms of advanced diabetes which could be corrected by subcutaneous injections of insulin. Then they found the same method of treatment beneficial to human diabetes patients. They discovered that insulin injections corrected the tendency of diabetic persons to excrete sugar in the urine by correcting the deficiency of insulin in the internal organs.

Dr. Banting's achievement won early recognition in his own country. In 1922, soon after the discovery of insulin, he was awarded the Dr. F. A. Reeve Prize for the worker in the University of Toronto showing greatest aptitude in medical research. In May, 1924, the American Philosophical Society gave him the John Scott medal.

Dr. Banting did not go to Stockholm to receive the Nobel Prize until 1925 when he was asked to deliver the Nobel lecture. He was the first Canadian honored by such an inviation.

In 1927 Dr. Banting investigated the feasibility of establishing in the Canadian Arctic hospitals and other facilities for giving medical care to the Eskimo. He went north for three months aboard the Dominion government steamship Beethia. He found it would not be feasible to establish hospitals for the Eskimo because of his roving life.

During his trip to the north the doctor had time to indulge his favorite hobby, painting. With A. Y. Jackson, member of the former Group of Seven, he came home with numerous pictures of Arctic scenes which attracted wide notice.

From 1919 till 1920 Dr. Banting was resident surgeon at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. For the next year he practiced medicine in London, Ontario, was part-time assistant in physiology at the University of Western Ontario. A considerable time after he had left London it was revealed by a British surgeon that Dr. Banting had made a casing for the deformed foot of a seven-year old boy which was described as a masterpiece.

Having on board a total of seventy-seven passengers, C. P. R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock yesterday morning from Vancouver and sailed at 10:30 a. m. for Skagway and other Alaska points whence she is due back here Thursday afternoon southbound. The vessel landed eleven passengers at Prince Rupert while seven took passage from here to the north.

With a fair-sized list of passengers, Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 11 o'clock last night from the south, sailing at midnight for Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow afternoon southbound.

His skill in that department of surgery was not generally known until then.

In recognition of his services to medicine and humanity he was made life member of the Canadian Clubs of Toronto, New York and London.

Dr. Banting was married in 1924 to Marion Robertson, daughter of Dr. William Robertson of Elora, Ontario. They had one son and were divorced in 1932.

He was a member of the United Church of Canada.

PICTURE
OF YEAR

"Kitty Foyle," the picture in which Ginger Rogers won the annual award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the most outstanding performance by an actress in 1940, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre for the first of this week. Of course, the picture needs no further recommendation than the mere fact that it won for its star this most coveted of all recognitions.

The picture is based on Christopher Morley's best selling novel and is a tense drama. Born on the "wrong side of the tracks," Kitty envies the Philadelphia socialites and falls in love with one of them and, after a romantic interlude, they are married. However, the match does not prove satisfactory and there is an annulment. Later a baby is born but, by this time, her former husband is engaged to a Philadelphia society girl. The baby dies and Kitty resumes her business career, achieves success and later finds herself faced with a vital decision which brings about a gripping climax.

Miss Rogers, as might be expected, displays her dramatic talents brilliantly. Dennis Morgan and James Craig share honors for the male lead.

The period of the picture is from the depression days of 1929 to the present time.
