Great Salvage Work . . .

The Armour Salvage Company has again sustained its reputation as expert salvage operators. It took the schooner Eider from Green Top Island and placed her in dry dock at Prince Rupert in one week. While the Eider is not a very large vessel she is large enough to present an interesting salvage problem.

Full and Free Discussion...

We are glad to know that Prime Minister Mackenzie King has had a full and free discussion of war problems with President Roosevelt. Evidently he was deputed by the British government to discuss questions of importance as well as those which affected Canada only. Such discussions can be of great benefit to all countries concerned except Germany.

Little Damage . . .

Dover and other towns and villages along the coast of the Straits of Dover are within reach of the big German guns on the other side but yet they do not seem to have suffered as much as some parts of London. People are still living in their homes and only now and then are they disturbed by the cannonading from the coast of France. The cost of firing those guns is too great for the amount of military advantage. That is why bombardment is not more frequent, not because they are soft-hearted.
