RUSSIANS STILL GIVING GROUND AS THEY THROW MORE FORCES INTO FIGHT

(Germans Paying Dearly for Every Ft. Gain—Fall of Kharkov Admitted—Soviet Is Blitzed.)

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)—Soviet authorities admit that the great Nazi drive against Moscow on the central front and towards Rostov on the south continues, but declare that continued fierce resistance is being given by the Red Army. In continued fierce and furious fighting the enormous casualties and loss of equipment have been suffered by the enemy in the Moscow quarter and the rich Donets basin, occupation of which port is admitted. The Germans are not much closer to Moscow following week-end fighting. The fall of Kharkov has been officially admitted. Kharkov is Russia's fourth largest city. It has a population of 800,000. Berlin, in claiming its capture, calls it a "paralyzing blow" at Soviet industry. The Germans assert they are now pressing on Rostov, forty miles distant and gateway to the Caucasus oil fields. The Russians continue stubborn resistance.

PROMINENT PIONEER OF CITY DIES

Ex-Mayor M. P. McCaffery Passes Away in Vancouver—Funeral To Take Place Here On Thursday

Word was received in the city today of the death of one of Prince Rupert's most prominent and highly esteemed pioneer citizens, Ex-Mayor Michael Patrick McCaffery, who passed away in Vancouver this morning following an illness from which it had been realized during the last few days there was no hope of recovery. News of his passing will be received with a deep sense of shock and regret by many friends who will extend their sincere sympathy to the bereaved. The remains are being brought home for burial, the funeral to take place on Thursday morning with rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

EX-MAYOR M. P. McCAFFERY

The late Mr. McCaffery was a native of Maine, U.S.A. He moved to Prince Rupert early in the year 1909 where he was engaged in the real estate business. In the year 1915 and 1916 Mr. McCaffery served as mayor of Prince Rupert city, and was instrumental in placing the financial status of the city on a strong business footing.

Mr. McCaffery was largely interested in the lumber and building supply business of Albert & McCaffery, Limited. He was also head of the Northern Fishermen's Cold Storage Ltd. The firm of Albert & McCaffery, Limited, and McDougall, McNeill, Limited, were amalgamated in 1921 for the purpose of constructing a court house at Prince Rupert.

Deceased was also active in the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and took an active interest in all public affairs. Mr. McCaffery, besides his widow, is survived by four daughters and one son. The daughters are Miss Margaret McCaffery, Miss Mary McCaffery, Mrs. Clarence Thomson and Miss Norah McCaffery. The son is Michael McCaffery who is with the Canadian forces in Esquimalt. There are two sisters, one in New Hampshire and the other in Portland, Maine.

Mr. McCaffery was sixty-eight years of age. The remains are being accompanied home by the widow and other members of the family who have been in the south.

ARREST IN PR. GEORGE

Two Men and Women Taken Into Custody in Connection With Royal Hotel Robbery.

Jerome Baert, Prince Rupert beer parlor waiter, and Mr. and Mrs. William Sysak of Winnipeg, were taken from an eastbound Canadian National Railway train at Prince George Saturday by the British Columbia police on instructions from Prince Rupert where the safe of the Royal Hotel was robbed on Oct. 17. Police say that a search revealed $1800 on Baert and $108 on Sysak.

The trio have been remanded in custody for eight days in police court at Prince George pending arrival of warrants from Prince Rupert.

Jap Attack On Siberia

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)—Reuters quoted a dispatch relayed today from Vladivostok by Tass, official Russian news agency, as saying that a force of twenty Japanese soldiers had attacked Soviet frontier guards near the village of Raskino last Thursday. The attack had there were wounded on both sides.

BIG CONTINGENT OF EMPIRE AIRMEN ON WAY TO CANADA

This happy group is part of a detachment of 39 fledgeling fliers from Australia and New Zealand who disembarked at San Francisco from the Matson liner Monterey en route to flying schools in Canada. Immediately after they disembarked they took a boat for Oakland, Calif., where they boarded special trains for Canada.

War News

HUGE SHIP TOLL LONDON—An unofficial survey shows that more than two thousand ships of all kinds and all nations, merchant and war vessels, have been sunk since the beginning of the war, the tonnage totalling seven and a half million. More than eighteen thousand persons have been killed and nine thousand are missing. Great Britain has suffered the greatest number of losses—875 vessels. Germany has lost 145, Italy 105 and Sweden 118.

MASS MURDER DENOUNCED LONDON—Both Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States condemn the cold-blooded murder of hostages in France in reprisal for the shooting of German officers. Churchill, speaking Saturday, pledged Great Britain to avenge the cold-blooded execution of innocent people in occupied countries. This was an indication of what Hitler would do in Great Britain and the United States were he given the power. Roosevelt condemned the wholesale execution of hostages, denouncing the terroristic tactics and frightfulness of the Nazis.

JAPAN DEMANDS U.S. CONCESSIONS TOKYO—The Japanese Foreign Office-controlled newspaper Japan Times and Advertiser warns the United States to make concessions to keep Japan out of the war. The enormous naval and military power of Japan can close the Pacific and Indian Oceans to Allied shipping, the newspaper declares.

WAR IN NORTH AFRICA CAIRO—The enemy have been subjecting Tobruk to artillery fire. British patrols from Tobruk are extending into Libya without resistance from the enemy. British naval units have poured thousands of shells into Bardia. There are signs that a new Axis offensive in North Africa, long anticipated, may be about to get under way.

HAMBURG IS BOMBED LONDON—Docks of the German port of Hamburg were bombed heavily during the night by many squadrons of Royal Air Force bombers and other objectives in northwest Germany were also attacked. Norway was also visited by the Royal Air Force, four bombers of which are missing.

MAKING NO STATEMENT

Premier Pattullo Continues Silent In Regard To Future Of Government

VICTORIA, October 27: (CP)—Premier T. D. Pattullo left over the end of the week for Ottawa to confer with federal authorities in regard to income tax matters. In spite of efforts to draw him out, the Premier still made no statement in regard to a possible coalition government in British Columbia following the indecisive result of last week's general election. Speculation still continues as to whether or not Liberals and Conservatives will get together with the C. C. F. as the official government but, until something is heard from the Premier, it can be nothing more than speculation.

World Short Of Bristles

Shortage Of Siberian Bears Now In View Of Meat Demands

KANSAS CITY, October 27: (CP)—The war has just about brushed off the bristle business. Take the word of John T. Opie, a brush and bristle expert.

The only good bristles, it seems, grow on Siberian bears. From cold, northern Asia comes the stiff bristles that make tooth brushes, paint brushes, hair—there are 50,000 different kinds of brushes, Mr. Opie says.

Time was when you could buy all the Siberian bear bristles you wanted for $2.25 a pound. Today they're $13.50 a pound—if you can get them. The post-war famine of 1919 snatched Russia's Siberian bears off the bristle market and into the meat markets. The United States has purchased all available bristle in this country for defence purposes.

BIRTHDAY OF TRAIN

Eighty-five Years Since Service Between Toronto And Montreal Started

MONTREAL, October 27:—The eighty-fifth anniversary of the inauguration of through passenger train service between Montreal and Toronto falls today. It was on October 27, 1856, also a Monday, that a train set out from Montreal at 7:30 in the morning to arrive at Toronto at 9:30 o'clock that night. This marked a great advance in the construction program of the former Grand Trunk Railway, now part of the Canadian National Railways.

While the terminal stations are not the same today, the main line is that which was opened for service during 1855 and 1856. The original Montreal station site is now a freight yard, while York, which was the 1856 terminal for Toronto, is today the site of the Danforth station of Canadian National Railways.

The original schedule has been cut in less than half, the "International Limited," a train several times the weight and capacity of the first train, powered by Canadian National locomotives now does the daily run in six and one-half hours.

When railway service was established between Toronto and Montreal in 1856 standard time was something in the future and the schedule was operated on "Montreal time." This was faster by 8 1/2 minutes than Brockville time; 12 minutes better than Kingston, 14 1/2 ahead of Belleville and a full 23 minutes faster than that recorded by Toronto clocks.

Bodies of Victims of One Crash Here With Survivors of Another

Story of Strategy Co-incident Crashes Told at Inquest Here Today—Both Ships Turned Upside Down Within Mile of Each Other.

Inquest into the deaths of Livingstone Werneke and his pilot, G. A. Gropits, landed here this morning by the United States coastguard cutter Cyane, commenced this morning before Coroner Norman A. Watt with the viewing of the bodies. The story of the double airplane crash at Clam Passage near Milbank Sound at noon last Tuesday was told by Gerald Alfred Boddington of Ketchikan and Harry Dayton of Sherman, Ore., who crashed a mile distant from the scene of the Werneke tragedy. They arrived on the Cyane. It was a coincidence that the two machines should have crashed under conditions of poor visibility in so close a distance of each other. The two men from the north-bound Waco are not seriously hurt. They are receiving treatment here.

Sinks Near Here—

U. S. GAME VESSEL ON GREEN TOP

Ran Up Full Speed at Top of High Tide Saturday—Crew Safe Ashore.

Relating the story at the inquest this morning, Gerald Alfred Boddington, pilot of the northbound Waco plane, which was flying Harold Sherman of Dayton, Ore., to Ketchikan, told how the engine cut out at 11:45 last Tuesday morning, the plane stalling in the wind or hitting a wave and turning over. It was a miraculous escape which the two men had under these conditions. Sherman was rendered unconscious but Boddington somehow hauled him out of the wreckage and they clung to the or sat on the upturned machine for three or three and a half hours before drifting close to shore. Sherman by this time had recovered consciousness and, finally, they swam about twenty-five feet to shore.

As the two men clung to their own wrecked plane, Boddington sighted the other plane through the fog and soon after heard a crash. The first thing they did after getting ashore themselves was to head in the direction where the other plane was believed to have crashed. Finally, Sherman found it. The Werneke plane was also upside down. The two bodies—Werneke and Gropits—were both inside.

For four days after this Boddington and Sherman camped on the beach, using sleeping bags and such small quantities of food as they could extricate from the Werneke plane. They set up signal fires and daily boats passed by but none, apparently, saw their plight until Saturday when the police boat P.M.L.-7 located them.

By this time the two men were becoming desperate and they had about resolved to try to swim from the one island on which they had landed to another where there was a lighthouse.

Speaking of the crash, Sherman said all he remembered was the water rushing up to the plane. There had been fog and visibility was extremely poor.

Boddington expressed the opinion that Werneke and Gropits were searching for a place to land when they crashed. It is believed they hit a tree while coming down. Their plane was just at the water's edge.

Sherman has a scalp wound and broken hand and wrist. Boddington has face injuries. Both men were bandaged up at the inquest this morning.

The police boat, on which were Skipper Victor Bond and Engineer Doug Gorrie, took Boddington and Sherman to Klemtu where their injuries were dressed by Mrs. Reid, the nurse.

By this time the Cyane had arrived. After it had been found that both planes were badly wrecked, the bodies were taken on the Cyane and, with the two injured, brought to Prince Rupert, arriving here at 8:30 this morning.

The coroner's jury consists of J. G. Anderson, Gillis Royer, Grant

Lawrence and A. B. Curlovick.

The chief recreation of a considerable part of the population seems to be discussing how it happened.

After the premier is sure that he is elected and has made his promised trip to Ottawa to discuss a number of outstanding questions, he will have time to consider what he will do next.

I am wondering whether Prince Rupert has weather or climate. Elbert Hubbard, the philosopher, said those that had climate also had lizards, snakes and revolutions whereas those places that had weather produced character.

It's about time Prince Rupert stopped imitating Vancouver. All last week Vancouver was lost in thick fogs and then Saturday morning there was a poor little imitation at Prince Rupert.

There's plenty of choice if you wish to enlist. You can join the air force, the Canadian Scottish, the 102nd Battery, the Signals, the Searchlights or you can get a job with the Army Medical Corps, or perhaps you might be able to get a job twirling a drumstick.

"Well, it's going to have an awful time with that Jones boy who lives next door."

Father: "At your age, Tommy, I never told a lie."

Tommy: "When did you begin, father?"

A little man dashed into a public house and said to the landlord:

"I just got home to find a strange man kissing my wife!"

"And what did you do?"

"I picked up his umbrella and smashed it across my knee, and said, 'There! I hope it rains!'"

She was complaining to her dairymaid about the quality of his milk.

"Short o' grass feed, mum; the short o' grass feed at this time of the year," said the milkman, "Bless you them cows of mine are just as sorry as I am. I often stands and watches 'em crying 'em because they feel somehow as their milk don't do 'em credit. You don't believe me?"

"Oh, yes, I believe you," said the woman, coldly, "but I wish in future you'd see they don't let all the tears go into my can."

Jock met his friend Sandy in the street.

"Sandy," he said, "I wonder if you could oblige me with a cigarette."

"But I thought you said you had stopped smoking?"

"Aye, weel," replied Jock, "I've reached the first stage—I've stopped buying."

The Pattullo Majority . . .

Hon. T. D. Pattullo had a majority of 99 in his own constituency. There will be a few returns come in from the army or navy. Such returns as so far indicated have been in favor of the premier. The majority is more than a good many other winners had in the recent election. A little more energy on the part of Liberal supporters would have increased the majority considerably.

Graft in Politics . . .

Politicians have fouled their own nests and given themselves a bad name. For years it has been the custom for political speakers to tell how bad were their opponents. This has continued until the people began to think all politicians are bad.

When the C.C.F. came before the public they had no political records to defend so they had a decided advantage over all opponents. They could not be bad because they were not politicians.

De Gaulle's Opinion . . .

The bloody repression system practiced by the Germans is having its natural effect, according to General de Gaulle as quoted in the press. He said that France, in Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Belgium, The Netherlands, Norway, Greece and Jugo-Slavia, revulsion increases every day that passes, and consequently revolt against everything German, and among these proud peoples all possibility whatsoever of conciliation has just been definitely cut off by bloody repression. As for the manner in which the world as a whole reacts to the German ambitions, we were aware of what place their overweening conceit in the face of insurmountable obstacles would win them. Many Germans were killed in 1939, more in 1940. Their total losses in 1941 will be still higher without however, approximating the frightful slaughter which 1942 promises them.

But in proportion as the failure of Hitler's great political plan appears more clearly, the incentive which will cause an uprising among his people will not fail to spread, for the German people as a whole are not fighting just for the love of it. Germany showed us that in 1918 when she fell in a heap on her magnificent war blueprints.

Doing Our Share . . .

Canadian young men go to the air training centres, take months of training and eventually arrive in Britain and take their turn bombing the various objectives and possibly lose their lives. We remain at home, earn good wages and pay a part of what we earn either in the form of taxes or in loans on which we are paid interest. Some do both.

Some of the young men choose to join the army or navy, all risky jobs. They are paid very little. Other young men are paid four or five times as much as the soldiers or sailors, so they are expected to do their share of the financing.

Just now there is a special campaign going forward for the sale of War Savings Certificates. Those who are earning good wages can usually afford to buy one or two certificates each month. Those who are earning smaller amounts can afford to make smaller payments through their employers, deducting monthly or weekly from their wages or salaries.

Most of us could spend a little less and put the money into War Savings Certificates.

PROVIDING SHIPS OF WAR—

Prince Rupert Plays Its Part In Important Naval Building Program on Coast of Pacific

Corvettes and Minesweepers Turned Out to Help in Battle of Atlantic—New Type of Craft for Fishermen's Reserve.

British Columbia, which has helped provide the men to man Canada's new navy, has had a large share in providing the ships of war as well. Prince Rupert has played its part. Grim grey corvettes, kissing the waters of the Pacific Ocean on their first plunge to the sea, were seen to be breasting the combers of the North Atlantic.

Minesweepers followed in their wake as, from the launching slips of British Columbia, they steamed to take their place in the eastern seaboard. Submarine chasers and motor torpedo boats, small but important units in a fleet-in-being, were part of the Dominion's mammoth, $120,000,000 ship-building program in which British Columbia is participating to the fullest extent of its shipyards' capacity and its ship-builders' skill.

There was another class of ship built, a ship for that part of the naval service which is almost exclusively British Columbia's own—the Fishermen's Reserve. At the outbreak of war the Fishermen's

ARE DOING GREAT WORK

One of Canada's new corvettes, slim Canadian-built vessels which are proving most effective in convoy and anti-submarine work, is here shown as it steams out to sea from a Canadian port.

Reserve, organized in the spring of that same year, was called immediately into service. It brought to the Navy proper some forty of the sturdy, deep-sea fishing boats which were to prove so valuable for mine-sweeping and for patrol work. The boats were manned by men whose seamanship was of the highest, and whose knowledge of the waters in which they served could not be surpassed. Their craft, it is true, were designed for peace-time pursuits and not for war service but they did the job. So well did they do it, and so well known. Fast enough for deadly attack upon enemy submarines, and with a cruising range which permits them to keep the seas for long periods, they have played a big part in the Battle of the Atlantic and their service as convoy-escorts has been invaluable. Their guns are heavy enough to engage a submarine which dares to come to the surface and their high-angle armament is ready for the enemy which flies. For the submarines which lurk beneath the waves, they have their deadly depth-charges.

Minesweepers, too, such as have been built at Prince Rupert, are equipped to deal death to the enemy as well as to sweep death from the seas, and in building this class of warship the British Columbia yards have again helped build Canada's Navy into a strongly offensive, as well as defensive, force.

In one of the West Coast yards was born an idea which, in addition to setting a precedent for the Empire, also gave proof of the pride which the men who build ships feel in their contribution to Canada's naval strength. When H. M. C. S. Vancouver was launched, the men who had built her, and Norman Yarrow of Yarrow's Yards, Esquimalt, where she was built, felt that they wanted to forge a strong link between themselves and the ship. The request was made that, instead of the wife of some dignitary, as has been the custom, the wife of one of the men should be chosen to sponsor the ship and preside at her christening. Lots were drawn by the

Had Operation In Open Boat

Ship's Mate With Claspknife Took Shrapnel From Sailor's Back.

LIVERPOOL, October 27: (P)—A delicate operation, performed in a storm-tossed open lifeboat without anaesthetic or medical instruments, to save the life of a wounded seaman, has been written into the history of the Battle of the Atlantic.

Seventeen men, huddled in the boat after their ship had been torpedoed, unanimously decided to risk the make-shift operation on Joe Wilkinson, 18-year old steward, who had been peppered with shell splinters, one of which had lodged in his back near a lung.

The second mate agreed to operate. A fire was started in a stove and a claspknife cauterized in the flames. Then, as the sailors held the patient down so he wouldn't be washed overboard, the "surgeon" slid the blade into the wound, found the hidden metal and with a few deft strokes recovered the shrapnel.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

The coal barge Donald D., owned by the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., which piled up on the rocks in Codfish Passage near Bella Bella some time ago, is now reported to have broken up with no chance of salvaging her.

Word has been received that George Kerr, recently reported wounded in action, has died of his injuries. He was a brother of Peter and William Kerr, both of whom are on active service. Mrs. Kerr is at present visiting with her sister, Mrs. William Robb on Eighth Avenue.

T. D. Pattullo, M.L.A.-elect, left on the Princess Maquinna for Victoria. It is understood Mr. Pattullo is to be given a seat in the Brewster cabinet.

SAVED SHIP IN BOMBING

Delayed Action Bombs On British Craft Gave Crew Bit Of Action

ALNWICK, Eng., October 27: (P)—When a German aircraft dropped three delayed-action bombs onto a ship off the British coast it looked like the end until Jimmy Dowie and his pals went into action.

Two of the bombs crashed into the hold. The third, which fell on deck, was thrown overboard.

The crew, with the exception of the captain, Jimmy and a pal, were sent off in a boat.

Jimmy, a seaman from Alnwick, and his friend went below, dug out one bomb—a 250-pounder—and began hauling it up on a pulley. The rope slipped and the bomb dropped right alongside Jimmy. Nothing happened but "it gave him a bit of a turn," said his father who told the story.

The pair finally got the bomb on deck and heaved it overboard. They did the same with the other one. But first they each cut a fin off—as a souvenir.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 7:30 this morning from the south and sailed at 10 a.m. for Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow afternoon southbound.

Aboard the steamer Princess Louise, which was in port this morning northbound from Vancouver to Skagway, were only nineteen passengers, three of whom disembarked here. A larger list of passengers is expected on the southbound voyage.

Big Bay was the scene over the week-end of a good deal of bird hunting. A number of ducks were taken but, evidently, no geese. One of the parties was that which Bill Richards took out on his power cruiser, those making the trip besides himself being W. O. Fulton, Sid Hunter, Dan Kristmanson and Alex McRae.

Manager Julian Black, who keeps the books for the Joe Louis fight party, figures that an average training camp costs about $15,000. Including the Louie's training sessions for the Nova engagement, Joe has set up training sites in 22 different locations. That would mean, according to Black's figures, a total outlay of $160,000 for training alone. Gate receipts from training camp return less than 10 per cent of the cost.

ALCOHOL FOR GAS

Wheat And Sugar Beckons Aussies In Fuel Shortage

OTTAWA, October 27: —In a move aimed at relieving the pressure on Australia's limited gasoline resources, the Australian government is moving to triple the Commonwealth's output of power alcohol. R. P. Bower, assistant Canadian trade commissioner at Sydney, reported to the Trade and Commerce department.

Present production amounts to about 7,000,000 gallons a year. Some time ago a special government committee was appointed to investigate the prospects of increasing the amount and recently recommended the output should be boosted to 22,000,000 gallons.

This would provide a 15 percent balance on the pre-war consumption of motor fuel, which has been under strict rationing since the outbreak of hostilities. (Suggestions have been made in Canada that part of the huge prairie wheat surplus be used for power alcohol manufacture as one means of helping overcome the Dominion's gasoline difficulties occasioned by lack of tanker space.)

Step-up Production
"The Australian government has decided, as a first objective, to produce 22,000,000 gallons of power alcohol a year," Mr. Bower said. "This will be made up of 7,000,000 gallons from existing anhydrous distilleries, 5,000,000 gallons from existing rectified spirit distilleries and 10,000,000 gallons from distilleries to be erected."

"The latter would use wheat only and would be located in Western Australia (estimated output 2,000,000 gallons), South Australia (3,000,000 gallons), Victoria (2,000,000 gallons), and New South Wales (2,000,000 gallons)."

Mr. Bower said the power alcohol committee estimated that capital costs of erected necessary new distilleries to raise production to 22,000,000 gallons would be about $16,065,000. It said that providing materials and skilled tradesmen are available and placed sufficiently high in the list of defence priorities, the distilleries could be completed in about two years.

Raw Materials

"Wheat and sugar are the only two commodities which the committee believes could supply raw materials cheaply enough to permit the sale of power alcohol at about 70 cents a gallon in capital cities as low as 37 cents per gallon," Mr. Bower said.

At this price it was estimated that 63 cents or 69 cents, according to the process used, could be paid for a bushel of wheat at shipping ports or for sugar at Queensland ports.

"It is suggested that 38,000,000 gallons could be derived from wheat and 7,500,000 from sugar," Mr. Bower said. It is estimated that the additional cost per gallon of motor spirit would not exceed 2½ cents per gallon.

"The committee suggested that the increased production of power alcohol should come entirely from present stocks of wheat and sugar, which, due to war conditions, cannot at the present time be exported."

In their name I thank all those who have contributed with such tireless generosity to this humane work.
