Germans Lose In West and East

Red Army Cutting Wide Swaths In Ranks of Germans—Four Units Totalling 6,000 Men Destroyed

MOSCOW, July 8: (CP)—The Red Army was reported today to be cutting wide swaths in the ranks of the Germans in the fighting concentrated largely at strategic river crossings. The Russians struck the heaviest blow south of the Ukrainian city of Novograd, a Volynski communique said and also inflicted heavy losses on the Germans in defending the Dnieper and Dniester Rivers in the central and southern sectors. The communique indicated that the lines of conflict stretched tightly almost directly north and south between Ostrov on the Latvian frontier and Mogilev Podolski on the Bassarabian border. The destruction of four German units totalling approximately six thousand men was announced in Moscow.

TRAGIC DEATH AT SIMPSON

Roger Knott Fell Between Boats At Float And Killed Instantly

Roger Knott, well known and respected Port Simpson fisherman, met a tragic death at Port Simpson Saturday night. Hurrying to get to his boat which was on the outside of other boats he fell between two boats, striking his head which caused instant death. As the incident happened around one a.m. the body was not recovered until the next day. He was 35 years of age.

Heaviest Bombers Of Royal Air Force Lashed Out Against Nazis Centres Today And Throb of Planes Like Roar of Dynamo

Adjutant Was Speaker At United Church

The morning service in the First United Church Sunday was conducted by Adjutant Brundson of the Salvation Army. In a thoughtful address Mr. Brundson spoke on the need for personal Christianity. He said there was no question as to the material progress made by the world but he felt the matter of the spiritual progress of the world should be examined.

Speaking from the story of Jacob in the Old Testament Mr. Brundson pointed out how Jacob needed to return to the stone of Bethel the place of his original blessing in order to renew his faith. There, when he cried out of the depths of heart he found strength. We must not accept Christianity as a code of life or a set of beliefs. The world today is a challenge to all Christians. Only when they cry out from the depths of their souls and only as the individual puts away all other gods and worships the one God in all sincerity, will the full measure of spiritual life be attained.

The special musical number was the duet, "Watchman, what of the Night?" with Sergeant G. Docker and J. S. Wilson the soloists.

MANY LARGE CENTRES IN GERMAN OCCUPIED FRANCE AND IN GERMANY SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES FROM INVADING BOMBERS TODAY

LONDON, July 8: (CP)—The heaviest bombers of the R.A.F. lashed out today against the Nazi held French coast in a follow up of widespread overnight attacks against objectives in the Western German Netherlands, Belgium and occupied France. It was one of the most extensive sweeps of the war. The synthetic oil plant between Lenz and Bethune in France was attacked in daylight today and seven Nazi planes were downed. The R.A.F. lost six planes in the attacks over France but the pilots of two were saved. During the night British planes dropped heavy explosives on Frankfurt, Dusseldorf, Duisburg, Muenster, Krefeld, Cologne, Muenchen-Gladgath, Osten, Dunkerque and Boulogne. Nine planes were lost.

The throb of hundreds of British planes shutting across the Channel today was like the roar of a dynamo running twenty-four hours a day. The observers at a southeast coast town said the sound of the explosions begun at the Channel coast were growing fainter and apparently the R.A.F. bombers were moving farther inland to unload.

Legion Executive Hears Reports From President

Selective Compulsory Service Advocated To Prime Minister In Interview

The executive of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League was in session last evening in preparation for the regular monthly meeting on Wednesday. Correspondence from the Dominion President, Alex. Walker, told how in three interviews with the Prime Minister of Canada, he and other officials of the Legion had stressed the importance of complete utilization of all of Canada's resources for a successful prosecution of the war. This would require selective compulsory national service, to apply to men and women alike, both for the armed forces and for the necessary industrial effort, similar to that in effect in the United Kingdom of Great Britain.

Strong protests had also been made to the Prime Minister against the shipment of foodstuffs and other materials to Japan and particularly the granting of a permit to ship 500,000 bushels of wheat. It is the Legion's view that shipment of all commodities should be prohibited as long as there is the least suspicion that any part of them is destined to reach enemy countries.

Various amendments to the Canadian Pension Act have been made as a result of representation of the Canadian Legion to the government so that men now serving may be adequately covered in the matter of pension and benefits to dependents.

President H. A. Breen was in the chair. Other members present were J. Preece, Neil Cameron, J. M. Walker, George Abbott, H. A. Thrupp and Hugh M. Smith.

The regulations will continue in effect throughout the present emergency, it was said.

Mrs. E. F. Fisher is leaving for Port Clements on the Camosun tonight.

First Steps Are Taken Toward Erection of Houses In Rupert Under Government Scheme

Canadian Plows In Use Overseas

Farm Equipment From Dominion Reclaims 3,500 British Acres

OTTAWA, July 8: (CP)—Canadian manufactured agricultural equipment is aiding the British government's program of reclaiming grass land for cultivation during wartime.

Tractor plow equipment from Canada has been responsible for bringing back into cultivation—after a lapse of centuries—3,500 acres of the Sussex downs, according to the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce.

Parts of the 3,500 acres reclaimed were covered with brambles, thorns and thick gorse, sometimes up to five feet in height. Plowing the heavy clay and chalky soil was not made any easier by numerous valleys and steep inclines.

The east Sussex war agricultural committee which undertook reclamation of the land late in 1939 used the Canadian type plows in the face of sharp criticism. A firm of steam-tackle experts, when first consulted about the project, said the cost of breaking the land would be prohibitive.

At first 10 plows were used but by the summer of 1940 the number was increased to 70.

The plows, of a standard type common in Canada, were set to turn an 11-inch furrow with an average depth of five inches. With the skim coulters removed and the disc coulters tilted several notches to the land the tractor operator found better results were obtained in burying the herbage.

Wire Received From Ottawa Making Announcement to Chamber of Commerce—Evident Tenders Are to be Called for Building

Prince Rupert is to have a housing scheme. That now seems evident. The Wartime Housing Limited, the Federal government organization set up to meet the demand for houses in places where the demand is greater than the supply and where they are needed to enable war work to proceed under reasonable conditions, is to undertake the work. A few weeks ago a representative of the concern was in Prince Rupert looking over the situation and he at that time seemed optimistic that something would be done.

Not having heard anything more, the Chamber of Commerce wired on July 3 asking if anything was being done. Today comes a reply which reads as follows:

"Your telegram July Third: Steps now being taken to call for tenders on Prince Rupert Program. Writing, Joseph M. Pigott."

This seems to mean that if the result of the call for tenders is favorable, the houses will be built.

It is not yet known where the new houses will be placed but it seems probable they will be each on double lots either between McBride Street and Hays Creek or the area between Hays Creek bridge and Emmanuel Street.

The buildings planned will be of three, four and five rooms each on concrete piers but without basements. Mostly the plans show one-storey cottages but a few may be two-storey houses. It is understood that two hundred houses would fill the present demand but it is not sure how many will be built.

GERMANS PURSUING

BERLIN, July 8: (CP)—The German High Command today reported the war against Russia with a single sentence saying that operations on the eastern front were proceeding on schedule.

Unofficial reports claimed that the Nazi air force had battered Zhitomir on the road to the Ukraine and that Germany's best soldiers are flinging themselves at the Staline line. The Nazis claimed that on the southern wing of the front "pursuit of enemy" was in progress on the road to Kiev.

Corporal Land and Corporal Weeks sailed this afternoon aboard the Catala for Vancouver.

Mrs. Briden is leaving for her home tonight on the steamer Camosun. She has been spending the past month with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wolfe.

$800 WAS TAKEN IN BIG DAY

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, July 7.—There was a great turnout on Hospital Day despite threatening weather. The picnic grounds at Second Beach was a gay scene from morning until evening. Merry-makers came from Queen Charlotte, Port Clements, Skidegate Mission, Sandspit and the Oiler, as well as Alford Bay; armmen, soldiers and sailors in uniform added color to the grounds.

Children's sports were held in the morning. Hot dogs and ice cream were served by the ladies while the adult sports, beginning at one o'clock were held. There were races, jumping contests and football and baseball games, for which there were many valuable prizes given.

Members of the board of directors of the Skidegate Inlet General Hospital were in charge of the stalls, with Mrs. Grace Stevens as convener. Novelties of all kinds were sold, as well as fancywork and useful articles. Mrs. Duncan McColl was in charge of the candy stall, where soft drinks were also sold. From four-thirty in the afternoon a substantial supper was served. During the afternoon drawings for three raffled articles were held. The tablecloth was won by Tom Cummings, Skidegate; cushion by one of the R.C.A.F., and the sweater by Oscar Hill.

A very successful dance was held that night in the Skidegate Mission Hall. Good music for the dancing was supplied by the Harmony Boys. The holder of the lucky ticket for the raffled satin quilt was Mrs. Francis Richardson of Tleil. Refreshments were served at midnight after which dancing continued until two.

Gross proceeds from the day's activities amounted to approximately eight hundred dollars. This sum included a donation of eighty-one dollars from the East Coast Farmers' Institute, the proceeds from a previous dance. Everybody agreed that the success of the event was due to the effort and enthusiasm of the various committees, headed by the general convener, Mrs. Stevens.

U.S. Now In Europe . . .

The question whether Iceland is in Europe or not has been discussed locally and whether United States forces, being in Iceland, are in Europe, is proving of interest. British forces may be needed elsewhere. If Iceland is to be retained there must be a considerable force there to hold it. The United States can afford a considerable force and, having them there will give them a greater interest in the war.

Better Co-operation . . .

It seems to us that better co-operation between the big railway companies and the provinces might be arranged, so that when the whole province, for national purposes changes its time system the railways might do the same, especially when the arrangement is more or less permanent, as in the present case. The railways have to change their time at the provincial boundary or thereabout so why not make the change a greater one to suit the national convenience in regard to war work on this coast.

Offer Of Friendship . . .

Says the New York Post: "Kichisaburo Nomura, Japan's Ambassador to the United States, has been pestering Secretary Hull with another Axis 'peace' proposal. Japan, says Mr. Nomura, would be honored if the Hon. United States would sign a nonaggression treaty with his misunderstood, peace-loving government."

"Japan's motive in proposing nonaggression is clear. Tokyo wants a free hand to attack Singapore and the Dutch East Indies. She thinks she may gain it by a promise not to distract the United States Navy in case there's trouble in the Atlantic—a promise which would be worth less than its weight in feathers."

"No sale. Mr. Nomura might as well close up his sample case. If Japan wants to be friends, of course, she can be. The United States is ready, but only after Japan has performed acts of friendship which qualify her to speak of good will."

"She can show this by withdrawing from China, removing her threat to Singapore and the East Indies, renouncing her 'new order' in the Far East, cancelling her membership card in the Butcher Gang, quitting her insidious anti-democratic program in South America, cutting off her supplies to Hitler, and discontinuing the sword rule of her government."

"When this is done, Uncle Sam may consider an offer."

WOMAN TELLS POIGNANT STORY OF AIR RAID

its third $20,000 to Great Britain. It is collecting at the rate of $1,000 a day—but more is badly needed.

Dear Friends:
I read in the Echo a little while ago Canada wants bomb stories so I thought I would write and tell you our experiences—we had our house burnt down except for one chimney and we were bombed as well.

First of all, perhaps you would like to hear about our home that we had and about ourselves. There is my husband, myself and one son and daughter. My son is 31 and my daughter 22. Royston and Constance. We were a happy family. All our pleasure was in our home, or church. Just simple folk, neither of us smoked or took intoxicating drips or spent our money on pleasure outside of home. Constance took Sunday School class and was one of the leaders of Christian Endeavour.

Roy had been that evening to settle about his wedding. He is in the A. F. S. (Auxiliary Fire Service) at the New Docks. Constance did hair-dressing at home, because I suffer with bronchial asthma and not strong enough to do much work. My husband did drive a mineral water lorry until 18 months ago he had a bad accident, slipped down between two motors, so he is not very strong or fit for any more hard work.

Well, our house was next to a baker and grocer shop, and there were two more houses the other side of us. My husband had that very night finished putting electric light and fire in our Anderson Shelter. He had put three-ply wood all round, bricked the floor and made bunks. We had slept down there for a long time because we felt safer down there—so much had happened and the raids started earlier every night.

The Terrible Feeling

Constance had just come in and was going to have her tea and when the guns started we ran to shelter and incendiaries fell all over the place.

The baker and my hubby put out what they could; then they dropped on his roof; we had hoses ready, but no water. The mains had burst, so there was nothing to do but let them burn. Four were burning, two at the side of us and two at the back.

Then a bomb came and blew the shed and contents to ruin, and the end house, then the bakehouse roof came down around us, blew the light out. Ah, the terrible feeling wondering which was dead or alive. You cannot describe it. Thank God neither of us three and a neighbor with us was hurt or any one in the terrace.

Wedding Gifts Gone

Roy came home while the house was burning terrified for us. There was gone all we had. All his new things for the wedding. We had been keeping all we could in the shelter until we had the bunks there; then there was not room, so we took the things indoors about two weeks before. We only had the oldest clothes left on.

The next night we went to a friend's house and I think it was worse. A bomb dropped a few yards away and made a big crater, but we were safe in her shelter, thank God. We left there on Monday, and with hundreds more came out here. There was no water or gas or electricity in town; we slept in a hall on the floor one night until we could get a room. We had to be parted in different houses but after five months we are together. God has given me strength to be able to do my work. My daughter has to go out to work—2s. 10d. don't go far to keep three and pay rent.

Grants From Funds

It tells us in God's word not to lay up treasures on earth and I had been doing so because as my boy was leaving home I had bought things for the home. I thought I should never want to buy more and never knew when my husband might not be able to work.

We had £5 each from the relief fund, but it did not buy much but we had odd things given us and we had some second-hand clothes from Canada or America, but we were in need of something for the summer. So we had £10 between my husband and I, and £3 for my daughter. So I asked if I could get something from the Lord Mayor's Fund, so I got £5 last week, which is a great help. Now we have not had time to get a few things and we are rationed with clothes.

Well, we are just waiting until the war is over to get two or three rooms and start a home again if it's God's will, at the age of 62.

It is not the loss of home really upsets us—it's the little things we have treasured, some things we have had nearly all our lives and photos of the children and loved ones who have passed on.

We Try To Look Happy

We had two cats, fluffy ones, one white, one ginger—we called him Rusty. That one my daughter loved, she says, I don't mind losing everything if only I had Rusty. A butcher took him several miles in the country but he came back so we had to let the people from the cat's home take him away.

Still we are only one of thousands who have suffered worse, because they have lost their dear ones. God has been good to us so far and we do thank Him, and we try to look happy. But I think the men's nerves are more broken than us women. We have no time to think much because it's such a problem to manage the food. I try to imagine we are making shift like we used to when we took the children away for holiday in a camp and always feel in a muddle only 2 rooms in place of 6 and only oil stove instead of fires and gas stove to cook with. Now I hope I have not tired you with all this. God bless you for all you are doing for us here.

WATER

is Good Whisky's perfect companion

A good companion allows a friend to express himself freely. That is why water is the perfect companion of good whisky. It allows whisky to tell its own story.

The Seagram Canadian Whiskies are distilled, aged and blended to meet the water test. They are of such exquisite flavour that men who know good whiskies refuse to mix with them anything other than plain or sparkling water.

It is this delightful and exclusive smoothness that has caused the Seagram whiskies to outsell all others on the American continent.

The first cards from British prisoners of war in Germany, giving proof that food parcels sent from Canada are being received, are coming to National Red Cross Headquarters daily. And prisoners are particularly delighted with the contents of Canadian parcels, according to Guardsman Arthur Hook, taken prisoner at Dunkirk, who has written the following to his sister, Miss Wynne Hook, 2146 Grand Boulevard, Montreal: "We have just received an issue of Red Cross parcels, (my third since I've been prisoner). Some chaps were extremely fortunate and got the Canadian parcels. What lovely parcels!—a pound tin of butter (real butter)—honey and a host of other good things. I want you to see about getting me a parcel like that with one addition—a couple of tins of peanut butter. I dream of the stuff."

Red Cross officials believe the first Canadian food parcels, to be distributed in Germany, were in a shipment of 5,000 sent to Marseilles on the American Red Cross Mercy Ship, which were reported by International Red Cross representatives to have arrived in splendid condition.

The Canadian Red Cross is packing 15,000 food parcels a week for British prisoners of war in Germany at the request of the British Red Cross.

Battle Of The Mothers

By E. BLISS PUGSLEY M.D.
The Canadian Welfare Council
Ottawa
Formerly of Prince Rupert

"Poor Mr. Jones! What will he do with those three motherless children, and that tiny baby?" That's what neighbors have said, in effect, of 42 of every 10,000 Canadian homes in Canada that were blessed with a new baby in 1939. Think of it! Forty-two young women cut off from life just when they should be enjoying it most, their children forced to rely on the help of a children's agency or left to grow up harum-scarum while their Daddy tries to earn money to keep them, and still be at home enough to bring them up properly. No Mummy for Bobby to run to with his skinned knees, no one to comfort little Mary, nor to nurse young Teddy when he has a cold. It's a cold, grim world when Mummy's not around.

Yet much of this is absolutely unnecessary! The Victorian Order of Nurses reports that in 1939, they cared for 17,308 of Canada's new mothers and only 20 of them died for each 10,000 live babies born—less than half the number for all Canada! Why? Because the Victorian Order of Nurses insists on each mother going to a doctor all through her pregnancy and after the baby's arrival until all danger of complications is past. This gets results! Preliminary figures indicate that in 1940, only 17 mothers died proportionate to the same number of births; instead of 42 desolate homes, only seventeen. That's worthwhile, isn't it? That means 25 more homes left to be centres for Mother's guidance and care, where our Canadian boys and girls can learn to become good citizens of this country of ours, for the post-war years when they will be especially needed.

Granny scoffs: "Such new-fangled notions! Why, I had sixteen babies and never a doctor for one of them!" Yes, Granny, you did, and you were lucky; but remember that radiant young bride next door who died suddenly in convulsions, a month before her baby was expected? She didn't have a doctor either, and no one told her that the puffy face and limbs meant danger; no one sounded the "Alert" siren when the grim bombers of death appeared on her horizon. She could have been saved if you, the mother of sixteen, hadn't sneered at "such fussing over a natural event." A recent two-year survey of causes of mothers' deaths shows you up. It was found that five times as many mothers died who had no professional care during pregnancy, as did those who had complete care. Five times as many. Granny! What have you to say to that?

If you young women want strong babies, if you want to be healthy mothers, go to your doctor, or write to him if he's far away, and follow his advice all through those months of waiting. If it's hard to get a doctor, write to the Canadian Welfare Council for their Prenatal letters to tell you some of the danger spots and how to avoid them. Don't let old-fashioned ideas be fifth columnists in this Battle of Mothers against unnecessary Death!

Man in the Moon

Nine o'clock used to be time for children to go to bed but it was difficult to get them to retire for the night last evening.

Summer time may be good for shipbuilding but its darned difficult for bringing up children.

Now, if we were to put the clock ahead another hour or two we might persuade ourselves it was a good thing to get up to breakfast in the middle of the night.

Opportunity knocks at our door almost every week but its only once in a lifetime most of us hear the gentle tap and many are too busy eating or drinking or skylarking to ever hear the call of the siren of Good Fortune.

The other day there was a bishop visiting in the city. The editor says he knows he was a great and good man because he said some nice things about a report of the sermon that the editor wrote.

I heard a story about that bishop. It seems that part of his job was to induce the best people of the church, which means of course the ones over encumbered with dough, to dig down and release some of the dough that was cluttering up the works and causing those men to be something other than good Christians. One of the holier than thou, unctuous brethren had in his pocket four bits for the collection plate. He also had a big bill with which to buy something more tangible than seats in the church of the hereafter. He was so touched by the sermon of the Right Reverend that he forgot about the half dollar and dropped on to the plate a five dollar bill. Great was the consternation of the managers for fear the Bishop might think he had been attending a Christian Science Church where bills on the collection plate are more plentiful than dimes in the Bishop's dress parade.

But if I go on like this I shall get myself disliked in Anglican circles. Some do not realize that denomination means nothing. It is only individual action that counts.

And about the worst hypocrite of all is the man who thinks himself an atheist until he hears the call from Peter. Then he suddenly remembers his prayers.

Why not live a simple, quiet life? Then if anything happens the hereafter will take care of itself and there will be no wild scramble for cover.

Jake says he believes that war is wicked, but even wicked things are sometimes necessary and occasionally it is the only road to the holy of holies.

I know some people who have a reputation for being good. Yet the only thing about them is that they are stupid.

I know people who have a reputation for being stupid when they are simply too wise to learn the language of blah.

A devil is all right if you put him to work. It is when he stands around the street corners telling indecent stories and spitting that he becomes damnable.

The chief says you can tell how wicked he happens to be at any time by noticing how he neglects his garden. Hell is when the weeds grow everywhere. Heaven is to have a garden like Jack Wynn has where it takes ten microscopes to find a weed.

Jake says a weed is just a flower out of place. A foxglove never becomes a weed, judging by what I see in the chief's garden.

Now what I started out to say was that when opportunity knocks at the door of a parson he soon becomes a bishop although I have heard say that occasionally a parson hears the knock and quits the church or at any rate the official end of it.

What seems queer to me is that so many good people become bishops.

And so we quit talking nonsense and refuse to talk at all until some other day when we become inspired with the joy of foolishness.

Hundreds of people try a "spot" in the Daily News classified column and get good results. (1)

Cabaret Dance For Red Cross In Massett Hall

Over Hundred Dollars Raised As Result Of Enjoyable Social Evening

A very successful cabaret dance and home cooking sale was held in the Massett Community Hall on Monday evening June 30. Ian Pearson was master of ceremonies and Wes Singer took tickets at the door.

The home cooking table which was attractively decorated in white paper and red crosses and laden with good things to eat was in charge of Mrs. Cecil Dunn and Mrs. Phil Burton.

Mrs. Frost was in charge of the refreshment kitchen assisted by Mrs. A. Robertson and Mrs. A. Dunn and waitresses Mrs. S. Simpson, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. C. Minaker, Mrs. A. Johanson and Mrs. W. Singer.

An interesting feature of the evening was the series of tableaux prepared under the guidance of Mrs. H. B. Pearson. The first tableau represented the work that was being done by the Red Cross here (quilt making, knitting, sewing and mending) by the ladies of Massett. Dr. Dunn told of what had been done, what was being done and what they hoped to do when it was finished. The second tableau presented by the older children was in three parts, the first scene a London home after an air raid showing the stricken mother and small children without food or clothing and then in comes the Red Cross helper with warm clothing and food. The second scene showed the fighting forces on land, in the air and on the sea and how the Red Cross helped them with knitted garments and hot food and coffee when needed.

The third scene showed the wounded on the battlefield and how the Red Cross was there also. Another interesting game which attracted many players was the yard of nickels in charge of Ronny Stewart and H. B. Pearson at which $16.00 was raised.

In the card room Madam Mayo told fortunes during the evening. Between dances Mrs. S. Simpson sang "A Nightingale Sang in Berkeley Square" accompanied by Mrs. J. Murray. The three sisters, Mrs. C. Minaker, Mrs. A. Johanson and Miss Esther Ombrak sang "Trade Winds." Mrs. C. Harrison recited an original composition dealing with the Red Cross work in Massett. Mrs. Wes Singer whistled several selections. Master Eugene Simpson gave a piano selection, he is a pupil of Mrs. J. Murray. Ian Pearson gave his interpretation of a jitterbug.

The music for the dancing was provided by the local musicians Mrs. Max Marx and Mrs. C. Martin, piano, and Ed Pongs and Howard Phillips, violins. T. Chocquette piano accordion and Herb Bradley drums.

Refreshments were served during the evening and ice cream was on tap throughout the dancing. At about 2 a.m. when the party began to break up the pies and cakes that were left over on the home cooking table were auctioned off. During the evening Mrs. Phil Burton sold tickets on a beautiful picture painted and presented to the Red Cross by the local talented artists, Mrs. A. Dunn. The draw for the picture will take place later.

A good crowd was in attendance and the gratifying sum of about $115.00 was realized.

Q. C. CITY

The day following Dominion Day was a holiday for the employees of the local logging camp and through the kindness of George Blomgren, the camp superintendent, a picnic trip to Sandspit was enjoyed by the married employees and their families. Twenty-five persons made the trip on one of the camp boats. Lunch and supper were eaten on the delightful grass fields of the "Spit," and during the afternoon, a wild strawberry hunt was enjoyed. The party returned at eight in the evening.

Miss Edna Beaven, daughter of the well-known local merchant, Harry R. Beaven is leaving on the Camosun for a trip to Prince Rupert. Miss Beaven, who will act as forelady at Pacofi cannery this season will combine business with pleasure while in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christensen of Digby Island paid a visit recently to the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christensen.

Mrs. George Fife has her daughter Patricia visiting her for the holidays. While attending high school in Vancouver Patricia resides with her maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Oscar Hill was hostess at the tea hour recently when her invited guests were: Mesdames George Blomgren, B. Munro, Aubrey Hames, W. Nyblom, George Fife, Len Longacre, Bill Barry, George Wilcox and G. Overington.

Atlin Mines Are Busily Engaged Washing Out Gold

T. Malm, who has been working in the gold mines at Spruce Creek, Atlin, arrived in the city Saturday for medical advice. He will not be returning for a little while. He says the mines are working steadily. His own claim on Spruce Creek was worked out in the winter.

General McRae's outfit is doing some good work and the Beale drag-net outfit is also washing a lot of gravel. On the whole the camp is prosperous.
