This picture map shows you the gigantic arena where the Battle of the Atlantic is being fought. With repeal of the Neutrality Act, American merchant ships can be armed and sent to belligerent ports through combat zones. Berlin predicts "a sea of incidents" because German warships "obviously will be obliged" to fire on American ships carrying munitions to Britain or Russia. Henceforth American armed ships may be attacked anywhere on the broad Atlantic.

DAILY EDITION

TUESDAY, DEC. 2, 1941.

Closer to Prince Rupert . . .

War in the Pacific looms as the crisis between the United States and Japan deepens. War in the Pacific will bring war closer to Prince Rupert by half the distance it is today. An ocean and a continent separate us from actual combat today. Tomorrow the distance may be reduced to the ocean. We may, in a sense, be on the front line with the expanse of a wide ocean and the navai power of Great Britain and the United States as our principal defences.

There is no need for us to dwell on the degree of our vulnerability or on the possibility or form of attack. That may well be left for reasonable imagination. Suffice it to suggest that war in the Pacific presents to Prince Rupert very reasonable possibilities. For various reasons WINNER OF Prince Rupert is very definitely a military objective.

Prince Rupert people might as well make up their minds to the fact that, if and when United States and Japan go to war, we will be a very desirable target for sergeant steve Frost of Massett, the enemy. It is not being unduly pessimistic or gloomy to suggest this.

What we in Prince Rupert had better do is look to our defences-civil as well as military. Our A.R.P. may well spring into action, perfect its organization in preparation for an emergency.

War in the Pacific will undoubtedly bring new restrictions and sacrifices for us. It would be well for us to prepare to reconcile ourselves to face them.

Some of us do not seem to yet realize that we are at war. War in the Pacific will quicken the realization.

Municipal Requirements . . .

It is interesting to note the appointment of a per- boxer. manent sanitary inspector as a member of the civic staff. The appointee, Alex Macdonald, long a member of the worked in the woods for the Cocity fire department, knows every nook and cranny of the city. No doubt, he will be a conscientious and distinct and worked his way over-sons who have been dead for centroyed by fire while under lease to cerning official. There will be plenty of matters to re- seas on a Greek logging steamer, turies. quire his attention. His immediate task will be to take steps looking to a general cleaning up which will involve attention both by private and public interests. We bespeak for him the co-operation which he will need.

The reorganization of the municipal sanitary department is but the first of a number of matters in the sphere of public works and public service that require attention here and the need for which is becoming more acute as a result of greatly increased industrial activity and population. There are a number of such matters that cannot be much longer deferred—war or no war. As a matter of fact, the successful prosecution of the war effort makes them the more necessary. If we are to have the morale required to carry on it is essential that certain things be done in the interest of better efficiency.

We have been told for some time now how much better the financial position of the city is, how we have been restored to an even fiscal keel as a result of the administration of our very competent commissioners,

Now it is reasonable to suggest that the time has at long last arrived when the city should be in a position to finance some of these very real needs, particularly in the way of public works. Possibly, we may not be able to have them all at once. But it certainly appears to be high time that some should be forthcoming.

The welcome resumption of the sanitary inspection service may be considered just a start.

True, the law says that prices must stay at or go back to a certain level. But business is being asked to ] | work it out.

You find here in Ottawa that the ball has been tossed back to business, and business men are working out their own plays. Business men in every industry and grouping, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, are intent on devising methods that will meet the needs of the hour. Business might have gone on strike, thrown up its hands, said, "We can't keep the price down," but honestly, loyally, even with enthusiasm, business men are forging their own shackles for their own salvation.

Special Bargains DEER ON ISLANDS

Capt. Harry Nedden Tells Vancouver Newspaperman How They Got There.

Plenty of fat venison is coming out of Queen Charlotte Islands this year, and more will come in future seasons, now that the sportmen have discovered the "happy hunting ground."

Few sportsmen know that the Queen Charlottes were once barre nof deer, and that the present populous deer citiznry are descencants of a mainland family that originated in the public park at New Westminster. N

Captain H. E. (Harry) Nedden, scon to retire as commodore shipmaster of the Canadian National Steamships fleet, is authority for the statement that the island was l stocked from Fraser River deer.

About 26 years ago a family of deer was sent to the island from the mainland, on board the company steamer Prince Albert, Captain C. W. Wearmouth. They vanshed. Perhaps the ndians cleaned them up at once.

Then, in 1916, five does and one buck from a park at New Westminster were taken on board the Albert, and housed in crates on For the East-
