BRITISH OFFENSIVE NOW
OTTAWA, July 12: (CP)—The Royal Air Force has succeeded where the German air force failed and British planes are sweeping over occupied territory inviting combat while the bombers smash at objectives in Germany in daylight, Captain H. H. Balfour, British Under Secretary for Air, said in an interview today. LONDON, July 12: (CP)—Great Britain sent some of its heaviest bombers back over the English Channel today after a night assault on the naval base of Wilhelmshafen. Day raiders were reported authoritatively to have pounded railway and canal communications in the St. Omer area. MUSEUM IS CLOSED UP

Owing to the structural stability of its quarters in the upper floor of the Public Library building having been condemned, the Museum of Northern British Columbia has officially been unable to open its doors to the public and visiting tourists this season. The Museum Board met this week to review its unsuccessful efforts to secure more suitable quarters for the present season and, among other matters, to discuss possible plans for the 1942 season.

In 1936 the Museum Board desired to expand its modest exhibit at that time displayed in the foyer of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and W. J. Alder, then City Commissioner, with the co-operation of the City Library Board, made available the upper floor of the building containing the library. The foundations of this building had been strengthened to suit library purposes but the upper floor was never intended to accommodate heavy display cases and the crowds of over a hundred people at a time such as frequently flocked to the Museum when one or more tourist boats were in port.

Estimates of the cost of suitably strengthening the structure proved to be disproportionate to the Museum Board's interests in these. It was hoped, its temporary quarters as a public safety measure, the numbers of persons admitted at any one time during the 1940 tourist season had to be limited with the result that, whereas the Museum entertained 4035 interested visitors in 1939, only slightly over

French Commander Is Negotiating Now For Peace With British

Vichy Government Turned Down Demands at First But Left Final Decision with General Dentz

BEIRUT, Lebanon, July 12: (CP)—General Henri Dentz, Vichy commander-in-chief in Syria, has entered into direct negotiations with Great Britain looking toward an armistice after the refusal of the Vichy government to accept British terms, it was announced today. Yesterday it had been announced that the Vichy government, after studying the British terms for an armistice in Syria, had found them unacceptable and indications were then that the fight with Allied forces would continue. Today, however, a Vichy delegation left Beirut to meet Allied authorities and negotiate conditions.

DRESSING LONDONERS

LONDON, July 12: (CP)—Full effect of Britain's new coupons-for-clothes order will only be evident when the system has been in force for a full year but already sweeping changes are foreshadowed in British fashions.

Clothes under the new plan will be designed for utility, not for appearance. Frills and fads must go. Women must say goodbye to different dresses for housework, afternoon gowns, lavish evening costumes. Men must forego a big selection of everyday suits, black coats and striped trousers, dinner jackets and tails. Fashions will not change at the whim of designers from year to year. Usefulness and durability will be standards.

Just in Time
The Board of Trade introduced the rationing system just in time, said an official of the board. If it had waited much longer there would have been very little left to ration. The only alternative would have been to restore supplies to shops to pre-war levels, which would have meant more imports and shipping than Britain could afford, and would have kept too many workers away from munitions.

Here are some other changes forecast in wake of the new edict:
Mending will come into its own again, at home and in clothes stores. Women will go bare-legged in summer to save fragile silk stockings. Men will switch from vests to pullovers. Sports clothes and the popular English combination of sports coat and flannel trousers will disappear.

An Evening News cartoon depicted a club man proudly displaying to admiring fellow-members a formal suit with prominent tweed patch in the pants. "The suit's 1934," he was saying, "but this is a bit of genuine 1928."

Here are some further sidelights:
A thin woman is better off than her stouter sister when making clothes. Outsize people get no extra ration.
There's nothing to prevent a woman making herself a dress from unrationed black-out curtaining.
If all your clothing is destroyed in an air raid you can receive 132 coupons—two years' supply.
There will be no extra allowance for wedding dresses.

HOSPITAL SESSION

Accommodation in Institution is Strained at Present Time

At the regular monthly hospital board meeting last night Miss Margaret Jamieson R.N., lady superintendent, reported that bed accommodation was very strained as there were many more patients now than previously. She also reported that there were many Indian patients.

Consideration was given to doors that had become marked by the beds going through them. It was thought that metal plates on the doors would meet the situation.
Miss Olive Gordon R.N. was appointed to take Miss Jamieson's place while she is on vacation.
Four baskets of fruit were donated to the hospital by the Canadian National Recreation Association.

It was pointed out that the hospital was not operating for a gain so should therefore, not be under the Unemployment Insurance Act.
Miss Jamieson reported that the dumb waiters had arrived.

EDITORIAL

For those of us who favor the Hazelton route the recommendation of the Alaska Highway commission is a disappointment. We had hoped the commission would find the advantage of the coast route would outweigh the disadvantages and that the highway would come far enough west to be an advantage to the whole interior country. However, we have to acknowledge that the interior route has its advantages.

Judging from the report received yesterday of the findings of Canadian section of the highway commission, the United States section of the commission may be quite different from the Canadian and there is nothing to indicate how the matter will be finally decided. Presumably, the United States members will favor the Hazelton route and, if they put up the greater part of the money for the work of construction, their choice should have the greater weight.

One important feature should be that the highway by way of the Yukon does not serve Southeastern Alaska whereas from Hazelton it would not be difficult to build into Prince Rupert and ferry to Ketchikan. Should the United States and Canadian relations become closer than at present it is to be presumed that the trade relations of Ketchikan and Prince Rupert would be greatly improved and steamship services between the two places become much more frequent. Cars would often go south by way of Prince Rupert and the highway. All these possibilities have to be considered and provided for.

Wooden Vessels Needed . . .

The suggestion made several times in the past and mentioned again by W. Lloyd Craig yesterday as one of the possibilities is that coast patrol boats be built at the dry dock which would be useful for war purposes until the war is over and then be converted into halibut fishing boats for fishing in the westerly halibut waters. This seems to have been proposed first by L. W. Patmore K.C. as one way of keeping alive the fall halibut fishing and revived later in connection with meeting the present need. On the surface it looks like an excellent plan. Canada should get a larger share of the fishing from the July and August and possibly September fishing.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie Talks Of Problems To Be Dealt With After The War In An Address

Must be Security of Living for All People With Abolition of Poverty—New World Ahead is His Vision

QUEBEC, July 12.—“We are making plans for a great national public health policy in Canada, a plan of co-operation with the provinces, a plan of education, of co-ordination and co-ordination,” declared Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and Health, in an address to the Canadian Club here. He added that the plan, “will ensure that those who return from overseas will not return to a devitalized homeland,” and that it, “will endeavour to ensure such economic conditions that the right to health will be accompanied by the power to attain health.”

Stating that the Dominion government had already given thought to what must be effected when peace returns, Mr. Mackenzie said plans had been laid down for the demobilization and for the after-care of the returned fighting forces; for pensions to those who have earned pensions; for the treatment of the disabilities of those rendered unfit, and “for the treatment of all those who have enlisted, for one year after the time of their discharge.” There would also be preference of employment, in the Civil Service as well as in industry, for those who have served, he added.

“The maintenance of individual liberty, the preservation of democratic institutions, must be our guiding stars in the future, he asserted, but predicted that “some restrictions may be required during the period of mobilization.”

Mr. Mackenzie foresaw that “the controls of industry may have to be kept in force until the new economy, reborn under new inspiration, is in full sway.”

Predicting that a plan of reconstruction for Canada “must be co-ordinated with the plans that must be made in the United States and in other portions of the Empire.” He named the following as some of the problems under consideration:

“The reasonable mobility of labor; the reorganization of Canadian agriculture on secure standards—to return a secure living for the farmer and his family; the planning of timed public works that can be initiated at the close of the war so that they may absorb a small amount of skilled and much unskilled labor; the development of Canadian export industries that can employ Canadian labor in Canada by supplying goods to overseas markets.

Pointing to development of our great natural resources, and progressive development of highways to “link us closer together in the Dominion and to link our great centres of scenic beauty closer to the travellers who come from friendly lands,” Mr. Mackenzie asserted that there must be:

“Above all and transcending all, the development of a great national scheme of social security, by which the masses of our people shall never again know those fears that come from insecurity and poverty and want and distress.”

“Never again, I hope and pray,” said Mr. Mackenzie, “shall you and I know the Canada that we knew before this war broke upon us: when unemployment and relief and distress and hunger and poverty and want were rampant in the richest country in all the world. The new day, the new order, the new plan, must bring, will bring, a remedy for all that.”

He declared that if old dogmas and old doctrines, old philosophies of government cannot solve the problem, then we must look to newer remedies and newer faiths. The heart of the world that is to come will be determined upon a complete solution of a problem that has baffled the statesmen of former years.

Looking to the world at large, the speaker asserted that peace must be based on collective security which rests upon “collective force and collective preparedness, and not upon collective idealism. There must be actual, practical sanctions, contributed by all.”

Democracy must be nurtured and strengthened, and “even the standard of living that is precarious in some nations, should be universalized and maintained by a real League of Nations which will be the guardian of the liberties and comforts of mankind.”

“I believe,” he declared, “that after the agony and the anguish of these tragic days have passed . . . the finest days in all the world will lie ahead; that those days will see the greatest rallying in the history of the world of the children of the city of man to the cause and inspiration of the city of God.”

He believed, too, that we shall conclusively “win this war upon which we have engaged as crusaders of Christianity.”

Mr. Mackenzie stated his belief that the masses of the people themselves are giving tremendous thought to fundamental principles, and that peace will not be decided by a “junta or a cabal or any clique of rulers.” It will be a peace dictated by the people themselves, he asserted, and post-war problems will be solved by the will of the masses of the people.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR

CANADA

Your Government desires to avoid the vicious spiral of inflation. To do so it is curbing price increases; rents are controlled; profits are restricted and highly taxed. But this is not enough.

The effect of these controls would be offset if no control were placed on basic wages. The unregulated race between wages and cost of living would produce an inflation harmful to all Canadians—except the profiteer—while it lasted, and disastrous in its aftermath.

In place of any increase in basic wage rates, which would thereby increase prices and which workers are asked to forego, your Government has provided by Order in Council 7440 that a cost of living bonus be paid to protect the workers against price increases in basic necessities.

This bonus is not a wage increase. It rises and falls automatically with living costs. It provides 25 cents per week for each rise of one point in the cost of living except where juvenile or female workers earn less than 50 cents per hour in which event they receive 1 per cent. of their basic wage rate.

This order has the following advantages:

- 1—In relating bonuses to cost of living it checks the race between wages and prices.
- 2—Being on a flat rate basis it favours the lower paid workers.
- 3—It enables both employer and employee to determine the amount of the bonus payable. It so removes one cause of labour friction. It makes for industrial stability in this time of war.
- 4—It is the fairest possible plan for the worker, the employer and the taxpayer that has yet been devised.

As this order is applied and both employers and employees observe it, in the spirit and in the letter its beneficial effects will become increasingly apparent. It will, too, contribute to an ever increasing production of the tools of war.

MUSEUM IS CLOSED UP

1500 could be accommodated during the 1940 season and many groups of tourists seeking admission had to be turned away.

This season the Museum has been shown to small groups by private arrangement on one or two occasions. One purpose of the Board's meeting this week was to consider a special request received air-mail from the conductress of "The Morningside Tours" of Sioux City, Iowa. Special arrangements were desired for transportation of a party of thirty-two direct from the boat to the Museum where the presence of Rev. W. H. Pierce was particularly requested for delivery of his interesting and instructive discourse on the Indian and other exhibits. The party then desired a tour of the city. This request is typical of many similar requests that come to the attention of the Board, illustrating the part the Museum frequently could play in heightening the tourists' impressions of Prince Rupert during their stop-over in this city. The Board at its meeting decided to accede to this request by accommodating the above-mentioned party in two separate groups. Mr. Pierce has promised his attendance, and the world-famous Cunningham Collection of carved slate totems, which has not yet been displayed this year, is being brought from the vault for the occasion. The Board has also taken active steps towards securing safer, more suitable, ground-floor quarters which it hopes can be made available.

Except for assistance in housing facilities, the Museum of orthern British Columbia is practically self-supporting in its efforts to preserve and exhibit the historical and educational features of this part of our province.

Vancouver Girl Has Duke To Tea

LONDON, July 12: (CP)—Miss Aileen Gregory of Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver, has had many thrills in her mobile canteen during heavy air raids but she had a thrill of a different kind when the Duke of Kent asked her for a cup of tea.

The Duke, as chief welfare officer of the Fighter Command, R. A. F., was visiting Y. W. C. A. headquarters in London to thank workers for providing mobile canteens at isolated airdromes throughout the country.

He stopped for tea at Miss Gregory's canteen and gazed at the pile of chocolate bars on the rack. The canteen was sent by the inhabitants of Attleborough, Mass., to the people of Attleborough, England.

Famous Cronin Mine Likely To Be Opened Soon

SMITHERS, July 12.— With the increase in prices of lead and zinc renewed interest in mining properties carrying these minerals is beginning to show itself.

Probably one of the best properties in Northern British Columbia in this respect is the well known Cronin mine in the Babine Mountains about 20 miles from Smithers. Years ago the late Mr. Cronin did extensive development work on this property where many thousands of dollars were spent and thousands of feet of tunnel work done which proved the property contained large bodies of ore. It was practically a developed mine many years ago but with the death of Mr. Cronin nothing further was done with it.

This week, Mr. Thies of Spokane, Wash., who was an original partner with Mr. Cronin in the property and has kept the property in good standing throughout the years, arrived in Smithers along with a party of eight others, travelling in two cars. He had planned to go into the matter of arranging for the opening of the mine but was called back to Spokane and left in a hurry when he had only been here two days. According to conversations with local people he expects to have capital provided to open the property and put it on a working basis as there is already about 3000 tons of good ore on the dump which could be shipped immediately.

It is to be hoped that it may get going shortly in a big way.

Daring Salvage Undertaking Making Progress—Salmon Pack For First Week of Season—Halibut Landings Moving Up

Carrying out one of the most hazardous and colorful salvage feats that has been attempted on the British Columbia coast, a picturesque outfit of the Armour Salvage Co.—with the submerged hulk of the United States Army transport Kvichak—passed Butedale yesterday enroute from Sisters Island, just north of Milbank Sound, where the Kvichak stranded and sank some months ago, enroute to dry dock at Prince Rupert. Buoyed up by cables suspended from four large scows, the Kvichak is riding some thirty-five feet below the surface of the water and is being towed by three tugboats. The outfit is moving along at a rate of about two knots per hour and is expected to be in Prince Rupert, if all goes well, by Monday next. Butedale is about eighty miles down the coast from Prince Rupert. On arrival at Prince Rupert, the Kvichak will be taken out on the dry dock and cargo which is still in her holds removed before repair is undertaken. The cargo consists of material which was being delivered at the time of stranding from Seattle to defence bases which the United States government is establishing in Alaska.

The sockeye salmon pack on the Skeena River for the first week of the 1941 season amounted to 3,774 cases as compared with 12,667 cases last year, 12,667 cases in 1939 and 3,860 cases in 1938 according to official figures of the fisheries department. For the Naas River the pack of sockeye amounted to 1,892 cases as compared with 1,432 in 1940, 4,249 cases in 1939 and 2nd 2,024 cases in 1938. The sockeye pack for the coast during the opening week of the season was 21,580 cases compared with 31,736 cases in 1940, 35,131 cases in 1939 and 18,622 cases in 1938. Including lesser quantities of cohoes, the total pack for the 1941 season on the coast so far this year has been 61,597 cases as compared with 53,106 cases a year ago. The Skeena River pack has been 14,334 cases against 17,730 cases.

Having been delayed by handling heavy freights for waypoints, including the Skeena River canneries, Union steamer Cardena Capt. John Boden arrived in port at 6:30 this morning from the south and sailed later in the morning on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil MacLean, returned to port at 9:30 this morning from Stewart and will sail at 5 o'clock for Vancouver.

Halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the 1941 season up to and including yesterday had reached a total of 8,801,500 pounds as compared with 10,416,119 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The American total for this season is 5,224,400 pounds in comparison with 6,059,100 pounds and the Canadian 3,806,100 pounds as against 4,537,019 pounds. During the past week the landings amounted to 273,000 pounds including 253,500 pounds American fish and 19,500 pounds Canadian. High price of the week for American fish was 12.7c and 11c paid the Pacific for 40,000 pounds and the low 11.9c and 11c received by the Explorer for 36,000 pounds. For Canadian fish the top price of the week was 12.1c and 10.2c which the Sea Maid received for 15,000 pounds and the low 11.7c and 9c paid the Cape Race II. for 4,500 pounds.

C.P.R. Steamer Princess Alice, Capt. John Williams, arrives in port this afternoon at 4:30 from Skagway.

Miss Phyllis Hill-Tout has been appointed to the position of secretary-stenographer at the Prince Rupert Fisheries Station it is announced. Miss Hill-Tout succeeds the former Miss Edna Gillies, now Mrs. Harry Gordon-Finlay, officially joining the staff on July 15.

Commander Geoffrey Borrie, for almost two years naval officer in charge at Prince Rupert, has been transferred to Vancouver in a similar capacity, succeeding Commander B. L. Johnson D. S. O. who is going to Ottawa. Commander A. H. Reed, former harbor master at Vancouver, will succeed Commander Borrie at Prince Rupert.

Pioneers Picnic In Honor Of Dick Sargent

SMITHERS, July 12.— All roads led to Hazelton Thursday where all the old timers and some that are not so old gathered for the Pioneers' Picnic and to honor R. S. (Dick) Sargent who was celebrating 50 years residence in Hazelton. Smithers, Telkwa, Quick, Topley, Burns Lake, Vanderhoof and many other places were well represented when the people who travelled in that direction all reached the pioneer town which has been so well known as a Hudson Bay post and head of Skeena River navigation for so many years.

At no time in its long history has Hazelton had so many holiday-makers and it is a fine tribute to Dick Sargent that the prime reason of the gathering is to honor his long residence and good work in that community.

Mr. Sargent first came to Hazelton in the employ of the Hudson Bay Co. when he was only eighteen years of age. He later went into business for himself and has continued that way for forty years.

Besides his store in Hazelton he also established stores in Smithers and in Telkwa. The Smithers store was closed up about eight years ago but the Telkwa store is still in operation under the management of Mr. Phillips. Mr. Sargent also owns the Hazelton Hotel and has many other interests in the district.

The host of friends who met with him today in Hazelton and many others who were not fortunate enough to be there wish him long life and happiness for the future years.

revolves about Chad, portrayed by Henry Fonda, and another runaway, Linda Darnell, who goes on to become one of the show's leading performers. When the exciting, gorgeous Albany Yates, played by Dorothy Lamour, rides into Chad's simple, country boy world, he is dazzled by her sultry allure.

Once again Sidney Toler portrays Charlie Chan in "The Wax Museum." An unusually fine cast of carefully selected players gives able support to Toler. Sen Yung, as Chan's college boy-detective son, heads the list which includes C. Henry Gordon, Marc Lawrence, Joan Valerie, Marguerite Chapman and Ted Osborn. The action of Chan's latest mystery is set in the eerie background of a wax crime museum. Among these ghastly figures of executed criminals, Chan stalks a killer who strikes at him four times in eighteen spine-tingling minutes, before Chan untangles the mystery in a surprising and thrill-packed climax.
