PREMIER JOHN METAXAS, STRONG MAN OF GREECE, DEAD BUT WAR GOES ON

Fighting Head of Hellenese Government Succumbs Following Operation—Was Given Credit for Success of Campaign

ATHENS, January 29.—Premier General John Metaxas, soldier, military genius and strong man of Greece, is dead at the age of sixty-nine years. He underwent a throat operation last Saturday from which, in spite of blood transfusions, he failed to rally satisfactorily. Supreme commander of the Greek army, navy and air force, Metaxas was given credit for the success of the Greek campaign against Italy in the war which is now centred in Albania. It was he who saw the possibility of an Italian invasion of Greece following the Fascist rape of Albania and made preparations to resist it. King George II. has called upon the former President of the Greek National Bank, Alexander Koritsis, to form a new administration to carry on the war uninterrupted. Koritsis, in accepting office, expressed determination to carry on the policies of Metaxas.

A cheery little man with the physical attributes of Napoleon Bonaparte and, his opponents said, with similar ambitions, John Metaxas took dictatorial control of Greece on August 4, 1936. He had mixed army-political brew in the ancient nation for more than 40 years. His intimates called him "Jannaki," or "Little John."

Trained as a soldier and an acknowledged military genius, he was a confirmed royalist, the chief hope of the House of Glucksburg through 20 years of abdications and restorations. Later he modified his views sufficiently to make himself persona grata to the constitutionalist monarchists and rode to power with them when George II. resumed the Greek throne in October, 1935.

Then death in quick succession took Eleutherios Venizelos, his arch political foe and two of his colleagues in the new government, leaving him without a rival for the position of "strong man."

Social unrest was threatening to break out in widespread strikes when the plump little prime minister stalked into King George's palace (Continued on Page Six)

The nineteen-year olds are called to register February 22. It may be many months before the eighteen-year-olds are called. No date is yet set for registration of the 37 to 40-year olds. LONDON, January 29.—British munitions and war supply factories reached a new high mark for volume of production during December in spite of air raids and it will be higher still in January, Rt. Hon. Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, announces. Notwithstanding that, the peak has not yet been reached. A whole army division can now be equipped within two weeks, something that it used to take months to do. Many more new factories are coming into production. Others will not be ready until 1942.

The drive to speed up production more and more is continuing. Women in increasing numbers are being taken into the war industries, to replace men who will engage in more active military pursuits.

THREE HAVE LOST LIVES

Tragedy Attends Wreck of United States Army Transport Down Coast

The United States Navy gunboat Charleston, enroute late yesterday afternoon to Ketchikan with 23 passengers and 24 members of the crew of the United States Army transport steamer Kvichak, which wrecked Monday night on Sister Rocks in Finlayson Channel, sent a radio message to the effect that three persons were believed lost in the grounding of the drawings is awaited by the authorities. The Charleston is due in Ketchikan today with the survivors who had reached the rocky shore safely from the Kvichak.

The coast-guard cutter Nemaha sent a radio message to Ketchikan yesterday afternoon stating that the Kvichak was still hard aground with water over the main decks and bulwarks. Thirteen members of the crew were remaining aboard the Kvichak. The cutter arrived at the scene of the wreck Tuesday morning and U.S.S. Charleston arrived later. The captain was among the thirteen seamen remaining on the battered ship.

The Charleston took the passengers from the beach where they had been landed to deliver them to Ketchikan. The Nemaha will remain at the scene until salvage starts.

Capt. W. P. Armour, manager of the Armour Salvage Co., flew north from Vancouver to the scene of the wreck late yesterday and today ordered derrick and other salvage equipment to be sent from here. The outfit is leaving this afternoon in tow of the power tug Daly with Capt. Oscar Sather in charge.

The Powell River tug St. Faith was heading for the wreck last night.

EDITORIAL

Canadian Industry . . .

Raymond Moley, writing in Newsweek, dilates on the effect of the the war upon Canadian industry and what this may mean when the war is over. He quotes from Stephen Leacock to show that war activity often set in motion the machinery for post-war activity. Canada today was manufacturing her own airplanes, including engines, and she would be able to do this after the war. She was also making tanks, building ships, sending abroad trucks and cars and increasing her ability to manufacture not only war materials but articles that the world would need when the war was over.

Mr. Beatty's Dream . . .

President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway for years had a dream of the two great railway systems being united. There were arguments in favor of it and against. Now it seems as if the dream may materialize. The British capital invested in the Canadian Pacific Railway will have to be liquidated if the liquidation has not already taken place. Britain needs all her money for the war effort. If the Canadian government is buying the British shares it will soon control the C.P.R. just as it controls the Canadian National. When they are both controlled by the same government it will be the easiest thing in the world to unite them. It will be done gradually but surely. It is just possible that the C.P.R. shares will be purchased by some person or corporation other than the government in which case the railway will remain an independent entity. Prince Rupert people generally will hope this is the case but it does not seem likely because C.P.R. shares are at present not paying dividends. If the railway is taken over by the Canadian government it will be paid for in war material.

The Democratic Method . . .

The delay of the United States Congress in passing the bills providing for loaning war supplies to Britain might be annoying were it not for the knowledge that already Britain is getting a tremendous amount of aid from that country and that the passing of the bill will not make much immediate change in that respect. The delay seems to be the price paid for democracy. The opposition has to be allowed to place its side before Congress, no matter whether we know it is inspired by the enemy or not. What really matters is that the administration has pledged from more than a majority of members of both houses that they will support the measure when it comes to a vote.

If you lose anything, advertise for it.

USK HAS WEDDING

Miss Dorothy Stewart Becomes Bride of Constable R. E. Munkley

On Saturday last the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frederickson at Usk was the setting for the nuptials of Miss Dorothy Bellinda Stewart, daughter of the late Fred Stewart and Mrs. Roy Frederickson of Usk, and Constable Edgar Munkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Munkley of Victoria.

For the ceremony, which was performed by Father Fabre, the home was decorated with pink and white streamers and swags. The bride chose a dress of white tulle with a full net skirt and with matching bolero. Her head-dress was a full, trailing veil, embroidered, and with a band of lilies-of-the-valley. Elbow net gloves and a black and gold locket completed the ensemble. The bride's bouquet was composed of pink and white roses and fern.

Miss Peggy MacDonnell of Smithers attended as bridesmaid, and wore a dress of pink net, with a full skirt, and the dress cut with sweetheart neckline. Her hair was blow-dried and had a veil bow at the back. Pink and pink net gloves were accessories and her bouquet was of pink and white carnations with fern.

For the occasion Mrs. Frederickson, mother of the bride, chose a gown of mist crepe with pleated skirt. Her corsage bouquet included carnations and fern.

Frank Gaskin was groomsman and James Stewart, brother of the bride, acted as Usher.

Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the bride's home. The bride's table was decorated with pink carnations and roses and centered with the three tiered cake.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Frank Gaskin and responded to by Arthur Stewart, uncle of the bride.

Later in the evening a dance was given at Lee's Hall in honor of the happy couple.

Following this the bridal party returned to Terrace where they will make their home on Park Avenue.

Constable Munkley has been stationed at Terrace for about a year. He is popular and respected for his strict attention to his duties. Miss Stewart has grown up from childhood in Usk. She is a popular member of the younger set at that place.

KITWANGA CRUSADES

Visits of Church Army Groups Between Kitwanga and Kitwancool Are Exchanged

KITWANGA, Jan. 26.—The Church Army at Kitwanga and Kitwancool have been exchanging crusade visits and the visits have been successful and enthusiastic, accomplishing the objects of strength and uplift in these war days when faith is sorely tried. Making the trip from Kitwanga to Kitwancool were Honorary Captain Henry Williams and Paul Benson, Captain Solomon Bryant, Field Captain Fred Johnson, Lay Readers, James Ryan and M. E. Bright and others.

The Kitwancool crusades, in addition to spending two days in Kitwanga, also visited Kitwanool. They were given a splendid welcome by the Kitwanga people. The chiefs gave a welcome in the Church Army Hall where the meetings were held and there was also a banquet in the Community Hall. The programs were arranged by Harold D. Sittler and the speakers were Chief Marjorie Bright, Chief George De-wel-Lasqu, Chief Henry Leth, Chief Wallace Morgan, Chief Charles Smith, Chief Joseph Williams and Chief Paul Benson.

The Kitwanga-Kitwanool crusades followed visits to Kitwanga by Henry George Leighton and Captain Henry Prewett of the Salvation Army from Metlakatla and George Stewart, pastor of the Pentecostal Assembly at Kitwanool. Both these visitors were accorded much hospitality here and there were special meetings, banquets and entertainments. Leighton and Prewett returned to Metlakatla while Stewart proceeded to the upper Skeena. Kitwanga people are already making their plans for observance of the Easter season.

Man in the Moon

That was some gale we had on Sunday. Reminds me of the old days when sidewalks were turned upside down and roofs stripped bare.

Jake says he intended to buy a home for himself but what's the use if it's going to be blown away?

They tell me buying a house is the beginning of trouble. No sooner do you get the house than some glamorous girl wants to share it with you and then other troubles follow.

Mussolini was right after all. When Italy entered the war Il Duce assured Greece that that country had nothing to fear from him. Evidently she did not.

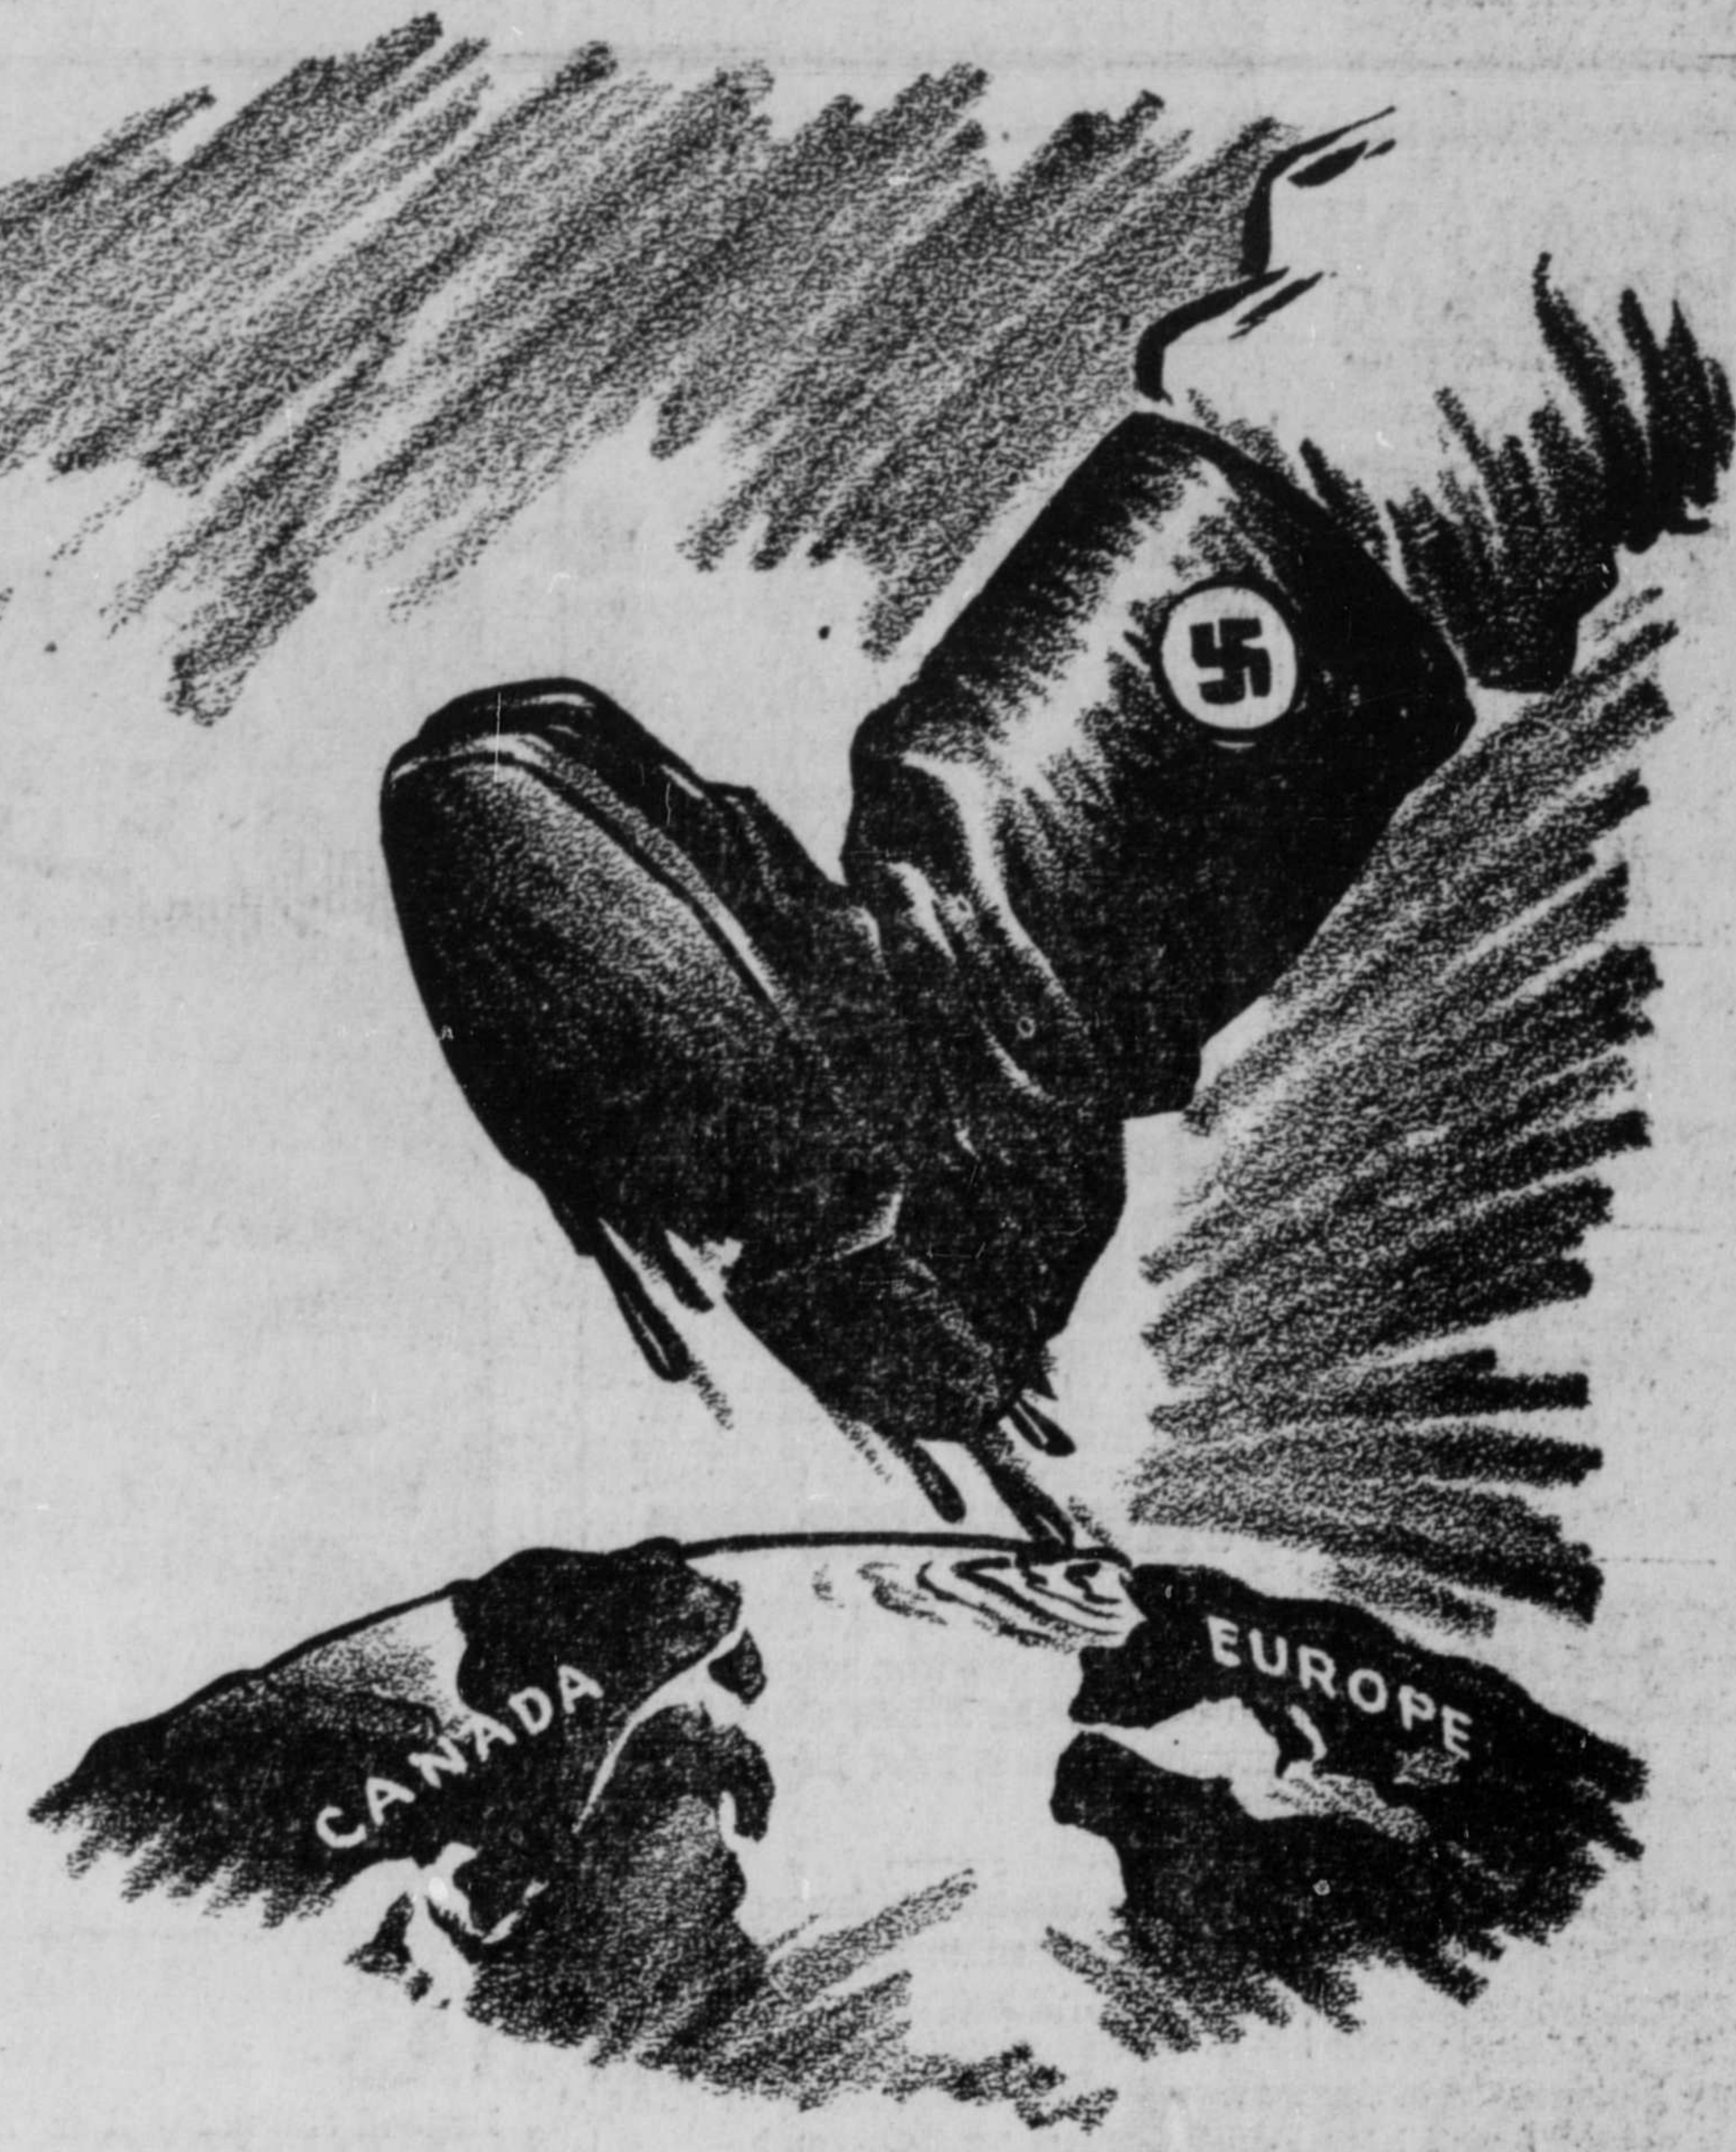

Haile Selassie, chosen of God, Lion of Judah, Emperor of Ethiopia, black as the ace of spades, is back in his own country after resting in England for a number of years and again cultivating the lionine attributes. He may yet spring on the invaders and rend them asunder.

"Preparedness through production" is a recent slogan in United States. "Preparedness by lending" will probably be the next.

No Jake, you dare not say a word about the price of mutton. First thing we know the editor will get another letter about "Pity the Poor Farmer." Yet I sympathize with you at having to pay thirty cents a pound. I don't. I eat weiners instead.

Buy a war saving certificate, buy a bond, donate to the Red Cross, give to the United Services, pay your taxes. Oh well! The war can't last very long.

WHAT IS IT COSTING to keep the Nazi heel out of Canada ?

"History will record many strange and mighty events of this year. Among the strangest will be this: That Canada—numerically a small nation of a dozen million souls in North America—suddenly found herself occupying a strategic position of supreme importance in a conflict that would deeply affect the whole of mankind."

"Canada abruptly became almost the keystone upon which depended the whole arch of democracy and freedom throughout the whole world." —SIR NORMAN ANGELL

What are we doing to keep the Nazi Heel out of Canada?

We are marshalling every resource in manpower, material and money. Huge new plants to make war equipment are under construction and others are projected. In all existing plants, production has been stepped up to the limits of efficiency. 1941 will see vast expansion in our war effort.

What is this effort costing the people of Canada?

The cost of Canada's war effort is running at the rate of over One Billion Dollars per year and will steadily increase. We must remember that Canada's contribution to victory is planned deliberately and definitely on the basis of the maximum war effort of which Canada is capable.

What about our Army?

We now have more than 165,000 men on Active Service and thousands of others in training.

What about our Air Force?

A year ago the R.C.A.F. had a personnel of 4,500. Now it has more than 35,000, without counting the thousands from overseas who are training under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

What about the Air Training Plan?

There are already over 50 flying fields and schools in operation. There will be 83 by September, 1941. The Air Training Plan over three years will cost $600,000,000, of which Canada's share will be $350,000,000.

What about the Navy?

When war was declared, Canada had 15 fighting vessels. Today we have 180 of various types. Within a year, another 150 will be added to strengthen and enlarge the Empire's life-line through which flows the ever-growing supply of vital war material. The ship construction programme is costing $80,000,000 and is giving employment now, to 17,000 men.

What about Motorized Equipment?

Canada leads in the production of motorized military equipment. This industry has been geared up to a production capacity of about 600 units per day of the various types of automotive equipment necessary for mechanized warfare. Contracts awarded for motorized equipment total $127,000,000.

What are we doing about Munitions?

The construction and financing of new plants in Canada on behalf of the Canadian and British governments for the manufacture of tanks, planes, guns, explosives, shells, and other war equipment is costing over $280,000,000; including $87,000,000 for chemical and explosive plants, $31,000,000 for shell plants, and $96,000,000 for armament plants.

How do Canadians provide this money for our War Effort?

They contribute through taxes of various kinds . . . they subscribe to War Loans . . . they purchase War Savings Certificates regularly. We all are in the "financial forces" —ours is the responsibility of seeing to it that our fighting forces have the adequate and vital supplies and equipment to bring about victory.

Must Canadians be prepared to sacrifice?

Yes. The Prime Minister stated in his New Year's message that the task in 1941 "is going to demand more effort and more sacrifice".

No one need go without necessities, but you are urged to forego the purchase of unnecessary articles—no matter how small the cost—no matter how well you are able to pay for them—which take labour and material away from the great task of providing goods needed to win the war.

How can you help Canada's War Effort?

Be sure to make provision to pay your Income Tax—payment is made easier by the new instalment plan. But be prepared to do more—budget your earnings to make sure that you will have money available to buy War Savings Certificates and to subscribe for War Loan Bonds. You will help Canada—you will help yourself.

Past President G. A. Hunter was in the chair in the absence of the president, W. F. ... and there was a fair attendance of members with a few guests.

ARE YOU THERE?

Instead of the familiar "hello," the British say "are you there?" when they talk on the telephone. The phrase has a new significance since the battle of Britain began, for many a home that is there in the evening is not there in the morning. This phrase is calling from the telephone booth outside a bombed hospital and is obviously delighted to hear a voice from the other end announce that her party is there.

COST OF CLOTHES

Detail of Annual Budget Figured Out By Uncle Sam's Officials

By SIGRID ARNE

Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 29: (AP)—It takes an average of $224 a year to clothe the professional woman. And when you get into the individual prices paid for garments, she turns up more of a Cinderella than the office siren about whom all the triangle thrillers have been written.

The $224 is not an ideal clothes budget worked out by some flint-eyed economist. It's what 200 professional women actually spent on their clothes during 1939.

The group agreed to jot down every penny they spent, from fur coats to shoe shines and sent the results to the Bureau of Home Economics.

What she buys:

	Average Price	Average No. Bought
Dresses	$ 8.95	6.2
Slips	1.93	2.3
Corsets, girdles	4.63	1.5
Brasieres	1.18	1.1
Negligees	3.56	.5
Nightgowns	1.95	1.4
Hose	.91	17.4
Shoes	6.16	4.1
Coats and wraps	26.96	1.0
Purses	2.15	2.0
Gloves	1.75	2.0
Hats	3.98	3.5

The budget showed up some oddities. There's a great difference among women in their desire for clothes. In the group one woman spent only $43 during the year. Another shot the works with $710.

Several got along on one new dress, even though they were out "meeting the public" every day and had to keep up an appearance. One woman somehow corralled 19 new dresses.

These women all live in cities of 100,000 or less. They are scattered through most of the states and their annual paychecks range from $1,183 to $5,600.

Some Live Alone

They live in boarding houses, in apartments with friends, or by themselves. A small number live alone and there's evidence that they like it. As salaries go up, a greater number set up their own solo households.

Only a fifth of the group spend anything for rubbers or galoshes. And if you'll look at the figures you'll see that fancy underwear apparently has become a gift item. The career girls also spent smallish sums for slips and nighties and such.

Hose and shoes, however, take a big nick out of the weekly pay envelope. Hose seemed to last three weeks the pair. Shoes lasted about three months.

Contrary to man's usual belief hats don't seem to be the answer to a blue mood. Hats actually cost less than hose in these working women's budgets. They spent an average of $13 yearly for hats, and an average of $15 for hose. Maybe the answer lies in the beauty parlor. The ladies spent an average $20 for shampoos, waves and cosmetics, to round out their budgets. Comparatively, the doctor's bill, including health and accident insurance, came to only $58.

SMITHERS

After a short and snappy cold spell of two or three days this district was favored with a chinook wind which brought the temperature up in a hurry from about 20 degrees below to 40 degrees above. A short spell of rain took away much of the snow and has again left the streets and country roads in an icy and very slippery condition.

On Sunday several business men of Smithers made a trip to the Hunter Basin mine to have a look at the operations there. During the day the wind was blowing very hard which resulted in the road becoming so badly drifted that they were unable to return and they did not get back until Monday night.

Danny Palumbo and Billy Gyer of Smithers, who are now members of the Canadian Scottish Battalion in Victoria, are home on furlough and are visiting their friends and relatives in the valley. They are both very much taken with army life and both show the beneficial effects of their training.

Among the patients in Smithers hospital are T. A. McMartin, manager of Watson's Store Ltd., and Billy Price of Walcott, both of whom are pneumonia victims and doing as well as possible.

Monday morning found some of the roads blocked with drifts but it had become milder and the snow turned to rain. The colder thermometer reading was on Friday night when the mercury dipped to 3 above zero.

CURLING CUP AT SMITHERS

Fine Trophy Has Been Put Up by Home Oil Distributors

SMITHERS, January 29—A fine gold plated cup donated by the Home Oil Distributors Ltd. of Vancouver, as a challenge cup for competition by the Ladies' Curling Club of Smithers, has just arrived from Vancouver and is on display in the office window of L. H. Kenney. The cup is mounted on a pedestal which will carry shields bearing the names of the winning rink each year. It is suitably inscribed with a curling stone and crossed brooms and the name of the donors and it is being much admired by local curling enthusiasts but more especially by the lady curlers.

A schedule of games will be arranged immediately and play will be started without delay to decide the first winner of this trophy.

SPORT CHAT

English cricket lost one of its best known players when Pilot Officer G. G. Macaulay was killed on active service. Macaulay, who was 44, was one of England's greatest bowlers and during his 16 years with the Yorkshire County team took 1,773 wickets at an average cost of 17.08 runs. He played for England in test matches on several occasions.

Cambridge and Oxford are planning to renew boat race rivalry next spring. Oxford's challenge for a "race was accepted and Cambridge, who won last year by five lengths, will hold four practices weekly. The race probably will be held in March over a short course at Henley. No blues will be awarded and the result won't go into the official records.

The second Great War may kill England's $2,225,000-a-year sport of fox hunting. Most of the famous hunts are at a standstill, horses have been sold, stables closed and in some districts farmers have been encouraged to shoot the foxes. The sport has been losing ground since 1930, chiefly because people haven't had the money to go hunting, and people in the know say they don't think it will ever come back, at least not on the old-time scale.

Scotland is still attracting big crowds to its football games, despite blitzkrieg and blackouts further south. Twenty thousand turned out for a match between English and Scottish army teams. The English soldiers won 4-1. Glasgow Rangers, incidentally, after going through 15 Scottish League games without defeat, finally bowed 1-0 to Hibernians.

PREMIER JOHN METAXAS DEAD BUT WILL GOES ON

was summed up the situation in the phrase "growing communist agitation" and received the single vote to declare martial law dissolve parliament and use the money for imperialist activities in open and hidden.

Premier for Life
"Little John got things done," the king explained as he left the throne to George Alexandros summer last.

On July 21, 1928, Metaxas was proclaimed "premier for life" and so he turned out to be.

Metaxas was born in Cephalonia in 1871, a member of an ancient family which in Venetian times received the title of count and played frequent parts in mediterranean trading houses. He had five years of study in the Greek military college before he entered the army and he was a captain of engineers in the disastrous 1917 war with Turkey which followed Greece's attempt to occupy Crete.

That experience convinced Capt.
Metaxas he needed further training. He enrolled in the military academy at Berlin. There he acquired the nickname "Little Hitler," because of the excellent record he made. He used his new knowledge to good effect as assistant chief of staff in the Balkan wars of 1913 and 1919.

In World War days he was chief of staff but opposed Greek entry into the conflict on the side of the allies and when that eventuated in 1918 was accused by the French of being irregular against them in Macedonia. He fled to Corfu.

Meanwhile King Constantine had been forced to abdicate in favor of his son Alexander, but when the latter died in 1920 from the effects of a fall by a pet monkey, Constantine resumed the throne and called his favorite general back to Greece.

Faction on His Best Metaxas opposed the 1922 campaign in Syria which resulted in complete defeat by the Turks and the second ousting of Constantine.
But upon Constantine's death in 1924 he headed a royalist counter-revolt. It was quashed promptly and Metaxas fled again, this time in a flitting aircraft to Italy.

George II, successor of Constantine, was forced off the throne in December, 1924. A few months later Metaxas came back to Greece with more moderate monarchial ideas and won a seat in Parliament.
With formation of the Greek republic in 1925 he joined other royalists in a steady opposition to Venizelos' liberalism. After seven years the constitution in 1932 was revised and Parliament and formed a coalition cabinet with "Little John" as minister of the interior.

The coup of October, 1935, headed by Gen. George Kondylis, brought King George back to the throne.
Constantine Demerytis was made Premier with Metaxas as vice-president of the council of state. Kon-dylis died suddenly January 21, 1936. Demerytis succumbed to apoplexy on April 13 and Metaxas was named head of the government on April 23. A day more than three months later he became dictator.

"When Life Falls In" Is Subject

Faith, Courage and Hope of Christianity Are Praised

At the First United Church on Sunday evening Rev. J. C. Jackson spoke on "What are we to do when life tumbles in on us?" Mr. Jackson referred to the many ways in which life tumbled in on people. It might be unemployment, financial depression, economic distress, bereavement or disease. It might be the result of loneliness, of doubt or sin. The man would advise to grin and bear it. The epicurean would advise to forget about it, the Christian Scientist to deny it and the psychologist to sublimate it. The Psalms said to "return unto thy rest."

"Thy rest" meant the lasting values of faith, courage, hope, the eternal security of the faith of Christianity. These had been proven by the Psalmist, the Christian in all ages and in all conditions of suffering and warfare, by Christ Himself in the Crucifixion. They would prove more than sufficient for the needs of today.

Special musical numbers included a delightful solo, "The Poor Man's Garden" (Kennedy Russell) by Mrs.
R. E. Cherry and an anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord" (Dr. J. V. Roberts) with J. E. Wilson the soloist.

THIRD OF DUCE'S GENERALS FROM LIRA ARRIVE IN CAIRO

Three Italian generals with their staffs, were among the first Italian officers to be taken prisoner in the early stages of the war on the African front. They were captured by the British at Sidi Barrani. The generals are Pizzardi, Muzari and Gallina. They were immediately flown to Cairo to be interned at officers' prison camp, there. The generals are shown surrounded by British officers upon their arrival at Cairo.

Have you still got a "horse and buggy" in your kitchen?

Just as the automobile is far ahead of the old horse and buggy for travelling so is the modern Electric Range far ahead of the old wood-burner for cooking.

Electric cooking is the up-to-date way. It's clean, fast, safe and cheap. And it's beautiful, too, because meats and vegetables cooked electrically retain all their natural minerals and juices. Don't go another week without the advantages of electric cooking. We will install a new Electric Range in your kitchen for a nominal down payment and you pay the balance on easy terms as you enjoy the use of the range.
