FINAL TRY FOR PEACE

Japan Girding Herself For War Even As Negotiations With United States Proceed

LITTLE HOPE HELD
WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 28:—The United States government, it was learned today, has ruled out any possibility of compromise with Japan on the Chinese issue and has raised the possibility that American merchant ships in the Pacific may be armed. While it was learned on the highest authority that negotiations, looking toward peace in the Pacific and Far East had not broken down, the United States views the present situation as being extremely serious. Reports of unabated Japanese military activity near the Thailand border have caused concern.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 28:—President Franklin D. Roosevelt had a forty-five minute conference yesterday afternoon with Kichisaburo Nomura, Japanese ambassador to the United States, and Saburo Kurusu, special negotiator, in a final attempt to preserve peace in the Pacific. Neither White House officials nor the Japanese officials had anything to say following the conference apart from the comment that any further negotiations would depend on instructions from Tokyo.

Even while the negotiations were going on here, Washington heard that the Japanese were pouring huge military forces and war equipment into French Indo-China possibly, it was thought, as a prelude to invasion of Thailand. A dispatch from Bangkok said that the Japanese minister to Thailand had been received by the Premier of Thailand in an interview which lasted more than an hour.

The gravity of the situation in the Far East was further indicated by the suggestion of the United States government that, in addition to Shanghai, Americans should immediately evacuate Peiping, Nanking and Hong Kong. British subjects have been similarly advised to evacuate with all speed.

HIS DEATH IS SUDDEN

John A. Hinton, Business Man of Long Standing Here, Passes Away.

John A. Hinton, well known local business man who for years had been engaged in the electrical goods and general equipment line here, passed away suddenly at his home on Second Avenue at 10 o'clock last night as a result of a heart attack. News of his death came as a great shock to his numerous friends.

Born at Hintonburg, Ottawa, sixty-eight years ago, the late Mr. Hinton moved west as a young man to Victoria. At the outbreak of the First Great War he enlisted and was overseas for the duration. Returning to Canada, he went into business at Prince Rupert and had been here ever since. Besides his widow, deceased is survived by one son, Lyman H. Hinton, British Columbia land surveyor, who is serving overseas with the First Canadian Survey Unit, a branch of artillery. There is one brother, W. P. Hinton, a former high-ranking official of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, who is now in retirement. The bereaved will have the deep sympathy of many friends.

Mr. Hinton was a member of the Anglican Church and of the Canadian Legion.

Burial arrangements are in the hands of the B. C. Undertakers.

Mrs. Friesen is the former Miss Ruth Scherk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Scherk, pioneer residents of the city. The triplets are firstborn.

United States Becoming More Pro-British Than Formerly; Canada Is Extremely Active

Col. Nicholls Tells of Observations Made During Recent Month's Business Tour of Continent.

During four weeks spent in the United States in the course of a recent tour of agencies of his company, Col. J. W. Nicholls, general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company Ltd., made extensive observations among the people and in the newspapers and found that a great change had come over the country since the previous year. Whereas on the previous trip the people of the United States were very lukewarm over the war, on this trip there was very considerable enthusiasm not only in the matter of supplies but also a keenness for the country taking a more active part in the war. Col. Nicholls disclosed this in speaking before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday.

Half Round World For War's Escape

Caught In Finland In 1940 French Woman Artist At Last Reached Britain

LONDON, Nov. 28:—Gwen le Gallienne, daughter of the French poet, Richard le Gallienne, who went to Finland as a war artist in 1940, has reached Britain after a roundabout journey to South America.

The artist, who said she was the only woman to accompany Finnish troops to Petsamo, fled the northern outpost when a rumor spread that the town was being surrounded during the Russian-Finnish war. Hospitable Lapos sheltered her and later she reached Helsinki and Stockholm by hitch-hiking and reindeer transport.

She failed to get a permit to cross Russia, so stowed away in a Finnish boat heading for South America. A German boarding party examined the cargo off Sweden but failed to discover the artist. At Panama she took a United States ship to New York and then booked passage to England on a Norwegian vessel.

Junction Between Tobruk and Rezegh Is Consolidated With General Sir Alan Cunningham Concentrating Attack There at Moment.

CAIRO, Nov. 28: (CP)—British Tobruk and Rezegh forces, consolidating their junction today, trapped a large Axis force to the east which immediately began attempting to battle their way out, a British spokesman announced here. Practically an entire Italian Bologna division was wiped out in action. Bitter fighting was in progress today as an Axis column, which darted into Egypt two days ago as a diversion, tried to get back to the main Axis forces but was headed for a British wall. British forces were also pushing westward from Tobruk farther along the Mediterranean coast heading for the strong Axis centres of Gazala and Derna. Lieut. General Sir Alan Cunningham appeared to be concentrating for the moment, however, on big Axis armies locked east of Tobruk.

Three enemy planes were brought down.

A large scale aerial attack on Dusseldorf was announced today by the British Air Ministry which said railways and industrial districts were heavily bombed.

DAILY EDITION FRIDAY, NOV. 28, 1941

Interesting Message . . .

The journal of the society issued every second month in restricted form quotes from two leading imperialists, General Wavell:

"In considering the profits and losses of the military balance-sheet of the past year, while we are not yet in a position to declare a large dividend, we can certainly show an improvement on the previous year's accounts. The enemy is growing weaker and from arrogant confidence has passed into restless anxiety that will turn to despair as his ruin approaches."

Mr. Mackenzie King, as the guest of the Lord Mayor of London, in a speech of far-reaching significance, reminded the world in general and the western world in particular that the war will be far longer, far harder and far more desperate if all free men in both hemispheres do not rally with every ounce of their resources and energy to the support of Britain while at the fullness of her strength.

Russia, by her devoted and unflinching resistance to German aggression, is providing the opportunity for showing in the balance-sheet of the third year an even more decisive improvement. And that improvement should be enormously strengthened by Mr. Roosevelt's dynamic reaction to the "legal and moral piracy" of German methods.

Unity Means Strength . . .

Evidently the fact that war with United States means war with the British Empire as well as with China and probably also Russia and Dutch East Indies must have a restraining influence on Nippon in the conference that is taking place at Washington.

It is evident that Japan is making a similar mistake to that made by Germany when she went to war against most of the world in 1914. At that time Germany was commercially beating the world and already had almost attained world supremacy. Military supremacy was her aim. In a n attempt to attain that she failed at that time as she will fail again now.

Japan for many years had been capturing the markets of the world and there was no need for armed conflict in order to gain eventual supremacy. Her cheap labor was a weapon that it was difficult to fight in open competition with Europe or America. Spurred on by Germany she had great ambitions to rule Asia until displaced by a victorious Germany in Europe.

Now it is a case of be a good neighbor or fight and it is not at all certain that she is really prepared to fight. She has so far failed to win against China and her ability to win in sea warfare is not established.

The London Spirit . . .

The Royal Empire Society with headquarters in Northumberland Avenue, London, was one of the victims of Nazi raids and was put out of business for a short time. Instead of giving up, the members of the society cut their expenditures to almost nil and began raising money to restore the building. Soon it was ready to carry on, not in the old way but with restricted services and money for restoring the building is still coming in.

Banks Carry On . . .

The report of the Bank of Montreal, just issued, indicates that the Canadian banks are holding their own during this trying time and are lending to the body politic that stability that is most desirable. While other businesses may often feel jittery, the banks remain stable.

POLITICS, 1941, BROUGHT CHANGE WITH CLEAVAGES

Dominion-Provincial Disputes Marked Year—Conservatives Confer—C.C.F. Makes Gains at Provincial Polls.

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 28: (AP)—Clashes between the federal and provincial governments and a movement to reconstruct and invigorate the Conservative party are highlights of Canadian politics in 1941. The Dominion-provincial clash occurred early in the year when Ontario, British Columbia and Alberta successfully opposed the federal government's plan to adopt recommendations of the Royal Commission on Dominion-provincial relations which proposed an extensive re-alignment of constitutional powers as between the central parliament and the legislatures of the provinces. The Conservative revival came late in the year and culminated, so far as the present is concerned, in the draft of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen from the senate to lead the party in the House of Commons.

He has had a long career in the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish in the last war, served on several high staff appointments in the Canadian Corps and was finally severely wounded while commanding the Forty-Third Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg.

In charge of refreshments were Mrs. Sylvester and Mrs. Peter Rothery with Mrs. F. St. Amour, Mrs. James Forman and Mrs. Joseph Garon conducting the home cooking sale.

Raffles resulted as follows: $5.00 in cash, won by Mrs. A. Sylvester, ticket No. 200.

Set of towels, donated by Mrs. H. F. Glassey, won by Lorraine Besner, ticket No. 75.

Vanity set, donated by Mrs. J. L. MacLaren, won by Wong Mon, ticket No. 244.

Christmas fruit cake, donated by Robert Murray, won by Jim Gillis, ticket No. 111.

Dominion-Provincial Relations

The Dominion-provincial clash brought out anew the long-standing dispute between Premier Hepburn of Ontario and Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Mr. Hepburn joined with Premiers Aberhart of Alberta and Pattullo of British Columbia in opposing consideration of the constitutional and financial reforms laid before the Dominion-provincial conference last January in the recommendations of the royal commission's report. The conference broke up without accomplishing the objective for which it was called.

Later in the year the issues of the conference came up again when Finance Minister Ilsley presented his budget. The sharp increases in federal income and corporation tax were predicted on a request that the provinces withdraw from those fields of taxation for the duration of the war and accept a grant instead.

The royal commission's report recommended the withdrawal of the provinces from those tax fields as a permanent measure and as part of a general financial rearrangement. As the year ended conclusion of agreements with the provinces for the withdrawal was under way and it was expected all would agree.

The Ontario-Dominion clash, however, flared up anew over a proposal in the federal budget to increase tax on payments to non-resident holders of Canadian securities. Premier Hepburn objected to the tax insofar as it applied to interest on Ontario government securities and the Dominion yielded to his protest and made an exception.

Conservative Chairman

Appointment of Gordon Graydon (M.P. Peel) as national chairman of the Conservative party marked the start of a move to rebuild the party's organization. Mr. Graydon toured the greater part of the country during the summer consulting with Conservatives in the constituencies and preparing a report for the Dominion executive.

Hon. R. B. Hanson who was chosen temporary house leader after the 1940 election made known his desire to withdraw for reasons of health and a national Conservative conference was arranged for Ottawa in November to decide what to do about a new leader. The conference decided a party convention was not desirable under fluctuating war conditions and induced Mr. Meighen, despite his own reluctance, to accept the leadership.

The only Dominion cabinet change during the year was the appointment of Hon. Joseph Thorson, member for Selkirk, Manitoba, to the portfolio of National War Services. He succeeded Agriculture Minister Gardiner who organized the special war department while retaining his post as head of the department of agriculture.

Both Mr. King and Mr. Hanson made tours of western Canada during the summer. Mr. King inspected defence establishments and made a few speeches. Mr.

Hanson's primary objective was to consult leading Conservatives and other leaders of public opinion and he also made several speeches.

Provincial Elections
Two provincial elections in British Columbia and Nova Scotia were followed with interest in political circles. In both the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation registered new strength.

The Liberal government in Nova Scotia was returned to power by a safe majority but the British Columbia Liberal administration headed by Mr. Pattullo failed to secure a working majority while neither of the two opposition parties, Conservatives and C. C. F., secured as many seats as the Liberals.

A federal by-election in Edmonton East in June resulted in the return of the Liberal candidate.

Mrs. Cora S. Casselman who succeeded her husband, the late F. C. Casselman.

Two other vacancies in the Dominion house were caused by the deaths of Dr. Hermas Deslauriers (Lib. Montreal-St. Mary) in May and Arthur B. Damude (Lib. Welland) later but no immediate action was taken to bring about by-elections.

MILITANCY IN CLOTHES

Gay Jackets, Belted Coats of Many Materials Leave London Shops for Canada.

Written for The Canadian Press By BARBARA BRITON

LONDON, Nov. 28:—A smartly-dressed English woman, wearing a brightly colored jacket as part of her ensemble, curtsied before King George of Greece at a reception at a fashionable London hotel. Many watched but none realized that no precious clothes coupons had been yielded for the jacket and that it had been made from a patch-work quilt once belonging to the woman's grandmother.

Trimly cut and feather-stitched, oddments of velvet, satin, silk and brocade from the quilt gave the jacket almost a jewelled effect. It was worn with short black skirt and perky black hat.

Gay jackets, though not made from grandma's quilts, are being shipped by British makers to Canada. A famous dealer in woollens is sending over tweeds, alpaca and whipcords. The tweed jackets are in rich tones such as penna and olive. They are nipped in at the waistline, have moderately padded shoulders, high-lasting necks and Peter Pan collars. Seven buttons fasten them.

Snappy Designs
The alpaca are vivid—scarlet, blue green or gold and camel hair. The unusual style is blouse at the waistline and has slender peplum reaching to the knees. It has a tie-front and is designed for country walking, cycling, perhaps for wear with slacks. The whipcords are in dressmaker styles, having inset belts and V-necklines. Fullness around the waist is taken in with tucks. The colors are soft green, gold, pale blue and olive.

A shipment of skirts accompanies the jackets. The English vogue now is two skirts in colors contrasting with that of the single jacket. The two skirt idea is the feminine version of men's two-trouser suits.

A well-known woollens house, established in London's Regent Street, is shipping coats ideal for wear when the temperature tumbles. They are soft, heavy alpaca, tweed, camel-hair and cashmere lined with fine wool cloth. Essential utility coats, their slightly altered lines and new color schemes give them new smartness.

Special utility coats, their slightly altered lines and new color schemes give them new smartness. Service Lines
Military influence is apparent in their design. Many have the long lines of officers' greatcoats, close-fitting necks, turnback collars and fitted waistlines, belted back. Their skirts are flared. There are deep brown alpaca lined with fawn cloth, brighter blue with pale blue lining and navy lined in self color.

Camel-hair coats are patch-pocketed and belted. Some also have high turn-back collars and nipped in waistlines. There are alpaca along similar lines, warm but light and in apple green, pale blue, rose and yellow.

The tweeds have bookmaker cross stripes, wide checks and

Returned to Sea By King's Grace

Naval Veteran of First Great War Kept Ashore Till Queen Talked to Him.

LONDON, Nov. 28: Charles Bartley, 49, of the Royal Navy, claims he owes his return to sea with the merchant service to a meeting with the King and Queen.

A leading seaman during the First Great War aboard H.M.S. Collingwood on which King George sailed as midshipman, Bartley says he tried in vain to join the merchant service when the present war broke out.

Finally he joined the Pioneer Corps and one day was questioned by Queen Elizabeth during a visit. Their Majesties paid to the corps, accompanied by Admiral Sir Edward Evans. Bartley told the Queen of having served on H.M.S. Collingwood and King George joined the conversation asking why Bartley had not returned to sea.

Bartley says that a few weeks later, he followed an impulse to apply again for service at sea and to his astonishment "everything went as well as it had gone badly when I first tried." He was back at sea within another few weeks.

U.S. BECOMING MORE PRO-BRITISH

uous string of factories providing war materials for the allies. There seemed to be much less racketeering than formerly. In two picture houses he attended the picture of John L. Lewis was thrown on the screen and hissed and the picture of Lindbergh was received in like manner, an indication of how the people in those countries felt. As a rule picture houses were not well attended in New York. While the legitimate houses were so popular that tickets had to be booked sometimes weeks ahead, the picture houses were scarcely half filled.

On the whole the country was prosperous as a result of war orders. The shops indicated a very pro-British sentiment. The stores all displayed British goods, supported British war charities, wore ribbons showing the British and American emblems intertwined. There were six British warships being repaired in the docks within sight of Brooklyn bridge. British sailors were lavishly entertained.

Canada Busy

In Canada the speaker said he found air force training schools working all the time seven days a week and three shifts a day. Airmen were everywhere on the trains throughout the country. Factories were as busy as could be and new ones established throughout the east.

Col. Nicholls said he was much impressed with the ability and sincerity of purpose of the dollar-a-year men, a number of whom he met. He also talked with several of the cabinet ministers who seemed very sincere in their desire to serve the country in the best possible manner. From men who had dealings with both Ottawa and Washington he was assured that there was much less indication of delay as a result of red tape at Ottawa than at Washington.

While there were many evidences of sincerity and ability in both Canada and United States there was an undercurrent of dissatisfaction, especially in Canada, that more was not being done. People seemed to be afraid to turn the country into a military camp in order to get the best possible results. The opinion seemed to be prevalent, and he agreed with it, that the whole country should be disciplined both in the army and the factories. He had talked to French Canadians and was told that the people of Quebec were willing and ready to go the limit to win the war.

BUDGET TROUBLE

New York's Popular Heiress Expects However to "Marry Some Nice Guy"

By ADELAIDE KERR Associated Press Staff Writer NEW YORK, Nov. 28: (AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt, heiress to $4,000,000, has budget trouble this year. Her friends say the chief reason is that Gloria loves to give to others.

The 17-year-old daughter of the late Reginald Vanderbilt is said by friends to have an allowance of $750 a month from the fortune left her by her father.

What are Gloria's objectives anyway? "As far as ambitions are concerned, Gloria is just like the rest of us," one of her girl friends said. "What she wants to do eventually is to marry some nice guy, settle down in some little place on Long Island or Connecticut, and have children and raise dogs. But she wants to have some fun first."

"The girl's an artist. She paints beautifully and sketches too. She has an amazing interest in fashion and design. She designs more than half of her clothes. If she ever wants a career, she can always turn to that."

Showers Presents

But about this budget business. "She had trouble living within her budget this year and a large part of it was because her friends can't live within theirs," a friend told me. "Gloria loves to give. She showers down presents. If she hears you want to make a trip and haven't the money, there will be a railroad ticket in your mail. She never forgets a birthday. Once I saw her give $5 to a newsboy. It left $6 in her pocket. When I scolded her, she only said: 'He looked so little and ragged.'"

"But now she has learned the hard way that what she spends one month has to come out of next month's allowance. So she keeps accounts in a bookkeeping book and she is managing very well for the last three months she's been within her budget."

Gloria has just made a whirlwind trip to New York from Hollywood where she has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt. She had a gay whirl of lunches and parties and danced nightly at El Morocco. Everywhere she went she was the centre of a group and the focus of all eyes.

Gloria has been a puzzle this year. Because she was 17, Gotham expected her to make her debut at a magnificent party in the Vanderbilt tradition and be squandered about by the sons of her family's friends. Instead she chose Hollywood and filmdom's most dashing beaux. She dressed her hair in a steep pompadour and wore striking wordly frocks.

"Found" Her Mother Gotham found a possible reason for Gloria's decision to make no debut in the legal battle for her custody which took place in 1934 between her beautiful mother and her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. It was said that Gloria did not want a coming out party which both her mother and aunt might not want to attend. But her friends have another explanation.

"Gloria's just not social," they say. "She doesn't care for a debut. Nor does she like people just because their families know hers. Actors are amusing and entertaining and Gloria is having a good time in Hollywood. She's crazy about California's climate. She swims, plays tennis and has picnics on the beach."

"Besides there's another reason. It used to seem as though she didn't know her mother very well. But when she went out to visit her in Hollywood they found each other and now they are very close—more like sisters than mother and daughter. Big Gloria gives parties for little Gloria and little Gloria gives parties for her mother and they seem very happy."

Hollywood Affairs After Gloria began her Hollywood whirl, reports of her engagement to several of Hollywood's

53,000 Rings For December

Looks As If Cupid Trying To Oust Old Santa This Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 28: Cupid is cutting into Santa Claus' territory if statisticians are correct in their predictions that this is to be a most marriageable year.

In New York City, for instance, estimates indicate 90,000 wedding licenses will be issued during 1941. That beats the big bridal year of 1917 when the total was nearer 75,000. One diamond manufacturer reports making 53,000 rings in October for Christmas brides.

gayest beaux were heard. But her friends just laugh at those.

"You don't know Gloria," they say. "She's different from other girls. Instead of going out with one man Monday and another Tuesday she sees a lot of one for some time. Then she turns to someone else. She thinks you can't get to know a person unless you go out with him a good deal. But if a boy gets too 'serious,' she always withdraws, and she's very tactful about the way she does it."

"Even if Gloria didn't have so much money, she would still be a knock-out. You can't say she has one particularly good feature. But its just everything rolled together. She has a terrific figure and a wonderful line. She makes everybody feel good. Whenever she sees you, she always remembers what you were doing the last time she saw you and asks about it."

Several of them were attracted by a peculiar noise in the bush. They discovered a newly born infant wrapped in an old suit of underwear and a blanket.

GIRLS ARE COXSWAINS

B. C. College Crews Take Nicely To Co-ed Coaches But Just Wait—

VANCOUVER, Nov. 28:—Girls coxswains are barking the orders this year to the husky oarsmen who man the University of British Columbia's eight-oared shells.

It wasn't a wartime measure or a shortage of male coxswains that created the innovation, but just the personal ideas of blond Connie Diersen and brunette Ruth Wilson that they try out with the crews. They made the grade and now the U. B. C. boats boast probably the first girl coxswains in Canada.

Every Sunday morning the girls take command as the varsity crews turn out for their practice runs on the Fraser River near the University campus. They bark orders—and efficiently too—from the time the shells are taken down from their racks until they are put back again.

The crews themselves think it's a grand idea but their main worry now is lack of competition. Inter-collegiate regattas with crews from the northwestern states have been banned this year because of the war, but rowing president Bill Fitz-James is attempting to arrange for an inter-mural rowing program.

The rowing boys are waiting anxiously for the day when they'll win their first race so they can give the girl coxswains their first traditional ducking.

SMITHERS, Nov. 28:—The Smithers Curling Club held its annual meeting in the village hall on Tuesday evening and began organizing for the winter campaign. There was not a large attendance and the officers of last year were mostly returned to carry on for the coming season.

A. Dando, William Duff, and J. L. Kenney were returned as president, vice-president and secretary respectively. J. L. McEwen was elected as chairman of the bonspiel committee while Percy Davidson was named head of the ice committee.

The curling rink has been sealed inside and insulated during the year and this should add to the length of the season and the betterment of ice conditions. The club is looking forward to another successful and enjoyable season.

Mrs. T. E. Brooks had the misfortune to break her arm yesterday and went to Prince Rupert General Hospital by evening train.

E. T. Kenney M.L.A. left Terrace by Thursday's train to attend the Liberal convention at Vancouver and the session of the Legislature at Victoria.

The Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary held the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Nigel Sherwood.

H. A. Bigelow, Investor Here In Early Days, Dies In California

SMITHERS, Nov. 28.—Word has been received in Smithers that H. A. Bigelow, an old timer in the North, passed away last month at his home in Long Beach, California.

Mr. Bigelow was in the Klondyke during the gold rush. Later he went to Prince Rupert where he was located at the time of the sale of the city lots in which he invested some money that proved to be profitable for him.

He was in Kitselas in 1910 and 1911 operating the Empress News store and carrying on a kind of banking business on his own, there being no bank branch at that point.

When the railway workers moved on up the river he came to Smithers and started the Empress News store and pool room here which was later sold to N. P. Moran, the present owner.

Mr. Bigelow then retired and went to California where he became interested in real estate and oil and is understood to have amassed a large fortune.

He was about 85 years of age at the time of his death and is survived by his widow.

Auto Stolen At Smithers

Three Young Strangers Got As Far As Fort Fraser—Are Arrested

SMITHERS, Nov. 28.— Three young strangers in Smithers on Monday morning got into the Ford sedan owned by Oswald Hoskins, which was parked outside his house for the night and hit for the sunny south. Early Monday morning the car was reported to the local police as being missing. At about the same time there was reported theft of gasoline at Houston which seemed to indicate that the travellers had stopped there to take on gasoline. The police immediately got busy and the car was located at Fort Fraser having been deserted there. A short time later the three young men who had "borrowed" the car were rounded up and they found that there was still one more road that could be travelled, that being the road to the lock-up.

Mr. Hoskins has again got possession of his car and it seems to be none the worse for its short trip.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

With a light list of passengers but substantial freight cargo, C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil MacLean, arrived in port at 9:15 this morning from Vancouver and Ocean Falls and will sail at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Ketchikan and Stewart whence she is due back here tomorrow evening southbound.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. R. C. McGeachy, arrived in port at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the south and will sail at 10 o'clock tonight on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

A much-needed facility, which will be a boon to pedestrians and motorists alike, is a sidewalk which is now being put in on the west side of the Cow Bay road to connect the existing bridge sidewalk with Third Avenue. This has long been a traffic danger point.

The Prince Rupert Rod & Gun Club was in session this week to discuss plans for the annual dinner as well as for pre-Christmas turkey shoots. It was decided to hold the annual dinner in January which will give the members something to look forward to following the Yuletide let-down.

There were seventy-two passengers aboard the steamer Princess Norah which was in port from 3:30 to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon southbound from Skagway to Vancouver. Ten persons disembarked from the vessel here, five taking passage from this port for Vancouver.

SHIPMASTER IS HONORED

Presentations Made Here Last Night To Capt. H. E. Nedden On His Farewell Voyage

Two presentations last evening to Capt. H. E. Nedden marked the farewell visit of the popular commodore of Canadian National Coast Steamships and master of the steamer Prince George to Prince Rupert prior to his retirement on completion of the present voyage at Vancouver tomorrow afternoon.

One presentation, a handsome set of pipes, was from the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and was made by the president of the chamber, W. R. McAfee.

The other presentation, a fine smoker's cabinet, was from local employees of Canadian National Steamships and friends generally. This presentation was made by W. L. Armstrong, local freight agent.

Suitable sentiments were extended by both Mr. McAfee and Mr. Armstrong in making the presentations. Mention was made of the skipper's fine long record as a seafaring man, particularly on this coast. The respect and esteem in which he is held was also referred to. Best wishes for the future were extended.

Capt. Nedden made appropriate and happy reply, expressing his appreciation, giving a number of anecdotes and stating that he hoped to be a frequent visitor to Prince Rupert in future in spite of the retirement from his present duties.

After the presentation, refreshments were served in the dining saloon of the steamer Prince George where the ceremonies took place.

D. Zarelli returned to the city on the Prince Rupert this morning from a brief trip to Vancouver.

London Symphony Orchestra Leader Had Adventure

LONDON, Nov. 28: Anatole Fistoulari, young Russian musical conductor, was one of the last soldiers evacuated from Dunkerque in May, 1940. He fought with the French army as a Russian emigre.

Now he is conducting the London Symphony Orchestra in Mousorgsky's "Sorotchintsi Fair" at the Savoy Theatre. Fistoulari returned to the realm of music after his safe arrival in Britain from the battle of Flanders.

Mrs. H. B. Rochester, after spending the past three months in Victoria, returned home from the south on the Princess Adelaide this afternoon.

New Rankings In the Waafs

Service Conditions Being Adjusted Along R.A.F. Lines.

LONDON, Nov. 28: Service conditions in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force are gradually being adjusted along the lines of those in the R.A.F. The Air Ministry's latest steps are the creation of new ranks for the Waafs, the inauguration of progressive pay rates and the award of good conduct badges.

Under-officers in the service will hold the rank of flight sergeant, and the rank of leading aircraft-woman will be introduced. They will be the equivalent of R.A.F. ranks. Additional "duty" pay will be given to Waafs in specialized trades. The good conduct awards will be made on the same basis as to airmen.

Mrs. M. Letnes, formerly of this city and now residing in Victoria, arrived from the south on the Princess Adelaide today for a brief visit.
