WAR IN THE WESTERN DESERT OF AFRICA

Two pictures illustrate the terrain through which British forces are fighting their way as they drive the Italians before them in Libya, North Africa. At the top, infantrymen behind a rock and sand barricade, man rifles and machine-guns as they blast down the opposition. Below, the Tommies take time out to grin cheerfully for the camera from their rocky trenches. It must be cold, even in the desert. Note the heavy mufflers, or maybe they are protection from the sand.

Alfonso Was Man Of Personal Courage; Career Was Hectic; Many Tried Assassinations

FUNERAL ON MONDAY
ROME—There will be funeral mass for the late King Alfonso in Rome on Monday and provisional burial of the former Spanish monarch will be made here. Later permission will be sought to have permanent interment in Spain beside the bodies of the former kings of Spain.

Personal courage, made plain when numerous attempts were made to assassinate him, plus unyielding insistence on his royal prerogative, marked Alfonso XIII both as ruler of Spain and as an exile. The former King of Spain died yesterday in the hotel room in Rome which had been his home in exile for a decade. He was 54 years of age and had suffered a series of heart attacks beginning February 13.

Literally born to the crown on March 17, 1886—Alfonso was the posthumous son of Alfonso XII—he was under the regency of his mother, Queen Maria Cristina, until his sixteenth birthday. Then he ascended a throne restored only since his sire had taken it at the same age after years of bloody wars between Bourbons and Carlists, followed by a brief and quarrelsome republican regime.

The throne remained shaky throughout the 29 years which Alfonso occupied it. He reigned from May 17, 1902, to April 14, 1931, when he signed a manifesto in which he said that elections, held a few days previously, "made it clear that I no longer have the love of my people." Predicting that the republic would not last long, he added:

"I renounce none of my rights for, more than my rights, they are the accumulated layers of history for which some day I shall have to render strict account."

The next day he sailed to France aboard a cruiser. His wife, Queen Victoria, and their four sons and two daughters, left by train. The family was reunited at Fontainebleau, on the outskirts of Paris, but left Alfonso's regime, disintegrated. It was the start of a series of frustrations for the ex-king.

First the husband and wife went separate ways. Then in 1933 the eldest son, Alfonso, Prince of the Asturias crossed his father by marrying a Cuban commoner, losing his shadowy rights to the non-existent throne and, becoming a front-page headliner in America by his subsequent divorce, second marriage and second divorce, finally to die September 6, 1938, a victim of hemophilia, dread hereditary affliction passed down by his mother from her ancestry in the House of Hesse. Death followed injuries received when an automobile driven by a night club cigarette girl crashed near Miami, Florida.

This tragedy came four years after the youngest child, Prince Gonzalo, had succumbed in August, 1934, to the same affliction, bleeding to death from minor injuries when a car driven by his sister, Infanta Beatrice, cracked up in Austria.

The eldest son's defiance of family law caused a realignment in the succession. The second son, Prince Jaime, born stone deaf, had acquired only rudimentary speech and renounced his rights in favor of his younger brother, the third son, Prince Juan. The new heir was named Prince of the Asturias when he reached his 21st birthday on June 20, 1934. He married in April, 1935, Princess Mercedes of the Two Sicilies branch of the House of Bourbon-Anjou.

Princess Beatrice, recovering from the shock of the accident which caused Gonzalo's death, married in January, 1935, Prince Alessandro Torlonia of Italy, whose mother was the former Elsie Moore of New York.

Prince Jaime, the afflicted second son, was married at Rome in March, 1935, to Emanuela de Dampiere, descendant of French nobility and granddaughter of Princess Ruspoll Peggo di Suasa, the former Josephine Curtis of New York.

INVASION GOING ON

German Troops Arrive In Bulgarian Capital In Full Battle Dress — Britishers Thrown Into Concentration Camps

SOFIA, March 1: (CP)—German troops drove into Sofia today in armored cars, wearing regulation battle dress. No further indication is needed that the Nazi invasion is under way. The occupation took place almost before the ink was dry at Vienna on the Bulgarian signature to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

As night fell German mechanized columns were still thundering down the streets in increasing numbers and huge Junkers transports were landing at Sofia airdrome packed with troops.

A round-up of foreigners is under way and British newspapermen are among those who have been sent to concentration camps.

Withdrawal of the British minister, George Rendel, is believed imminent. The minister made a final appointment with King Boris tonight to tell him Great Britain has no choice but to break off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria, British declaration of war on Bulgaria and Royal Air Force bombs on German communication lines with the country had already been predicted by the minister in event of just such an occurrence as today's.

Reports reaching British circles in Belgrade said the Germans had taken over Bulgaria's important Black Sea port of Varna near the Rumanian frontier. There was, however, no confirmation.

Air Attack On Germany

LONDON, March 1: (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers attacked points in Brittany, northwest Germany and the Nazi-occupied Netherlands last night, the Air Ministry announced. The big submarine and naval base at Wilhelmshaven was the principal objective.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 1:—Senator Carter Glass, in debate on the "lease-lend" bill, demanded an investigation into the "Mothers' Crusade" against the measure. He wanted to know if the organization had been registered as required and if it was mothers or foreign agents who were behind it.

ond son, was married at Rome in March, 1935, to Emanuela de Dampiere, descendant of French nobility and granddaughter of Princess Ruspoll Peggo di Suasa, the former Josephine Curtis of New York.

Would Burn Certificates

In order to give the sale of war savings certificates in Prince Rupert a fillip, D. T. Greene, Quick rancher, who is a visitor in the city, says that, providing others will do likewise, he is ready to buy $25 or so of certificates and, in order to make a real gift of it, burn the certificates in public. Mr. Greene is of the opinion that Prince Rupert should be making a much better showing than it is doing in connection with the disposal of war savings certificates. It should not be necessary, he believes, for canvassers to be going around begging people to buy.

Eden and General Sir John Dill left Ankara last night.

NEW BOMBER BEING USED

Comes To Us Gradually . . .

By this time we are all pretty well impressed with the idea that a steady supply of money will be needed to carry on the war until the power of Hitler is broken. Some people are critical of the way money is being spent by the government but there will always be critics no matter how the money is spent. The main idea is to see that the cash is supplied.

We are getting a good deal of the benefit from this expenditure of money in the local shipyard and, if rumors are correct, the shipyard workers have made the poorest response of any in the city. Possibly this will be rectified soon. At any rate, we cannot expect to be given ship contracts if we are not ready to provide at least some of the money with which to build them. It is gradually seeping through our thick skulls that we have to give as well as take. We have so far had a perfectly safe country and lived amid pleasant surroundings. What we have to do is prevent Hitler ruining our peaceful homes by making it as unpleasant here as in Holland or Denmark or Norway.

The Bills Arrive . . .

This is the time of the month when the bills arrive. What to do with them? Why, pay them, of course. Why wait? That is all very well for the people who have the money, you will say, but what about those of us who are hard up and cannot pay? What are we going to do with them?

An unpaid account should not be allowed to run on indefinitely without so much as an acknowledgement. So, we would suggest to our few thousand readers who are probably just as hard up as ourselves. Pay your bills if you can and, if you can't, tell your creditors you can't and see if you can't meet the debt next month.

Daughters . . .

We all know from experience or from the experience of our friends or neighbors that the daughter is the one who bosses the household. If she does not she will leave at as early an age as possible. Most of our wives were once the eldest daughters or the oldest ones at home. They inherited the dictatorships.

Some daughters have the art of dictating down to such an exact science that we do not realize we are the victims. They do it so quietly and gently that it is like painless dentistry. It hurts only for a little time.

The Daily News is a member of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association, of the Canadian Press and of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. It is the only paper north of Vancouver and West of Edmonton holding membership in these organizations.

Man in the Moon

We all love the show in Prince Rupert! We like it so much that we like to see it melt.

The Rocky Mountain Strangers are beginning to make themselves at home.

Jake says that when he sees those boys marching it makes him want to keep step and roll out the barrel.

All Jake can do is roll out the barrel. He can't march.

"Little boy, does your mother know that you smoke?"

"Listen, lady, does your husband know that you speak to strange men on the street?"

She: "My dad takes things apart to see why they don't go."
He: "So what?"
She: "You'd better go."

What is a Communist? One who had yearnings
For equal division of unequal earnings.
Idler or bungler or both, he is willing
To fork out his copper and pocket your shilling.

It is said that George Washington, although a tobacco planter, hated smoking but his mother smoked a pipe. I don't like those ultra-modernists.

Excalibur was a wonderful sword received by King Arthur from the Lady of the Lake. Every War Certificate purchased is a wonderful sword which will be helpful in beating the Germans.

When a man is perfectly satisfied with himself the undertaker begins to smile.

The hotel manager was passing down the corridor one morning when he saw "The Boots" kneeling at one of the bedroom doors cleaning a pair of shoes.

"What are you doing?" he asked. "Take them down to the basement and clean them there."

"Impossible sir," replied the boots. "There's a Scots gentleman inside the room and he's hanging on to the laces."

Adolf the Doomed says that universal education is the most corroding and disintegrating poison that liberalism has ever invented for its own destruction. There must be only one possible education for each class and we must, therefore, be consistent and allow the great mass of the lowest order the blessings of illiteracy.

Garage man: "Shall I instal a loud or a soft horn, sir?"

Motorist: "Just one with a dirty snout."

Warden of asylum: "Did you pick up those five inmates who escaped?"

Guard: "Five? We captured twenty."

Who says Prince Rupert does not have the climate? We have just as many kinds as any other place.

The Rocky Mountain Rangers seem to think Prince Rupert is a pretty jolly place, judging from the way they celebrated on their arrival.

It is rumored that, when drilling the men the non-coms say something like this:

- Left right
- Look Bright
- Do your part
- Smart Smart!
- Now then
- March like men!
- Left Right
- What a sight!
- Blankety Blank
- Keep your rank
- All together
- Spite of weather,
- Foul or fair
- Shoulders square,
- Now once more
- Eyes to fore
- Keeping time
- All the time
- That's the style
- All the while.

Just how serious a lady's injuries were in an accident which occurred recently, it is hard to tell because the paper spoke thus of the mishap: "Mrs. Wilson, in attempting to get out of the way of the auto, fell to the pavement, injuring her somewhat."

MRS. MANDY DELIGHTFUL

Travelogue of North Intrigues Audience at First United Church

An outstanding entertainment was the illustrated lecture entitled "Up North" presented at First United Church last night by Mrs. Joseph T. Mandy. A large audience enjoyed the screening by Dr. Mandy of colorful pictures and a graphic narrative in fine elocutionary style by Mrs. Mandy. The program lasted about two hours and there was not a dull moment as picture after picture of the great northland was projected upon the screen to be delightfully described by Mrs. Mandy with fact, anecdote and romance.

Starting with a few scenes of such points as Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver and Victoria, the travelogue moved up the coast to Prince Rupert. From there on there was an extensive tour to the great wide open spaces of the north including islands near Prince Rupert, the Kit-sunkalum Lake country, Queen Charlotte Islands, Portland Canal, Unuk River, Alaska Coast, Stikine River, Dease Lake, Liard River, Squaw Creek, Atlin Lake, Skagway and ending up with a trip over the trail of '98 down the Yukon River from White Horse to Dawson.

Among the descriptions by picture and word which proved entrancing to the listeners were those of mining activities, gorgeous rugged scenery, wild and native life and various modes of transportation. There were views of remote places some of which few white men, let alone women, have ever visited. Personal incidents at various points also proved diverting.

Before Mrs. Mandy's lecture, the audience was delighted with an appropriate vocal solo by Mrs. H. T. Lock, accompanied by Mr. Lock.

Rev. J. C. Jackson acted as chairman and Miss Swana Olafson played pipe organ selections.

Ushers were Mrs. Clarke McLean, Mrs. T. Fraser, Mrs. G. L. Rorie and Mrs. George Pearson.

Lieut. Col. J. J. Burton-Willison, who has been stationed here for some time as officer commanding the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, left on last evening's train for Camp Borden, Ont., to be returning to Prince Rupert.

RED CROSS SHIPMENT

Largest Consignment Yet Made Friday From Local Workrooms Under Direction of Mrs. J. R. Low

Mrs. J. R. Low and her assistants, working at the local Red Cross rooms yesterday, packed out the largest single shipment of goods which has so far been made from Prince Rupert to provincial headquarters in Vancouver. It was a very creditable showing indeed, not only in the large quantity but in the splendid quality of articles produced by local women who are now rising to the occasion in ever increasing numbers to support this work.

Mrs. Low pointed with considerable pride to a fine lot of splendid dresses and then went on to tell of two new local groups—one named "Winston," organized by Mrs. Robert Blance, and another "Churchill," organized by Mrs. James Clark—which are busy at work, the former having sent in its second consignment for shipment and the latter its first.

Mrs. Low also referred to the excellent support of Mrs. M. R. Frank of Woodcock who every three weeks sends in a large lot of knitted articles, her contribution for the latest shipment having been eight fine sweaters.

Herring Season is Looking More and More Like Failure—Next Thing Will be Commencement of Halibut Fishing

Although hope has not been entirely given up as yet for the development of a belated run, prospects for this winter's herring fishery around Prince Rupert are now far from bright. With no appreciable run having yet appeared in spite of widespread search for the fish in seining quantities it is beginning to look now like an almost complete failure. In any case, should fish appear now they would probably be poor with spawn and not in very good shape either for canning or reduction purposes. Failure of the run would also be serious for the halibut fishery which depends on herring for bait. Of course, it is possible that the summer herring might relieve this situation to some extent. Unless the fish show up within the next week it is likely that the seineboats will commence withdrawing and the processing plants abandon hope of getting a supply.

BILL OF INTEREST

"Blondie on Budget" and "The Great McGinty" Double-Billed At Capitol Theatre

"Blondie on a Budget," another of the very popular series adapted from the comic strip, and "The Great McGinty," an entertaining comedy drama based on the story of the mythical character of song and story, comprise a diverting double bill picture program for this afternoon and evening at the Capitol Theatre here.

In "Blondie on a Budget," Blondie endeavours to dig up $200 to buy a fur coat while Dagwood, unaware of Blondie's ambition, spends a peaceful Sunday morning devising ways and means of persuading Blondie that $200 might be legitimately used to buy him a membership in a fishing club. Then a former girl friend of Dagwood's appears on the scene and complications arise to send Blondie and Dagwood on one of those domestic dithers which has made their pictures so popular. Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake have their usual parts with Rita Hayworth as the siren and Larry Sims again as Baby Dumpling. Daisy, the family pooch, is also there again.

"The Great McGinty" is a rowdy and amusing picture telling the story of the product of the streets who virtually punches and bulldozes his way into the favor of the boss of a political ring and rises in meteoric fashion from a collector of graft to alderman, mayor and finally governor. Brian Donlevy, Muriel Angelus and Akim Tamiroff head the cast.
