ASOLINE SCARCITY

Continuation of Motor Fuel in South-Dominion Means Sacrifice
OTTAWA, April 26 (CP)—Gas rationing in New Zealand has reached a point where it requires sacrifice on the part of motorists and "thoughtful management" by owners of commercial vehicles and business cars. The Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand has said further steps may become necessary in the interests of the defence of the country. Indications point to Canada regarding its position as a supplier of commercial vehicles to the southern Dominion. The total imports from all sources will very likely show a regression because of wartime restrictions on imports. The lack of new cars on the market is being felt to an increasing degree although the strict rationing of petrol in force for over a year now has to a large extent checked the interest in new purchases. Consumption of gasoline has increased under government control in New Zealand since September, 1939, and has been suspended for two months since December 1, 1939, to January 31, 1940. At the beginning of the control experiment it was not seriously interfered with by the measure driving and the issue of licenses issued for business purposes was quite sufficient to meet requirements. The object in early stages was to eliminate as a result of the gradual process of tightening the restrictions the position today is one requiring real sacrifice on the part of the private owner and of careful management by the owners of commercial vehicles and business cars. Four Gallons a Month for private cars the monthly allowances in New Zealand are as follows: up to nine horsepower, four gallons; nine to 14 horsepower, five gallons; over 14 horsepower, six gallons. Owners of commercial vehicles are allowed sufficient petrol to cover minimum requirements. Private cars used for business purposes are licensed accordingly. Doctors and other individuals or bodies serving the public are provided with supplies sufficient for their needs. Care is taken to ensure that in industry and all necessary services, marine, land and air, are able to obtain petrol to meet their legitimate needs. A further measure of control has been the elimination of all overlapping and duplication of transport facilities, particularly those competing with the railways. This applies to such services as milk deliveries, carrier services, etc., and has been put into effect by a system of "zoning."

CAMP HEADS ARE LET GO

Commandants Of Nazi Internment Posts Are Suspended Pending Inquiry Into Escapes
OTTAWA, April 26: (CP)—Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, said today that two camp commandants had been temporarily relieved of duties at a north-western Ontario internment camp pending official inquiry into a break of twenty-eight German prisoners last week. They are Major C. B. Lindsay and Major E. V. Torrance. The minister said the action was not prejudicing the officers and the fullest inquiry into the escapes will be made. The inquiry conducted by General J. F. F. Embury, will commence Monday.

TAKE OVER IDLE SHIPS

Representatives of American Republics Would Seize No Less Than 169 Foreign Vessels
WASHINGTON, April 26: (CP)—Representatives of twenty-one American republics recommended today that their nations take over more than 160 foreign vessels idle in their ports and use them to "promote the peace and security of the continent." The recommendation was by the inter-American financial and economic advisory committee.

REFUGEES ARE AIDING

Princess Alice Receives Thanks From Needy Groups in England
WINNIPEG, April 26: (CP)—The story of French refugees in England is told in a letter from the Vicomtesse de la Panouse to the Princess Alice and members of the Anglo-French committee of Assistance to French Refugees in England. Princess Alice is in Winnipeg in the course of her western tour with the Governor General. Their Excellencies received an official welcome here. The Vicomtesse and Princess Alice are old friends and founders of the British Committee for the French Red Cross and other French charities. In the letter the Vicomtesse thanks the Canadian women for five cases of clothing, the quantities of French books, money gifts and other goods. Rev. Mother St. Thomas d'Aguin, Ottawa, vice-chairman of the Canadian committee, said that so far not one bit of the material shipped has been lost in transport. The letter from the Vicomtesse says: "The refugees here have nearly all tried to get work and the men who could not join the fighting forces have been taken on at munitions, engineering, shipbuilding and Air Ministry factories. They have been allowed to take their families with them and are settled at various points all over the country. The fishermen are working for the common cause and there are little colonies of Boulogne and Dieppe families living in Cornwall and Devonshire. All these people write us for clothing and house linen for they left everything behind them. The refugees who have returned to France were mostly wives and children of men who had remained there or soldiers whose health prevented them from continuing to serve. Every week brings quite a number of men, mostly lads of 18 and 20, who have escaped at the risk of their lives from occupied France. Some cross the Pyrenees on foot

Tobruk Is Proving Thorn In Axis Side—More Prisoners Taken
CAIRO, April 26: (CP)—A concentration of Axis troops near Tobruk was broken up by intense artillery fire from the rear guard base which is proving such a thorn in the side of Axis forces seeking to advance into Egypt, the British command said today. London advices said that the British garrison at Tobruk took 130 Axis prisoners without suffering a single casualty in beating off a day-long attack on Thursday.

KIEL HARD HIT AGAIN

Royal Air Force Is Continuing Its Offensive Against Nazi Territory—Berlin Bombed Last Night
LONDON, April 26: (CP)—The Royal Air Force launched a heavy attack on Kiel last night and struck less heavily at numerous other objectives, including Berlin. It was the second straight night's raid on Kiel and again tons of heavy explosives and incendiaries were dropped. Both by day and night the Royal Air Force is continuing its heavy attacks on enemy shipping and points along the invasion coast including Norway, Holland, Belgium and France. The Royal Air Force lost three planes in yesterday's activity.

and, unless they are particularly lucky, spend three or four months in Spanish concentration camps before they escape again and get to Gibraltar or Lisbon. Others come from Brittany in fishing boats or fly a plane to Gibraltar from North Africa. These soldiers have no extra clothing of any kind—their gratitude to Canada is beyond expression.

PUSHING ON TO ATHENS

German Troops Pass Historic Thebes—British Still Withdrawing
ATHENS, April 26: (CP)—German troops, driving towards Athens, have pushed past historic Thebes, 35 miles from the capital, and are driving across the plains of Marathon, authoritative Greek quarters said today. A Cairo communiqué merely reported further withdrawal of British forces. There are conflicting reports as to the position of the British Expeditionary Force in Greece. One statement said yesterday that the most of the British had escaped with tanks and equipment but another said today that British Imperial forces were still holding positions. German sources, on the other hand, claimed that the British had been trapped. Heavy bombing by the Nazis of possible embarkation points continues with dive bombers attacking British transports in Greek harbors. King George II and his cabinet held their first meeting on the island of Crete. A statement over the Athens radio said Greece had done its duty as an honest nation and the army lived up to its tradition as "brave soldiers."

There were light raids during the night elsewhere in north and east England, the coasts of Scotland and north Ireland. There was a single raider over North Ireland which was driven off. London had no alarms last night. (Nazi quarters in Berlin said that overnight attacks were concentrated on Newcastle and that heavy damage was done to the big Sunderland flying boat factory there).

Canada's War Chiefs

Air Commodore George Owen Johnson M.C.
Deputy Chief of Air Staff

Quiet and forceful is the young man of 44 who is Canada's Deputy Chief of Air Staff. Air Commodore George Owen Johnson, M.C. is also Air Member for Organization and Training and as such plays a leading role in the vast Commonwealth Air Training Plan. It has been his responsibility to plan and organize the Schools where fliers are turned out capable of delivering the goods in the Battle of Britain. Johnson talks of the war and the Air Force calmly and clearly, making his job both understandable and interesting to the layman, reflecting his early training and experience as a teacher in the schools of Didsbury, Olds and Edmonton, in Alberta.

Johnson was born in Weedstock, Ontario, and after going through the public schools there headed west to Alberta Normal School in Calgary to finish his training. He not only had a hand in the inception of technical training in Canadian schools but also in the organization of cadet training, serving as an officer in the Corps School of Cadet Instructors in Alberta. For World War one, Johnson signed up with the Royal Naval Air Service, started to fly with the Royal Flying Corps in England in April, 1917, went into active service in France in September with twenty hours flying experience. Throughout his time in France he was on offensive patrol work, charged with keeping the Huns out of the air to make it safe for Allied reconnaissance planes. His services won for him the Military Cross and the Croix de Guerre. During the last six months of the war he was attached to a training centre in Cheshire, England. In June of 1919 he returned to Canada with a collection of "war trophies" German planes which he delivered to the Dominion Archives. With the founding of the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1920, Johnson re-opened Camp Borden as Station Superintendent. He has stayed with the Air Force ever since, never doubting for a moment that it would be needed again as it is today. Among his many posts he held command of the R. C. A. F. in the North West, went over to England to Staff College at Andover, served as Assistant Director of Civil Operations under Lindsay Gordon, and then, in the atmosphere of peace and retrenchment, experienced the employment of the Air Force in every part of Canada, assisting the Civil Department of the Government Service. Customs preventive work, mapping, dusting the forests for disease pests were odd jobs that kept the nucleus of the Force together. In 1937 Johnson went to Imperial Defence College in England, and on his return to Canada was sent west to organize and command the Western Air Command with headquarters at Vancouver, where he remained until the present conflict started. Air Commodore Johnson was soon sent to England to go over with the R.A.F. staff details of the Air Training Plan. He has tackled his gigantic new task unflustered and steady, confident that a good job can and shall be done.

ORGANIZE AIR FORCE

Thousands Of Men Get First Lessons At Depots In Toronto, Brandon And Quebec City
By LEO MacGILLIVRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO, April 26: (CP)—An integral part of the vast British Commonwealth Air Training Plan are the Manning Depots, at Toronto, Brandon and Quebec City, where the future pilots, observers, air gunners and mechanics receive their first contact with the Royal Canadian Air Force. Here in Toronto, in a huge building of the Canadian National Exhibition once devoted to livestock show, thousands of young men pass through the depot each month. Arriving from various recruiting stations across the country they receive their air force clothing they are inoculated and, as important as anything else, they learn their first lessons in air force discipline. The average stay for a man at a Manning Depot is 30 days. The personnel of No. 1 Manning Depot here, both in administrative staff and trainees, is as varied and cosmopolitan as one will find in any of His Majesty's services. Wing Commander G. N. Irwin is officer commanding. Second in command is Sqdn. Ldr. Gerry Nash, one of the Canadian aces of the Royal Flying Corps in the First Great War. He served with the famous Collishaw and had a healthy bag to his credit before he was captured and imprisoned for 18 months. Flt. Lt. Sterling C. Campbell is third in command, a sort of personnel manager at the depot. He broke a contract with a Hollywood studio where he was a technical director on aviation films to join the R. C. A. F. at the war's start.

Mass Messing
A tour of the depot can take all day. There are vast dormitories, mess halls and kitchens. With a staff of less than 100 the business of feeding thousands of healthy, hungry young men at each meal goes like clockwork. The meals, by the way, are the pride of the depot. I had some soup—served from a huge vat—and found it good. The average menu includes soup, meat, potatoes, another vegetable, gravy, dessert, tea, bread, butter, cheese and apples. And the boys can go back for as many helpings as they like. The kitchen is something of a wonder—mass production of good sound food being the order. For "in-between" snacks there is a Y. M. C. A. "tuck shop."

Officials of the "Y" look after the entertainment of the men generally and during free time there's never a dull moment. A typical week's program includes cribbage tournaments, boxing and wrestling, volleyball, table tennis, movies, variety shows almost every night and other features. The depot theatre is another source of pride for both the administration and the trainees. There's a show nearly every night and visiting artists have been most generous with their time putting on special performances for the men. There is a lot more to tell about. For instance there are the "depot mothers," women of voluntary groups who do sewing and such for the boys. Then there are the regular tailors of the depot—some of them will continue in that craft and others will be assigned to wing fabric work. There is the depot's own post office, manned by men of the depot. Probably the most unpopular place during the void months is the bull pen. The men arise at 6:30 a.m. and their first chore is "P.T." And the P. T. drills take place in the bull pen—and the bull pen is not heated.

WILL STAY IN FORCES

Men Now Taking Compulsory Training to Remain for Home Duty—Overseas Volunteers Sought
OTTAWA, April 26: (CP)—Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, today announced that men undergoing four months' compulsory training period for the reserve army will be retained in the forces for duty on coastal defence and internal security. Col. Ralston also forecast a recruiting drive to obtain about twenty-two thousand volunteers for overseas service. The minister said that overseas volunteers were needed to overcome shortage in quotas of enlistments for reinforcing units. Col. Ralston said that at least all the men who form the first two classes now training under the four-month plan and finishing in July and August would be needed to relieve men now on duty in Canada but he declined to forecast how many would be required from future classes or whether any assigned to duty on completing training would be returned to civil life before the end of the war. The minister said that, within the next two months, transfers of troops will take place as coast defence battalions change places with battalions in the interior of the country. He said this would give needed change to many who had been on twenty-four duty on the coast for many months and would give interior units well up on training a chance to apply their training. Where practical the troops will be moved part way by road to furnish rest of transport, billeting and bivouacking arrangements.

ROSSLARE, Eire, April 26: (CP)—When a steam trawler's lucky black cat jumped ashore, the crew looked at each other glumly, decided it was a bad omen. The cat had been on the ship four years. "I warned the other members of the crew we should have bad luck," said one seaman. A few hours later the vessel struck a rock east of Carnsore Point, Wexford, Eire. The crew of 11 were rescued by Rosslare harbor lifeboat six hours later after they had saturated their bedding with coal-oil and set it ablaze as a distress signal. "There was a sudden grinding crash," one of the trawlermen said afterwards, "and those who were asleep below were flung from their bunks. We rushed on deck to find the vessel developing a heavy list. When we lowered the boat the ropes were carried away and the boat capsized. We managed to right it and bale out the water."

Bigger And Bigger - - -

As the importance of Prince Rupert is being realized more and more and its ability to build ships is being recognized, the bigger and bigger gets the news of what is to be done here. Yesterday's announcement came as a fitting climax to the stories previously published in this paper, and in this paper exclusively, of the plans for future use of the shipyard.

The building of ten ships will take some time but the activity in the meantime is bound to make Prince Rupert a busy city and populous. We must all be prepared to meet the situation.

Houses Greatest Need - - -

The greatest need in Prince Rupert today is houses. It has been suggested that every person in Prince Rupert who can afford to do so should build at least one house. That would help to relieve the situation.

The shipbuilding program will keep the port busy for several years. During that time houses will be badly needed. After that the choice of the people who wish to rent will be for the newer houses so that they will be sure to be needed. If the many improvements suggested for this port are carried out, houses and more houses will be needed for years to come.

Final Word To Residents - - -

If there is unsightly rubbish anywhere in or near your garden or home, try to co-operate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce by having it removed. This weekend is the last chance to show that the efforts of the young men are appreciated. Already much has been done. What is asked is that every home, garden, back lane or vacant lot be made as decent as possible.

Mother's Plea When Babe Died

LONDON, April 26 (CP)—Mrs. Daisy Vass, whose 13-day-old baby died in a public air raid shelter where the woman and her six children sought refuge from bombs, told the coroner at the inquest that she had not taken her children to the country under the evacuation scheme because she did not want to leave her husband.

"We have an Anderson shelter but our back yard is overrun with rats and the house has practically no roof because of bombs," Mrs. Vass told the coroner. "I wasn't told that a (public) shelter was not a fit place for so young a baby."

The coroner recorded a verdict of natural death and remarked: "Here we have a mother with five children still in London—I don't think I need make any further comment."

WOMEN IN WAR BUSY

Britain Needs Help in Cans and Canning—Don't Stop Knitting

By GLADYS ARNOLD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 26: (CP)—When Canadian Homemakers in Saskatchewan looked about for ways of helping the women in England in their battle on the home front, they wrote to Lady Tweedsmuir in England about it.

"I wonder if the Women's Institutes in Canada would like to send one or more canning machines to the Women's Institutes in England," she replied. They would be very useful and take up little shipping space.

The Canadian small fruit season is just around the corner and further advice from England is that for shipping reasons all canning for sending to Britain must be done in tins. Jam concentrates more food value and will last longer than any other form of preserved fruit.

Women of Tweeds

An example of feminine initiative in Britain is the way in which the women of the Hebrides have taken hold of the Harris Tweed industry in the absence of their menfolk. Those grim islands of the Outer Hebrides have proportionately more men in the armed forces than any other part of the Empire—the majority being mobilized to serve in the mine-sweepers.

In their absence the women have taken over the islands' most famous industry and are carrying on almost alone. There are 32,000 of them engaged in the work and from their earnings they subscribed $26,700 in one week to the Spitfire fund.

At present this tweed is fashionable in United States and women of the Hebrides are seeing to it that they get all they want. The wool that makes it comes from a particular strain of black-faced sheep. It is handspun and woven. The vegetable dyes do not destroy the natural oil of the wool.

Avoid War Names

Advice to women about naming their babies comes from a London writer who, though refusing to give his own name, says he was a war victim in that sense at the time of his own birth.

"Do not saddle the baby with a war name," he pleads, saying he is speaking on behalf of those who cannot defend themselves. "There are thousands of babies, born and unborn, who are in imminent danger of being christened Bardia, Libya, Eritrea, Derna, Dunkerque, Wavell and other such names after battles and battleships. It is even possible that some will be Buqbuq Jones or Sollum Smith."

Nothing dates a person like being given a war name. "I met a young lady recently whose Christian name was Verdun," he said. "In spite of myself my mind was soon occupied with a very ungalant piece of arithmetic."

Giving a baby a war name is like printing a date on its forehead.

In Scotland 28 canteens and social centres have been set up by Polish women under the leadership of Zofia Sikorska, daughter of the Polish Prime Minister and Commander of the Polish Army.

Miss Sikorska is tall, dark, 24 years of age and like her helpers wears the uniform of the Polish Red Cross.

In Poland, Miss Sikorska like many women of her country was a noted horsewoman and her babies said once that he never was proud than the day she "won the horse show" in Poland when she was 10 years of age. During the war she helped to feed the people of Warsaw by driving wagons of food stuffs to that city. She has travelled more than 100 miles, taking several days for each trip on warblasted roads, caring for her horses herself and sleeping where she could.

School-Teacher "Antiques" Dolls

Started It As Hobby And Now Has
About 500 In Her Display

STANTON, Va., April 26: (AP)— A lot of little girls will wish they were Miss Helen Seibold Walter.
Dolls are her business. What used to be her hobby has become a full-time job for this retired school teacher.

Ten years ago Miss Walter started repairing, refinishing and trading period dolls. The only period dolls known then were treasured antiques or family heirlooms. So Miss Walter made reproductions of the dolls—even to the muslins, calico, homespun and silks of their clothes. Displaying and selling the dolls and writing about them has proved a lucrative business.

She doesn't know how many dolls
she has, probably several thousand.
Her display at home totals
500.

LOOK WHAT FORD OFFERS

Bigness! Comfort! Economy!

Plus the POWER AND SMOOTHNESS
of a V-8 Engine

Look at the value that's packed into the 1941 Ford! It's the lowest priced car you can buy in Canada. It's the longest inside. It has the greatest total seating width. You get extra knee-room and front head-room. Wider doors! Larger windshield. Longer spring-base!

Ford riding comfort this year is a revelation. On the new "slow-motion springs," with improved shock absorbers and new ride stabilizer, you simply glide over the bumps. There's a softness and smoothness new to cars at this price.

Only Ford at its price offers you the power and smoothness of a V-8 engine. Eight cylinders for smoothness! Small cylinders for economy! Extremely low gas and oil consumption as proved in one official contest after another! Long life and reliability.

Ford this year is built with greater strength than ever. Frame is twice as rigid. The whole car has a heavier, "Big-car" feel. See a Ford dealer.

FIRE HALTS FINE DANCE

Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Holland At Masset Destroyed—Community Club Busy

MASSETT, April 26:—On Friday evening of last week the New Massett Community Club brought to a close a very successful season with a romfort danre, the ladies attending in housedresses and the gentlemen in shirt sleeves. The evening went off very successfully until midnight when the alarm of fire was given. Everyone ran out and found the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Holland in flames. The bucket brigade got busy protecting the neighboring homes of C. G. Martin and Axel Johanson which are on either side. Luckily for the town there was no wind so the flames did not spread although the Holland home burned to the ground.

The Community Club has had a busy winter with both work and play. The hall has all been beautifully lined with a green fibreboard with white ceiling, the stage has been finished in beaver board. The play which was to have been given in the Easter holidays has been put off till the fall.

The bridge club, branch of the Community Club, closed the winter season on Monday evening April 14. Mrs. Phil Burton was again winner of the cup for the season and holds it for the year but must win it again next season in order to hold it permanently, three years in succession being the order. The bridge club has decided to carry on until the end of June donating the contributions to the Red Cross.

Another highly successful enterprise which was started this past winter season by H. B. Pearson has been the lending library. There is a nice room in the annex of the Community Hall where there are over six hundred books. The librarians, Mrs. Dunn and assistant, Mrs. Phil Barton, are kept very busy every Tuesday evening indexing and looking after the reader's wants.

The Red Cross is also a very busy department. A meeting held every Thursday afternoon in the sunny upstairs flat of the works convenor, Mrs. J. C. S. Dunn, where there is a large table on which the quilts are laid out and put together. When four or five industrious ladies get busy around a quilt it does not take long to complete.

Goody Number of Springs Being Caught
—Ken Harding to Run New Halibut
Liver Processing Plant—Halibut
Landings Coming Up

The last week or so has seen quite a number of fine spring salmon being caught in gillnets both on the Skeena and the Naas Rivers. Several gillnet boats have been doing quite well. The fish is being delivered to the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. and the fresh fish market at Prince Rupert. Some springs are also being taken by a few early trollers in waters around Port Simpson. The opening price of the season at Prince Rupert for red springs was 20c per pound but, as more fish began offering, this fell off to 15c. Still it is profitable fishing for those who are able to get the fish.

Kenneth Harding, for the past few years a laboratory technician at the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, has resigned from the service of the Fisheries Research Board as from the middle of April to take charge of the halibut liver processing plant being established by the Canadian halibut vessel owners and fishermen of Prince Rupert who were unable to come to terms this year with the pharmaceutical firms in regard to the price of livers so, therefore, decided to process their own. As previously announced, premises on the government wharf formerly occupied by the J. H. Carson Co. liver processing plant have been secured by the boat owners and fishermen. The machinery is now on order and is expected at Prince Rupert soon.

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1941 season up to and including yesterday totalled 1,844,400 pounds as compared with 2,156,269 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The Canadian total so far this season is 994,700 pounds, slightly in excess of last year's 944,469 pounds at the same time. American landings, however, are decreased to a total of 849,700 pounds this year from 1,213,800 pounds in 1940. For the week ending yesterday landings totalled 674,000 pounds of which 337,800 pounds was from Canadian vessels and 336,200 pounds from American. Prices held up quite satisfactorily during the week with 9.5c and 7.1c, the high bid of the week for Canadian fish being received by the Lake Biwa for 11,500 pounds, and 9.8c and 7c, the top price for American fish being received by the Helga for 7,000 pounds. The low price of the week for Canadian fish was 8.2c and 7c paid for the catches of several boats. The minimum American price was 8.5c and 7c which the Pioneer III was paid for 11,000 pounds.

Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 3 o'clock this morning from the south and sailed at 5 a.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

Having made a speedy voyage under excellent weather conditions from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands, Union steamer Camosun arrived in port at 11 o'clock last night with passengers, mail and freight. She sails at 10 o'clock tonight on her return south over the same route.

Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Sea, Capt. Len Williams, was in port from 9:45 to 11:30 this morning discharging fish from Ketchikan for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways. The vessel proceeded from here to Seattle.

Islands Pioneer Has Passed Away

Joseph Peterson of Lawn Hill Dies—
Many Attend Funeral

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, April 26.—Another of the pioneers of the Queen Charlotte Islands passed away recently in the person of Joseph Peterson. He was a bachelor and lived with his brother, John, who survives him. His home was near Lawn Hill on the Queen Charlotte-Port Clements highway.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Basil Hartley of the United Church here. The number of mourners and floral offerings testified to the esteem in which the late Mr. Peterson was held.

Queen Charlotte Concert Enjoyed

Delightful Affair Staged In Aid
Of New Community Hall

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, April 26.—A substantial sum towards the new community hall was raised at a concert given by the Farthest West Dramatic Club recently. The program, under the direction of Mrs. Duncan McColl and Mrs. George Chastaney, was as follows: Opening choruses, "O Canada," "We're Proud of Canada," and "There'll Always Be An England." Recitation, M. A. Duval. Song, "Playmates," by Beatrice Haan, Grace Atkins, and Heather McColl. Recitation, Berma Roberts. Dance and Song, "Alice Blue Gown," by the girls. Dramatized songs by the adult members of the club, "Memories," "Missouri Waltz," "Juanita," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "Colorado Moon." One-act play entitled "Hist, She's a Man," Edna Beaven, Claude Duval, Ruth Barry, George Turner, George Rudge, Christina Svang, Alwyn Chastaney. Gordon Jolliffe acted as master of ceremonies.

Candy donated by members of the club was sold during the intermission. An eight-pound box of homemade sweets was raffled by members of the Queen Charlotte Knitting Club and the proceeds donated to the hall building fund. Winner of this was Mrs. K. Kobvasch. Odd boxes were auctioned by Mr. Jolliffe and the money added to the funds. A jolly dance was held at the close of the concert. The piano recently purchased by the Dramatic Club was used for the first time and made a decided improvement to the orchestra. Miss Evelyn Fairbairn and J. Habkirk were accompanists.

Q. C. CITY

Easter services at the United Church here were very beautiful and impressive. There was a good attendance and Rev. Basil Hartley's sermon was simple and sincere. The church was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Miss Velma Fairbairn presided at the organ. A feature of the service was the

Queen Charlotte City Is Very Busy

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, April 26.—Spring has come to the Islands and the gardens are beginning to look lovely with daffodils, primroses, etc., blooming on every hand. There is a great rush of activity here on the sound end of Graham Island. Men are preparing for the fishing season by repairing and painting boats. New homes are being built and improvements made on others. The logging camp is running full swing.

At Queen Charlotte there is quite a housing shortage on account of many of the Alford Bay airmen and the Pacific Mills loggers bringing their families up for the season.

presentation of medals for proficiency to two very young members of the Canadian Girls in Training group, Miss Grace Atkins and Miss Beatrice Haan. In making the presentation Mr. Hartley congratulated the girls on their loyalty and help. They are, he told the interested congregation, two of the youngest members of the association in all Canada. At the close of the regular service Holy Communion was celebrated.

Ten members of the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society met recently at the home of Mrs. J. O. Hill and cut out garments for refugees. These articles will be distributed to workers of the community for completion. At the close of the busy afternoon tea was served by the hostess.

During the Easter holiday the school children enjoyed a glorious day at Sandspit when they were taken on a picnic there by Rev. and Mrs. Basil Hartley. The mission boat Udal made the trip. It was greatly enjoyed on account of beautiful weather. Rev. and Mrs. Basil Hartley are leaving for Vancouver where they will attend the conference of the United Church of Canada held there. They expect to be transferred to another field this spring.
