British and Greek Undersea Craft Taking Big Bags in Italy's Own Waters

SPLIT, Yugoslavia, Feb. 3. (CP)—A concerted British and Greek submarine campaign against Italian military supply routes deep in the Adriatic Sea was indicated today by reports that seven Italian vessels had been sunk recently. Travelers reported that a submarine today sank the Italian freighter Vittorio Benito of about 5,000 tons and another unidentified 6,000-ton Italian vessel. A single Greek submarine of only 570 tons is credited with sinking 40,000 tons of Fascist shipping including a 10,000 ton troopship in convoy at the weekend.

R.A.F. HITS OUT AGAIN

Invasion Bases Heavily Attacked—England Fairly Quiet

LONDON, February 3 (Canadian Press)—The Royal Air Force bombed targets in the northwestern part of German occupied France in a pre-dawn attack today in continuation of week-end thrusts against Axis objectives from Flanders to Sardinia. Rome admits that British torpedo planes started a successful attack against Sardinia.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Royal Air Force, with American fliers participating, renewed its attacks heavily over the week-end on German invasion ports including Brest, Boulogne, Ostend and Lorient. At least four German planes were brought down in dog-fights with loss of one British. Folkestone was able to hear heavy explosions coming from across the Channel.

London had quiet nights Saturday and Sunday as did the rest of England and all the enemy air activity to be reported Sunday was one German plane which dropped eight bombs aimlessly in a field. Early today, however, there was renewed activity by German planes on London and elsewhere in England.

Weather continues to hold down the duelling of British and German air forces but reliable sources predict that springtime will bring greater fury and frightfulness than the world has ever seen.

By mid-afternoon Saturday reports of actual warfare were telling of a renewal of bombardment of the Dover Area by German long-range guns.

OFFENSIVE IS FAILURE

Italian Campaign in Albania Becoming More and More Flop

ATHENS, Feb. 3.—With the entire Tenellbi area reported under Greek control, actual occupation of the town only a question of minutes in isolated detachments and the high command states that the Greeks have taken important Italian mountain positions. Greek dispatches say that recent Fascist efforts to seize the offensive must be regarded as failures.

More than 15,000 Italian troops are surrounded at Tepelini and the Greeks are menacing the port of Valona.

The Royal Air Force delivered a heavy attack against Valona. Store houses and munition dumps of the Italians were hit.

Narrow Escape From Bombing

Sergeant Purdon's Brother and Family Went Visiting Just in Time to Escape Flare

Wonderful escapes that seem like miracles have been happening in England and Scotland since the war began. The outstanding miracle was the evacuation of Dunkerque. Sergeant C. A. Purdon of Fortress Headquarters, whose home is in New Westminster, tells a story of an almost miraculous escape. His brother, who lives at Ewell in Surrey, recently built a new house. A few weeks later he was called away by the government in connection with some engineering work. The wife and children went to stay with Sergeant Purdon's people. That night the Germans came over and dropped a bomb on the new house, an incendiary bomb that went through the child's bed and badly messed up the place with oil. The house was partly destroyed. If the family had been at home the child would most certainly have been killed.

VICTORIES IN AFRICA

Important Railway Town of Agordat in Eritrea Taken By British—Moving on Bengasi

CAIRO, Feb. 3.—While British tanks rumbling smoothly westward in Libya towards besieged Bengasi are reported to be on the very heels of the retreating Italians. British forces have captured the important railway town of Agordat in Eritrea as they continue the drive which is pushing the Italians out of the country toward the Red Sea.

Two Italian divisions are reported trapped while retreating towards the Red Sea as the British now move to encircle and cut off the town of Barentu, 40 miles from Agordat, on the way to the capital Asmara, and the principal port, Masawa. The campaigns in Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland also proceed satisfactorily with the British advancing on all fronts and the Italians steadily retreating.

Agordat fell after a two-day battle. Hundreds of Italian prisoners were taken and a considerable quantity of arms, transport and other war materials. An air attack marked the final phase of the capture of the town.

The Royal Air Force scored hits on three ships in Tripoli Harbor Saturday, setting one afire. One seaplane was destroyed and others were damaged. Other planes dropped hundreds of bombs on the road of the land advance from Derna to Libya.

U.S. WILL BE IN WAR

This Will Be Result of Passing "Lend-Lease" Bill, Representative Fish Says

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 3. (CP)—Representative Hamilton Fish, New York Republican, opened the opposition debate on the aid for Britain bill in the House of Representatives today with the prediction that United States will be involved in the war in Europe and Asia within six months if the measure is approved without change. Fish also predicted that the United States government would take over vital industries and civil rights would be suspended.

Representative Fish spoke a few minutes after Philip F. LaFollette, former Wisconsin governor, testified before the Senate foreign relations committee that Edouard Daladier, former French Premier, told him in 1939 that France expected United States to aid his country with money, materials and men. LaFollette realized the menace of totalitarianism to the United States but was not in favor of the "Lend-Lease" bill as it now stands.

Greatly Accelerated War Effort For This Dominion Is Planned

Many More Troops to be Sent Overseas to Assist in Battle Of Britain—Great Expansion of Navy, Air Force and Arms Production

OTTAWA, February 3: (CP)—Movement overseas of a great army of airmen, infantry and armored units this year was promised Sunday night by Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King in a broadcast address supporting the February war savings drive. Mr. King said that many indications were that, within a short while, the enemy will make a tremendous effort to destroy the British Commonwealth with a series of smashing blows of unprec. dented fury. The program provides for the dispatch overseas this year of the Third Canadian Division, an army tank brigade, remainder of troops for the corps now in England, large increases in the equipment and personnel of both the navy and the air force and a huge expansion in the production of war equipment in Canada.

The Canadian government will spend more than $100,000,000 during the fiscal year of 1941-42 in formation and equipment of the armored division and tank brigade to reinforce the Canadian Corps overseas. Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, announced today at a conference called to clarify details of the Dominion's accelerated war program.

Mr. King, in his address, appealed to every Canadian to assist in rallying the strength of the nation so that Christian civilization might be saved from disaster.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler has made his aims clear. He would make a tremendous effort to smash the British Commonwealth of Nations in a desperate race against the growing strength of the British Empire and the support of the United States. It would be a test of strength in total war with the Old Country the first line of defence for Canada.

The only way to meet total war was by total effort—not for a day, not for a week, not for a month, not for a year but every day until victory was won. Every man, woman and child must do everything possible to help. Total effort could be obtained in two ways—one way was by compulsion which was the enemy's way. The other way was by the freewill offering of a free people, the way of Canada which it was hoped to maintain.

There would be need for more change in daily lives of the people in Canada during 1941 than had been known in 1940. None were too humble, none were too poor, none were too weak to make their contribution toward the winning of the war.

Not all could fight, like the young men, on the front lines but almost every one could supply money to support the fighting forces by providing them with transport and equipment. The Prime Minister appealed to the people to lend all they could as quickly as they could. The government asked Canadians to save carefully and lend freely, to set aside some portion of their income or wages. These all would establish a bond between themselves and those who fought. "Lend freely," said the Premier "and help save human lives. You yourself will become a defender of freedom."

In addition to disclosing the important reinforcements it was planned during 1941 to send overseas, the Prime Minister stated that organization and development of the air training scheme, already eight months ahead of schedule, would be continued. The personnel of the air force would be increased to 36,000 before the end of the year and the number of planes to 4,000.

Twenty-five new squadrons would be sent overseas. The Canadian navy would be increased to 416 ships and 26,920 men. Mr. King also gave details of the arms, armament and fighting equipment which would be made in Canada, this to consist largely of such equipment as was not obtainable from the standardized stock of the United States.

VICHY MEN UNDER FIRE

Rival Committee Formed With View To Wresting Control of France

VICHY, Feb. 3.—The radio in German-occupied Paris announced Saturday night the formation of a rival committee to Marshal Henry Philippe Petain's National Union Group and violently assailed "The Men of Vichy." The Paris committee, it was stated, would stand for complete collaboration with the Germans. Petain's committee of fifty-one, formed this week, is intended to construct a new party of national revolution and cement "spiritual union" of all France.

There are reports that Former Premier Pierre Laval is returning here on Wednesday from Paris with Admiral Darlan bringing German demands. The political situation in unoccupied France continues tense.

Reaction was awaited with much interest to a Free French appeal, conveyed through General Charles De Gaulle, to France's North African army that it join in the fight against Italy in Libya. A reply from General Weygand at Algier Saturday night urged adherence to Petain.

DEAD IN TRAFFIC

One Fatal Accident at Vancouver and Another Near Chilliwack Over Week-End

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3.—There were several traffic accidents in Vancouver and district over the week-end. Two of them were fatal.

Charles Samuelson of Vancouver was killed when struck by a street car near the British Columbia Electric Co. station at Carroll and Hastings. It was the fifth fatal traffic mishap in 1941 and came on the heels of a warning by Mayor J. W. Cornett that, if the present rate kept up, this would be the heaviest year in Vancouver's history for traffic fatalities.

Jimmy Louis, son of a Chilliwack Indian chief, was killed in an automobile accident on the Vedder River road.

Concluding a one-day visit to port, U.S.S. Charleston, American gunboat, sailed at midnight Saturday night for Alaska in the course of an inspection cruise.

Canada in the War . . .

Canada has well over 50,000 men overseas and not a single man was lost in carrying them to their present destinations.

The Canadian navy has convoyed 3,500 ships across the pond exclusive of troopships. The personnel of the navy numbers about 23,000.

Trained airmen will from now on be sent to Britain or Africa regularly under the Empire training scheme.

Sugar In United Kingdom . . .

According to newspapers received in the city published just before Christmas, the price of sugar had just been reduced by a penny a pound, bringing it down from five pence a pound to fourpence. The price was only three pence a pound when the war began but the first war budget, with its tax on sugar, made the price jump. The drop in price is proving a boon to the average citizen. That brings the price almost as low as the Canadian retail price where there has been no war tax on it.

It May Not Be Long . . .

With the probability of fierce fighting in Europe in the near future, fighting which may possibly end the war, this is the time to do all we possibly can to help finance the pouring of Canadian supplies into Britain. All the Canadian government asks is that we loan them our money at three per cent interest, twice as high as bank interest rate just now. War savings certificates may be purchased at any bank.

Refused To Be Tied . . .

Evidently one of the main points at issue between those who were willing to take part in the interprovincial conference was whether the conference was to be tied down to consideration of the Sirois report or not. As it was decided that nothing outside the report could be considered, three of the provinces decided not to take part. They could not do so very well because they were not satisfied with the report as it stood and they could not go beyond it. To have entered the conference under those circumstances would have admitted that there was a possibility of British Columbia accepting some plan that came within the scope of the report. This it could not do. Premier Pattullo proposed to broaden the agenda but this was not accepted.

Railways And Rents . . .

The federal government is holding down the owners of property by refusing them the right to take advantage of the changed condition by increasing rents. At the same time they are allowing the railway companies to increase their freight rates and that at a time when the business of the railways is steadily increasing.

We must have railways and they should be allowed a reasonable profit. We must have houses and the rent restrictions has almost stopped the building of new homes. One is just as important as the other. It is also important that at a time like this there should be no profiteering either in rents or in railway freights.

BUILDING IS HIGHER

Better Start Being Made This Year In Prince Rupert Than Last

Building permits issued in Prince Rupert during the month of January just ended represented a total value of $12,450 as compared with $5,175 in the same month last year. Four new residential buildings were provided for in the month's list with extensions to some existing structures.

The January building list was as follows:

- J. T. Cook, foundation repairs, Second Avenue West, $250.
- H. K. Yamanaka, general repairs, Third Avenue West, $300.
- A. McCorkindale, general repairs, Sixth Avenue West, $200.
- E. Petersen, storey and a half frame building, Sixth Avenue East, $1800.
- Provincial government, temporary shed, Third Avenue West, $300.
- A. O. Morse, remodelling building, Taylor Street, $300.
- R. Andrews, frame building, Hays Cove Avenue, $500.
- Mrs. Robert Blance, frame building, First Avenue West, $2200.
- Mrs. Verne Possum, reshingling, Fifth Avenue West, $50.
- Lee Chow, general repairs, Third Avenue West, $400.
- Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative, addition to building, waterfront, $3,500.

Man in the Moon

There are probably a lot of people who do not like me, a few who dislike me but very few who really take the trouble to hate me.

Very few people think for themselves. For instance there was the fuss over the interprovincial conference recently. All our thinking was done for us by propagandists.

I hope the war will be over soon before I run so deeply into debt that I shall have no hope of climbing out.

Those who attain riches are doomed to disappointment. They find they can wear only one suit of clothes, eat only one good helping of food, ride in only one car and love only one wife. Beyond that all is useless accumulation.

I wonder how many Germans are tonight disobeying the commands of their feehur by listening to the British broadcasts.

One reason why the British win is because they sing as they march against the enemy. They are happy because they feel sure they will win. They sing because they are happy and singing makes them happy.

We are fighting for freedom yet we object to free thinkers, we abhor free lovers and we imprison freebooters.

Pa: "How did you get on with the boss when you asked for a raise?" Stan: "Oh, he was like a lamb!" Pa: "Good! What did he say?" Stan: "Bah!"

Said the toe to the sock, "Let me through! Let me through!" Said the sock to the toe, "I'll be 'darned' if I do!"

Robson: "It is really wonderful what some insects can do. A grasshopper can jump two hundred times its own length." Hobson: "That's nothing. I once saw a wasp lift a two hundred pound man three feet off the ground!"

P.C. Murphy: "How'd on there, me bucko! Not so fast! Have ye a driving licence for this car?"

Motorist: "Of course I've got a license! Do you want to see it?"

P.C. Murphy: "An' what would I want to see it for? I only want to see it when ye haven't got it! Drive on!"

Jones: "I say, Smith is very absent-minded. The other night he sat up till midnight trying to remember what he had to do."

Black: "And did he remember?"

Jones: "Yes, he wanted to go to bed early!"

If you want something, advertise for it. Hundreds of people get what they want that way. (tt)

Flying For Britain

Being the Diary of the Last 15 Days in the Life of a Royal Air Force Ace

SECOND DAY

LONDON, February 3.—Second day (September 3, 1940)—Unsuccessful day—made no contact.

Third day—Two patrols—0920 and 1230—but no contact made and no fun at all. Just roaming around looking for the "Hun in the Sun." Watched night bombers in the dark, parachute flares and A.A. bursts all over the sky. Slept well.

Fourth day—Another big day. Over Thameshaven we met 25 bombers and scores of Messerschmitt 109's. Fired at a Dornier 215 but had to break away when fighters came down en masse. Chased bombers for 40 minutes but couldn't catch up. Came home and found Butch had bailed out and landed in a garden, where a terrified woman looked at him and then ran into the house. No more action today.

Fifth day—Up in the morning over the Thames Estuary to meet another raid. We nip in before the Hun fighters can get at us and do a quick flank attack. Fighters follow at once. I follow behind the bombers, watching two Messerschmitt 109s coming up behind me.

Before they get into range I turn a sharp left and whip under them. Unfortunately C _____, who is following me, gets plugged by one of these guys and has to crash-land. I get into a circle with two 109s and shoot at the second. He starts to dive, so I chase him. Third burst sets him on fire, whole of starboard wing and fuselage. We are down to 50 feet so I leave him to burn and climb to 10,000 feet at full bore.

Work in Pairs

Fighting is still going on and two more 109s come for me. They work in pairs and it seems fairly easy to get number two. Again I pick him out and we tear down to 50 feet. We race along the Pilgrim's Way (Chaucer's old road to Canterbury) and I fire the rest of my ammunition into him.

Both radiators stream glycol. I formate on him when I finish my rounds and he hys his oxygen mask off, looking out at me. I leave him to go home and see him crash-land a few miles on.

Going home I see a parachute and circle it—a British one. Later it turns out that it was the C.O. who got shot down by the 109s. In the evening a party, then on to a dance with the boys of another squadron. Slept at _____ and stayed in bed till nine.

DR. DOBSON IMPRESSES

Appeals To Responsibility Of Individual In Church Work

At the evening service in First United Church yesterday Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson, secretary of the social educational services of the United Church, was the speaker. Dr. Dobson gave one of his usual forceful and convincing sermons, making a strong appeal to the individual and emphasizing the responsibility of the individual for all phases of the success of the work of the church. He reminded his listeners that the Gospel was first given in such times as these when war ravaged the world. Its good news has a particular meaning for us now when the "collapse of nations" was so frequently mentioned. The work of the Gospel was redemptive. It brought man out of bondage into freedom. This was the struggle of today.

The churches, Dr. Dobson claimed, had a better acquaintance with the conditions of all nations than any other body. They were of all nations. Even so far back as 1818 the churches held world councils and at one of these sixty nations were represented. But there could be no freedom without discipline and obedience. The Cross was needed to save the world. The congregations, the families, the elders of the church, had all to play their parts. The body must be a fit temple for the soul. The voice must be worthy of it and the subjects the voice discussed. Character must be a lighthouse to all acquaintances.

The progress of the church was encouraging but it must be made more effective by the members. Dr. Dobson was very outspoken in the need for effective restriction of strong drink. In closing he spoke of the tremendous influences of two Christian families in the world—the M'esses' Sons of China, wives of Dr. Sun-Yat Sen and General Chiang Kai-Shek, and then of Britain's own beloved King and Queen. The choir sang the anthem "Abide With Me" very effectively. Reach ten thousand people with a "want ad." in the Daily News.

To Bed Hopeful; Gets Up Thankful

Correspondent of Local Man Says it is Wonderful How Little Damage Done in England

J. Moran of this city recently received letters from relatives in England which seem to indicate that the people there are much more cheerful than they were formerly. They say that most people take no notice of the air raid alarms but continue their work as if nothing was happening. They feel sure of victory.

A friend in Devonshire tells of bicycling six hundred miles through different parts of the country. He says it is wonderful how little damage has been done considering the number of bombs dropped. Very many of the bombs have been dropped in open fields.

In the correspondence is a story of an old lady who refused to take refuge in any of the shelters. When telling of her reason for refusing she said: "I go to bed hopeful and I get up thankful."

UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Miss Simone Pelletier of Montreal Becomes Bride of Corporal Jack Loiselle

At 8 o'clock Saturday morning Church of the Annunciation was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Miss Simone Pelletier of Montreal became the bride of Corporal Jack Loiselle of the local Royal Canadian Air Force.

The bride, gowned in powder blue crepe with black accessories and corsage of talisman roses, was given in marriage by Charles P. Balagno.

The bridesmaid, Miss Cecile Cavanne, wore a dress of dusty pink crepe with airforce blue accessories, also with a corsage of talisman roses.

Corporal G. Cayer was groomsmen.

During the signing of the register Miss Blanche Curtin sang "Ave Maria." Organ selections were beautifully rendered by Miss Frances Moore.

Many friends gathered in the evening at a reception held at the Knights of Columbus Hall to tender their felicitations to the happy couple.

The bride's table covered with a lovely lace cloth, was tastefully decorated with pink tapers in silver sconces—and centred by a three tier wedding cake which was duly cut by the bride.

The evening was happily spent in dancing and singing, a buffet supper being served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Loiselle who are taking up residence in the city, will have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of many friends.

BRIGHT DAY BEYOND WAR

Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson Sees Peace Founded on Equity and Justice Coming

Beyond the destruction and death of war will come the Miracle of the Gospel—the healing fellowship and unity of God-given peace, for divine power and influence transcends the nations and their conflicts, declared Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson of Vancouver, social service secretary of the United Church of Canada, in delivering the morning sermon at First Presbyterian Church yesterday.

When all things seemed lost and collapse of nations and customs appeared imminent, there was the hope of God's healing power to cling to. There had been aggressors before in history as menacing in their time as those of today but they were now almost forgotten.

As long as there was aggression there would be wars but after war again would come peace and understanding between nations now seeming irreparably apart founded on equity and justice God's healing influence, religion compatible with science.

Today people were being called upon to sacrifice and to save in order to help in winning the war. Dr. Dobson suggested that first things to be given up might be the things which were destructive of effort—the use of liquor on which Canadians spent $200,000,000 annually, selfishness, pyramiding of wealth. For the present, at least, Canadians did not need, he felt, to give up necessities or a reasonable measure of the comforts of life.

YOUTH RALLY LAST EVENING

Dr. Hugh Dobson is Speaker at First Baptist Church

"Canada and Her Youth" was the subject chosen by Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson, secretary of Social Service and Evangelism in Western Canada, in speaking before the rally of the Religious Education Council in First Baptist Church on Sunday night. This meeting marked the beginning of the local observance of Christian Education week.

"Democracy depends upon self control; totalitarian states upon internal control," said Dr. Dobson, "If we would preserve democracy, we must practise more self-discipline."

While youth was necessarily the time when one rebelled against all forms of discipline, it was also the time when one chose one's ideals. All great reformers started in youth to preach their revolutionary gospel. Christianity had found its inception in youth, for Jesus, Peter, Paul and all the disciples were young men when they dedicated themselves to their great cause.

The speaker urged Canadian youth, in particular, to practise Christian self-discipline in order to preserve the Christian ideal of freedom which was the foundation of democracy.

Miss Kay Watson, chairman of the Religious Education Council was in charge of the rally which was opened by community singing under the direction of Ken Harding. The scripture lesson was given by Ken Harding. Miss Phyllis Hamblin sang violin solo. Mrs. G. C. Gilker was pianist and organist.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Armour Salvage Co.'s power tug Daly arrived Saturday afternoon from the scene of the wreck of the United States Army transport Kvichak in Finlayson Channel near Klemtu. Small boats have been engaged in lightering the Kvichak of cargo but little, if any, progress has yet been made in actual salvaging of the vessel itself. Possibly she will be abandoned.

Returning to service after annual overhaul, Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 9:30 last night from the south and sailed at 10:30 p.m. for Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning southbound.

The Vancouver tugboat Lapointe was in port from 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon to 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having brought in a piece of logging equipment from the Queen Charlotte Islands for repair at the local dry dock. The Lapointe had an arduous 48-hour battle with the elements a week ago while crossing Hecate Straits from Ocean Falls to the Islands with the big log barge K. V. Kruse. Once the barge broke adrift but as a result of valourous work on the part of the crew, she was picked up again.

BRITISH COLUMBIA THRIVES BY ITS INDUSTRIES.

With its immense resources of Timber, Minerals, and Foodstuffs, naturally British Columbia has played a major rôle in Canada's war effort.

For the Basic Industries, 1940 was a highly successful year.

But besides these, we have our Secondary Industries—Manufacturing in all its branches—and these, too, record substantial gains.

In fact, British Columbia finds its industrial returns restored to the level of the banner years of 1928-29.

There is every reason to believe that the cessation of hostilities will bring a lively movement of capital and population to British Columbia, and that the acceleration due to the war will be maintained in peace, and on a solid and lasting basis.

"BUY B.C. PRODUCTS" and help now to make British Columbia an attractive field for new enterprises by supporting and building up those already in existence.

DANCE AND SONG FILM

"Strike Up the Band." With Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, Showing Here

Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, June Preisser and other youngsters make musical merriment in "Strike Up the Band," first of the week feature picture on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here. Mickey and Judy organize a high school swing band and put on a show to raise money for a trip to Paul Whiteman's contest for school bands in Chicago. Mickey meets Whiteman (played by the famous orchestra leader in person) and all is set for the trip when one of the pals needs money for medical aid to save his life. They make the sacrifice but, thanks to the town millionaire, they make the trip and win the contest.

Comical episodes include a travesty on old time melodramas staged by the youngsters with hero, heroine and villain. The old stunts of the "flicker days" are revived with such ancient ditties as "Heaven Will Protect a Working Girl" and "The Curse of an Aching Heart." In contrast there are such streamlined song hits of today as "Nobody" and "Our Love Affair." Whiteman and his orchestra contribute "When Day is Done" and "My Wonderful One." Other musical numbers include "Strike Up the Band," "She's More to be Pityed than Censured," "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave," "Ta Ra Ra Boom de Ay" and "The Drummer Boy."

ACTRESS IS 'HOME BODY'

But Helen Hayes Admits She's "Stage Struck" in Shakespeare and Expects to Expand Drama Career

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 3: (AP)—Helen Hayes, who is making her first Broadway appearance in Shakespeare and starring in contemporary radio dramas at the same time, already is making career plans for 1941-42.

To her neighbors, "Mrs. Charlie McArthur," she is one of America's tiniest and mightiest actresses. She is five feet one, blue-eyed, soft-voiced. She has handled some of the theatre's toughest roles in a way that has given her tall stature in the eyes of its world.

Miss Hayes is one actress who gets no thrill out of night clubs. Every night after the performance she motors back to the country town of Nyack, N.Y., where the McArthurs live with their 10-year-old daughter Mary, three-year-old adopted son Jamie and a brace of dogs.

The star spends her country days in walks and skating excursions with the children who mean a lot in her life.

Big Success
Miss Hayes and Maurice Evans, who have scored a big success as Viola and Malvolio in "Twelfth Night," plan to appear together in another play as soon as this one ends its Broadway run and a possible tour. Miss Hayes thinks that may be next fall.

Critics gave her a big hand for her interpretation of the famous role of Viola, in which she masquerades as a boy and appears for the first time on the stage in pants, black and white zebra-striped knickers which made the first night audience blink. She made an innovation in the part by appearing in a swooshing white ultra-feminine gown in the last act after her disguise is revealed.

Wrapped in a suave fitted housecoat of Scotch striped wool, she sat on the chintz-covered sofa in her charming "social" dressing room, beyond the mirrored make-up room and talked about her first Shakespearean role on Broadway.

Likes Avon Bard
"I'm stage struck about it," she said. "I think I've enjoyed it more than any other play. Shakespeare gives you the chance to say so many beautiful things. I'm still working on my reading of the verse in 'Twelfth Night' and get Charlie to check up on me every now and then."

"Charlie" is her husband, Charles McArthur, playwright, who, she says, has contributed a lot to her career.

How does she get it all done? Miss Hayes just shrugs that question off. "I thrive on work," she says. "I just do it. Besides, when you compare my program with what the old trouper of the 90's used to do it isn't much."

William Gibbs McAdoo Had Career of Many Facets

WASHINGTON D.C., February 3:—Tunnel builder, wartime secretary of the treasury, lawyer and senator, William Gibbs McAdoo who died here, had a career of many facets.

He was a power in the councils of the democratic party for more than 20 years, and played leading, but contrasting, roles in two of the most dramatic national conventions in the annals of American politics.

At Madison Square Garden in New York in 1924, McAdoo and Al-

William Gibbs McAdoo, former United States Secretary of Treasury.

Swings to Roosevelt

The 44 votes of his delegation were pledged to John Nance Garner but when it appeared that a deadlock might result from the contest between the two leading candidates for the nomination, one of whom was Smith, McAdoo appeared on the platform just before the fourth call and swung his state's votes to Franklin Delano Roosevelt. This action started a stampede to the Roosevelt banner which nominated him on that ballot.

McAdoo returned to his home in Los Angeles after the Chicago convention on the crest of a wave of Roosevelt enthusiasm. He announced his candidacy for the United States Senate, won his party's nomination in a battle which old line democratic leaders in California, and went on to win the election in a three-cornered contest against republican and prohibition party opposition.

To McAdoo, as the greatest achievement of his long career, however, was given the credit for financing the world war as secretary of the treasury. A chance acquaintanceship with Dr. Woodrow Wilson, then president of Princeton University, led McAdoo out of his private life when he was nearing his 50th birthday into the very glare of the spotlight.

At that time his fame rested principally upon his feat in financing and constructing the Hudson river tunnels after experts said it could not be done. He accomplished this in the face of opposition from leading financiers, and the struggle marked the beginning of a long series of disputes with Wall Street.

Managed Wilson Campaign

When Wilson was elected governor of New Jersey he sought McAdoo's advice on financial legislation. Later when the governor appeared in line for the democratic presidential nomination, McAdoo took a leading part in organizing convention forces to the end that Wilson might be nominated.

In the early part of McAdoo's service as secretary of the treasury he instituted the drive that resulted in the creation of the federal reserve system in an effort to wrest control of the nation's finances from Wall street. When war broke out in Europe in 1914, McAdoo took the lead in the development of an American merchant marine to make the United States independent on the seas.

But the greatest responsibility devolved upon him after the United States entered the war. Billions upon billions of dollars were needed to finance the mobilization of the United States as well as to assist the allied governments in carrying on.

McAdoo proposed the sale of United States bonds of small denomination direct to the people as a means of raising the needed money. Again leading financiers said it could not be done, but this opposition did not alter the determination of McAdoo to try it. An issue of $2,000,000,000 of liberty bonds was offered to the people at the start. It was over-subscribed by more than $1,000,000,000. Three other issues were received as well.

The huge task of mobilization found the railroads unprepared to bear the burden placed upon them, and the government took them over. McAdoo was selected to administer the railroads. Enemies he made during this period formed the bulwark of the opposition later when he sought his party's nomination for the presidency. After the war the railroads were returned to private ownership. It was claimed that their condition was far worse than when the government took them over.

Poverty Besets Boyhood

Born October 31, 1893, near Marietta, Ga., in the third year of the Civil War, McAdoo's early life was a struggle against poverty and, like many another successful American, he spent part of his boyhood selling newspapers. He received some formal education in law at the University of Tennessee, and through his work in a law office was admitted to the bar at 21. He married Sarah Houston Fleming, November 8, 1885. To them was born six children. She died in 1912.

During the first year he served in the Wilson cabinet, McAdoo courted Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the President. They were married in the White House on May 7, 1914. Twenty years later, Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo appeared in the superior court in Los Angeles County and won an uncontested divorce in half an hour. She said her health would not permit her to live in Washington where, as senator, her husband found it necessary to spend much of his time.

McAdoo resigned as secretary of treasury shortly after the Armistice was signed in 1918, saying he found it necessary to reenter private life to recoup his fortune.

When the by-elections in 1922 showed a gain in democratic strength, McAdoo launched a campaign to carry the democratic banner in the 1924 elections.

Drawn Into Oil Scandal

His name was drawn into the Teapot Dome oil scandal investigation in the midst of the campaign preceding the convention in New York. Edward L. Doheny testified that McAdoo was one of several former cabinet officers of the Wilson administration who had been retained as counsel. McAdoo hastened to Washington, denied all knowledge of Doheny's dealings for leases on the naval oil reserves, and publicly withdrew as counsel.

As senator, McAdoo's chief interests were in banking and financial legislation. A serious illness in the spring of 1934 kept him away from the greater part of the sessions of the 73rd congress when the Roosevelt administration was presenting its long series of momentous recovery bills.

Tall and erect despite his more than 70 years, McAdoo was as active as a senator as he had been 20 years before when he first went to Washington as a member of the Wilson cabinet. Aviation was his hobby. He owned his own plane, although he did not pilot it himself, and made frequent trips by air, across the continent and to Mexico.

McAdoo never considered himself a wealthy man, although through the pinch of poverty in early life he developed the habit of living economically and eventually became well-to-do.
