COMPLETION OF GOVT. WHARF AGAIN DEFERRED

ALARMING SUBSIDENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT WHARF

For Space of 35 Foot Radius Around Mass of 120 Tons of Coal Discharged From S.S. Celtic, Wharf Has Given Six Inches ---Supposed That One of the Piles Has Slipped--- Diver Will Descend and Investigate

After a period of somnolence following the erection of the sheds on the Provincial Government wharf which led the public to believe that the wharf was at last looking toward completion, there have been sensational doings down there. Trouble has begun again, and the condition of the wharf is now not only incomplete, but dangerous, according to some opinions.

As the G. T. P. wood pile wharf has frequently been loaded to more than double the extent of the 120 tons placed on the Government wharf yesterday, the trouble is clearly not due to overloading. It is believed that one of the huge ferro-concrete piles used in the wharf's construction has been resting on a ledge, instead of on bedrock, and that this pile has slipped. There is now the danger that other piles may be dragged down with the displaced one, the weight of the piles themselves being contributory to the immense strain on the structure.

dentally, mention may be made of the faulty bollards placed on the wharf, which are so poorly designed that it has been necessary to bore the top of each one for the insertion of a makeshift in the shape of a crossbar to prevent the hawsers slipping off.

WEDDING WAS CELEBRATED ON CITY OF SEATTLE AT SEA

Romantic Affair in Queen Charlotte Sound---Bride and Bridegroom Belong to Wrangell, Alaska, and Dame Rumor Hints at an Elopement---Marriage Certificate on Menu Cards a Cherished Memento of the Auspicious Event

Little did Prince Rupert realize when the sonorous sound of the City of Seattle's siren boomed over the townsite as the steamer ploughed her way into harbor that romance rode rosy on the vessel's prow, and that the little god of love with his attendant Hymen haunted the steamer fore and aft.

Wedding Steamer.
The steamer City of Seattle is a wedding ship today, a regular honeymoon barque, a boatful of happiness. Every single one of her 110 passengers is interested in this her latest trip northward. For as the good ship stemmed the tides of the Queen Charlotte Sound on her way to Prince Rupert a deep sea wedding was celebrated on board in thorough nautical fashion by Captain Thomas Johnson and duly entered in the steamship's log book.

Menu Card Certificate.
An interesting memento of the occasion, as well as a precious one, is in possession of the bride in the shape of the marriage certificate, a copy of the legal regulation entry in the ship's log, written on the steamer's menu cards. This unique marriage certificate will certainly be treasured for many a year.

ROADS WANTED AT KITSUMKALUM LAKE

Settlers Unite in Desire to Press Their Claims for Development of Their Fertile District on the Government Authorities

(Special Correspondence.)
Kitsumkalum Lake, May 23.—The second meeting of the Kitsumkalum Lake settlers was held at the residence of Mrs. A. Ross last Tuesday, and an association was formed with a charter membership of 22. The object of this association is the betterment of roads, especially for the upper valley, this large settlement of 38 actual settlers being cut off from the outer world for several months of the year owing to the fact that the money supposed to have been appropriated for the purpose of building a passable wagon road along the shore of Kitsumkalum Lake for a distance of seven miles has been spent elsewhere.

north—and that is by far the largest number of the valley residents—their only means of getting supplies, lumber, etc., is by rafting or boating in row boats a distance of seven miles. Our member, Mr. Manson, when visiting Kitsumkalum last February was made thoroughly acquainted with the existing conditions and was offered a conveyance to take him to the lake and satisfy him as to the importance and necessity of this road. He promised to give it his personal attention, but so far has failed to make good that promise.

tribute them was taken on an extended trip through Kitwaglak valley by parties interested in purchased lands held by a syndicate and where there is not one settler, arriving at Kitsumkalum six weeks after the fruit trees, which were beginning to bloom at that time, while the season was too far advanced to plant trees.

DANGEROUS FIRE IS SOON QUELLED

Red Devil & Co. Made Good Again Last Night—Ted Morrison's Bowling Alleys Damaged, but Blaze Had No Chance to Spread.

Last night the efficiency of the red devil and its attendant fire fighters under Chief Dan McDonald prevented another serious fire. The outbreak started in Ted Morrison's bowling alley, which is situated right in the centre of the most populous part of the city. The fire originated in the attic above the bowling alley and was difficult to locate, but within a few seconds from the time the alarm was rung in the red devil was on the job and streams of water were searching out the burning corner in the building. All danger was averted in a few moments, but considerable damage was done to fittings by water and smoke.

There was a time when citizens of Prince Rupert believed that a fire in the central part of the city would spell devastation for certain. Now it is pretty well assured that the fires downtown are usually less destructive than those far away from the congested district. Thanks to the prompt efficiency of the brigade, not a spark seems to have half a chance to spread in the business area.

WILL INSPECT EARL GREYS

Major J. E. Mills, District Officer Commanding Military District No. 11, Has Arrived and Will Hold Inspection Tomorrow.

By the Prince George this morning there arrived Major J. E. Mills, district officer commanding military district No. 11. The visit of the major is an important one for Earl Grey Riflemen, as tomorrow night in the army on Second avenue he will make an official inspection of Prince Rupert's own regiment. That his inspection will result in one of the most satisfactory reports yet made upon the regiment's efficiency is believed by many citizens who have been watching the recent parades. Special to Daily News
Newark, N. J., May 29.—One of the most sweeping victories Theodore Roosevelt has even won in the primaries since he began his campaign for Republican presidential nomination was given him yesterday by the Republican voters of New Jersey. Indications based on incomplete returns are that he carried every vote in the congressional districts in the state, as well as the state at large, and that all the 28 delegates New Jersey will send to Chicago will be Roosevelt men.
