Hitler Attacks Russia Without Warning; Blows From Land, Sea And Sky

BATTLE LINE ALL THE WAY FROM ARCTIC TO BLACK SEA—SOVIET FORCES RESISTING STUBBORNLY—UKRAINE APPEARS IMMEDIATE OBJECTIVE

Germany's invasion of Russia is taking place by land, sea and air along a 2000 mile front from the Arctic Ocean to the Black Sea. The Nazis appear to be centering the attack from East Prussia into the Baltic States and from Rumania into Bessarabia with wheat fields of Ukraine and oil fields beyond as the immediate objective. Strong Russian resistance is evidently being met although how effective it will be and where the battles may localize are points that are as yet obscure. Millions of fighting men with heavy mechanized forces are poised for action on either side. Air raids in the Ukraine and Russian occupied Poland have commenced. Such cities as Kiev, Sebastopol and Brest-Litovsk have been hit.

Adolf Hitler on Sunday ordered the march of the Nazi armies into Russia and the invasion commenced at 4 a.m. Hitler, in his proclamation, said he had had enough of Russia's violations of his frontier and he was commending the fate of Germany to the Army.

"Together with the Finns, the Germans are standing from Narvik to the Carpathians," Hitler declared.

It was not until an hour after the invasion commenced that the German ambassador to Moscow officially notified the Russian foreign office that Germany was in a state of war with Russia.

Hitler, in a typical tirade, declared the march-in as the greatest in history. He charged that a secret understanding had all along existed between Russia and Great Britain and that Russia had attempted to stab Germany in the back through Bulgaria. He had long irked under Soviet entry of the Baltic States and Bessarabia.

It was promptly denied in London that there was any secret agreement with Russia, a British spokesman saying that it had been impossible to negotiate with Russia since Soviet foreign policy had been based on the agreement between Germany and Russia made just before the outbreak of the war in 1939.

Russian Ambassador Ivan Maisky in London had a long conversation yesterday with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and emerged smiling broadly.

Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotoff of Russia, in a statement at Moscow yesterday, said that the German invasion of Russia was unparalleled in the history of civilized nations. In violation completely of the German-Russian friendship pact, it was a "wanton, barbaric attack." Molotoff announced on the Moscow radio that German planes had bombed Kiev, the Russian Ukraine capital, following Hitler's declaration of war on the Soviet. It was the first reported action of the new conflict.

German troops have made small gains in former Lithuania and Poland but at great cost, the Russian high command said today. German air attacks on airdromes of Kiev and Sebastopol cost the Nazis sixty-five planes, a communique said.

United States Admits Great Britain Is Now Air Master In Europe

LONDON, June 23.—United States air observers said today that the series of crippling blows dealt by the Royal Air Force to Nazi military targets and air force have won Great Britain "complete supremacy" in the air over Northern Europe.

IS COMING TO PACIFIC

Premier Mackenzie King To Inspect Defences On This Coast

OTTAWA, June 23.—Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King will leave Ottawa tomorrow for the Pacific Coast to make an inspection of defence establishments—army, navy and air. His first stop will be at Calgary June 27.

With the commencement of the new phase of warfare between Germany and Russia, Premier King sounded a new call to arms for Canadians.

Hitler's invasion of Russia, declared Premier King, removed the last vestige of doubt that he did not intend to achieve world domination.

"Everyone who engages Hitler aids our cause, willingly or unwillingly," Mr. King declared.

Great Britain To Aid Russia; Announcement Is Made By Churchill

"Any Man or State Who Fights Nazism Will Have Our Aid; Any Man or State Who Marches With Hitler is Our Foe," He Declares

LONDON, June 23.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced to the world at 11 o'clock Sunday morning the decision of the British government in regard to policy following the German invasion of Russia which he described as a typically perfidious move carried out with the same scrupulous technique which had characterized all his previous moves. The policy of His Majesty's government, Churchill declared, a policy in which he hoped the great Dominions would concur in due course would be the resolve to destroy the "bloodthirsty guttersnipe" Hitler and every vestige of the Nazi machine.

Never would Great Britain parley or negotiate with Hitler or any of his gang. Britain would continue to fight on land, on sea and from the air until, with God's help, she would be freed of Hitler's aggression.

"Any man or state who fights Nazism will have our aid," declared Churchill. "Any man or state which marches with Hitler is our foe. It follows that we shall give whatever help we can to Russia and the Russian people and we shall call upon those people who are our allies to do the same." Already the British government had offered the Russian government any technical or economic assistance which was in its power to give. Germany would continue to be bombed by day and by night with all British power and with increased intensity and with sharpening doses month by month.

Hitler's one motive in his attack on Russia, Churchill said, was to destroy Soviet power before he brought the full strength of his army and air force into the attack upon the British Isles which he knew he must conquer and which conquest he hoped to accomplish before this year ends and before the full strength of the United States could intervene. "Russia's danger is our danger," declared Churchill "and the danger of the western hemisphere. Let us learn the lessons of what has occurred before, redouble our efforts and strike with united strength while life and power remain."

REDS HOLD ON GRIMLY

Germans Advance Slow and Costly After Crossing Red Frontier

MOSCOW, June 23: (CP)—The Red Army, giving way slowly to the first Nazi onrush, moved vast masses of men and guns into the fight today and called tens of thousands more to arms against Russia's erstwhile non-aggression pact partner.

The Army high command said, in its first communique since the dawn attack Sunday, that the Germans were fought to a standstill up to noon Sunday but by nightfall they had made penetrations of six to ten miles, principally into Lithuania and a section of Poland now part of the Soviet. The German radio reported today that Nazi forces had crossed the Prut River between Rumania and Russia and were continuing their advance after German artillery and the luftwaffe had smashed the Soviet border fortifications.

ETHIOPIAN CAMPAIGN

CAIRO—The British Middle East command announced that British forces had taken 8000 prisoners including eleven generals in the capture of Jimma, southwestern Ethiopia.

Line-Ups In New War—Germany and Russia

Great Britain announces policy of assisting Russia in any way possible since Russia is now an enemy of Germany. "Any man or state which fights Nazism will have our aid," says Prime Minister Winston Churchill. "Any man or state which marches with Hitler is our foe."

United States appears divided on question of extension of "lease-lend" measure to Russia. It is President Franklin D. Roosevelt's prerogative to extend the measure if he so decides. Italy follows the lead of Germany in declaring war on Russia.

Japan adopts a policy of "watchful waiting" at least for the time being. A Tokyo spokesman says there will be no decision for two weeks at least.

Finland announces a policy of neutrality although Hitler claimed her co-operation in the war against Russia. Finland protests to Moscow at alleged air attack by the Soviet on her cities and shipping in the Baltic.

Sweden announces policy of neutrality. All Swedish shipping has been called back into port.

Turkey announces a policy of neutrality as between Germany and Russia although there are signs of closer Turkish ties with Germany.

Rumania is fighting actively with Germany against Russia.

SHIP BUILDERS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA URGED TO SPEED UP

Adoption of Daylight Saving in This Province Strongly Advocated by Head of Boat Construction

MONTREAL, June 23.—In a telegram to Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Prime Minister of British Columbia, and the mayors of Vancouver, North Vancouver, New Westminster, Prince Rupert, Victoria and Esquimalt, H. R. MacMillan, president of War-time Shipping Limited, appeals to the civilian population and particularly those in the shipbuilding industry to increased efforts to provide ships for the support of Great Britain. The telegram says:

"The British Admiralty announced last Friday that 1,500,000 gross tons, equal to over 2,500,000 tons deadweight cargo carrying capacity, of British and Allied shipping lost during March, April and May by enemy action. This terrific total is made up of an average daily loss of three ships equal in size to largest freighters now being constructed in Canada.

"While such losses continue freighters of the type built in British Columbia become increasingly Canada's most important munitions production without which food and other munitions cannot reach the British population and the fighting front and without which Britain itself cannot survive. Any sacrifice that can be made by the civilian population that can hasten delivery of freighters becomes not a sacrifice but essential civilian contribution to strengthen Britain's resistance and hasten victory. Such a civilian contribution under present war circumstances is a patriotic obligation. Existing legislation enables each municipality to establish daylight saving. It is estimated in the shipbuilding program now under way in British Columbia daylight saving for eight months each year—March to October inclusive—would increase working daylight time in the shipyards by one and one quarter million hours. This additional working time is sufficient to construct two additional 9,300 ton freighters. Such increase in working daylight hours is too important to be wasted. Therefore, as president of War-time Merchant Shipping Limited which carries the responsibility of pressing forward Canada's shipbuilding program I strongly impress on you and the officials and citizens of your community that you immediately set aside minor obstructions and non-war thinking and adopt daylight saving under the powers which I am informed you possess to take this productive action. I would appreciate your leadership and support in bringing about now this important civilian contribution to increasing our strength."

Big Bag of Nazis Is Taken

More Than Fifty-Eight Enemy Planes Destroyed in Two-Day Attacks

NO LET-UP IN ATTACK LONDON, June 23: (CP)—Following an offensive sweep over northern France for the seventh consecutive day, the Royal Air Force reported the destruction of more than fifty-eight enemy planes today, bringing the total in the last three days to sixty-six. Last night British bombers launched their twelfth straight assault on Germany proper, hitting the big naval base of Danzig and other targets.

LONDON, June 21.—Fifty-eight enemy planes in two days was the bag of the Royal Air Force fighting over the English Channel and German-controlled France against the Luftwaffe. On Saturday the force destroyed twenty-eight German planes and yesterday accounted for thirty. The cost to the British was two planes each day. During the past seven days ninety-eight enemy planes have been brought down with loss of nineteen British Royal Air Force delivered an attack this afternoon while no Nazi aircraft dared come over Great Britain by day. Royal Air Force attacks delivered for the eleventh consecutive night Saturday on the German industrial centres of Cologne and Dusseldorf, the Channel ports of Dunkerque and Boulogne and over enemy airdromes in northern France. The Germans were more active in bombing Great Britain Saturday night, centering attacks on the south coast town. Four German planes were brought down over Britain during the night. London had its first alarm since the early days but no planes appeared and there was no gunfire. All clear coming soon after.

And Now Russia . . .

The British forces are in possession of Damascus and Beirut, the principal cities and their main objectives in Syria. The British are also in control of Iraq and the greater part of East Africa except for a few pockets which can be readily cleaned up. The situation around the Red Sea and Suez, for the time being at least, is satisfactory. It forms no basis, however, for over confidence.

The victories in that quarter, important as they might have momentarily seemed, were soon overshadowed by more ominous developments such as the lightning pounce of the stealthy Nazi wild cat and the great Russian bear. The choice was evidently not even left to Russia as to whether she would yield or fight. There are possible circumstances under which this latest sensational development might help our side, unwillingly rather than willingly and, possibly, but temporarily, but we must not let down our guard.

Turkey is also still an enigma upon which we cannot rely.

Events, much more momentous, much more far-reaching than those which have already occurred, are in the making. Midsummer is here and that is the time that big events in wars in the northern hemisphere usually occur. The next few weeks, possibly days, will, no doubt, bring developments that may affect the course of history for many years to come.

We can hope for the best but we must not wishfully think. Nor should we be too cast down by more dark days which may well come. There is a long road to travel yet. Meantime the situation for us is by no means deteriorating.

ICE FIELD COVERED

American Photographers Have Busy Day In Jasper Park

JASPER PARK, June 23.—The Columbia Ice Field area of the Canadian Rockies was photographically conquered over the week-end when Ivan Dmitri, world's famous color photographer, and his popular photography camera club tour recorded this great presentation of nature in black and white and color from every possible angle.

The feature of the long day's work was the number of "camera classes" conducted by Dmitri who, since his arrival, has been untiring in his efforts to help everybody else get the pictures they want before he looks after his own interests. No demand is made on him he won't fill and his thoughtfulness and co-operation has made a great impression on the party. The owner of the most inconspicuous camera in the crowd gets just as much personal attention as the one who has the most expensive outfit. Dmitri's consideration for the "other fellow" has become an outstanding feature of the trip.

Nature was good to the party on the trip to the southern section of Jasper National Park and provided a full day of complete sunshine with just enough lacy clouds to set out the snow capped peaks. Jack Brewster sent out a pack train of saddle horses on the Columbia Glacier and the animals added plenty of color to the general scene.

Athabasca Snow Dome, Kitchener and Wolley Mountains and their glaciers formed the background for this unique camera club holding its session three miles up the Columbia Glacier.

When the famous Saturday Evening Post photographer finally called it a day a tired but happy lot of amateur photographers got back into their cars and tucked in early on arrival at the Lodge well satisfied with the long day's work.

FINE BALL GAME SEEN

Composite Services Defeats Rocky Mountain Rangers 5 To 2

Yesterday afternoon at Acropolis Hill a large gathering of fans thrilled to the best brand of baseball seen in these parts for some years. The first game went to the Composite Service team which beat their jinx by defeating the Rangers in a battle royal 5 to 2. This game was sparked with long hits, many strikeouts, lots of cheering and some jeering. At any rate it was a perfect game from the point of view of the spectators.

Randall pitched the full game for the Composites, allowing only six hits, 5 walks and struck out 10 men. Crozier, who pitched the first five innings for the Rangers, allowed only 7 hits, 3 walks and struck out 8 men. Green finished for Rangers allowing 1 hit, no walks and struck out 2 men.

May, and Randall both made three baggers for the Composites. McAusland knocked out the lone hit for the Rangers with a nice three-base hit in left field.

Dido Gurvich umpired the first game with Doug-Thorndyke, R. C. A. P., on the bases—Jim Wilson of the Y. M. C. A. kept the score sheet.

The lucky admission ticket was held by Mrs. Cameron who won the five pound box of chocolates.

The second game between the Dry Dock and Searchlights was rained out in first of the fourth with the Dry Dock leading 6-2. This game will be played off in the near future.

HER DEATH WAS SHOCK

Passing Of Mrs. E. N. Valentine At Home On Fifth Avenue East

Death came with tragic suddenness at midnight Saturday to Mrs. Morrison Valentine, wife of the late Valentine and a well known highly esteemed pioneer woman. News of her passing came as a profound shock to her many friends as it was completely unexpected. She had, apparently, been in normal health until the day when she was suddenly stricken in her home on Fifth Avenue East. During the evening she had been entertaining friends and it was shortly after they departed that she expired without warning at 12:30 a.m. The family will have the deep sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

Born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, Mrs. Valentine had lived for a while in Port Arthur, Ontario, before coming to Prince Rupert some thirty years ago. Except for a short while at Allford Bay many years ago, Mrs. Valentine had since made her home in Prince Rupert. She was active in First Presbyterian Church and the Order of the Eastern Star, having been matron of Belst Chapter in 1926.

Mrs. Valentine leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one son, James, in New York, and daughter, Helen, at home. There is a brother, William Main, in Vancouver, and two sisters—Mrs. Stuart Duncan of Winnipeg and Mrs. R. D. Morgan of Santa Monica.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon.

LOAN ENDS WITH BANG

Prince Rupert Beats All Records With Total Of $421,100

The "Victory Loan 1941" campaign closed with enthusiasm Saturday night and the enthusiasm was fully justified since it not only went over the top but reached a total of $421,100 breaking the record of $411,850 in the 1919 Victory Loan drive here.

There was much competition to get in on last minute subscriptions. Members of the Victory Loan committee themselves had a competition, running up to $1000 in individual cases.

A last minute drive on the air resulted in fifteen subscriptions totalling $3000.

It is understood that subscriptions will still be received this week.

Man in the Moon

Russia trusted Germany and see what happened.

Italy is trusting Germany and her turn will come sooner or later unless she is saved by the British.

Japan is too full of guile to trust anybody but unless she changes her ways she will get it in the neck before very long.

The modern girl may not be good at adding but she is very distracting.

Private Murphy grabbed hold of a young recruit who was just going to see the new Medical Officer, and hissed: "For heaven's sake, keep away from that doctor."

"Why?" asked the recruit. "I want to go sick."

"Run for your life," said Murphy. "For last night it happens I ran into a cow on my old motorcycle. Up walks the M.O., looks at the cow, sez: 'This cow has a broken leg,' then draws his revolver and shoots it dead. Then he turns, looks at me and sez: 'Well, and is there anything the matter with you?'"

Thomas Ross, M.P. for East Hamilton, was a week-end visitor in Prince Rupert. He arrived by Thursday night's train and sailed Saturday afternoon on the Prince George for Vancouver in the course of a trip to the Pacific Coast.

COMEDY IN RED LAND

With Clark Gable and Hedy Lamarr as hero and heroine, "Comrade X," an hilarious adventure-some comedy, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here as the feature picture for the first half of this week.

"It Happened One Night," this picture again presents Clark Gable as a newspaperman—a foreign correspondent in Russia. Miss Lamarr, also turned comedienne, is a Moscow lady street car "motorman." Things begin to happen after they meet and they wind up in a Kremlin dungeon as the guests of the OGPU. Then they escape in a Soviet army tank after one of the most hilarious chases ever filmed.

Outstanding roles in support of the stars are played by Oscar Homolka, Felix Bressart and Eve Arden.

TO CLOSE MINISTRY

Rev. J. C. Jackson About To Leave For Victoria—His Sermons Yesterday

Rev. J. C. Jackson will terminate his ministry in the First United Church and on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Jackson, will leave Victoria to assume his new pastorate.

Dealing with the observance of the Sabbath Mr. Jackson, at the evening service yesterday, spoke from the oft-quoted text: "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." By way of introduction a brief history of the origin of the Sabbath was given and then certain authorities—medical, social, religious—were quoted. The great antiquity of a day's rest in seven was often overlooked by the superficial critic, the pastor said, for very often customs that had come down through the ages were the result of the experience of the ages. Sabbath restrictions were not new for various ages had had a similar problem. But there was no doubt that an observance of the Sabbath had a very far-reaching effect and had made a tremendous contribution to the welfare of the world.

Christ's attitude to the observance would be a fair and reasonable one, declared Mr. Jackson. But to quote His observation divorced from the context was not a fair and reasonable indication of Christ's intention. When He said the Sabbath was made for man, He did not mean for the type of man who disregarded the finer things of life—the spiritual, the moral, the intellectual and who concerned himself only with selfish indulgence. Man as the Son of God, needed elevating, needed to commune with spiritually-minded people in such an atmosphere as the church and its associations provided. It was essential, if the finest things of the world were to be reached, and the eternal verities realized that man makes the Sabbath what Christ meant it to be.

At the morning service the junior choir sang "Dear Land of Birth" to the well known "Londonderry Air" while, at the evening service, Sergeant Edward Doeker gave a fine rendering of "The Task." At the conclusion of the morning service the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed.

HONOR TO WAR DEAD

Annual Observance of Decoration Day Here

To the plaintive yet inspiring strains of "Boys of the Old Brigade," the band of the Rocky Mountain Rangers, under Bandmaster Lt. O. W. Sjoquist, on Sunday led the Decoration Day parade, held annually by Queen Mary Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, from the Canadian Legion building to the cenotaph where a wreath was laid by Municipal Regent, Mrs. J. A. Teng. Following the band were—a firing party under Sgt. Smith of the Rocky Mountain Rangers, members of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire with Standard Bearer, Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion under President Mrs. William Rothwell and the Canadian Legion, under President H. A. Breen. The various regimental and naval forces in the city were represented, as also was the Women's Service Corps. In all well over a hundred persons attended besides the military.

Proceeding by cars loaned for the occasion, the parade re-formed at Fairview cemetery, marching to the Soldiers' Plot, where a deeply impressive service was conducted by Mrs. J. H. Nordan, First Vice-Regent of Queen Mary Chapter in the absence of Mrs. D. C. Stuart, the R.M.R. band accompanying the hymns, "O Canada!" "The Last Post" by Bugler Rance, two minutes silence following, Capt. F. H. Allwood of the R.M.R.'s addressed the gathering in words of tribute and inspiration. Quoting the famed "In Flanders' Fields," the speaker continued:

Captain Allwood
"Twenty-six years ago Major John McCrae, then the Medical Officer of the First Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery, sat in a shell hole in the Ypres Salient and jotted down the rough outline of this poem. He too, before long, was to throw to us from falling hands the torch. At that time these men whom we honor today left their homes in Canada to fight for Empire's sake. It wasn't long before they realized that they were fighting not only for Empire but even greater things. They found they were fighting a foe whose sole object was to obliterate everything they held sacred, their way of living, their way of worship, their homes, their very souls. It had been said many times that the real enemy was the Kaiser and the group of men who ruled Germany but it soon developed that the fight was not against a man or group of men but against a foul thing which was called at that time, 'German Kultur'—a deadly thing, whose sole object was to destroy everything that it could not enslave. These men found that out and fought harder and even died to save you and me from that horrible fate.
Now again Canada and the Empire is engaged in a death struggle, more serious and more terrible than anything we have ever imagined, and, I believe, more terrible than most of us imagine even now. These men who died are calling to us that it behooves every man, woman and child in Canada to exert ourselves to the limit if we want to survive. They are shouting to us that we have no time to lose. As I read it, that is the message these men have for us today and we cannot afford to turn a deaf ear to it. They have a right to demand an audience. They are our kith and kin and they died in defence of their King and country. 'Greater love hath no man.'
"If ye break faith with us who die,
"We shall not sleep though poppies grow
"In Flanders' Fields!"
Conclusion
Following these stirring words "O, God Our Help in Ages Past" was sung. The R.M.R. Firing Party, under Sergeant Smith, gave three volleys in salute before the decoration of graves with flags and poppies after which "Reveille" by Bugler Rance and "God Save the King" concluded the service.
