Active Warfare In Syria

BRITISH RECAPTURE SALUM
CAIRO—The British forces have re-occupied Salum, just across the frontier across from Libya, it was announced today. The British forces have also been re-taken from the Italian forces in the neighborhood, where heavy fighting has been going on for weeks, have also been re-taken from the Italian forces. Heavy casualties have been inflicted.

ACKED AGAIN
CHUNGKING, the provincial capital of China, today. The attack was renewed after a lull of several days owing to unfavorable weather. A press building, including headquarters of Associated Press, was damaged.

SYRIA IS NOW WAR ZONE
LONDON—The German occupation of French-mandated Syria has begun. French fighters are reported to be escorting German bombers across Syria to Iraq. Many German planes, mostly bombers, have already crossed Syria on the way to Iraq, stopping at airbases in Syria for servicing enroute. As far as can be learned, no troop carrying planes have arrived as yet. In the House of Commons yesterday Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden gave detailed information showing how France had been allowing the use of Syrian airbases to the Germans in clear violation of the terms of the armistice by which France withdrew from the war last year. Eden described how the Nazi planes flying to Iraq had stopped in Syria enroute. He stated that the Royal Air Force had been authorized to take necessary action. Syria has been classed as enemy territory and there have already been clashes over that country between British and German planes as the Royal Air Force launched attacks on Syrian airbases.

R.A.F. STRIKES AT GERMANY
LONDON—Strong Royal Air Force units last night attacked Hanover, starting large fires in industrial quarters, while other bombers attacked Berlin, Hamburg and other objectives. Nazi aerial activity over Great Britain was comparatively light last night. Low-flying German raiders attacked southeast coast towns today, machine-gunning the streets. There were several dog fights.

VON BLOMBERG'S SON KILLED
BERLIN—Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg announced today that his son, Major Axel von Blomberg, had been killed in action with the German air force.

BRITISH LOSSES
LONDON—An official statement yesterday said that 52,000 Britons had been lost in the campaigns in Norway and the Low countries last year. Only a few hundred of these were in Norway. Forty thousand had been captured.

Would Not Be First Time United States Has Used Navy To Protect Commerce And Freedom Of Seas

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 16: (CP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt injected today into the discussion of Germany's declaration that the Red Sea will be a danger zone for foreign ships a pointed reminder that twice before in history the United States had used its warships to protect her commerce and obtain freedom of the seas. He mentioned action of the new American republic against Barbary pirates in the Mediterranean a century ago and naval action against privateers in the Caribbean.

visit of almost five days. He is coming here primarily to give the local Norwegians a picture of the war as it affects their nation and in that connection, an outstanding event will be his address Saturday night at a large function in the Moose Hall in celebration of Norwegian Independence Day. However, numerous other affairs have been arranged in connection with the visit.

Today General Steffens is spending the day with the forces at Prince Rupert. The area commander, Lieut. Col. S. D. Johnston M.C. V.D., was a luncheon host in honor of the General who will dine this evening with Lieut. Col. J. E. Wood V.D. and other officers of the Rocky Mountain Rangers. The General will also inspect the local fortifications, Royal Canadian Air Force base and other military points. This morning General Steffens inspected the Rocky Mountain Rangers at the Ocean Dock.

Saturday will be given over pretty well to the local Norwegians, the proceedings culminating with the Independence Day celebration in the evening.

On Sunday General Steffens will attend and participate in services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Sunday night he will give an illustrated address in the Capitol Theatre on "The Invasion of Norway and Current Events."

On Monday the General will be guest speaker at a luncheon sponsored by the Prince Rupert Gyro Club. This luncheon will be open to all persons desirous of attending. After the Monday luncheon General Steffens will give an illustrated address before the local forces at the Capitol Theatre.

The house guest while here of Dr. Jens Munthe, General Steffens will sail on the Catala Tuesday afternoon for Vancouver.

Noted Career
General Steffens achieved note during the present war, having been in command of Norwegian forces on the west coast of Norway at the time of the German invasion of Norway last year. He had been in command at Bergen since 1935. Prior to that he had had a distinguished military career. During the last war from 1914 to 1917 he was military attaché to the Norwegian legation in Stockholm, Sweden. He was in Leningrad, Russia, in a similar capacity in 1917-18 and in WASHINGTON, D.C., May 16: (CP)—Coastguard headquarters announced last night that armed guards had been ordered aboard all French ships in United States waters. Thirteen vessels are involved—four in New York including the $80,000,000 Normandie, three in New Orleans, two in San Pedro and one in San Francisco. No reason was given by coastguard officials who said: "You can draw your own conclusions." Undoubtedly, the move is to prevent sabotage of the vessels under new French collaboration with Germany.

Other Points In Nazi Territory Also Attacked By Royal Air Force—Scattered Attacks On Britain

Four British planes were lost.

Widely separated parts of Britain were attacked by the Luftwaffe of Germany but there were no reports of serious damage or heavy casualties. London had an alert during the night but no bombs were dropped. Two enemy planes were brought down in a dogfight over the southeast coast early today.

Royal Air Force Attacks German War Planes at Damascus, Palmyra and Other Points—Nazi Forces Moving In

CAIRO, May 16: (CP)—The Royal Air Force attacked German warplanes yesterday at Damascus as French-mandated Syria became the latest country to be involved in the rapidly spreading war. Other points in Syria were also attacked, it was announced. In a raid on Palmyra, Syria, the Royal Air Force machine-gunned Axis planes on the ground, destroying one and damaging three others.

At the same time Reuters News Agency reported that German tanks and other light mechanized forces were occupying Syria and moving across the sandy wastes towards Iraq.

Earlier unconfirmed reports from Istanbul had said that one or two squadrons of German bombers had landed in Syria and the Germans had transported light tanks and other supplies by ship from Aegean islands recently occupied by Axis forces.

TURKEY WANTS TO KEEP OUT

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 16: (CP)—Informed sources said today that Turkey would maintain an attitude of non-belligerence despite any developments in Syria. Nothing was said about reports that Germany was seeking Turkish permission to permit shipment of German war materials and forces across Turkey to Syria and Iraq. The German ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, has returned from Berlin to Ankara reportedly with the request that Turkey abandon her alliance with Great Britain and line up with the Axis.

Another Leader Sought . . .

The Conservative party of Canada is once more about to pick a leader. The National executive of the party is called to meet next October and while it may deal with matters of policy the choice of a leader is the outstanding business to come before it.

Most people seem to be agreed that the present Conservative leadership cannot continue long. Every day the present set-up continues makes it more difficult for the new man to function at the next election.

George Drew, leader of the party in Ontario, is said to be the favorite just now but there are some who look to see Vancouver's young Mr. Green land the job. He has no sins to answer for and he comes from an old political family. He is said to be a man of considerable ability, a good speaker and sufficiently progressive to satisfy the people of the younger generation. The difficulty will be to get the support of the old Tories who are said to be chafing to ditch the famous old political party.

Municipal Government . . .

For years this paper has advocated the city manager form of municipal government and has seen no occasion to change that opinion. Most of the critics of the system set up a bogey which exists only in their imagination and then proceeds to knock it down. We have to admit, however, that much depends upon the personality and ability of the manager and the attitude of the mayor and council that makes the appointment and of the citizens generally as to the kind of support they give the system. No system can be a success without good men at the head and without an intelligent and helpful citizenry.

City Commissioner . . .

This paper has been among the first to protest against the present system of an absentee commissioner for the city of Prince Rupert. We think the head of the civic government must be more than an automaton. We have nothing at all against Mr. Brucewell. He is probably an excellent man for the job so far as it can be held by a stranger to the place and the people and a non-resident.

We realize as well as anyone that Premier Pattullo has had a lot to do this year and that he has done it well. It is possible he has left too much to the minister of municipalities who, as a former mayor of New Westminster, and a good mayor, it is said, may be inclined to be prejudiced against anything new.

We realize that some local people would like to see the city commissioner system continued and we are not particularly opposed to that as long as a local man is chosen for the job. However, we think it would be better for the provincial government to throw more responsibility on Prince Rupert people by giving them a chance to choose an elected body under a revised constitution, not necessarily the constitution approved by the local Chamber of Commerce and the Trades and Labor Council and the people generally, but one based on that recommendation.

Man Of His Word . . .

When Mr. Pattullo was in the city some little time ago he told the Daily News and he told many others that changes would be made in the city administration. Unfortunately in Prince Rupert we do not always realize what difficulties are to be met with in carrying out changes. Unexpected developments cause delays. In this case there have been delays and we may depend upon it that there is a good reason for such delay. We know that when Mr. Pattullo says he will do something he usually goes through with it. We see only part of the picture. He sees it all.

If you have something to sell, a classified advertisement in this paper will soon let you know if there is a buyer in the city.

AIR FORCE BOYS DOING VERY WELL

Elementary School For Flies At Vancouver Trains Students From Dominion And The U. S.

By Fred Murphy
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, May 16: (CP)—The job of turning out advanced pupils for the Royal Canadian Air Force is rolling along in high gear at the No. 8 Elementary Air Training School and the school is ahead of schedule. Leslie J. Martin, British Columbia director of the British Empire Air Training plan under which the school operates, disclosed that 26-odd classes have been advanced into senior training since the school opened 10 months ago. The number of students is secret.

Like its record of production, the school's record of pupils successful in passing examinations and tests is high and Mr. Martin revealed that prospective pilots sent on to advanced training schools from "No. 8" are among the best prepared in Canada. Students come from all parts of the Dominion with a liberal sprinkling of volunteers from the United States.

Come From East

After four weeks at an initial training school in eastern Canada, student pilots are given a seven-week course at schools such as Number 8, situated at the Vancouver city airport on Sea Island, about eight miles from the centre of Vancouver. Their training here consists of courses in airmanship, navigation, flight theory, armaments, aeronautical engineering, administration and equipment supervision, and 50 to 65 hours flying time.

Into the seven weeks is packed many hours of lectures, instruction and practice, and the time passes quickly for most of the students. Flying time seems particularly short to the average boy-pilot. "You'd be surprised how fast an hour passes in the air," said one young flier who had just brought his yellow Tiger Moth training plane down on the busy landing field after an hour of acrobatics and practice forced landings.

Among the dozens of training planes used at the school are 12 purchased by the city of Vancouver at a cost of $120,000—proceeds of an "air-surveys" drive held here a year ago. The school is operated on a seven-day week, with students allowed leave until midnight on alternate nights, and on Sunday mornings to attend church services if they so wish.

Eager To Train

Captain Terence R. Finney, chief ground instructor at the school, said little advances & taken of the few hours freedom at night, however—students being too anxious to continue their studies.

Each student must put in 25 to 30 hours of solo flying, five hours of instrument and five hours of instrument. In addition to this he must spend 10 hours in the Link trainer, a hooded device containing airplane instruments and controls which instructors have found a valuable aid in teaching "blind" or instrument flying.

The student sits in the Link trainer operating the controls while an electric "craft" traces his course before an instructor sitting at a Previous flying experience is not necessarily considered an advantage, to the recruit, and often is looked upon as a handicap. "Many recruits who have had a few hours in the air before enlisting believe this experience gives them an advantage over raw recruits," Captain Finney said.

"The result is that they sometimes do not try hard enough at first and 'don't find themselves' actually behind their classmates."

Another step in increasing the output of pilots in Canada was the recent opening of Elementary Air Training School No. 14, at Boundary Bay, B. C., about 20 miles

BATTLE ON MOSQUITOES

Ottawa Experts Advise How to Meet Annual Insect Invasion

OTTAWA, May 16: (CP) — Canada's summer invasion hordes—her 60 varieties of mosquitoes—will be in action two to three weeks earlier than usual this year because of unusually warm spring weather in many districts and the Dominion Department of Agriculture has issued its plans for counter-attack.

Full instructions on how to combat the pests are in "Household Insects and Their Control," a book
written by Dominion Entomologist Arthur Gibson and C. R. Twinn of the agriculture department.

Many of the 60 known varieties do not come near cities but are found mostly in fields and woodlands. They are, however, a great annoyance to summer cottage dwellers.

The urban type of mosquito is called the "cosmopolitan house mosquito." This insect will breed in any stagnant bodies of water in the vicinity of houses and is most prolific in water polluted with sewage.

"Rain water barrels are a common source of infestation," housewives
are counselled to remember.

Special study of this type of mosquito which is "rarely found far from dwellings" reveal that it comes out usually at dusk and has a particularly lively night life carrying on its biting campaign usually in the darkness.

The best methods of control entomologists advise is the draining or filling in of breeding places or "covering the surface of stagnant
collections of water with petroleum oil of good spreading qualities."

Screen and Sprays

In screening doors and windows housewives are advised to see that screens have about 16 meshes to the inch otherwise the tiny insects can squeeze through. A spray recommended which will not stain fabrics or furniture is made from insect powder and "water-white" kerosene.

"This spray is easily and cheaply
made," the department suggests,
and any unpleasant odor can be avoided by added methyl salicylate or oil of sassafras, or in the use of odorless kerosene.

Proportions used in making this spray are one pound of pyrethrum powder to one gallon of kerosene and three fluid ounces of oil of sassafras. Well mixed, it should be left to settle about four hours, and then the clear, lemon-colored liquid taken off and sprayed with hand spray or atomizer. The mixture should be kept tightly corked

and away from the sunlight.

Spray for Lawns

There's no reason now why picnic parties and garden parties should be spoiled by blood-thirsty mosquitoes. A new spray has been developed which can be used to make lawns and foliage "mosquito-less."

This spray consists of one gallon
of the pyrethrum kerosene mixture to which has been added an emulsion of four ounces of liquid cocoa-nut oil soap thoroughly dissolved in one half a gallon of water. When the two solutions are mixed these are further thinned down with 10 more parts of water and then the whole area sprayed by a power spray with a thin mist of mixture.

About 55 gallons are enough to make one acre of lawn and foliage completely free from mosquitoes.
The area should be sprayed immediately before the gathering, "spraying the air as well so that the at-

Man in the Moon

British Israel members are still intimating that the plan as outlined by them is being followed almost to the letter in this war.
Russia must yet be in the picture
to make it complete.

We hope there will not be too
many imitators of the Hess' stunt.
That would be too costly for the British people to have to watch
them and feed them.

Hess says that Hitler has been squeaking because he can't get enough grease for his axis. That's why he is going to try Mosuloi.

Jake has been discussing the drinks favored by the navy. He says the British navy likes rum
the American prefers whiskey, the Dutch navy always calls for gin
but the Italian navy sticks to port.

He arrived late at the golf club.

"It was really a t-o-s-up whether I should come here or go to the office," he explained. Then he added thoughtfully, "I had to toss up fifteen times."

U. S. Department Of Labor Calls Attention To Tendency In Defence Industry

WASHINGTON, May 16: (CP) —
Having regard for future mothers and children and pointing out the employment of women and girls in defence industries tends to their lifting heavier weights than in peacetime employment, the women's bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor has issued a bulletin on methods of conserving the health of women workers.

"This study grew out of the need expressed by employers considering an expansion of their woman labor force for a simple outline of the problems involved and the steps necessary to protect women workers," says the preface.

"It is hoped that training programs for women in defence work will give consideration to training in efficient methods of lifting and carrying."

Continual lifting of heavy loads results in deformities of bone structure that may have serious effects at childbirth, says the report which recommends the following in plants where women
workers are employed:

1. Guard against injury to physique in the lifting of heavy weights.
2. Analyze the elements in weight lifting to develop methods of saving energy; introduce lifting and conveying devices; provide efficient conditions for work; inform workers as to proper methods
of lifting.
3. Train workers to use the most economical methods of carrying
weights.
4. Protect the health of workers in heavy industries by physical examinations.

New Social Order—

TO MAKE BRITAIN UTOPIA

New Constitutional Order Wants
One King But More Parliaments
In Proposed New Social Order

LONDON, May 16: (CP) —Creation of a better Britain is the aim of the New Constitutional Order
founded in the house in Hampstead
where the painter Romney lived.
"N.C.O." dates back to Armistice Day, 1918. Spokesman for the movement is Brig. I. M. Conway Poole D.S.O., who retired from the army in 1932.

A manifesto to followers of N.C.O.
announced recently discovery of "a benevolent Leader—One Man who, with unique detachment, can extricate us from the seemingly hopeless quagmire into which irresponsible statesmanship has plunged the world."

A reporter who visited Romney
House was introduced to a monocl-ed middle-aged man. He was born in Holland 43 years ago, named James John Van Ryswyk. Now he is a British subject, called simply James John.

Canadian Inspiration

John said he had been working out his plan for 16 years. "I began the practical side of it in Montreal
in 1935," he added. "We have worked out a democratic constitution.
This is no arm-raising or saluting movement, but one based on religious and philosophic principles."
John has been in turn a seafarer,
a laborer, a miner, a doctor, a shopkeeper, a manufacturer and a laper-colony worker.

N.C.O. aims at retention of the monarchy, with several parliaments and councils elected on a occupational basis. Highest authorities would be a People's Congress and a Supreme Court elected on a territorial basis.

Some Proposals

Its proposed new social order includes:

National minimum wages; minimum old age pensions of $8.90
weekly for one person and $13.35
for a married couple; free state medical service.

Low taxation with compulsory national savings; public ownership
of transport, banking, insurance, gas, electricity, water, posts and telegraphs.

A state organization of social workers; foreign trade on an organized barter basis; limited profit-making; land-ownership for use only; compulsory civic service for two years from 18.

A revision of titles, and a complete absence of secrecy in all public affairs.

Short Honeymoon What's His-Hers

Bride Takes Everything And Habbie Nourish Wasted Courtship

LAS CRUCES, N. M., May 13 (CP)—An El Paso railroad worker found his quarter-hour honeymoon very costly, he complained to the priest who performed the marriage ceremony. Fifteen minutes after the wedding the bride disappeared with $200 of his money, $200 worth of clothes and a new automobile.

The husband was disturbed most, however, over "waste of time," pointing out he had been courting her for three years.

SPORT CHAT

The only way to fight poison is with poison, it has been said, and if Harry Giddings' big black gelding Undisputed needed any prodding toward becoming favorite for the third running of the King's Plate at Toronto's Woodbine Park tomorrow, he has been getting it through his morning workouts with another fine thoroughbred, Sea General. Sea General didn't win the King's Plate in his three-year-old year—1939—but he came second that year to Anchorage, one of the greatest thoroughbreds ever to run on Canadian tracks. The General still is considered with the East's best handicap horses, but he hasn't looked much better than Undisputed these misty mornings at Woodbine. Undisputed, by Stand Pat out of Calm, won the Clarendon Plate last year and has trained well, running often with Sea General. His chances for taking the Plate, this continent's oldest continuously-run stake, likely will receive major contesting by another black gelding, Parkwood Stables' Warrigan, by Orlis out of War Vixen, and a chestnut colt, E. C. Hatch's Bodpath, by Buddy Bauer out of Lurens.

Others well-considered for Plate honors are Midway Stables' Deposition and Andean and G. M. Bendire's Puma Grille. As usual, the event is open only to three-year olds foaled in Ontario which never have won a race other than one exclusively for juveniles. There were 14 nominations this year, but the field likely will narrow to between 11 and 15 thoroughbreds by post-time. Although the Plate never has been kind to "big" horses—that is, the horses favored on previous performances—the present season has helped training to such an extent that the Ontario Jockey Club's race for $3,000-added and the King's 50 guineas seem likely to remain in the ranks of the form horses. The early spring has enabled trainers to bring stock into shape rapidly and almost precludes the possibility that some little-considered entry will take it all, come Plate day. Last year while the King, hardly considered by the form players, was the winner. The Plate, established in 1860 as the Queen's Plate and changed in 1902 to the King's Plate, was raised $500 to $3,000-added this year and will be worth approximately $5,500 to the winner.

KITKATLA FUNERAL

Rites For Mrs. Henry Brown Largest Ever Held in Coast Village

With representatives from such villages as Port Simpson, Metlakatla Port Essington and Hartley Bay joining the entire population of the village of Kitkatla in the obsequies, the funeral of the late Mrs. Betsy Brown, who was drowned last week at Kitkatla, was one of the largest and most impressive ever held in Kitkatla. It took place last Saturday with services in both the Church Army Hall and St. Peter's Anglican Church preceding interment on the island across from the village. Rev. Bert Shearman, the resident missionary, officiated.

The Kitkatla Concert Band, under the leadership of Lawrence Innis, preceded the procession from the residence to the church. Members of the Metlakatla and Port Essington bands also participated. A short service was first held in the Church Army Hall. Before entering the hall, the band played most impressively "The Immortal Song of the Chiefs." On leaving the hall, there followed a service in St. Peter's Church. "Abide With Me" was sung by a large congregation which filled the church to capacity. Miss M. Lewis sang as a solo "Flee as a Bird." Mr. Shearman was assisted by W. Ridley, lay reader, in conducting the service. Mr. Shearman gave an address. A suitable anthem by the choir brought the service to a close. The remains, accompanied by many sympathizers, were conveyed to the island for burial.

Three big boats, Norma G., Irene May and Lady V were used in crossing from the village to the island used for burials.

During the funeral rites all social organizations of the village attended in full colors. These included the White Cross Society of St. Peter's Church, the ladies of the Excelsior Club, the Young Women's Christian Association and the Native Sisterhood of British Columbia in all of which organizations deceased was a prominent member and officer. She was also a member of both St. Peter's Church and the Church Army and was chaplain of the Excelsior Club.

There were fifty beautiful floral tributes. Immediately following the funeral there was a banquet in the village hall sponsored by James Lewis, this event being held in honor of the visitors from various villages as well as to mourn the passing of deceased. The elders of the village spoke in appreciation of those who had come from considerable distance to attend the obsequies. These included James Lewis, the host; Henry Brown, the widower; Henry Collison, John Nelson, Chief Edward Gamble and Mrs. Maude Russ. On behalf of the village the speakers were Andrew Lewis, Joseph Innis and Matthew Hill. Speaking for the visitors

Miss Christina Cook Becomes the Bride of Clarence W. Dixon

The home of Mrs. and Mrs. George Cook 829 Eighth Avenue West, was the scene of a very pretty wedding ceremony when Miss Christina Cook and Clarence W. Dixon were united in marriage by Rev. W. J. Frieson, pastor of the Pentecostal Assembly.

The principals stood under an arch prettily decorated with white and pink garlands and wedding bells.

The bride looked charming in a fawn tailored suit with pink accessories and carried a beautiful bouquet of sweetheart roses and carnations. Miss Marjorie Cook, as bridesmaid, looked dainty in military blue and carried a bouquet of iris and snapdragon.

The groom was attended by Leonard Dixon.

There were 70 invited guests at the reception. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Dixon received the guests, the former dressed in navy blue silk with white accessories and latter in black and blue with white accessories. They had corsages of white gardenias. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with a three-tier wedding cake with pink and white flowers and silver tapers.

Mrs. Haines, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. McLean, Ruth Little, Amy Little, Florence Dixon, Jean Smith were servers.

Numerous beautiful and useful gifts testified to the popularity of the young couple.

Prince Rupert's Member Issues Statement Following Conference At Ottawa Over Financial Matters

Premier Pattullo Says He Is Prepared to Co-Operate Fully With Federal Government for Period of the War—His Stand Made Clear

First—British Columbia is prepared to peg its receipts from income tax for duration of the war;

Second—After the war this province will co-operate with the Dominion and share income tax on a basis to be agreed upon;

Third—The right of B. C. to levy income tax is not surrendered but is left to be adjusted after the war.

These points arising out of his conference with Hon. John Hart and federal authorities at Ottawa were outlined by Premier T. D. Pattullo when he returned from his recent visit to the national capital.

On the subject of his conference he issued the following statement:

"The whole question today is production and more production of war essentials as rapidly as possible and more men to use them. Britain needs aid in men and materials and we should go all out to provide both, to serve anywhere that will best ensure the winning of the war.

Every operation requires money to pay for it and I was glad to see the Dominion government face the issue boldly in the recent budget.

Our government has always been anxious to co-operate with the Dominion and especially so since the war started. We are as a consequence accepting the principle of the budgetary proposals of the Dominion government in their relation to provincial finance.

Position Clear

In the light of events leading up to the present situation I feel that as Premier of the province I should make my own position perfectly clear. I do so because, notwithstanding the fact that the course which I have pursued over the years has been wholly consistent and with definite intent and purpose, it has not always been so interpreted and indeed has been challenged. It seems to me desirable in the public interest that everyone should be fully apprised of the facts, however they may be construed.

When the Dominion entered the income tax field following the last war, it was obvious that in the course of time complications between the Dominion and the provinces were certain to arise. With the passing years the situation was ever becoming more acute and I advised the Bennett government and subsequently the King government, that, if any increase were made in the Dominion income tax without conference and discussion with our province, having regard to our mutual interests, our government would be compelled to make public protest.

As a matter of fact, since then no increases were made until the War Budget increase imposed by the present Federal administration. Last year when this increase was made I wrote to Prime Minister Mackenzie King that we of course, offered no objection whatever to its imposition as a war measure. At the same time it was necessary to point out that it was bound to affect the income tax field which had been ours exclusively from 1876 to 1918.

Many times I have discussed the problem with my colleagues and we have fully realized that the public has been most anxious that there shall be a single collecting authority of income tax.

As our position in the income tax field bears a very different relationship to our whole economy in comparison with many of the other provinces, it has been and is a very difficult matter to work out a formula of general application which would be fair to all.

We have been desirous of finding a formula whereby in co-operation with the Dominion we would share in the income tax field with the opportunity for expanding revenues as the province developed.

The Siriol recommendation was no solution as it knocked us out of the field entirely and left us no opportunity to expand our services with developing conditions.

Invited to Conference
At the conference in Ottawa in January last I invited the Dominion to go ahead with their war measure proposals and we would endeavor to orient ourselves to the new situation.

Long before the Dominion-Provincial Conference in January our government many times discussed various formulae as to how we could co-operate to best advantage with the Dominion government. Specifically we discussed the pegging of our income tax receipts to ed to peg our receipts from income tax for the duration and when the war is over we will be prepared to co-operate and share with the Dominion in this tax upon a basis to be agreed. I make this statement now so that the people may clearly understand our intentions.

Very soon the people of Canada will be asked to subscribe to a victory war loan. As Honorary Chairman of the Committee in British Columbia, I appeal to our people to subscribe to the loan to the fullest extent possible. I sincerely hope that B.C. may lead all Canada in per capita subscription.

It will in all probability be found desirable to continue the service of a single collecting authority after the war but any province which surrenders its right to levy income tax or to participate with the Dominion in the income tax field, thereby at once not only loses a large measure of its autonomy but with it commensurate opportunity for development in accordance with local requirements.

As a war measure we are prepared to peg our receipts from income tax for the duration and when the war is over we will be prepared to co-operate and share with the Dominion in this tax upon a basis to be agreed. I make this statement now so that the people may clearly understand our intentions.
