JAPS HAVE WITHDRAWN

Apparently Have Now Given Up Effort to Recapture Tulagi From United States Marines

Fight to Finish

Battle in Solomon Islands Will Continue Until One Side or Other Beaten, Asserts Commander

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 28:—The Japanese seem to have given up the attempt to recapture points in the Solomon Islands from United States Marines. They have, apparently, withdrawn from Tulagi.

Tremendous resources from both sides will be drawn into the battle for the Solomon Islands, General Sir Thomas Blamey declared today, asserting that it was "not a single action but a battle which has reached the aggressive stage and must be fought out until one side or the other is defeated." Expressing optimism over the outcome of the operations at Milne Bay on the southeastern tip of New Guinea, the commander-in-chief of Allied forces in the South Pacific area gave voice to the belief that the Japanese would be able to prevent the Japanese who landed there from joining enemy forces in the Kodoka area inland.

Meanwhile it is announced that Allied planes have shot down eleven Japanese planes at Milne Bay on the southeast tip of New Guinea where the enemy have effected a landing at Buna, north-east New Guinea, four and possibly nine Japanese planes have been brought down. Allied fliers have been giving magnificent support to land forces operating on New Guinea.

At Washington meantime a high United States authority admonished against descriptions of current operations in the Solomons as having brought a major victory for the United Nations. The latest movement of Japanese he described as a reconnaissance in force which had been withdrawn.

TWO FRONT ATTACK IS REDS' PLEA

Suggested in Moscow Broadcast That Now Is Time to Strike At Germany

OTTAWA, August 28:—The radio listening post here last night picked up a broadcast from Moscow making a direct appeal for a two-front attack upon Germany.

The Germans, the broadcast said, are becoming nervous and now is the time to strike at them. The fact that the Allies have won air supremacy offers great possibilities in the way of opening a second front.

ASK MANY QUESTIONS

Boys Arriving in Britain Turn Interview Into Question Program

By ROSS MUNRO

Canadian Press War Correspondent
A BRITISH PORT, August 27: ①
—Canadian soldiers and airmen on troopships just arrived from Canada ask more questions about England and life in army camps here than the ministry of information could answer off hand.

They are avid for "inside dope" and hound a war correspondent who goes aboard to get the story of the troops themselves and their crossing. Time and time again the correspondent becomes the person interviewed instead of the interviewer.

With the flood of questions comes a stream of fantastic rumors about enemy attacks in the Atlantic. You have to be a battle-dress encyclopaedia on wartime England to meet the queries and a cold cynic about the rumors.

Questions about air raids are still top of the list. The troops want to know when the last raid was, number of planes over, how the anti-aircraft defences worked and when you yourself last saw a Nazi aircraft.

Second Front
They talk about Britain's great bombing raids over Germany and mention the second front. They're sold on both.

The soldiers and airmen are all ways anxious to know where the are going after disembarkation that one's generally easy. Various formations have established depots where new contingents first report. Some of them know their destination's name and this leads to a string of questions.

"Just where is it. How far is it from London? Is it near the English Channel?" With a gleam in his eye, one lad asked: "How far is it from the Jerries in France?" They want to know how easy it is to buy smokes what is the price of food and drinks. You stagger them a little with answers for these, especially when you say: "A pound used to go about as far as two bucks but now it doesn't stretch much more than a dollar."

Questions about training, barracks, camp accommodation and messing are asked.

Seven Day Leaves
When you tell them they'll probably get seven-day disembarkation leaves—everybody gets one—the want to know where is the best spot to spend leave. They want to know about London first and then a dozen other places which their correspondent never heard of.

You move along the crowded decks, talking to the fighting men to get their own story and keep running into friends you knew back home. You get a lot of personal news yourself and, in turn, they want to know about 50 pal in a dozen regiments.

Inevitably there are wild stories going round regarding the crossing; cock-and-bull yarns about running through a nest of German submarines. Depth charges always seem to be dropped.

Ninety percent of the rumors are completely unfounded and started up the grapevine from some bored private lying in his hammock dreaming up excitement. But they take away from the tedium of convoy crossing and give the whole ship plenty to talk about.

Teeth Should Be Repaired Shortly
Soon It May Be Necessary To Extract Instead of Fill Them

EDMONTON, August 28:—Edmonton dentists warn that those who would have repairs made to their teeth had better do so soon. Drills are becoming scarce and it may be necessary soon to pull teeth instead of fill them.

CHUNGKING, August 28: ①

REDS MAKE BIG FIGHT

Counter-Offensive Growing Both In Stalingrad and Reshev Areas

GREAT RESISTANCE
MOSCOW, August 28: (CP)—Battle-grimed German forces, which fought their way four hundred miles from the Ukraine to the Volga Valley, reached distant approaches to Stalingrad today but Russian dispatches said they were blocked there by swarms of Red Army infantry who closed in from all sides. One German army spearhead is reported to have been cut off completely and encircled north of Stalingrad.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28—The Red Army, in an extension of its great counter-offensive, is hurling back the powerful drive of the Nazis from the outskirts of Stalingrad with huge losses, a spearhead of the enemy having been smashed. Southwest of the great steel city, there is such a heavy artillery bombardment by the Russians that the Nazis can make no progress. While the situation for the Russians is better in all sectors around Stalingrad, the Nazis, a scant 13 miles away, continue heavy artillery pounding while dive bombers also assail the city.

The Russian counter-offensive to regain control of the Reshev-Vyasma Railway is also increasing in intensity and there are further gains by the Red Army.

Far to the south in the Caucasus the Russians are still falling back toward the Grozny oil fields and along the Black Sea.

It was announced yesterday that Soviet bombers had raided Berlin, started nine fires there, as well as Danzig.

BIG RAID IN FORCE

United States Flying Fortress Accompanied To Rotterdam By British Spitfires

Telling Blows

Plane Production Centre of Kassel And Baltic Port of Gdynia Principal Targets

LONDON, August 28:—The Royal Air Force staged another heavy and damaging raid on industrial Germany last night. The failure of thirty British planes to return indicated that some 60 took part in the operation. The British planes ranged as far as Poland.

Continuous daylight raids on the enemy in western Europe yesterday were climaxed by an attack last evening on Nazi-controlled Rotterdam in Holland. United States flying fortresses accompanied by British Spitfires, blaster at shipyards and ships. All the fortresses returned safely.

Hurricanes during the day struck at the harbor of Dieppe.

In twin raids on the key plane-producing centre of Kassel and the Baltic port of Gdynia, the Royal Air Force spread the maddening night of its bombers during the night from end to end of Germany. To carry the great onslaught to Gdynia, British bombers had to fly more than 1500 miles on the round trip from home bases.

Besides the thirty bombers lost the Air Ministry announced that two fighter planes had been brought down in night sweeps over enemy-occupied France in which Hurricanes left two ships burning in the Channel.

Keeping up the attack on a day and night basis, fighter planes roared across the Channel throughout the morning and in the afternoon a powerful force of bombers, escorted by fighters swept eastwards toward France.

By striking at Kassel with the force of probably some six hundred red planes strong, the raiders hit the source of Messerschmidt fighters and the site of the Nazi's biggest locomotive foundry. It is reported that Hitler blamed part of the Germans' Russian winter disaster on frozen locomotives and promised that this winter there would be no such failure.

VICTIM OF HORSE KICK

John Lapadat Well Known Bulkley Valley Rancher, Meets Unfortunate End

SMITHERS, Aug. 28—John Lapadat, well known pioneer farmer of Gt. Anna near Smithers, was instantly killed on his farm Tuesday evening when kicked in the head by a horse which he was unhitching from his binder. It was apparently a strange hors which he had borrowed for the extra work.

Mr. Lapadat did not arrive at his home when expected and, up on investigation, he was found dead in the field beside the horses.

Mr. Lapadat came to Canada from Rumania many years ago. He was about sixty years of age. He was well known throughout the Bulkley Valley. He leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter at Smithers and a son and daughter residing at Duncan and Albern.

P. H. Linzey has returned to the city from a trip to Terrace. Smithers and other interior points in his capacity as inspector of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

EXCELLENT VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM NEW FEATURE OF BIG CARNIVAL HERE

Other Events to Queen Crowning and Coronation Ball,
Dancing Each Night, Bathing Beauty Contest
And Games

Outstanding of many big features which have been arranged for the great Civic Centre Carnival to be staged for five night next week at the Exhibition Hall will be the vaudeville programs to be presented each evening. Here is something really new and something that is asured of being extremely entertaining. No little care has been taken in making sure that the public really gets something for the money in the way of carnival entertainment on this occasion.

The result is that four excellent and distinctive acts are being specially imported for the occasion. The principals in these acts are:

Kay Connor, Vancouver girl, who has become something of a star of screen and stage, now making her headquarters at Hollywood as violinist, songstress, dancer and impersonator.

Dick Benz, regarded as Canada's ranking marimba player.

Edward Ackery, specialist in music and comedy.

Those who follow the vaudeville circuits know each of these entertainers quite well and can support the claims of the carnival management that the program is one of real excellence.

Of course, the vaudeville program is but one of many features which have been arranged in connection with the big annual effort to raise funds to further finance the construction of the proposed civic centre.

This year the whole carnival activity will be centred within the Exhibition Hall itself. A new policy has been adopted in that there will be outside attractions whatever. So, rain or shine, the carnival and all its functions will go on uninterrupted.

As well as the vaudeville program, there will be dances each night with music by Midlands orchestra and the whole proceedings will reach a climax with the crowning of the Carnival Queen, in the contest for which honor competition has been very keen, and the grand coronation ball on Friday evening. This will be staged in the usual grand manner.

Much effort has also been put into the organization of the bathing beauty contest and the plan is to feature this each evening in addition to the other attractions.

Many of the old favorite carnival features will be presented as well as a number of more novel ones. The games will include dunker, public enemy No. 1, shoot him stuka, bingo, shooting gallery, horse racing and many other devices.

Strictly Entertainment

As already indicated, this year's Carnival is being run along strictly entertainment lines, the idea having been to provide something of interest and entertainment for all, old and young alike. Those responsible for the arrangement have not been unmindful of the fact that the event will be the only one of its kind in Prince Rupert this year. One of the principles of policy has been to give the people as big a break as possible and, at the same time, of course, net a substantial amount for the good cause in which the effort has been staged.

There will be ample facilities for rest and refreshments including the tea room.

One feature will be the newly renovated interior of the Exhibition which the patrons will find. To further fit it for the big show, a number of changes have been made by volunteer labor at the hall during the past several nights.

There is every reason to suppose that the public response on this occasion will be as generous as it has been in the past. Prince Rupert has been crying for entertainment. Now it is being offered in goodly and attractive measure.

Designed to substantially increase the Civic Centre fund, the net proceeds of the affair will be invested in Dominion securities until the building is actually commenced. The profits of the Civic Centre, therefore, will also help the war effort in a financial way.

Each admission ticket (which are the tickets in the carnival queen contest) will entitle the holder to a chance on a $100 war savings certificate.

Dr. R. G. Large, chairman of the executive of the Civic Centre Association of Prince Rupert, will officiate at the formal opening of the carnival at 7:30 Monday evening.

NAVAL MAN IS WEDDED

Quiet But Pretty Marriage Ceremony Last Night

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock in First United Church, where Rev. J. A. Donnell united in marriage Alice Jean Schoales, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Schoales of Fort William, Ontario, and Paymaster Sub Lieutenant Donald John McDonald, R.C.N.V.R., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McDonald, Boissevain, Manitoba. The groom is stationed at the local naval base.

The bride, given in marriage by Paymaster Sub Lieutenant James Elliott, R.C.N.V.R., chose as her bridal ensemble, a sheer wool hiege dress with dark brown accessories. Her only attendant was Mrs. L. J. Nairn who wore a two-piece Robin Hood green woollen suit with brown accessories.

Paymaster Lieutenant Commander L. J. Nairn, R.C.N.R., was the groomsmen.

Following the marriage ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Paymaster Lieutenant and Mrs. R. L. V. Jermain. Highlighting the evening, was the presentation to the newly married couple of an engraved silver tray, a gift from the Commander and Officers of H.M.C.S. Chatham. Those in attendance included: Commander A. H. Reed, R.C.N.R., Paymaster Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. L. J. Nairn, Paymaster Lieutenant and Mrs. E. Nixon, Paymaster Sub Lieutenant J. Elliott, Miss M. McLaughlin, Warrant Supply Officer P. Sands, Petty Officer Writer and Mrs. Carl Smith, Petty Officer Writer and Mrs. George Dibb and Leading Writer D. Lewis.

DOINGS OF LOCAL 'Y'

(By the Ghostwriters)
Hostess, Dorothy Garbutt

What a long time since we ghosts were able to take time out to take pen in hand to tell of our doings! And won't we catch merry old you-know-what-I-mean, from Mrs. G. if we do this very often!

Well, away back about Sunday we had our customary padre's concert and it was really something to feel pleased about. It went over in a big way. This was due to the remarkably happy choice of people that fitted in so well together to form such an interesting program. First, there was the Midland Band and, when they play, at least that part of the program can be written up in advance as "excellent." We should tell you here in proof of that statement that one evening when this band played over the air people kept phoning to the local radio station asking what records they were playing. The customers couldn't believe that there was a band in this neck of the woods that could be so good!

Then there was the lovely dancing of two young ladies who were new-comers to us and to the majority of our audience, too. Even though they (the young ladies, that is) have lived in and around Prince Rupert for some time. An act that wowed the patrons was the duet number by the dashing, impetuous, Vic Bannister, and the lovely luscious creature who was his partner, one Bert Pownell. The sympathetic rendering of their song "If You Were The Only Girl in the World" touched a chord deep within the writer's bosom in a way that will not be soon forgotten. It also nearly had the audience rolling in the aisles. Len Moss added further lustre to this illustrious program with his brilliant playing of the piano-accordion. Len is a master of this instrument and it was necessary to tell people that he had played over NBC and CBC hook-ups just to give him a build-up. It merely explained in part why he was such a marvelous player. Len hails from Johannesburg, and has been in the United States for some time and is now with the Air Force. He has a great gift which is bringing much happiness to the boys who hear him play and wherever he goes we wish him safe flights and happy landings.

Then came Monday. We didn't have time to get the regular Monday feeling, because we were up at the crack of dawn (or so it seemed) to put on a special showing of a film for a bunch of the boys who don't get to town very often. Then in the afternoon we put on another show for some of their pals who were equally bushed. That evening was our old-time dance. A lot of people moan and pretend to be puzzled by this form of indoor sport, but more and more people are learning the rules of the game and the past Monday's dance was one of the best yet.

On Tuesday, as far as we can recall, nothing especially exciting occurred. For the first time,

Civic Centre Carnival...

The Daily News is issuing two special pages today in support of next week's big carnival for the civic centre project.

Since people in Prince Rupert have long been craving entertainment of just this kind, we have no doubt that there will be record-breaking crowds each evening without any undue efforts to attract them. Nevertheless, we have no hesitation in recommending a full measure of patronage for the affair, knowing that an especial effort has been made to provide a worthwhile program in order to achieve the ultimate result of further substantially bolstering the civic centre fund.

Since the profits will be invested meantime in war securities, patronizing the carnival will also imply helping the war finances.

Next week's traffic problems will centre at the Acropolis Hill and it will probably be a jam.

Filling Out The Forms...

Businesses are becoming burdened with an increasing multiplicity of government returns and more and more book-keeping is involved. The whole thing is becoming both baffling and laborious. Last week we had to figure out the new cost of living bonus. Next week we will have to start the new income tax deductions.

The complexity of the forms and the returns forces many people, in order to save time, to engage experts to assist them in doing the figuring.

With many new functions being instituted by the government, the thought occurs to us that Prince Rupert has become an important enough point to warrant the establishment of an income tax or revenue officer who would be able not only to see that there was a more efficient collection of revenues here but would also be able to assist those who require guidance and advice.

There is no doubt that the government loses considerable revenue or at least has bother in collecting it through people not being unwilling to pay but not knowing just how to go about it.

Keeping books for the government as well as ourselves we suppose may be classed as part of the war effort.

though a film shown at the hut, and this is to be the regular Tuesday program until it is changed again. In an effort to dress the show up a bit, that fellow Clay nearly blew a fuse in the projector when he played the record-player that had been fixed (so the technicians said) through the loud-speaker in order to smarten up the show a bit. Then he nearly blew a fuse of his own when he found (as did the customers) that the sound went on the blink for a while. Some of said customers left as a result, and it's too bad they didn't stick it out for a few more minutes, because everything went back to normal in a short time and the film concluded as all good films should.

On Wednesday for the first time in a long while we had a lecture in the Hut. In the opinion of everyone who heard it, it was altogether interesting, but too short. It was by Lieut. Derby, R.C.N.V.R., and he told us of his and others' experiences in blitzed London and Birmingham. When we say he held his audience spell-bound, we don't exaggerate a bit. Could have heard a pin drop at any time throughout the talk. We wish we had more like him.

SOLDIERS OF WOMEN

Recruits Have Preferences in Way Of Work and Special Duty

By MARGARET ECKER
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aug. 27: ♀—What makes a soldierly, poised young "Quack" out of a gum-chewing jitterbug—a dreamy-eyed, long-haired debutante—a country girl who has never been off the farm before—a round shouldered, white-face office worker.

Capt. Mary Dover of Calgary, commandant of the Canadian Women's Army Corps Training School here has no want to wave to bring about the transformation. But a thorough, painstaking, often rigorous training course that you can see in motion on the parade ground of Macdonald College does the trick.

Take Pte. Annie for instance. There's a great difference between Annie and Sgt. Hope Large of Victoria who took a Canadian Press reporter on a tour of the training centre to see this soldier making machine at work.

Annie is a pretty little girl from an eastern province. A week after enlistment she had a pith helmet to keep off the sun and a respirator that dangled awkwardly behind her as she dashed about trying to keep up with this strange new life. She still wore a pink sweater and a brown skirt held up with braces. But in a very few weeks, like Sgt. Large, she'll stand tall and proud in her smart C. W. A. C. uniform. She'll walk with poise and look at people she meets straight in the eye. She'll have found her job in the army and she'll be doing it well.

WOMEN INSTRUCTORS

There were 300 others like Annie at the training centre when the writer was seeing through Cpl. Catharine Beveridge of Wolfville, N. S., was teaching some of them the rudiments of army drill as we walked across the campus.

When it was over Pte. Vivian Garrett of Montreal, who was wearing a khaki uniform shirt with her own skirt admitted that her feet hurt "But I love it." She was working in a factory as a civilian and she has enlisted as a waitress.

Sgt. Rosemary Weaver of Vancouver was looking after another phase of this "Quack-building" course. In a pith helmet, neat white shorts and sweat shirt she was waiting for the recruits to show up for a physical training class.

FROM PRINCE RUPERT

"After office jobs and soft civilian life the girls need building up for the job ahead," commented the sergeant who used to teach physical training in Prince Rupert.

Over in a corner recruits were learning another phase of soldier's training. Cpl. Sally Kilvert of Winnipeg was saying "Take good hold on your whip cord—" as she explained how to use the respirators that all new recruits must wear to get used to them.

Pte. Millicent Wright of Toronto said she's particularly interested in respirator drill — because she hopes to go overseas as a C. W. A. C. cook. Her son is in the navy and she has three brothers overseas. Red-haired, freckled Pte. June Morrison left high school in Montreal to enlist but she was finding respirator drill a bit dull. "I like route marches better," she said.

FRENCH PLATOON

Another squad passed and Cpl. Margaret Donough of Montreal was shouting after them. "Right turn. I said Right turn. There's only one right in the army.

As another squad passed, Cpl. Joan Ryan of Quebec City shouted: "Alignez vous." Sgt. Large explained that this is the French platoon 25 girls who want to be part of the Canadian army even if most of them speak no English.

But Cpl. Ryan is bilingual and she instructs them in map reading, drill, and physical training in French. On the parade ground the commands are given to them in English, but the explanations in French.

Miss Elsie Kamroski Becomes Bride Of Pilot Officer "Bill" Cooper

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. John's Anglican Church at Claresholm, Alberta, recently when Miss Elsie Kamroski, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kamroski of Gull Lake, Saskatchewan, was united in marriage to Pilot Officer William S. Cooper, Royal Canadian Air Force, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Cooper of Terrace.

The bride was given in marriage by Flight Lieutenant W. Reeves, and attended by Mrs. W. Hogg. Flight Lieutenant, the Rev. J. M. Roes, the station chaplain, was the officiating clergyman. Following the ceremony, a wedding reception was given by the Misses Mary and Nancy Roes for the bride and groom and a few of their friends at the Padre's residence. The bride was attired in a charming afternoon dress of pink beige with white accessories.

Pilot Officer and Mrs. Cooper will take up residence at Vulcan, Alberta, the groom having been posted to the new Vulcan Airport after recently receiving his wings and commission at Claresholm, Alberta.

Pilot Officer "Bill" Cooper lived all his life in the interior before enlisting in the Royal Canadian Air Force which he joined in June 1941, receiving his wings and commission on July 15 last. Incidentally, he has the distinction of being the first Terrace man to qualify as pilot in the Air Force.

Trolling fishermen of the Dundas Island area are rounding out one of the heaviest month's fishing that has been experienced for years and still a good run of sockeye holds up. During the past few days a particularly good run has developed in the Warke Canal and Port Simpson area. Taking it on the whole, this has been one of the best trolling seasons in years for waters around Prince Rupert.

And now for some figures. The Red Cross have sent British prisoners of war: 4,500 soccer balls, 800 rugby balls, 600 hockey sticks, 2,400 pairs of boxing gloves, 1,800 cricket bats, 9,000 sets of football outfits, 250,000 packs of cards, 1,500 dartboards, 3,000 chess boards, 5,000 table tennis bats and 18,000 table tennis balls.

SPORT CHAT

The war's biggest British tennis crowd 3,000 saw first class play when Britain's Peggy Scriven (now Mrs. F. H. Vivian) beat Chile's Anita Lizana (now Mrs. R. Ellis), 6-4, 9-7, in a Red Cross match at Bournemouth. Five years ago playing on the same court, Anita beat Peggy in the Hard Courts Championship Final. The Chilean girl, who couldn't speak English when she came to this country but who now talks with her husband's Scottish accent, tried hard to repeat the performance. But she couldn't match Peggy's speed and accuracy.

More news for women fans. Vera Ellery, 15-year-old girl, clipped 13 1-5 seconds off the British half-mile record of 22 minutes 43-2-5 seconds.

More women swimmers came to the rescue of a Canadian army water polo team scheduled to play a London Fire team. Because of the rubber shortage the Canadians couldn't buy headgear so the girls loaned them their swimming caps.

Two sprightly youngsters in the 100-yard veterans race at a White City Athletic festival were Charlie Cook and A. E. Huddleston. Both are more than 80.

It took Vic Oliver, stage and screen star husband of Sarah Churchill the prime minister's daughter, nearly a year to do it, but he's finally won a horse race. His Indian Tea won the Apprentice Handicap at Newmarket and paid a nice 100-7 at that.

British track fans who still consider their Sydney Wooderson the world's best miler sat up and took notice at the four minutes three seconds mile recorded by George Campbell, 18-year-old Australian, at Sydney. That's 3 2-5 seconds faster than Wooderson's recognized outdoor record even if it was made on a track measured with a cloth tape instead of a steel one.
