Today the Daily News is able to publish the first series of pictures showing the construction of the Skeena Crossing bridge to date. The four splendid pictures which dominate this page were taken specially for the Daily News, and show the great bridge from various points. The pictures show in convincing manner the imposing and magnitude of the undertaking, and also its rapid progress, the record of which has good reason to be a source of satisfaction and credit to General Superintendent Mehan and his bridge building department.

Important Visit Today
The Skeena river bridge, and the stretch of completed railway track which extends between the Crossing and Prince Rupert, are at present the scene of a most important official visit. By the Prince Rupert this morning there arrived A. G. Kerr, assistant engineer to the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners. The errand of the Assistant Engineer is to go over and inspect the track as far as the Crossing and to report upon its construction and condition, so that the sanction of the Board may be obtained at once for passenger traffic over this section if everything is in order to satisfy the official eye.

Accompanying Assistant Engineer Kerr on the special train which left today is General Supt. Mehan, of the G.T.P., who will suggest to Mr. Kerr that his report to the commission be made by telegraph so that the schedule can be put into force as quickly as possible after Mr. Kerr's examination.

In the event that Mr. Kerr's report is telegraphed to the railway commissioners and they sanction the opening of the line by wire, the G.T.P. new schedule can be expected to be put into operation within a very few days.

This provides that a passenger leaving Prince Rupert on a Wednesday afternoon, for instance, can reach Skeena Crossing by 6 o'clock p.m. and by transferring to river boat will be enabled to arrive in Hazelton by 7 or 8 o'clock the same day.

Bridge Ready July.

By the first of July, in the opinion of General Superintendent Mehan, the Skeena Crossing bridge will be completed. The importance of this to the Hazelton district, and the interior, as well as from the point of view of track-laying through the Bulkley Valley cannot be over-estimated. At present the business of getting of goods into Hazelton is a tedious one, the steamers having to be loaded by a system of wire cable close by the bridge. When freight can be run direct into Hazelton there will be an enormous saving of time. Steel can also be rushed over the new bridge to the already extensively graded line of the railway through the Bulkley Valley, and the day when the G.T.P. links up will be thus brought nearer. Little wonder that all Prince Rupert and district is intensely interested in the Skeena Crossing bridge.

Construction of Bridge

The bridge is situated at the narrowest, and naturally also the deepest portion of the Skeena River, a few hours drive from Hazelton. Its construction necessitated the use of caissons, and the employment of the hardy workers known to engineers as "sand-hogs," who did the excavation for the pier foundations. The great piers can be seen in the cuts, and the arduous nature of the work may be roughly estimated. There were difficulties during the building of the piers, labor trouble occurred, but this was of short duration. The piers, as may be seen in the views, are now receiving the great steel girders which have been waiting at Prince Rupert in good time for their need. Everything is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily, and the report of the Railway Commission's Assistant Engineer is confidently expected to be a favorable one.

Caledonian Football Club
The Baptist Brotherhood not being able to get together a sufficiently strong team, owing to most of their players being employed on Saturday nights, it has been decided to postpone their match with the Callies until Tuesday night, when they will put a team in the field who will give the eupholders a hard fight. The Callies will meet at the club house tonight at 7.30 to play a game from two sides picked by the executive. This game will be a good practice for Tuesday's match.

Conference Being Held With a View of Placing Further Restrictions Upon Puget Sound Fisheries.

(Special to Daily News.)

Seattle, June 1.—Commissioner Babcock, of British Columbia, told the members of the Washington State Commission of Fisheries, that with the present lax laws and non-enforcement of them, the fishing industry of Puget Sound will be ruined and depleted within ten years. SCHOOL BOOK SANITATION

New System Provided for by the Department of Education

It was announced at a meeting of the School Board of Prince Rupert, held yesterday in the Police Court room, that after the summer vacation this year a new system in the method of distributing school books to the pupils would be instituted. The idea is to increase the sanitary precautions of the department in respect to school books.

Under the former system the books were called in from pupils at the end of the session and redistributed indiscriminately as regards former holders of them when next session began. This system has been blamed for the occurrence of epidemics amongst school children, and after the coming holiday season the new plan will be adopted of letting each scholar retain his or her books for use during the next session.

By this plan the risk of spreading infection amongst pupils will be considerably diminished. The new method was announced to the School Board yesterday by circular from the Department.

Matters regarding the staff arrangements and disposition after the holidays will be discussed at a meeting to be held early this month. At yesterday's meeting the usual series of monthly accounts were disposed of.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1

WILL THERE BE AN ELECTION

The Toronto Star publishes a rumor which has frequently come from the east, that the Dominion Government may bring on an election at an early date and perhaps before the end of twelve months. Though there is reason to justify the government if it should decide to go to the country at an early date, there seems but little to warrant the prediction that the government will do what it should do.

The government should go to the country at an early date because its policy is so very different from its election promises. The Conservative party in opposition had a definite policy upon the question of navy, which the present government recognizes in no way at all. The government have carried out few if any of its promises made by Mr. Borden and his party when in opposition. We have heard much of mandates and such like, but if ever there was a government which did business without instructions from the country, it is the government at Ottawa. In fact, it is worse than that, for the country has endorsed a party with a certain policy and finds that that party, now that it is in power, is going directly contrary to instructions.

The government would be justified in asking for an early vote of the people because western Canada is not properly represented. The prairie provinces and British Columbia should have many additional members. Though the increase is not sufficient to make an election absolutely necessary, yet it is enough to justify one.

But The Albertan doubts if there will be an election at an early date. It is possible that the government may contrive some sort of a jingoistic naval policy and spring it upon the country suddenly in hope of winning a quick judgment. There is reason to believe that Mr. Borden has little hope of political conditions getting better for him in Western Canada. The people are bent upon better tariff relations with the natural market and the longer that the present conditions continue the worse it will be for a government which has no intention of making such arrangements. The election of Roosevelt as President, which is not improbable, will mean that there will be no lowering of the duties upon agricultural products across the line.

There is reason to believe that Mr. Borden is not very enthusiastic about the policy of government operation of the Hudson's Bay railway. The party is in trouble in Quebec and as time goes on the trouble will be aggravated.

So it is not a bad guess that the party would have greater chances of success if it went to the people in a short time than if it continued for three or four years.

The country, however, is not demanding an election. The people for the most part are tired of elections. They are rather anxious to watch the workings of the government before passing final judgment upon it. We could get along very well for a couple of years without an election.—Calgary Albertan.

MOTHERS DRAW LOTS FOR A BABY

Loving Parent Found Easily for the Little One Who Was Born Ten Minutes After His Mother Died.

New York, May 30.—The problem of how the week old baby boy, whose mother, Mrs. Rebecca Lipschitz, of 804 East 107th street, died of apoplexy ten minutes before he was brought into the world, should be fed and cared for has been solved for the physicians of the Fordham Hospital by Mrs. Victor Britt, of 657 East 226th street, a patient in the hospital.

Mrs. Britt's baby died in the hospital and the distracted mother yearned for a little infant to take to her heart. Other women patients in the hospital had asked to care for the week old orphan. The climax was reached yesterday when six of the women, including Mrs. Britt, insisted that one of them should be allowed to look after the baby. It was arranged that they should draw lots for the boy. Mrs. Britt was the lucky one and a lonely baby and a lonely mother were made happy.

Dr. A. G. Shorr, the house surgeon, said that the little boy of posthumous birth was doing remarkably well. He has gained considerably in weight and seems to thrive in every way.

Since the Herald's account of how the baby was born there have been many visitors at the hospital to see him. Hundreds of persons have visited the institution to see relatives and friends and before leaving the building insisted on seeing the little posthumous baby.

Rogers' grand prize ticket drawing will take place tomorrow night, Saturday, June 1st, at the Westholme Opera House. The drawing will be in charge of Mr. Fred Stork.

STRANGE DIVORCE REASONS; HUSBAND WHO WAS TOO KIND

MANY AND VARIED ARE THE CAUSES HELD SUFFICIENT IN THE LAW COURTS FOR THE DISSOLUTION OF THE BOND THAT NO MAN IS SUPPOSED TO SEVER.

Some remarkable figures relating to divorce in America were issued some time ago, when it was stated that in the last twenty years nearly 1,000,000 divorces had been granted in that country. As a matter of fact, there are more divorces in the United States each year than in all the rest of the world put together. To people in this country, no doubt, the figures are somewhat startling, but when the number of grounds on which divorces can be obtained in America are considered, this record in the breaking of the marriage tie does not appear so extraordinary.

Strange Causes.

Each state has its own divorce laws. In Kentucky, for instance, it is possible for a woman to divorce her husband if he habitually indulges in violent and ungovernable temper, while in Maine and North Dakota divorce is granted for intoxication from the use of opium, cocaine, chloral and other narcotics.

A peculiar cause is that which exists in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, in which states one may be divorced for belonging for three years to any religious sect which believes marriage to be unlawful. For maliciously turning his wife out of doors a husband in North Carolina, obtained a legal separation, while several cases have occurred in Utah in which husbands and wives have secured release from the matrimonial bond because they could not live together in peace and union.

Taking advantage of the Pennsylvania divorce laws, a husband was recently successful in obtaining a divorce from his wife because by her cruel and barbarous treatment she had rendered his position intolerable.

Other Cases.

Habitual drunkenness and failure to support are also recognized in many of the states as sufficient grounds on which a woman may obtain a divorce from her husband, while "mental incapacity at the time of marriage" is a cause in Georgia. The courts of the latter state, however, only grant divorces after the concurrent verdict of two separate juries sitting at different times.

At Washington a short time ago a judge of the local divorce court held that absence of the husband's morning and evening kiss constituted a cruelty and was calculated to make a woman's life miserable in the extreme and granted a divorce to the wife; while only the other day a resident in Irvington, California, obtained a divorce from his wife, who deserted him years ago because she said she was unable to endure his perfections. According to his evidence, the husband gave his wife every luxury within his means, placed no restraints upon her amusements, and never showed jealousy. He never spoke an unkind word, and never used liquor, tobacco or profanity and never stayed out late at night.

"Didn't she find fault with you?" asked the judge.

"Oh, yes," replied the husband. "She frequently said she could have loved me if only I beat her, or at least scolded her, once in a while; but I couldn't do it."

Church of England services will be resumed at St. Peter's, Seal Cove, on Sunday evening next at 7:30. Everyone is invited. Rev. William J. H. Petter.

DUTIES OF A BEST MAN

June the Marriage Month Draws Near and There Are Several Interesting Weddings Planned for Prince Rupert.

The groom must be careful to procure the marriage license in good season. In Prince Rupert it is not necessary for the young couple to go together to secure this. The bridegroom also arranges with the clergyman for the performance of the marriage ceremony.

The fee is paid by the bridegroom. It varies in accordance with his means, from $5 to $100, or even more if he is a rich man. The fee should be in gold, or else in a check, the former being usually preferred. It should be inclosed in an envelope, addressed to the clergyman. The bridegroom entrusts both this and the wedding ring to the best man.

The person chosen for this office should be cool and collected. His duties are not very onerous, but it is a part of them to be calm. Bridegrooms are apt to be nervous, and the chief duty of the best man is to keep his friend in countenance and to be his right hand man throughout the day.

He should be at the rooms of the groom in good season to help him dress and to pack his trunk or bag should this be necessary. The best man accompanies his friend to the church and remains near him throughout the ceremony. He hands the ring to the clergyman when the latter asks for it, and also gives the fee.

He helps the bridal couple to slip away as quietly as possible when they leave the house at the close of the reception. He often buys the tickets and arranges the plans for the wedding trip.

He goes to the station, checks the baggage and sees his friends off on the train. Or he engages rooms for them in a hotel in the same city. He guards carefully the secret of where the honeymoon is to be spent. He is often asked to put the notices of the marriage in the newspapers. His costume is like that of the bridegroom and ushers.

CURZON AND CANADA.

Never before in the history of our House has the tie between ourselves and our very much valued clients Overseas been so close. To-day more than ever before residents in Canada are beginning to realise the advantages of purchasing their clothing needs from what is virtually the Greatest Tailoring House in the United Kingdom—Curzon Bros. In the heart of London, England (which is the greatest centre for tailoring in the world), stands the House of Curzon, able to place its hand on every available and necessary resource. The most skilled artisans, the most artistic draughtsmen and designers, the pick of the woollen mills of Great Britain, are only a few of the important facilities within the Curzon sphere.

When you buy a Curzon suit you know that you are securing the Real British Material, than which there is nothing superior to-day, no matter where woven. No industry in the Old Country occupies so vast a field, nor are the virtues of British cloth found in the products of any other country.

That softness and elasticity, that rich appearance, that inherent quality which obviates the necessity for eternal cleaning and pressing—an operation destroying the natural life of the wool and rendering it shiny and glossy—these are just a few of the benefits of wearing British-spun cloths.

British Textiles do not go Shiny except through hard and constant wear.

Then there is comfort in the Curzon cut. Your smallest need or instruction commands our weightiest care, for it is the trifles in the suit which make the suit.

We are artists in the matter of tailoring, and by scientific application and the careful study of your individual needs we impart a distinctive personality into your garments. This distinction has already secured for us

4 Gold and 1 Silver Medal Awards.

Whether you prefer ultra New York fashion or modern London style, we can fill your requirements. In brief, Curzon aim at giving you very much more than you can possibly get within the Dominion at dollars cheaper than you would pay locally.

WHAT WIRELESS DOES TODAY

Sea Captains Are No Longer as Autocratic in Power as Previously—Facilities Bring Them in Touch with Authorities.

Wireless telegraphy has already a practical scope of six thousand miles. Daily news despatches are flashed across the Atlantic, the Pacific has been spanned, the world-wide possessions of empires have been connected, and it is not beyond hope that when the invention has been nationalized and perfected it will lead to a better understanding between nations and peoples.

Wireless telegraphy is giving birth to new legal rights and social changes. The altered position of a ship's master and the rights acquired by other persons, underwriters, passengers and others, through the correspondence which this invention establishes between ship and shore are vital. Until it came into use the captain, on account of his isolation at sea was necessarily absolute, and law recognized what necessity imposed.

He is now no longer isolated and cannot remain absolute.

Grave questions under this head are bound to arise. He is now in the position of any ambassador connected by cable with his foreign office; of General Kitchener in the Boer war; of Admiral Sampson in the Spanish-American war; of Kuropatkin in the Russo-Japanese war; all of which conflicts were in more or less measure conducted by distant administrations equipped with the means of telegraphic communication.

The captain of a ship may be ordered to change his course, return to port or conform to some other direction of his owners. The practice of printing the daily political news, market quotations, etc., on board the Atlantic liners has conferred new rights upon the passengers. Important financial and political transactions are communicated between ship and shore. Has the captain any longer the right to obstruct, suppress, delay or censor them? Is he still absolute? It would seem not. Yesterday he could lawfully hang a man for mutiny. Dare he do so today with a dozen ships within wireless call?

When a Roman general led his legions so far away from the capital that ready communication with him was impracticable the authority of the Senate was replaced by the supernal authority called the imperium, and this extended even to the coining of money, that most characteristic mark of national sovereignty. So long as he remained isolated the imperator was absolute. When he came in touch with the Senate his imperium disappeared. It looks as though the "wireless" will work a similar modification of authority upon the commanders of ships.

Above and beyond these considerations soars the higher one, that the wireless system promises to promote a new social phase one that will admit all the world, whether on land or sea, to a common communion, with like knowledge, like aspirations and a universal desire for peace accord and good will.

In the World of SportA MARVEL AT DANCING

Princess Radziwill Was in Forty-Four Dances in Five Hours.

Princess Albert Radziwill, who was Miss Dorothy Deacon, and who, since her reconciliation with her mother-in-law, has become a society star of the first magnitude, is in evidence at nearly every important function. The young princess has astonished people by her grace and endurance in dancing. Her friends have nicknamed her "Betka," and the society journals chronicle the beauty of "Donna Betka" Radziwill and her grace in dancing.

At Princess George Radziwill's ball this week "Donna Betka" went through forty-four dances, round and square, between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m., after which she appeared at an afternoon function without the least trace of fatigue, and announced that she would be quite ready to repeat the performance that evening.

At the Majestic

In answer to an urgent demand of the Prince Rupert public the Titanic slides were repeated last night and again tonight at the Majestic theatre, together with a lecture explaining in de-lustrating the awful damage done by this frightful holocaust.

The saving of Dan, a romantic Western story. Bertie's Brain

There will be a special musical programme also. Mrs. Carpenter will preside at the piano. A special feature of tonight's bill will be an interpretation of Madame Melba's diamond medal

James Hammock, famous all along the Pacific coast.

AMATEUR VAUDEVILLE

Despite Inclement Weather Last Night's Entertainment Well
Patronized

The regular Friday night amateur vaudeville entertainment played to a good house last evening, although doubtless a number of people were deterred from being present on account of the heavy rain. All the old favorites were there, with the pleasing addition of the charming little Miss Ethel Gray, who delighted the audience by her singing and piquante little Dutch clog dance which was loudly applauded. The dramatic sketch "The Real Cue,"
a most original and pleasing little playlet, was put on in the most finished and artistic fashion, both in regard to scenery, lighting and general stage effects. The entertainment altogether furnishes a pleasant hour's amusement in the comfortable Westholme Opera House and it is expected there will be a big house tonight, when it will be repeated at 7.30 and 9 o'clock.

The Rogers' ss. Agency grand prize drawing will take place between the two shows which will be about nine o'clock.

BASEBALL CHALLENGE

The News is in receipt of the following communication, addressed to the secretary of the Prince Rupert baseball club:

Dear Sir,—I am instructed to write you with a view to arranging a match between your ball team, and the local team.

Our men are willing to make the trip to Prince Rupert on Dominion Day, providing a sum of $250 is guaranteed to cover expenses. In 1910 the local enthusiasts invited your team to Stewart and paid them that amount for their expenses, and we feel that for a return game in your city a like arrangement should be made.

Failing this we shall be pleased to meet your team on our own grounds at any time you can arrange to make the trip to Stewart, which, of course, would be at your own expense. We have really an excellent ball ground here now, in which we are probably more fortunate than your selves.

Yours truly,
W. H. GRAY,
Manager Stewart Baseball Club.
