Second Front— SPEEDING UP DRIVE ON NAZIS

Further Details and Reactions Of New Agreements Between Russia, Great Britain And United States

CHINA DEMANDS ACTION

(CHUNGKING, June 12)—The Chinese press called bluntly on Soviet Russia today to strike at Japan in the wake of the Japanese attacks on Midway and the Aleutians and the Russian-American-British understanding on the creation of a second front in Europe in 1942.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 12.—It is flatly declared on behalf of the United States government that preparations are being made for the opening up of a second front in Europe during 1942 although the exact form that this second front will take is not indicated. This announcement followed the disclosure of the reaching of agreements involving Great Britain, Russia and the United States covering mutual assistance in the further prosecution of the war against the Axis in Europe. What form the second front in Europe will take was not indicated.

The twenty-year mutual assistance treaty between Great Britain and Russia provides that neither side shall make a separate peace with Germany and declares that neither side has any territorial ambitions.

The agreement between United States and Russia places Russia on the same footing as Great Britain and China in regard to "lease-lend" arrangements and will provide for an increased and unlimited flow of war supplies to the Soviet.

Post-war reconstruction plans for the rebuilding of Europe are also provided for in the agreements. Moscow crowds broke into wild cheers when they heard of the new agreements with Great Britain and the United States.

Berlin took news of the agreements as an indication of the serious position of Russia. China expressed disappointment that nothing was provided for in the agreements in the way of action against Japan.

IS HONORED AT OTTAWA

Presentation to Olof Hanson on Occasion of Birthday

(By Tom Waying)

OTTAWA, June 13.—A hand-wrought silver salver and a huge sheaf of gladioli were presented to Olof Hanson, M.P. for Skeena, on his sixtieth birthday recently. The salver bore engraved signatures of some of the most eminent Swedish personages and Swedish Canadians in Canada, including the Consul-General of Sweden, the Vice-Consul, the consuls at Toronto and elsewhere.

Mr. Hanson met his three-score year anniversary in good health and with his standing in Parliament enhanced. He is one of the best liked members in the Commons by reason of his sane common-sense approach to the problems facing the Dominion.

He has given a lead in many directions. To his credit lies the non-interest loans to the government for war purposes. He led off with a loan of $20,000, then another of $20,000 and so on, setting an example which has been followed across the Dominion. These loans bear no interest but are public-spirited Canadians' way of helping the war effort.

Capt. Helmer Christianson of Queen Charlotte has brought in the first two boatloads of springs from the West Coast of Queen Charlotte Islands grounds.

SITUATION ON PACIFIC

Even Tokyo is Now Admitting That Two Japanese Aircraft Carriers Were Sunk

TOKYO, June 12.—At the same time as Japan's leading civilian naval expert, Masanori Ito, was giving the first authoritative suggestion from Tokyo that two Japanese aircraft carriers had been sunk in the Battle of Midway Island and Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet of the United States, was saying that perhaps half the enemy ships had been sunk or damaged in the three day battle, Vice-Admiral Ichiro Sato, member of the Japanese naval general staff, blandly asserted that the Japanese had made a "decisive advance toward absolute mastery of the sea" at Midway and Dutch Harbor. Admiral Sato neglected to explain however, why the Japanese fleet had gone into such precipitate retreat from Midway.

FISHERMAN NOW SAFE

John Hoppman Back at Wales Island After Having Been Missing on Account of Engine Breakdown

John Hoppman, Naas River fisherman, who had been reported missing after leaving Mill Bay for Wales Island at the end of last week, is safe back at Mill Bay, according to word received by the fisheries department. He returned to Mill Bay on Wednesday after having been held up by engine breakdown.

It was fifteen miles below Arrandale that Hoppman's gillnet boat broke down. He was three days engaged in making repairs before he was able to get running again and return to Mill Bay under his own power.

Hoppman suffered no ill-effects although he ran a little short of food.

NEW CANADIAN POSTAGE STAMPS

Combining four photographs, this 6-cent airmail stamp records work of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in Canada. Scene is typical of R.C.A.F. stations.

The dark green, 13-cent denomination is a composite, based on photos, showing the Ram tank used by Canada's Army. Tank was named after the Rocky Mountain ram.

The farm scene in the sepia 8-cent stamp (left) is a tribute to the war effort of the farmer who operates on a small scale. Portraits of the King in uniforms of the three services appear on the one-cent (centre) two, three and five-cent stamps. Canada's war contribution in shipping is pictured in the 4-cent stamp (right).

STAGGERED VACATIONS

Plan Instituted on Canadian National Railways to Relieve Week-end Vacations

MONTREAL, June 12.—Staggered vacations have become an established rule for all employees of the Canadian National Railways who have the privilege of a summer holiday. This plan is now in force following instructions issued by R. C. Vaughan, president of the National Railways.

In a circular to vice-presidents and heads of departments Mr. Vaughan quotes George S. Gray, transit controller, and T. C. Lockwood, transport controller, from a circular issued by these officials and addressed to the civil service in which they suggested the adoption of staggered vacations with mid week starting and ending that should enable the common carrier facilities of this country to be more efficiently utilized.

As pointed out by Mr. Vaughan, it is desired to curtail week-end travel and not to concentrate all vacations in July and August but to spread them through other months and the president adds: "The purpose is to reduce congestion all agencies of transport and thus assist in meeting the demands for passenger travel related to Canada's war program."

A suggestion made by the transit controller and the transport controller and concurred in by Mr. Vaughan is that annual leaves or vacations start on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays, and terminate so that returning travel will occur on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays each week. By moving vacation travel in this manner it is planned to prevent congestion of common carrier facilities and to assure a maximum available supply of equipment for passenger travel or personnel, army, air force and navy. Accordingly, this plan is now being placed in operation throughout the Canadian National Railways.

MAYOR AND ALDERMAN

Trades and Labor Council Goes On Record As Favoring This Form of Civic Government

The Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council, which had previously been on record as favoring a city managership form of civic government for Prince Rupert, last night by resolution expressed itself as being heartily in accord with an honorary mayor and council form of administration.

The resolution was passed at the regular monthly meeting of the council at which President Thomas Elliott was in the chair over a good attendance of affiliated delegates. There was a good deal of other general business in addition to the discussion of municipal affairs in view of the impending change from the city commissionership.

There was a communication from the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council in regard to the deplorable condition of housing facilities throughout the Dominion. The local council decided to follow the matter up.

The Prince Rupert council will also make inquiries through J. Pigott, chairman of Wartime Housing Ltd. at Ottawa, regarding the rental of government houses being built in Prince Rupert.

Another matter taken up at last night's meeting was that of postal facilities in Prince Rupert. These were deemed to be present to be inadequate and it was decided to communicate with the Postmaster General with a view, if possible, to having a street delivery service by postman instituted.

It was decided to call an open meeting in the near future for all painters and decorators.

Berlin Says— HITLER IS READY NOW FOR DRIVE

Meanwhile Sebastopol and Kharkov Hold Firmly Against Increased Nazi Pressure

LONDON, June 12.—The Berlin radio said last night that Chancellor Adolf Hitler is now ready to start his long-awaited offensive against the Red Army in Russia. Caution was sounded, however, against anticipation of an early Axis victory at Sebastopol because of a stiff resistance being put up by the Russians there.

Meanwhile Sebastopol defences held firm after another day of intensive siege. Moscow claimed that 15,000 Nazi soldiers out of an army of 100,000 had been killed in three days.

Continued German attacks in the Kharkov area are also being successfully repulsed by the Russians.

Some Reassurance . . .

The case of jitters in Prince Rupert and elsewhere along this coast which started with the air raid on Dutch Harbor and reached its peak with the "false alarm" imminent danger alert this week most certainly cannot be ascribed to our situation here being any more perilous than it was before these events happened. To the contrary, there is good reason to believe that our position is more secure — a good deal more so — than it was six months ago when we were all so complacent.

Our latest nervousness has been the result of a final awakening to some facts of which a few realistic thinkers had long since been appreciative and a sense of realization of what might quite possibly happen here under the circumstances of war against an unpredictable enemy. It will not in the long run hurt to waken a lot of us up even if the ring of the alarm clock may have been something of a shock.

While there is no intention on our part to lull anybody back to sleep again, there is probably no harm in mentioning amidst all these alarms a few things that may well reassure us. Midway Island and Dutch Harbor incidents have served to test our defences and, the Japanese propaganda mill notwithstanding, there is every evidence that they have stood firm.

When we think about the "imminent danger" alarm we had, we may derive some comfort from the fact that the cause of it was friendly and not enemy planes, not sightseers or anything like that but no doubt fighting birdmen of the Allies heading forward to engage the enemy if they can find him.

And another reassuring thing for us is that the defence authorities at long last are beginning to waken up to our position out here and are taking long delayed measures. The fact that they are being taken is no reason whatever that we should become alarmed. The only thing we might feel chagrined about is that some of these things were not done long ago.

Like the mill of the Gods, the defence machinery of the democracies grinds exceedingly slow but there is increasing reason to suppose that it will grind exceedingly hard and fine as our enemy will find once he sticks his neck out just far enough.

Meanwhile, we here in Prince Rupert would do well to keep on in the spirit of realistic preparedness. If we do, we will be in a better position to meet come what may calmly and effectively.

We are on the front line here, true enough, and that is no catch word either. But our position is no more serious than it was six months ago although it is such that we have every justification to think seriously about it.

As far as the Terrace road is concerned, a few months of war is evidently going to accomplish what years of peace could not do. Oddly enough, the men needed the work and could not get it before. Now there may be difficulty in getting the men for the work.

Letter Box

A VETERAN PROTESTS

Editor, Daily News:
I would like to pass my opinion and that of at least some of the Public at large on the present state of affairs in Prince Rupert and the plight in which they have put some of our good citizens and pioneers in these trying times. Two months ago they put the alien Japs out of here but they found a place for them before they were evacuated. But what about the old age pensioners and the useful pioneers who developed the country and the city of Prince Rupert? They could find a place for our enemies and pay them 45c an hour before the war they had our loyal citizens working in camps at 29c a day. Now they do not seem to care whether or not he has a home but tell him to get out.

I read the local papers and see about the great things the Chamber of Commerce is doing but I do not see or hear of them doing anything in this case of necessity. It does not look very good in this great democratic country for which I myself spent two or three years of the best part of my life fighting.

What are the workers and younger set doing today? Telling us veterans of the last war to get out of our homes with the shortest notice they can find.

I wonder what our comrades of the last war who gave their lives and everything they held dear would think if they could see the plight today of some of those who came home? They were good and faithful servants and served their country well but they are getting little thanks for it.

DUGALD PARKS,
A veteran of the last war.

SHOULD BE CAREFUL

Editor, Daily News:
As a member of the A.R.P., and a veteran of three campaigns, I would like to ask a few questions of whoever is responsible for the safety of this city.

Why are the oil companies allowed to keep their oil storage tanks in the prominent position in which they are? Why is it, after two years of war, these tanks are not at least camouflaged?

Why doesn't someone in authority move them out of there and set them up across the bay.

At the present time we are short of rubber and gas and all possible methods of conservation are recommended and used. Yet any motor vehicle travelling from the C.N.R. depot to the C.P.R. wharf, a matter of a few hundred feet, must go up town and all around via Cow Bay to reach its destination when a small amount of planking along the railway tracks would cut 90 percent of the trip saving time, gas and rubber.

There still seems to be a lot of foolish people here who have the idea "It can't happen here" but anything can happen.

What's the matter with the Board of Trade, the Canadian Legion and a few more getting together and telling the government to get those oil tanks out before it is too late?

G. V. HANLEY.

Girl Starts Fund; Killed Next Raid

ENGLAND, June 12: —The day after the first air raid on Bath, Violet Hayden took a shilling (about 23 cents) to a local office and asked to start a fund for bombed-out people. The contribution, a thank offering for their safety from the girl and her 89-year old mother, began a fund which stands now at more than $25,000 (about $112,500) but the donors did not live to see the fruits of their gift. Both were killed the next night in another raid.

Spring Salmon Run Better This Year — Sockeye Beginning To Show Up—Dogfishing On Islands

Sockeye salmon are now beginning to show up in the Skeena and Naas Rivers, a few having been caught in spring gillnets during the past few days. Meanwhile the number of gillnetters in both rivers is increasing and results of fishing have been fairly satisfactory of late although unfavorable weather this week has caused somewhat of a falling off from a week ago. Boats in the Skeena River last week averaged about 500 pounds for the week with the high boat getting about 2000 pounds. On the Naas River the average was about 1000 pounds per boat for last week. Prices have been quite satisfactory 10c and 8c per pound being paid Naas River gillnetters while the Skeena price of 11c and 6c last week has dropped off to 9c and 5c this week. On the Skeena River at last report 85 gillnetters were fishing and on the Naas some thirty or forty of which three were white men and the balance natives. The number of the boats fishing will probably have increased from these figures during the last few days. Steadily improving runs on the trolling grounds are also reported and, generally speaking, the spring fishing is better this year than it was last. The trollers are receiving 15c per pound for red salmon and 7c for whites.

SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

Mrs. Fred H. Scott, Formerly Of Usk, Dies In Local Hospital

Mrs. Fred H. Scott, nee Dorothy Daffodil Whitlow, passed away suddenly at 3 o'clock this morning at the Prince Rupert General Hospital. She was twenty-seven years of age.

Mrs. Scott was born at Kitselas Canyon and went to school in Usk and Prince Rupert. She married Frederick Henry Scott of Terrace June 1, 1935.

Besides her husband and four year old son, Barry Francis Frederick, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. E. M. Whitlow, of Prince Rupert, and sister, Mrs. O. B. Sather, of Vancouver.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of B. C. Undertakers and will be announced later.

Q. C. ISLANDS

The sudden death last week of Capt. James Watt aboard his command, the steamer Camosun, came as a great shock to all Queen Charlotte Islanders with whom he had been so long and favorably known. A pioneer of the Island run, Capt. Watt, like such others as Capt. Neil Maclean, Capt. Edward Mabbs and Capt. Dan McKinnon, played his part in building up the Queen Charlotte Islands. Always cheery, always willing to help, his presence will be greatly missed on the Islands. He died, no doubt as he would have wished, at the post of duty.

Indian Agent James Gillett, from Prince Rupert, paid the Queen Charlotte Islands a short visit recently and his many friends are hoping to see him back again shortly.

Laurence Dyson of Port Clements paid a brief visit recently to Skidegate and Queen Charlotte City on business.

Mrs. J. Hewson and her five children left Port Clements last week for their home near New Westminster. Mr. Hewson will stay on in charge of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. fish scow.

HER DEATH IS SUDDEN

Mrs. A. N. Dando Succumbs Unexpectedly on Eve of Departure From Smithers For Vancouver

(Special to Daily News)

SMITHERS, June 12—This community was severely shocked to learn yesterday that Mrs. A. N. Dando had passed away suddenly at the home of N. H. Kilpatrick. Suffering a stroke Wednesday evening she had been unconscious since that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Dando were to leave Smithers yesterday for Vancouver where Mr. Dando was being transferred to his new post as manager of a branch of the Royal Bank.

Their many friends who have been bidding them goodbye for the past week are grief-stricken and the deepest sympathy of all the people of the Bulkley Valley is extended to Mr. Dando in his great bereavement.

Coming to Smithers three years ago they immediately filled an important part of the life of this town and district.
