City Commissioner's Message

The Canadian Army deserves the most whole-hearted support which we can give it. It is our army and it soon may be called upon to make good on all the training and preparation which it has had.

June 29 to July 5 has been designated as Army Week. I ask all citizens to take advantage of this and let the men of our Army know how much we value their services.

Let us do Honor to the men on coast defence who through drab days and nights are watching and eager to get a sight of the enemy; to men doing double duty by training and at the same time being in constant readiness for emergency; in short, those men who today stand ready to go anywhere, anytime, and anyhow, to drive the dagger home.

We are all proud of the men in khaki who are serving Canada. We have good reason in Prince Rupert to be particularly proud and appreciative of them.

Therefore, I urge all citizens to do everything possible to tangibly show their appreciation and good will.

D. J. Matheson,

City Commissioner.

HONORING OUR SOLDIERS

With Army Week being celebrated from June 29 to July 5, the attention of the public will be focused on the men in battle dress. And it might be well at this time for every civilian to ask him or herself several questions concerning our soldiers. Have we not tended to forget them for the color and glamor of the Air Force and Navy? Have we not neglected to make a fuss over them because they have not as yet participated in a major campaign?

The answer to these questions can be yes with but a few exceptions.

Actually this neglect of our Army has not been intentional, but rather the result of circumstances. It does not show any lack of respect for our soldiers, but merely a lack of thoughtfulness. Then let us consider the sacrifices made by our men when they join the Army, and the role they will play in the coming victory. It should enable us to give them more of the credit, respect and honor which is their due.

A man makes a tacrifice the very day he steps into an Army uniform, and from that day on, he continues to make them. His liberty is restricted. He takes orders all day, and has to carry them out with thoroughness and efficiency. The twentyfour hours of the day are planned for him, and he must not vary his activities during them.

Even when he is on pass, he is still on parade before the eyes of the public. By his conduct, he and his comrades are judged so he should be continually careful not to bring ridicule or disrespect to the uniform he wears. His Army life is a complete change from that which he knew when he was in civilian clothes, and he has to adjust himself accordingly.

If he is called upon to make the final sacrifice—and many of our men will be before victory is won-will he go to his death with the knowledge that he is honored, respected, and that his name will be a monument before which Canada will pay tribute to his heroism? It would indeed be a bitter death, if this knowledge was lacking in our young men in uniform. So during Army Week, it is the duty of every civilian to show appreciation of our fighting men. They must not feel they are the "forgotten men" of the war. Their task will be to consolidate our victory. It is our duty to show them our admiration and respect for the victory they will bring us.

MINISTER OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

To the Citizens of Canada.

June 29th to July 5th, 1942, as "Army Week". The purpose is to give the people of Canada an opportunity of expressing their pride in the Canadian Army and honouring the Gentleman in Battledress, the Nursing Sisters and the Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

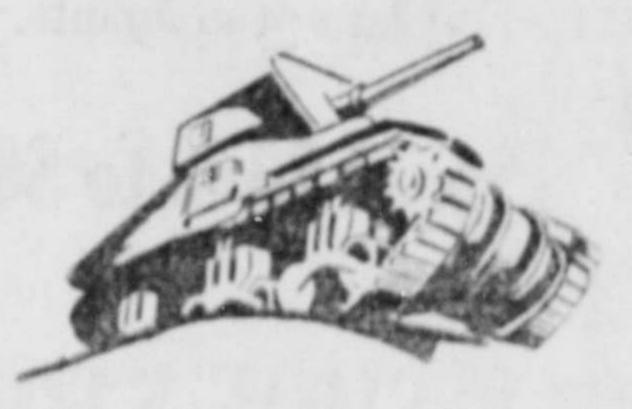

During Army Week, citizens will have an unusual opportunity of seeing the Army at work. Each day has been set aside for some specific purpose. Monday, June 29th, for instance, has been made "Soldier's Day" when the public will be invited to send gifts and parcels to the men overseas and when they can entertain the men at dances and other special entertainments. The next day, June 30th, is "Civilians' Day", when civilians will be asked to prepare meals on a food ration system and restaurants will serve meals identical to those served to Canadian soldiers.

As Minister of National Defence, I am intensely proud of the men and women in khaki and of the women in Nursing Service blue who are serving Canada. I am sure that my fellow Canadians feel just as I do. I extend a most cordial invitation to all of you to express this well deserved appreciation by joining in the events of Army Week.

Yours very truly,

Malate
