Red Cross Head Finds Prince Rupert Not Such a Bad Town - Civilian War Work Lauded

Back in the east we have heard that conditions out here at the extreme end of the line were terrible but I have been agreeably surprised to find that such is far from being the case...

Mr. Cairns mentioned the good work that the auxiliary services were doing here. The situation here from that angle, he felt, was being well taken care of. However, in view of the unique position of Prince Rupert, he would go back to National Red Cross headquarters with the recommendation for more supplies for emergency relief.

The speaker stressed the desirability of home nursing services being set up here. He paid tribute to the excellent work for which the Prince Rupert Red Cross branch and its officers were carrying on. Speaking of Red Cross activities generally, Mr. Cairns told how the sum of $25,000,000 had been subscribed to the Red Cross since the start of the war. He mentioned the blood donor clinics and the plasma banks that had been established including one in Prince Rupert.

Women were playing a most important part in the war work of the Red Cross. In the first six months of this year three million articles had been sent overseas, making a total of eighteen million since the beginning of the war. Six hundred thousand pounds of home made jam had been sent abroad this year by the women of Canada.

Another important function was the sending of packages to prisoners of war, 100,000 parcels of food a week being sent. That these packages were finding their way in the hands of the prisoners of war was proven by the fact that 400,000 acknowledgment cards had been received. Up to the present the Germans had given safe passage to these packages. The Japanese had refused to grant immunity but it was hoped it would be possible to yet arrange for this and get parcels going to the prisoners in the Far East.

This was a war, Mr. Cairns said, in which a definite evil had to be irrevocably stamped out. There was no room for pacifism. The fight was for freedom of the individual, for the family, for worship, none of which rights were compatible with totalitarianism. The war could not be stopped until the evil had been wiped out. Yet the spirit of compassion, the desire to fight fairly always came to the top over the other emotions and it was in this spirit that the Red Cross functioned. The Red Cross said that war must be decent. Even Germany had an active Red Cross functioning very much similar to the British and Canadian. In history, Mr. Cairns contended, the names of such good samaritans as Florence Nightingale, Louis Pasteur, David Livingstone, Thomas Edison remained when those of generals were forgotten.

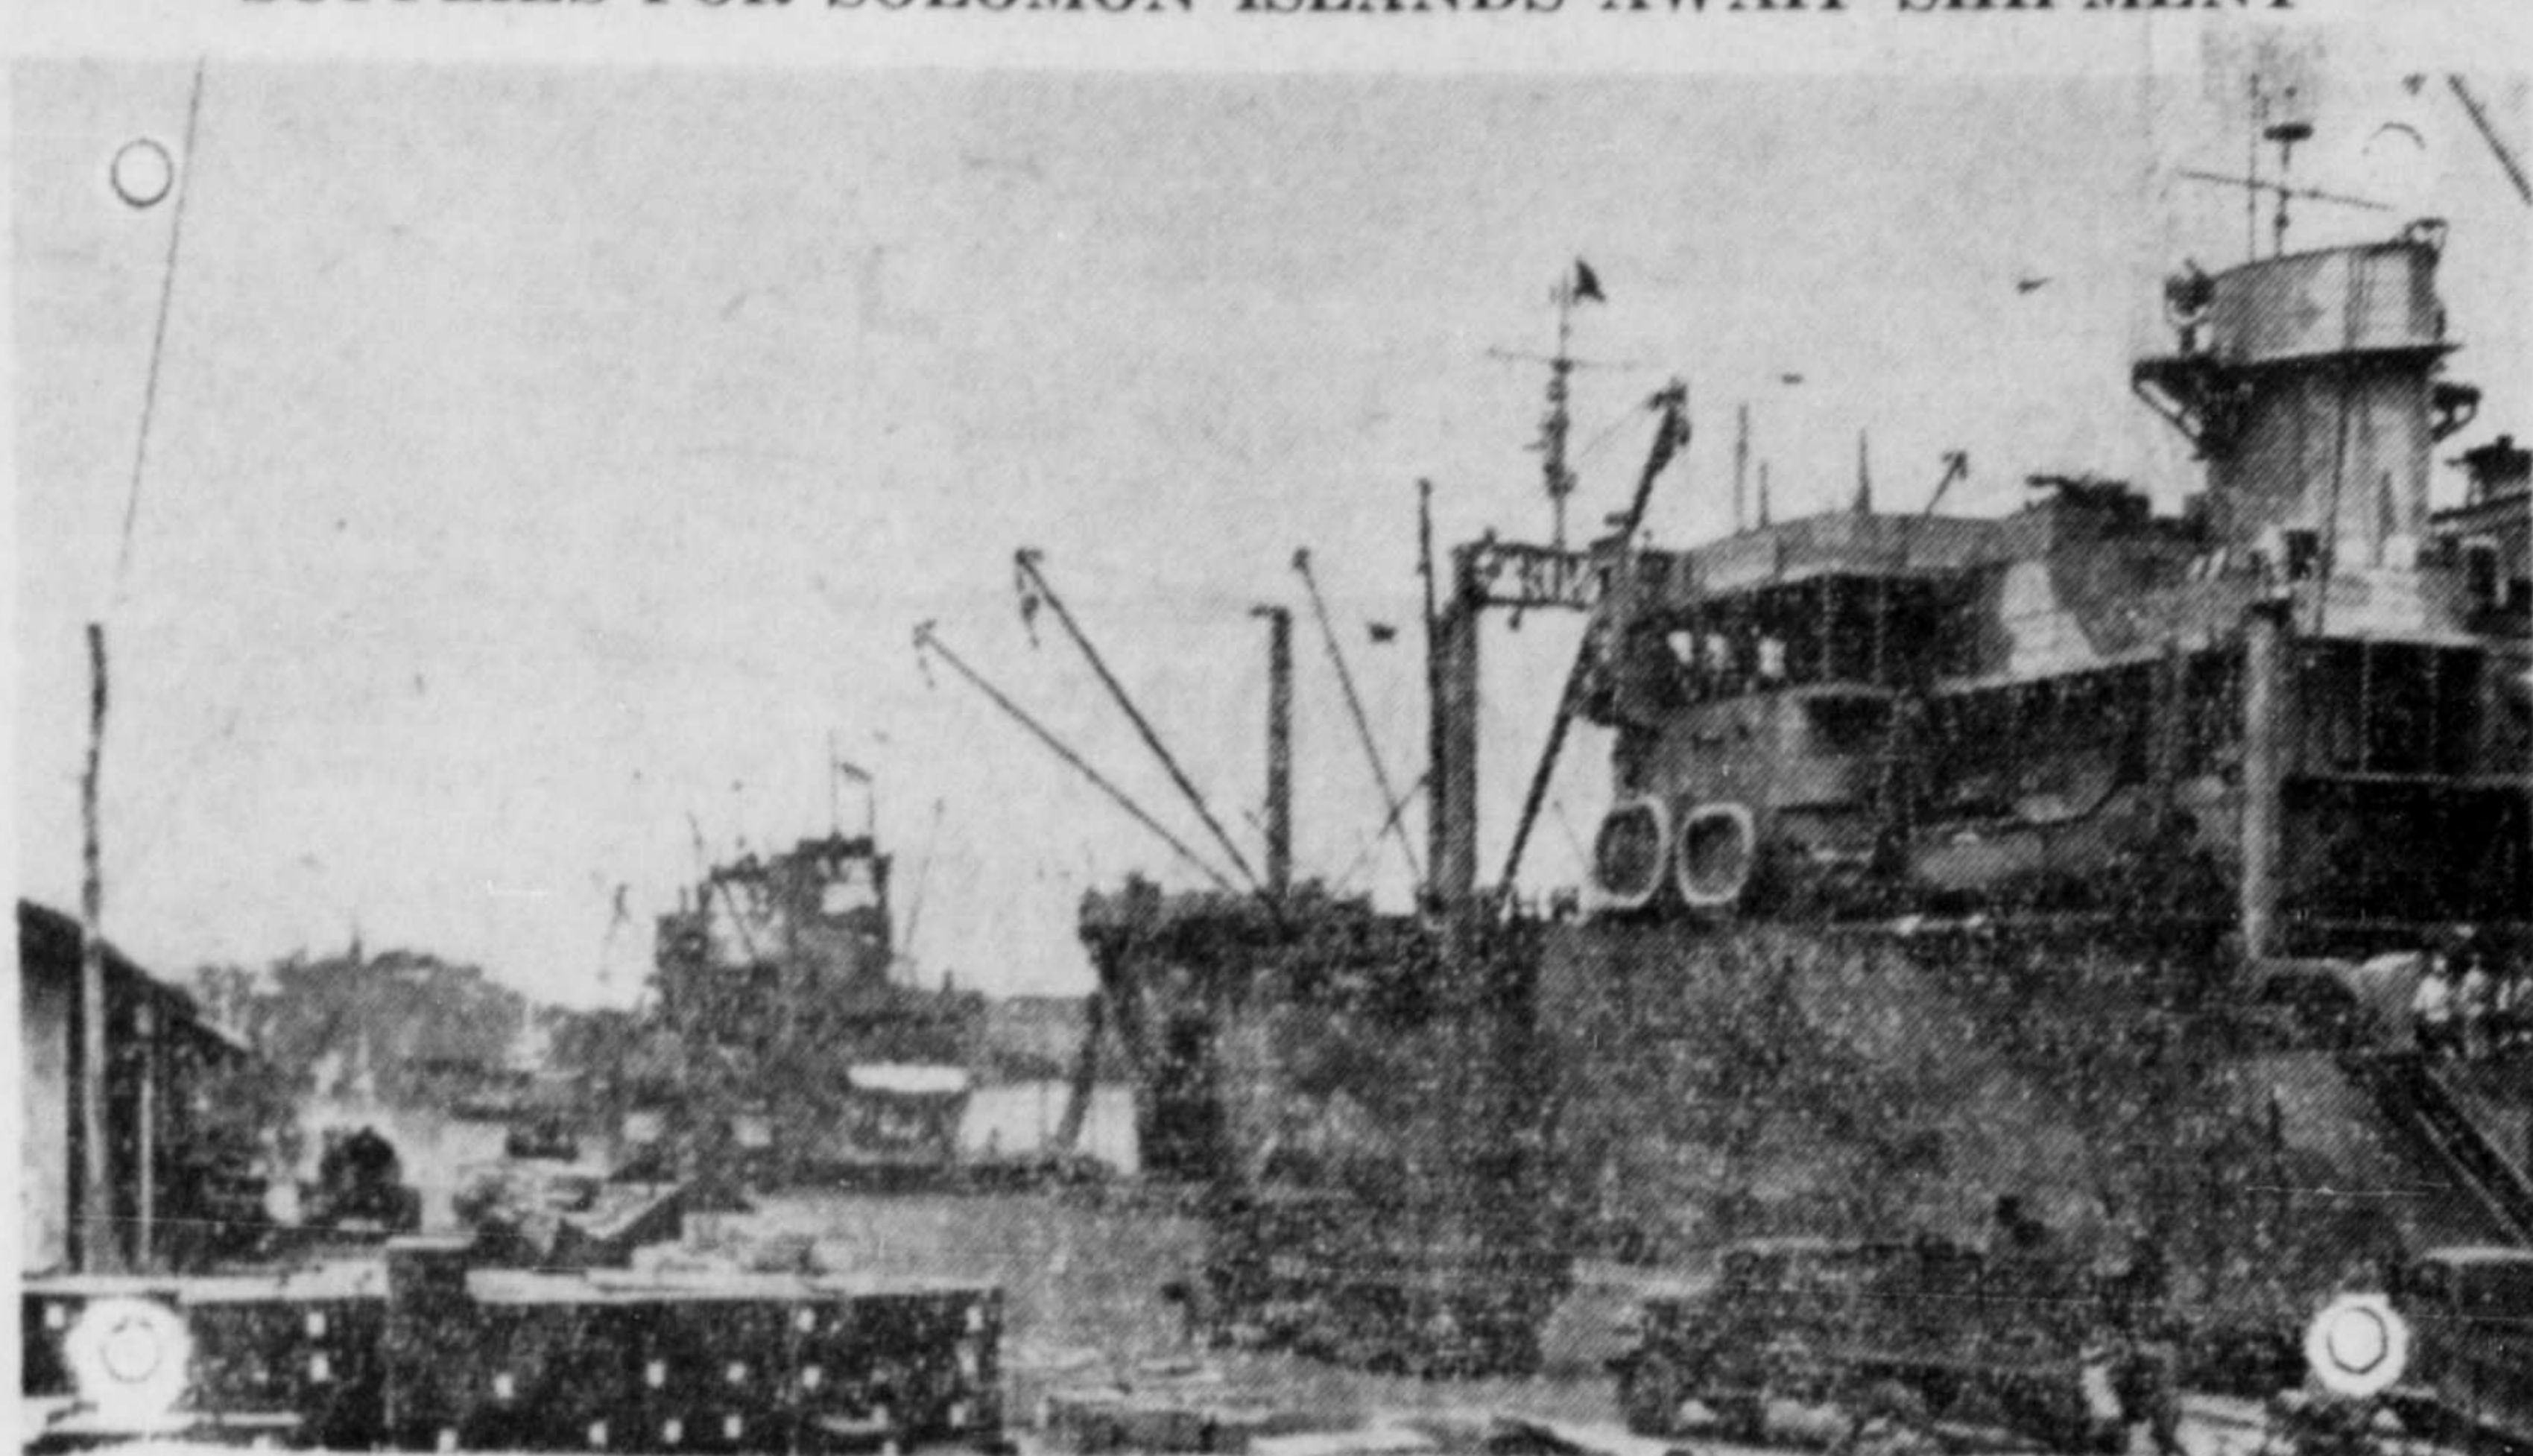

President George C. Mitchell occupied the chair and expressed the appreciation of the club to Mr. Cairns for his address. Luncheon guests were Arnold Flaten, H. A. Breen, E. V. Whiting, A. McLellan and G. A. Hunter.

R. G. Hopkins was the winner of the raffle of a war savings certificate for the Queen's Fund.

Franco Very Satisfactory

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 13 - President Franklin D. Roosevelt said today he had received a very satisfactory reply from General Francisco Franco, head of the Spanish state, to his message assuring Spain that the American expedition to North Africa was in no way directed against Spanish territory. Spain has dropped her policy of pro-Axis non-belligerency for one of strict neutrality.

HITTING AT STALINGRAD

Fresh Reserves Being Put Into Siege by Nazis but with Little Real Success

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 - The Nazis are throwing new reserves into the siege of Stalingrad and in one section of the city gained two hundred yards yesterday, this however, being offset by a 400-yard gain by the Russians in another part.

A German attack near Tuapse was repulsed by the Red Army which made an advance in the Caucasus. Repeated German attacks which Red Star characterized as the beginning of a new Nazi offensive were hurled at the defenders of Stalingrad yesterday but the Russians declared today that all assaults had been repelled with heavy Nazi losses.

Indications Suggest Axis May Yield North Africa to Allies Without Even Making Fight

Reuters Hear That Bengasi is Also Being Given up as Nazis Make Desperate Effort to Save Remainder of Forces

CAIRO, Nov. 12 (CP) - Tobruk was abandoned by the Nazis today in their headlong flight to stay ahead of their pursuers. The important North African port was reoccupied by British forces today amid the first indication that the Axis may be yielding the last of North Africa without a struggle.

As the British Eighth Army's westward race and the American-American thrust eastward from French North Africa swiftly closed around the remnants of the Axis forces, British headquarters announced that the Royal Air Force had shot down six big Italian troop-carrying planes flying north probably from Tunisia and filled with German troops.

This meant a possibility that the Germans may be pulling out of Tunisia, the last buffer between the Allies in the west and Tripoli but the Germans may have been demolishing troops departing after completing their tasks.

Reuters in London said it had recorded a broadcast by Rabot radio reporting that Axis ships have left Bengasi, probably after evacuating that port.

CAIRO, Nov. 13 - Marshal Erwin Rommel's defeated Afrika Korps has by-passed Tobruk in its westward flight and now appears headed toward Bengasi or Tripoli.

There have been heavy Allied air raids on Axis desert strongholds. At Tobruk twenty-two enemy planes were shot down.

SHORTAGE OF POWER

Expected Supply Will be Back to Normal Here This Afternoon

The recent shortage of electric power is due to a landslide on the transmission lines, according to J. J. Little, general manager of Northern B.C. Power Co. Ltd. Mr. Little expects that full power will be restored by some time this afternoon. In the meantime, all the power possible is being drawn from reserve sources.

Two transmission spans and ten telephone spans were affected at a point about one mile in from the road. The regular repair crew is being assisted on the job by twelve soldiers of the Canadian Army.

During the shortage of power, there has been some inconvenience to many people but the endeavour has been, as far as possible, to keep the essential industries going. Every morning this week the newspaper offices have had their power off at least an hour.

The King Edward School closed at noon today, owing to the lack of power to run the boiler, and will remain closed until the power shortage has been relieved, it was announced.

Admiral Jean Darlan has broadcast a message from North Africa to the commanders of the fleet asking them to sail for North Africa.

Pierre Laval is believed to be still trying to get the unwilling Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, chief of staff, to agree to the new terms of Adolf Hitler in regard to Vichy France.

The War News . . .

We are in another period of the war when events are occurring with confusing suddenness and we find it difficult to know just exactly who is with us and who against. The Men of Vichy are the latest enigma. Even they themselves, it might now appear, are finding it difficult to stomach Hitler. However, it is nigh inconceivable to expect they will ever be really friends of ours.

The stirring events which have occurred these last few days are replete with portent but the full implications are difficult to discern. On the surface, however, they would appear to be reasonably favorable to our side. The second front advocates should derive considerable satisfaction therefrom even though subsequent events may produce some painful action. However, we could not have expected to get through the bloody business of war without some pain. It would be only wishful thinking to conceive that we should be victorious without fighting and, after all, we have not done a great amount of fighting yet.

Things that appear to be due to pass now have to be gone through with before the undertaking on which we are embarked is completed. The sooner we get on with the job, the better it will be for us. That is why even the most realistic of us may contemplate these current baffling developments with some satisfaction.

All wars are full of the unexpected and this war, in that regard, is certainly running true to form.

Poor France . . .

Particularly confusing is the situation in unhappy France. Some of the leaders who betrayed or had a part in betraying her appear to have come to the end of their patience as puppets. It is remotely possible that history may judge them more kindly than we as yet are prepared to do.

For the time being France may have to taste more deeply the desperate dregs of defeat. She had been conquered before. Now she will be subjugated until we can get organized to defeat Hitler. Conceivably France may be once again the main battleground in this war. In the meantime, she is to go through the plight of the other victims of the aggressors. Be it said to her honor, after all, that, as a whole, she may be a victim rather than supine accomplice as we had commenced to judge her.

The whole position of France may be somewhat disconcerting today but for our enemy we can at least say that things this time are not going "according to plan." Hitler himself admits that he has been forced to move defensively. There is every reason to believe that the Axis campaign in Egypt has been far from satisfactory to Hitler, moving him to more desperate things than he had contemplated would be necessary.

Yes, to say the least of it, we appear to be justified in feeling some measure of gratification at the latest turn of events although they need a lot more clarification.

LARGEST ALLIED CONVOY FIGHTS WAY TO RUSSIA

The biggest Allied convoy of the war reached Russia recently with a great quantity of war material for the battling Red Army, but it didn't get through without a booby nose. Above you see one merchant ship burning after it was hit. Commodore of the convoy was Rear-Admiral E. K. Hoddam-Whetham.

CASE OF WAITRESSES
Editor, Daily News:
Waitresses employed by local restaurants are clean, respectable and efficient. No doubt the restaurant managements would like to keep them that way. Can it be expected, however, that any girl who receives the sum of $12.73 per week can keep clean and respectable considering the present prices of rent and commodities. This is a matter that should be remedied so we may expect the same efficient and clean service to which we have been accustomed in the past.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT, Hostess

The Service Wives' Club held their weekly meeting in the family lounge Thursday afternoon. They are very anxious to increase their membership as well as to have all members attend regularly. They are especially eager to have army men's wives attend in greater numbers as they feel that they represent the largest body of troops in this area. The club is very sociable and there is no need to complain of being lonely when there is a weekly meeting to attend.

The members of the club are planning a party for all the servicemen's children in the district but in order to have some idea of how many to cater for they would like mothers to leave their children's names, ages and addresses with Mrs. Garbutt the Y.W.C.A. hostess as soon as possible. The party will include a program of children's movie shorts, gifts for the kiddies and a tea party to finish with. It will take place sometime during Christmas week. Next Thursday they want as many helpers as possible to fill up Christmas stockings for the boys in hospital.

At yesterday's meeting the inter-club raffle was donated by Mrs. Gordon and won by Mrs. Fuge. Refreshments were served this week by Mrs. Jensen and Mrs. Ashman.

Tomorrow, Saturday night, there will be the first of the dances to be held by the men's mess of the Prince Rupert Area Camp. "Sally" has the tickets for sale. I'm looking forward to it.

We had a surprise picture at the "Y" last night. It was a re-issue of the Trans-Canada trip of our King and Queen in May and June 1939. It was as inspiring as at the first time of seeing it.

SPORT CHAT

The fellow who digs up a lot of chatter for this column is Flt. Lt. Bob Forster of Montreal, former non-playing manager of Canada's Davis Cup tennis teams and editor of a tennis and badminton magazine until he joined the R.C.A.F. as a public relations officer. Bob works hard behind a big desk in London headquarters and occasionally gets away to visit Canadian stations and chat with the lads. He knew many of them back home and he has met as many again over here. In between lines he tries his hand at tennis and squash with Flt. Lt. Walter Martin of Toronto and Regina as the opposition. Walter played on the Forster-managed Cup teams. It's a queer quirk that he should wind up at London headquarters of the R.C.A.F. as a member of the legal department and only a few steps away from Bob. Forster used to do a lot of work for The Montreal Standard.

Along the Hockey Lanes . . . Canadian airmen are pleased in at least one way at a thought of a none-to-pleasant English winter. Artificial ice rinks for the most part are located within travelling distance of Canadian air stations. . . LAC. Hugh Jolly's squadron expects plenty of hockey strength from his direction. He was a high scorer for the Simpson's team at Toronto. . . The word is out that PO Chuck Semple will look mighty good on a hockey rink in between chasing Nazi planes with his Spitfire. The Toronto lad played starchy softball and friends say "you ain't seen nothin' yet." He's listed as LAC. B. Hoffman, fitter, in official R.C.A.F. records but around Montreal he's known as Bernie Hoffman, who starred on basketball courts for Y.M.C.A. and Rocklands Airport. . . Bernie looked mighty good on a softball diamond this summer, too.

The Lord Mayor of Edmonton presented a silver cup to the Edmonton soccer team but with regret, he said because he wanted it to go to Canada. Then he gave the Canadian Military Headquarters' team, beaten 2-0 by Edmonton, a rarity—a brand new football. . . More than 1,500 watched the match and saw a fellow from another Edmonton—in Alberta—shine with the Canadians. That was Pte. W. Yoxal, Cpl. E. A. Malone of Toronto, who captained the team, and Sgt. B. Maule of London, Ont., were other stalwarts in the losing cause.

IS FRIDAY THIRTEENTH

Maybe Adam Started the Legend That It's an Unlucky Day

Today is Friday the 13th but folks are getting hard-boiled on this old bugaboo. He was here twice before this year—in February and March. What is more important, today is the 1170th day of the war.

However, Friday the 13th is a scarred veteran of a score of wartimes and insists on popping out of the Georgian calendar from time to time, war or no war. Just to show how little modern thought in calendars is worried over Friday the 13th it might be mentioned the proposed World Calendar—if and when—will give us
four Fridays the 13th every year,
in January, April, July and October.

As it is under the present system of days and dates, when the old reprobate of superstitions completes his appearance today he will enter his funkhole and stay there till August next. He makes only one appearance in 1943 and one in 1944 (October). Last year, too, he turned up but once—in June.

Whence It Comes

Legends and traditions about Friday the 13th will persist. Some say the idea is as old as Adam—that Eve and her spouse were expelled from Eden on the day of the week corresponding with Friday.

In Christendon probably the most accepted version of the origin of Friday the 13th is in the fact there were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot,
who next day, traditionally Friday,
betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

Merchants Attention!

During these dark evenings
and dim-out times when window display is virtually ruled out and even in the daytime
people are too busy to wander around the streets
searching for values, we would recommend to Prince Rupert merchants the greater importance than ever of advertising in the newspapers
which are so much in demand
on account of the war news.
The medium of the newspaper is more effective than ever in drawing attention to stocks, particularly between now and Christmas. Get in touch with the Daily News
now.
