Japs Straining To Conquer Burma

Straining for the conquest of Burma ahead of the mid-monsoon season and jockeying with fresh show of air power southwest Pacific positions before the United Nations can strike back in full force, Japan has a big job on her hands and little time in which to do it. Premier Tojo himself admitted today that "the war still has to be fought." This, he said, in spite of Japan's victories so far. He said: "The war is coming to a stage which will be a real test for the Japanese nation." Wide-ranging Allied bombers answered a sudden intensification of enemy air activity in the Australian theatre yesterday by blasting at Japanese bases at Lae, New Guinea, and Bougainville in the Solomon Islands. In Burma it is a question whether the hard-pressed British Imperial forces and their Chinese comrades can stay the Japanese push until monsoon rains come with the prospect of hindering Japanese communications.

Widespread Raids By Royal Air Force

British bombers gave the Baltic port of Rostock its fourth consecutive blasting last night, centering their attack on the great Heinkel aircraft factory. The great Skoda munitions plant in Czechoslovakia was also hit. Then, with scarcely a pause in their non-stop offensive, they raided northern France in force today. Fires set by the Royal Air Force on three successive nights still burned at Rostock and guided the night raiders to their targets. Other swarms battered docks at Dunkerque, laid mines in German-controlled waters and attacked enemy airdromes in France and the Low Countries.

Bath Is Raided By Nazi Planes

Nazi planes made a short but sharp attack early this morning on the famous watering place of Bath where many evacuees are in residence. Several persons were killed and considerable damage was done to property.

Finns On Road To Defeat Again

Nearly two thousand Finnish troops were reported killed last week in the Russian offensive in frozen Lapland as the Red Army pushed forward in a spring advance likened to the one of two years ago which ended in Finland's defeat. The battle lines in the Far North were drawn well inside the frontier of 1939 and Soviet troops were reported to be demonstrating that they held the initiative firmly. Elsewhere all along the great front of the Russo-German war further Soviet victories are reported.

Paris Prince Josias To Stamp Out Unrest in Paris—Allied Invasion Would Be Welcomed

He has been given a strong force of Nazi storm troopers as well as four hundred tanks.

In spite of precautionary measures, however, there is reason to believe that the Allied invasion of Western Europe when it comes will find plenty of assistance from the people of France as well as other occupied countries which are in a state of unrest.

HITLER IS IN BERLIN

Demands and Is Given Authority To Bear Down On German People

Is Challenged? Speculation On Just what is Awry In Germany to Cause Hysteria

BERLIN, April 27.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler arrived unexpectedly in Berlin yesterday in special session when he called for and was given authority to punish without trial any German—military or civilian—who failed to do his duty.

Hitler spoke for one hour and one minute before a howling Reichstag. He admitted that there was little possibility of the war being over this year but promised that the Nazi army of the east would be better equipped next winter than it had been during the last. He complained of the weather that had caused defeat of the Nazi forces in Russia during the last winter and said that the psychological effect of Napoleon's defeat in Russia had also had an adverse tendency.

Hitler denounced civil servants and judges for their laxity and suggested that all Army officers had not been doing their duty.

Something Wrong LONDON, April 27.—That something is wrong within Germany is generally accepted from the tone of Chancellor Hitler's speech to the Reichstag yesterday. It is considered possible that some one has challenged his authority and that another purge is coming. The Fuehrer is evidently alarmed over German morale, both military and industrial.

FORTY MINUTE ATTACK SUGGESTS GRAPHICALLY IT MIGHT HAPPEN HERE

A.R.P. Goes Into Action Under Realistic Conditions—City Is Plastered With Flour Bombs

Prince Rupert was "blitzed" for forty minutes yesterday afternoon. The raid was from 2:20 p.m. until 3 o'clock. Three bombing planes were indiscriminately dropping their missiles on the port even as the banshees sounded the dismal imminent danger alarm. There were direct hits on military objectives including industrial plants, oil tanks, docks, railway yards, military barracks and stores, public buildings and bridges. Nor did the residential sections go unscathed and, in true enemy style, hospitals and schools were concentrated upon. The planes, however, were friendly and the missiles were flour bombs. It was all a very realistic simulation of what "might happen here" and, undoubtedly, caused many to reflect what it might have been like had the "bombs" been real incendiaries and explosives from real enemy planes. As an army officer remarked, however, "they wouldn't be getting away with it if our machine guns were in action."

The "raid" was staged in connection with a general rehearsal of the entire civilian protection (A.R.P.) organization in Prince Rupert. All branches of the A.R.P. turned out and acquitted themselves with credit, showing the results of assiduous practice and study which many citizens have been engaging in for months now in order to make themselves useful should emergency of this kind ever occur here.

Numerous "incidents" had been arranged. Fires were started in various unexpected places. Casualties were also planted. Wards were on the job to report to the stations which dispatched fire fighters, decontamination squads and first aid workers. Doctors and nurses were in attendance at various points to give the casualties field attention. There were a couple of real tear gas bombs on Third Avenue which were effective on all around.

Local defences also went into action. Anti-aircraft guns were fired. Tracer bullets and flares were sent up. Groups of soldiers were to be seen in shelter practice among the bushes and trees.

All the regulations of "imminent danger," including traffic and pedestrian stoppage, were exercised during the entire period of the raid.

NO ISSUE BY JAPAN

Apparently Relations Between Nippon and Russia Unchanged As Result of Bomber Landing

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 27.—Japan is apparently making no issue of the incident in which an American bomber, one of the aircraft which attacked Japanese cities a week ago Saturday, made a forced landing on the Siberian coast. The state of armed neutrality between Japan and Russia, apparently, remains unchanged.

The United States government is making no complaint at the interment of five United States airmen. The American consul at Vladivostok has forwarded a report on the landing to the State Department.

Beaverbrook Speech Is Not Of Service

London Times Would Not Be Impatient In Matter of Offensive

LONDON, April 27.—The London Times, commenting editorially on the speech of Lord Beaverbrook in New York calling for immediate Allied offensive on a second front, agrees that such an offensive must be launched but not at an inopportune time. The Times says Beaverbrook's speech at this time was "hardly of service" to the country.

A.R.P. Doing Good Work . . .

Although its numbers might be greater, Prince Rupert has good reason to be well pleased with its A. R. P. organization. Under realistic conditions yesterday, in general rehearsal throughout the city, it showed it was on the job. If the real thing came, we believe it would be effective enough to accomplish much in the protection and saving of life and property although there are undoubtedly still some matters of organization to be perfected.

The enthusiasm which is being shown by a growing number of citizens in offering their services for this very necessary defence work is to be commended. It is only to be regretted that more local people, who might well do so, are not realizing their duty and accepting some responsibility.

A.R.P. work can be by no means regarded as an entirely benevolent activity for by engaging in it a person is working to protect not only the public at large but his own kin and property. In spite of that, however, some are content to sit back and let the other fellow do the job.

The very least a person can do is to make himself acquainted with the civilian protection regulations and take certain simple steps to protect his own property. It is surprising, though, to learn how many are not even doing that. Maybe by the time the war comes a little closer they will wake up. Meanwhile, it is to be hoped, for their sake, that there will be no "Pearl Harbor" here. Yesterday's rehearsal might well have caused some to wonder what Prince Rupert might have been like last night had those been enemy planes and bombs.

Making Daily Life Enjoyable . . .

A story is told of a boy who owned a bantam hen. He put an ostrich egg in front of her nest and over it a card on which he had written, "Look on this card and do your best."

Is it not true that all of us need to have kept before us something which bids us to attempt, achieve and attain more? And this "something" is and can be the advertisements seen in our newspapers. Do not the colorful advertisements of model kitchens plant in the heart of every woman a desire and a will to have some day a kitchen like the pictured ones? Immediacy of action may not be possible or contemplated, yet every advertisement showing a model kitchen performs its intended object, namely, the implanting of desire and purpose to have a kitchen which will economize steps, labor and time, and which will be an agreeable workshop. It is the same with other things. In their sum, advertisements have an incalculable influence for good on all of us. They teach us how to live more fully—how to get more agreeable experiences out of every day. They point us to products and services which in possession and use make our occupations more rewardful of everything which satisfies our natures and deepest needs. They show us how to lessen the fatigue of labor, how to have greater comfort; how to get more time for social pleasures and cultural employments; how to have better health; how to make our homes more attractive inside and out; how to use our money to insure presently and in our later years freedom from anxiety and the distresses of poverty.

So we bid you look at advertisements with very friendly eyes. Beyond their permissible selfishness they are calculated to make daily life for all classes of persons an enjoyable and a gainful experience.

MEN DEAD

Murdock McLean and William Moffatt, who Batted Together For Years, Pass Away During Night

Murdock McLean and William Moffatt, two well known steel workers of the dry dock here, who have been employed at the local plant for many years, died during the night at the Prince Rupert General Hospital, one late last night and one early this morning. They had been taken from their home on Ambrose Avenue, just off Sixth Avenue near the Hays Creek bridge, to the hospital. They had batted together for years and had a fine garden which had been developed into one of the horticultural show places here. They owned the property, having purchased it four years ago.

Circumstances of the double death are being investigated but it had not been decided up to early afternoon whether or not there would be an inquest.

MARRIED
QUIETLY

Miss Joan Hawkins of William Head Becomes Bride of John O'Neill

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the groom's parents Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when Rev. A. F. MacSween, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, united in marriage Joan Doris, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hawkins of William Head, Victoria, and John Alexander, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. O'Neill of this city.

Given in marriage by the groom's father, the bride was charming in a dressmaker suit of poude blue, complemented by a matching turban. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Miss Dorothy O'Neill, the bride's only attendant, also chose poude blue with matching turban. Rose carnations formed her corsage.

Bert O'Neill was groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents. Mr. MacSween proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. The toast to the bridesmaid was proposed by James Simpson and responded to by the best man.

Mrs. A. Berner and Mrs. James Simpson poured from the bride's lace-covered table which was centred with a silver basket of pink and white carnations, flanked by pink and white tapers in silver holders.

Serviteurs were the Misses Marjorie Kenney, Thekla Fulton, Elliott Head, Isabel McCrimmon and Kay O'Neill. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill will take up residence on Fifth Avenue West. The groom has lived here for many years and is well known and popular. The bride recently arrived from the south.

Miss Dolly Lynch Becomes Bride of Signalman Robert Frederick Green In Naval Service Here

St. Peter's Anglican Church was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding at 3:30 Sunday afternoon when Miss Dolly Sherman Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Lynch of Calgary, became the bride of Signalman Robert Frederick Green R. C. N. son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick John Green of Calgary. Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook officiated.

The bride entered the church upon the arm of John C. Sherlock, naval executive officer, by whom she was given in marriage. Otherwise she was unattended, being indeed the only woman in the church which was filled with naval men. Arthur H. Cannington was the groomsman. The couple will reside in Prince Rupert.

God's Power Is
One Certainty

World Stands On Brink of Uncertainty As Israel Did Many Years Ago, Says Pastor

Like the people of Israel of old who had been led by Moses to the banks of the Jordan, the people of the world today stand on the brink of the unknown, having "not passed this way before," Rev. A. F. MacSween told his morning congregation in First Presbyterian Church yesterday. There had been great changes even in recent months and no one could tell what the future had in store. About uncertainty there was fascination but always there was the desire for the new, for the better. There was still one certainty, however, today as there was of old. That was the certainty of God's power and spirit. Here was the sure opportunity which, if embraced, would lead most surely to a brighter and a better day.

Terrace

For some weeks past there have been definite rumors that Terrace is to be the site of a military camp. Strangers with a military bearing have appeared at odd times and there have been air patrols cruising around as though looking for suitable land for military purposes. Surveyors have disappeared into the woods with their men and instruments and the air in the village has been steadily becoming thicker with rumor. Now rumor is at an end. On Saturday a truck blandly roared through the village with a huge load of army supplies on top of which soldiers were perched. An infantry centre is being established.

The Orange Hall was the scene of a "hard times" dance Friday night at which most of the young people spent a hilarious time.

The Anglican Church Ladies' Aid held a tea and sale of home cooking Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Roy Pearson and daughters have opened a restaurant in Kalum Street.

 SEAL COVE

Miss Bernice Whyte Becomes
 Bride of Alex Geary

A wedding of outstanding local interest took place at 8 o'clock Saturday night at St. Peter's Anglican Church, Seal Cove, Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook officiating, when Miss Bernice Eileen Whyte, eldest daughter of the late Stanley Owen Whyte and Mrs. Whyte of this city, became the bride of Alexander son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Geary of Seal Cove Circle.

The bride was charmingly gowned in a flowing style wedding dress of white silk net with veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart and tulleman roses. She entered the church upon the arm of Fred Danford by whom she was given in marriage. The bridesmaids were Mona and Alvera Whyte, twin sisters of the bride, both of whom wore mauve silk net and accessories to match with bouquets of yellow roses and blue iris.

The groomsmen were Gerhard Sather.

Miss May Skinner presided at the organ and played bridal music.

Following the nuptial rites, there was largely attended reception at the east end hall where the happy couple received congratulations and best wishes of many friends. The bride cut a handsome wedding cake and there were toasts. The bride's mother wore a corsage of white gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Geary will reside in Prince Rupert, the groom being an employee of the dry dock.

Both bride and groom have lived here almost all their lives and they are well known and popular.

W. R. Brooksbank, now sales manager of Edward Lipsett Company Limited, arrived in Prince Rupert this morning on company business. While here he will visit Lipsett Company retail outlets and renew old acquaintances. A native son, Mr. Brooksbank is well-known in Prince Rupert and has many old friends here. On leaving Prince Rupert, he will go as far as River's Inlet, calling at canneries, Ocean Falls Pulp plant, etc. Accompanying Mr. Brooksbank is G. W. N. MacKenzie, British Columbia and Alberta representative for Auto Lite Spark Plugs and Sterling Cables. While here Mr. MacKenzie will give motion picture demonstrations of these products to the trade.

"New York Town," With Fred MacMurray, Mary Martin And Robert Preston, Due At First of Week

"New York Town," romantic drama of the metropolis, starring Fred MacMurray, Mary Martin and Robert Preston, is the feature picture coming to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here next Monday and Tuesday. The life of typical everyday New Yorkers — not the penthouse set—is depicted.

MacMurray plays the part of a sidewalk photographer. Mary Martin is a small town girl, broke and friendless, whom Fred romantically rescues from starvation and loneliness. The fun starts when Fred, convinced that his interest in Mary is governed purely by brotherly instincts, paves the way for a romance between her and Robert Preston, wealthy young bachelor. How he finally contrives to break up the romance and win the girl for himself brings about an hilarious climax which straightens everything out.

Lynn Overman, Akim Tamiroff, Eric Blore, Cecil Kellaway and Fuzzy Knight complete the all star cast.

Sparkling dialogue and an entirely different story are said to make "New York Town" a highly entertaining item of film entertainment.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

What Kind of Gun is This?

IT'S a spray gun — used to apply paint, vital protection for all metal surfaces in today's war equipment. Everything, from steel helmets to mighty ships, must have its painted shield against rust, corrosion and decay.

Paint and the painter are playing an important role in Canada's production of war machines. There must be paint for ships, shells and planes; paint for torpedoes, tanks and transports . . . and master workmen to apply them; camouflage paints, signal paints and other little-known developments of the paint chemist.

C-I-L plants at Montreal, Toronto and Regina are working unceasingly to prevent any interruption in the flow of protective finishes for the Navy, Army, Air Force, while maintaining, so far as is compatible with war needs, the supply of necessary paint products for civilian use.

Paints, lacquers and varnishes are only some of the many C-I-L products of Industrial Chemistry which are aiding Canada's war effort.
