Premier King Refuses To Make Public Col. Drew's Letter

OTTAWA, July 16.—Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King announced last night that he would not have tabled in Parliament a letter from Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, criticizing the findings of Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff following the inquiry into the Hong Kong expedition. Making public of the letter would violate the order of secrecy under which the inquiry was held, Mr. King said in referring to the undesirability of disclosing the contents of certain telegrams.

Hon. R. B. Hanson, Conservative leader, said he would not quarrel with Mr. King but he did not believe there was anything in Col. Drew's letter which would aid the enemy.

Some members have already indicated that they will force further discussion on the Hong Kong report in the House.

IS SPEAKER TO NATIVES

Indian Agent Advises Against Use Of Liquor, Urges Economy in Gasoline and Appeals for Response to Service Call

SUNNYSIDE, July 16.—Indian Agent James Gillett of Prince Rupert addressed a meeting of natives at Sunnyside during a recent visit to the Skeena River. He warned the natives, in their own interest, against the use of liquor. The Indian Agent also urged all native fishermen and others to co-operate in cutting down the consumption of gasoline, particularly for pleasure riding, and appealed to young natives to immediately respond when called up for medical examination under the Natural Resources Mobilization Act.

Several of the native leaders present at the meeting engaged in a discussion which followed Mr. Gillett's address. Harold Sinclair of Kitwanga, secretary of the Upper Skeena branch of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, presented a resolution calling upon the Department of Indian Affairs to establish authorized constables at each cannery as a means of protection in connection with the use of liquor to which could be attributed many deaths. Mr. Sinclair also urged that the natives should be provided with arms and ammunition for use on the fishing grounds should an enemy appear.

Alfred Adams of Massett, president of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, also agreed with the suggestions made by Mr. Gillett for betterment of conditions among the natives.

Other speakers in similar tone were Moses W. Jones, president of the Upper Skeena Native Brotherhood, and Thomas Gosnell, Port Simpson.

Whittling Down Jap Navy . . .

As a Fourth of July contribution to the war against Japan, United States submarines sank three enemy destroyers and left a fourth burning fiercely in the Aleutians, says the Port Arthur News-Chronicle. Army bombers also attacked enemy transports and escorting vessels. The cost of Japanese occupation of a few remote islands was thus raised to one cruiser, three destroyers and one transport sunk and nine ships including an aircraft carrier and the burning destroyer of July 4, damaged.

It all goes to bear out the contention made in these columns following the initial landing of the Japanese on Attu that the preparation would prove more costly than it was worth and that the United States authorities might find it good strategy to leave the enemy in his new position because it would necessitate the constant movement of support ships which would thus be exposed to attack. In that way the islands could be regarded as a lure to the enemy.

The Aleutians are almost constantly fog bound. The fog, no doubt, assisted the Japanese in the occupational enterprise because it covered the movements of their ships. But as soon as the Japanese had established themselves and been definitely located the conditions were reversed. The fog now serves as a cloak or covering for the American naval and air forces who need only to maintain patrol with the knowledge that once in a while the fog will lift, thus exposing the enemy to attack, as was apparently the case on the Fourth of July.

Under these conditions the Japanese are and will continue to be particularly vulnerable. They must either leave the islands or continue to send supply ships covered by destroyers and cruisers. As long as they do that there is always the chance of a sudden lifting of the fog and an attack by lurking planes or submarines.

The Japanese were said in the first place to have made their move on the Aleutians as a face saving gesture after the disaster suffered in the Midway battle, although there is a bare possibility that they might be used as a base for operations against Alaska or Siberia. Fog and weather conditions are such, however, that airplanes going out from there might have trouble getting home. Considering the hazards and the certainty that their supply and escort vessels will be picked off from time to time, the enemy will probably obtain good proof that it was a bad move.

Incidentally, the addition of four destroyers to the casualty list is another severe blow to the Japanese navy. Each one is now almost double the percentage loss of the early months of the war and the total strength is now probably down close to the line between safety and danger.

The Americans have played such havoc with the Japanese navy since the Battle of the Coral Sea that it may well hesitate about engaging in any further enterprises. On the contrary, the Japanese may well begin to worry about their own home land and position.

Possibly the censor would not object if we thanked the Weather Man for the odd shower and suggested that we could even do with a good old-fashioned rainstorm.

Both boys were absent without leave from the Canadian army.

CLOTHIERS WIN GAME

Score of 11 to 4 in Senior League
Baseball Last Night

Only one Senior Baseball League game was played at the Acropolis Hill last night when Watts and Nickerson easily defeated the Medicals by a score of 11 to 4. The other scheduled game went to the Americans when the Searchlights failed to field a team.

Both teams displayed rather weird and woolly baseball before a small crowd with the Clothiers' nine having the edge. Styles, on the mound for the winners, had the Medicals well in hand throughout the game. The Medicals missed the services of their first string pitcher, Randall, who was on duty. The teams:

Medicals—Bowen, Caithness, Brooks, Quick, Glaken, Davey, Matthews, Burley, Hastings, Watts and Nickerson—Postuk, B. Gurvich, Santerane, Windle, Murray, A. Bill, D. Gurvich, Arney, Styles.

Royal Canadian Air Force in Edmonton is planning to celebrate its second birthday next month. Details have not as yet been worked out. The head of this school is Capt. W. R. (Wop) May, famous ace of the first Great War and a pioneer northland pilot.

Because hundreds of men, who usually engage in harvesting, have drifted away from Edmonton to find work in war industries, an acute farm labor shortage has arisen in Alberta and will be felt even more acutely when the time arrives to get in the crop. The harvest season will start in August and, meantime, the government is studying ways and means of possibly relieving the situation.

Thoroughbreds, 275 strong, are here for the week of horse racing now in progress at the Exhibition course. A special horse train brought the racers to Edmonton.

On his way to the Pacific Coast, G. W. Swayne of Ottawa, chairman of the national war finance committee, was a visitor in Edmonton at the end of the week. The possibility of increasing sale of war savings stamps and certificates and the organization of the fall Victory Loan campaign were discussed at a conference with local organizers and officials.

ORDER
your winter supply
of COAL
NOW

The Canadian Government, through the Coal Administrator, has urged all citizens to purchase and store their winter coal now, to relieve transport facilities for urgent war purposes.

To this end the Government has developed a plan whereby you may obtain credit from your coal dealer — for coal to be delivered now.

Full information about this plan will be gladly supplied by your coal dealer or your local branch manager.

It is NOT unpatriotic to board coal!

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

DUE TO WAR CONDITIONS

Canada will now on, have to depend as never before on the output of her mines to fill the ever increasing demands for coal. Much of this will have to be from Alberta mines, but this will be difficult if not impossible if consumers wait, as in the past, for cold weather before taking delivery.

Do your part in helping to avoid a serious situation, by filling your bin NOW and keeping it FULL.

Stocks of Foothills Alberta, Bulkley Valley and Comox now on hand.

Were Married Tuesday Night

Mrs. Alma Christopherson And Viggo Petersen Are United

A quiet wedding took place Tuesday night at First Presbyterian Church when Mrs. Alma C. Christensen of Saskatoon and the Sea Maid, Viggo A. Petersen of this city were united in marriage, Rev. A. F. MacSween officiating.

The couple were attended by Leading Aircrews and Mrs. James F. Simpson and after the ceremony, the party adjourned to the Commodore Cafe to enjoy a wedding supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Petersen are establishing their home in Prince Rupert and will receive the good wishes of the community.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Following the closing of Area No. 2 to fishing, only two of the vessels of the Prince Rupert hali-fleet are now engaged in exclusive halibut fishing in Area No. 3. They are the Lois N., Capt. Andrew Garten, and the Sea Maid, Capt. Henry Doiron. Several other local boats are, however, out for cod and dogfish and may be bringing in incidental halibut since the last Canadian halibut was landed here.

William Cavanaugh, who was identified with the staff of the Digby Island wireless station here a few years ago, has been invalided home from overseas service with the Royal Canadian Air Force and has been back in Prince Rupert as freight clerk-wireless operator on the steamer Prince Rupert. He served in England, Scotland and Iceland and was in Britain during "blitz" days. A foot injury brought about his discharge here. Former friends here are giving him a hearty welcome.

There has been somewhat of an improvement during the past few days in sockeye salmon fishing in Prince Rupert district. The Skeena River reports an average of thirty fish per day for boats fishing outside the river and fifteen inside. Naas River averages 35 and thirty-five fish per boat per day. A few pinks are now beginning to show up among the sockeyes.

NOW IS THE TIME--

Give us an order right away for the amount of coal you expect to need next season. This will enable us to meet your requirements now or as supplies arrive. It is important that you should lay in your coal supply this summer as it is almost certain that the dealers will not be able to cope satisfactorily with the demand next winter.

IT IS NOT HOARDING TO BUY YOUR COAL EARLY
(It is also necessary to place your order a day ahead of delivery)
