Three More Jap Destroyers Sunk By American Subs Off Kiska Island In Aleutians

WASHINGTON, July 22-United States submarines have sunk three more Japanese destroyers off Kiska Island in the Aleutians, bringing to a total of eighteen the number of enemy warships that have been sunk or damaged in that area. Six destroyers, a transport and a cruiser have been sunk, the twelve enemy vessels damaged having included an aircraft carrier.

Enemy forces in the Aleutian Islands are being attacked daily by United States bombers despite fog conditions, it is announced.

Representative Anthony J. Dimond estimates that from 20,000 to 25,000 Japanese have been landed the Aleutians.

John Fletcher, the mayor of Unalaska, says that the Japanese mean business and plan an invasion of Alaska.

Sir John Dill Believed Returning To Britain In Connection With Second Front Plans

LONDON, July 22: (1)—Speculation on the opening of a second front has been sharpened by reports that Sir John Dill, Great Britain's chief military representative in the United States, is returning soon. Presumably he will join in discussions among Prime Minister Winston Churchill and high leaders of the British and American armed forces. One report is that Sir John may be placed in charge of the direction of second front tactics.

Prime Minister Churchill was received yesterday by King George and it is believed that he made a report to His Majesty on the progress of second front plans.

The Second Front . . .

Brooklyn The question of a second front in Europe, much as st. Louis we would like to see one started to relieve Russia in her present straits, is something that we might as well think of realistically and dispassionately. It is simply one of those things that is easier said than done.

Those who talk impatiently about the second front wondering why it is not done without delay may not have thought very deeply of what a second front, the popular conception of which is a land invasion of Europe, would involve. Before we can start a second front we must have organized an enormous landing force amply supported by naval and air power as well as adequate. supply and communication lines. Each and every one of these factors must be assured before we can essay a second front. All are essential if the attempt to set up the second front is not to be disastrous.

We have already had unhappy experiences with ex- three months' imprisonment for wharf which is to be used for peditionary forces in this war. It may or it may not have been justified. It may or it may not have been poorly conceived or planned. We do know that the great criticism that has been made of it has been towards the end that there should be no repetition of incidents of its kind.

As for the second front in Europe, the question is not whether or not there should be one. The question is whether or not we are in a position to successfully open a second front. We may have all the sympathy in the world for Russia. No doubt all of us want to do every- experts on Canada's home front: to do . . . Empty seats mean thing we can to help Russia. COMEDY IS ROMANTIC

"Ball of Fire," With Gary Cooper And Barbara Stanwyck At Capitol Theatre

A group of serious college professors, a night club queen and a mob of gangsters are combined to provide spectacular hilarity and adventure in "Ball of Fire," a romantic comedy starring Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, which is the offering for this Inursday, Friday and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

Cooper plays the part of Professor Potts, the head of a group of experts who are compiling an encyclopedia and go out to get intormation to write an article on slang. His research leads him to a night club entertainer by whom he becomes intrigued, inviting her to visit his headquarters. She hasf tily takes refuge with the college professors until a case in which she is wanted for questioning dies down. Not only does she completely disrupt the experts and their mode of life but she finds herself falling in love with the professor. There is a side-splitting culmina-

The cast also includes Lana Andrews, a new "find" of the screen, Allen Jenkins, Oscar Homolka, Henry Travers, Tully Marshall and other favorites in important parts.

Wayward Lad Is Naval Hero

Admiral Edward Evans Ran Away From Home Three Times

LONDON, July 22 Parents 5 of wayward children can take | farmers. Try it once and we heart from this autobiographical sketch of his youth delivered by Admiral Sir Edward Evans (Evans of the Broke).

LONDON, July 22: 9- There | "I ran away from home three 2 will be an acute shortage of train- | times." he said, "and was always | ed doctors in Britain shortly, being punished for fighting, giving arising from the new call-up of trouble and for petty offences all medical men up to the age of which made me the despair of 46 and affecting about half the every school master who had charge of me."

He helps in their fair distribution

CANADIAN manufacturers-and the people of the Dominion as a whole-are today dependent on commercial travellers to see that goods are adequately and fairly distributed. Distribution, not selling, is the wartime function of Canadian Commercial Travellers. Many commercial travellers are technical men calling on industrial firms. Their experience and their knowledge are invaluable to purchasing agents and engineers of wartime industries in the selection of materials, the use of substitutes and in the maintenance of difficult-to-replace equipment. The ranks of Canada's commercial travellers have been thinned by enlistment in the armed forces and by the drafting of men to government boards. Despite all difficulties, those that remain are carrying on a full time job-proud of the part they are playing "in Canada's all-out war effort.
