Liberation of France Is Now Coming

Britain Suggests Now Is Time To Evacuate West Coast of Europe

Targets in Occupied Countries Attacked Today Following Heavy Royal Air Force Assault Upon Emden

LONDON, June 8, CP.—The British Broadcasting Corporation broadcast instructions to the French people today to evacuate the broadcast area from the Belgian to the Spanish frontiers, a strip designated as a prohibited military zone by the Germans. The broadcast said "operations of capital importance" for the liberation of France will start in due time.

Meanwhile British warplanes attacked targets in Northern France and Holland last night and damaged German shipping off the Frisian Islands, the Air Ministry announced today, but bad weather over the continent kept the Royal Air Force from following up the Saturday night assault on the great submarine base of Emden with another mass raid on Germany.

While Emden bore the weight of another heavy Royal Air Force attack during Saturday night and much damage was done, the British airmen were also over the Low Countries. Nine British planes failed to return.

There were scattered raids by the Germans over parts of south-east England Saturday night. Damage and casualties were light. Two enemy planes were brought down.

The raid on Emden was the twenty-fifth of the war. It is one of the main bases for Nazi U-boats operating in the Atlantic Ocean. Hundreds of tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped. A submarine factory was one of the principal targets.

The Berlin radio went off the air for a while last night but no raid on the German capital developed. Enemy planes were over northeast Britain last night but no damage was done and casualties were light.

Eleven to Fourteen Japanese Warships Destroyed-Damaged

Two and Possibly Three Aircraft Carriers Are Sunk With All Planes On Board—Sydney and Newcastle Are Shelled By Enemy Submarines

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Eleven to fourteen Japanese war vessels were sunk or damaged in the Battle of Midway Island. Admitting the loss of a destroyer and damaging of a carrier, United States naval authorities claim a great victory, at least partially avenging Pearl Harbor. Two if not three enemy aircraft carriers were destroyed with all their planes. An enemy destroyer was sunk. One if not two aircraft carriers were damaged as well as three battleships, four cruisers and three transports. It is now believed that the bombing raid on Dutch Harbor and submarine raids on Sydney were merely designed to divert attention.

BATTLE OF TANKS HOT

British And Free French Forces Have Upper Hand In Fiercest Engagement of Libyan Campaign

CAIRO, June 8: (CP)—The great tank battle in the Libyan Desert roared into its fourteenth day today with British and Free French Forces apparently holding the upper hand after repulsing new Axis attacks at Knight's Bridge and Bir Hacheim. British headquarters reported that artillery fire smashed another attempt by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's columns to break through toward Tobruk, fifteen miles north of Knight's Bridge, and the Free French, at Bir Hacheim, threw back a tank assault. It was the second time in as many days that Rommel was repulsed in an attempt to break through at Knight's Bridge.

The fiercest battle so far in the Libyan campaign proceeding, main Axis forces have been hurled back six miles southwest of Knight's Bridge.

The British forces — infantry and artillery — have reached Har-mac. Heavy and continuous attacks have been made by the Royal Air Force, Martuba, Derna, Bengasi and Naples having been made targets.

Prince Rupert Is No Christian City

So Declares Presbyterian Pastor In Morning Sermon

He is blind indeed who observes conditions nightly in Prince Rupert and can say this is a Christian city, declared Rev. A. F. MacSween to his morning congregation at First Presbyterian Church yesterday. Mr. MacSween saw a growing tendency to place other considerations ahead of Christian faith. The volume of church attendance he saw as a clue to the strength of Christian faith. Military, political and economic considerations were important but not the most important. All hoped and prayed for an Allied victory in this war so that certain existing evils might be removed but if the war was to be truly won leaders of the nations must be spurred and guided by vision beyond the conflict and its immediate reverses and issues.

YOUNG HOODLUMS
Editor, Daily News:

Of late I have read letters in your paper extolling the virtues and otherwise of the local Chamber of Commerce. Now it is not my intention to criticise the Chamber but there is some authority in town due for criticism since the advent of all our war activities and the Cannery on the Ocean Dock. There has developed a small gang of boy hoodlums ranging in age from around twelve to sixteen or seventeen years.

Now on Friday night after 12 p.m. during our black-out the inhabitants of Second Ave. from Ninth St. to the junction were disturbed in their sleep by loud shouting and talking on the street. I got up to find the cause of all the noise and I heard them down at my car so I ran down and saw it was Indian boys who I chased away. They ran west half a block and then commenced their chattering again. I waited for a few minutes and then shouted to them that I'd phone the police patrol if they didn't get home. It had no effect so I went indoors; shortly afterwards I heard them again and looked out of the window and just then a car was coming up the avenue so the bunch, five of them, took to their heels towards First Ave. The last one was a little fellow and he was saying "maybe it's the police wagon the man phoned for." Now that was at 1 a.m.

Why should these young "hoodlums" be allowed to parade the streets at that hour when all our own children have to be indoors and in bed by ten p.m.; is there no such thing as a curfew for these boys? If they have no parental control it's high time someone did something to keep them off the street after ten p.m.

This is not the first time we have had our sleep disturbed by this gang. My wife caught one of these boys throwing a stone at a neighbor's window and she asked him if he was deliberately trying to break the window. His answer was: "What of it? It's a free country."

On Saturday morning when I came out to go down town there was a sorry mess of flowers strewn on the lawn at the side of my garage. They had taken a large tree branch and laid low all the flowers on the bank, pulled peony blooms, tramped them underfoot, threshed down two large clumps of Russell Lupins, pulled up blue bells and crushed the bulbs. My thoughts ran to retaliation but I took a saner view of the situation and reported to the police. But I expect they are too busy otherwise to be troubled with such trivialities as "hoodlums" disturbing the peace and rest and property of the rate-payers of the city.

Thanks, Mr. Editor, and here's hoping this will get some results around town.

WALTER LONGWILL.

SHIPS AND LIVES MUST NOT BE WASTED

More Sinkings by Enemy Subs

Canadians must use less TEA and COFFEE

SUPPOSE your boy were in the merchant marine. Would you want him to risk his life to bring you tea or coffee, through seas infested with submarines? Would you want to waste precious cargo space to bring you more than your barest needs? Every decent citizen will gladly obey the law now in effect. The law requires that every Canadian home must cut its consumption of tea by at least one half—cut its consumption of coffee by at least one-fourth.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE ON TEA

- Measure carefully the amount of tea and the amount of boiling water. Don't guess.
- Use one level teaspoon of tea and one cup of boiling water for each cup of tea.
- Brew the tea for at least 5 minutes before pouring. Don't guess—watch the clock.
- Don't take the kettle to the teapot. Always take the teapot to the kettle.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE ON COFFEE

- Never make more than you need. Get into the habit of measuring quantities exactly.
- Purchase in small quantities and store in an airtight container. Buy the correct grind for your coffee-maker.
- For percolated coffee, use 1 level tablespoon to each standard measuring cup of water. Percolate 10 to 12 minutes to bring out the full flavour.

Remember

STYLES ARE GAY, FRESH

London Folk Show World How To Look Well With Clothes In Ration Lists

By DENISE DALTRIFF
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 LONDON, June 8:—Now that women's clothes are made strictly according to government design it can be said in all truth that British women are being clad in scientifically planned dresses. That is just what they are, but gay and fresh at the same time.

The importance of style has not been forgotten. But even more important, now that clothing is stringently rationed, is lasting ability and the designers of the new "utility-beauty" garments ordered seams virtually rip-proof and fray-proof through reinforcement.

Also reinforced are the parts of dresses likely to lose their shape first, the waistline and shoulders. Pleats are built-in to keep their shape longer and skirts are finished with a two-inch bound hem.

The first official showing of new utility frocks made an immediate hit with fashion writers. Thirty models were displayed, 10 of them made from one design but carried out in different materials and treated in various ways to show that from the maximum of 50 styles a year allowed by the government about 5,000 variations can be made.

The collection was designed by the Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, and were manufactured by a leading British manufacturer.

Autumn frocks were of fine soft wool. Herringbone or checked Scotch tweed appeared the most popular with yoke and collar or front panel of plain woollen material. Small Peter Pan and "y" collars predominated for the neck as leading themselves to a more tailored blouse. They are the most economical in use of material.

Close Fit Skirts
 Most dresses had short sleeves and skirts fitting closely around the hips, then falling in a small flare or with two pleats in the front and a plain back.

Trimmings were generally of a darker shade of the same color as the dress. Small, thin tucks were also used. 160 inches of tucks are allowed on a frock, but there can be only two pockets, only two pleats not more than seven inches wide when fully extended, no widely flared skirts, only three buttons and no zippers, the whole thing always in a style which uses the minimum amount of material.

These dresses range from the equivalent of $5.45 to $13.75 and when the purchase tax introduced some 12 months ago is removed from these utility clothes next September prices will be still lower.

Port Clements T'ell unit reaches objective in campaign

PORT CLEMENTS, June 8.—The Port Clements T'ell Red Cross unit was dismayed when it learned that its quota for the Red Cross drive was 200. This was regarded as being a sum almost impossible to raise among a community of barely over one hundred people all told. However, by dint of a great deal of enthusiasm and a lot of hard work, and the very handsome co-operation of every one concerned, this amount has at last been reached and passed, with a grand total of $214.15 which has been sent to headquarters, Vancouver.

ism and a lot of hard work, and the very handsome co-operation of every one concerned, this amount has at last been reached and passed, with a grand total of $214.15 which has been sent to headquarters, Vancouver.

A very successful whist drive and sale of the home cooking was held, with raffles and auction. A dance at the Farmer's Institute, Lawn Hill, got up by the T'ell members of the unit helped very considerably to swell the fund. Outside contributors who so generously came to their assistance, notably the road camp crew of the Ryan Construction Co. and the men of the Pacific Mills logging Camp in Juskatla.

The children of the Port Clements School are most enthusiastic workers for the Junior Red Cross and a short time ago held a tea and exhibition of their work. By it they raised $7.30. They have also knitted an afghan, and have also knitted nearly 100 face cloths for the local unit.

Salvage
 Port Clements-T'ell Unit has sent two lots of salvage to Vancouver having received a credit of over $14 for the first and $50 for the last shipment. Another shipment is almost ready to go. All including the children, are very enthusiastic in helping with this salvage. Large amounts of scrap metal have also been collected at various points and are waiting means of transportation.
