Russians, Although Sorely Pressed Holding Nazis at Bay-Enemy Gains at Great Cost

MOSCOW, Sept. 9 (CP)-Reinforced German divisions concentrated attacks upon the western defences of Stalingrad today in an effort to widen a hard-won wedge and the situation was described here as "particularly complicated" but the Red Army was reported holding fiercely in every sector. The Russians said that Nazi tanks and infantry had deepened the salient from the west yesterday while Soviet troops beat off flanking attacks from the southwest. Today's mid-day communique however, did not mention new withdrawals but announced further gains in the central front offensive.

A Forthright Letter . . .

Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance, has addressed! a letter to the people of Canada which we feel justifies! Ole Evindsen, ploneer local hotel repetition in these columns. It is as follows:

"I wish it were possible for me to speak to you per- ness visitor in the city, having arsonally about one important fact that affects all our lives; rived from the north yesterday today. It is so important that the least I can do is to re- afternoon. peat it in this note to you.

"I know-without asking-what your answer is. I have known by your response in the past to requests to buy War Savings Stamps, Certificates and Victory Bonds. But make no mistake-we have reached the point where such lending must be continued — and increased at the price of real sacrifice.

"Many of us may find the first burden of the new taxes less than we expected. But many will still find them a bitter trial. I know that: But I also know that the alernatives are far grimmer.

"The new taxes, including the compulsory savings feature, plus all the voluntary savings we can possibly lend-are a first charge upon our income."

And no matter how we may object personally to the taxes, the fact remains that we would rather have Ilsley imposing them that Hitler or Hirohito.

Taking Care of House . . .

With building materials becoming scarcer and all available manpower required for war production, home owners will be helping themselves and the nation by conserving existing properties and avoiding the necessity for new construction. Housing accommodation is needed for the great influx of war workers to industrial centres and all available houses should be properly repaired and made habitable.

Five points to be considered if the house is to be kept in good condition follow:

(1) House exteriors should be painted regularly in order to protect the wood from the elements. Houses should be painted only in dry weather and when the temperature is above freezing.

(2) Loose shingles should be replaced as soon as they are noticed. Damage to the inside of the house will be minimized and the roof will last much longer. It is advisable to have the roof shingles checked from time to time before actual leaks appear.

· (3) Eavestroughs and down spouts, cleaned out and painted, will wear longer and won't rust as readily as those in which leaves and other substances are allowed to accumulate.

(4) All metal work, inside and outside the house, should be well painted to prevent wear from rust and corrosion. Metal grills and railings are things that cannot be replaced.

(5) Heat is lost through cracks around windows and doors. These cracks should be sealed by caulking or weather stripping.

The house in Prince Rupert, like elsewhere, is becoming an increasingly precious possession.
