PIONEER IS DEAD

A. D. Gillies, for Nearly Quarter of Century Express Agent Here, Succumbs

Another of Prince Rupert's esteemed pioneer citizens passed away at 5:30 yesterday afternoon in the person of Angus Gillies, who came from Winnipeg to Prince Rupert in 1914 to become the first agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific Express Co. here, continuing in charge of the service until five years ago April 2 when he retired.

Deceased is survived by two daughters—Mrs. Harry (Ruth) Gordon-Findlay and Mrs. David (Edna) Fowler—and one son, Gunner Ralph Gillies of the 102nd Battery. The bereaved will have the sincere sympathy of many friends, who will regret the death of Mr. Gillies.

A devout member of the Roman Catholic Church, Mr. Gillies was for several years Grand Knight of the local Knights of Columbus and was also the treasurer for some years. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning with high requiem mass from the Church of the Annunciation.

These food cost reductions were announced last week by Finance Minister J. L. Isley. Mr. Gordon said at that time that they would be made effective in a matter of days, possibly over the week-end. If the $40,000,000 subsidy and tax remission plan works out effectively, Mr. Gordon said, the cost of living index on January 1 should not rise over the November 1 figure of 117.7 percent of the pre-war level.

In effect Mr. Isley opened a new front in the battle against inflation when he announced that the government was taking steps to retail the cost of five popular foods. The price cuts which Mr. Isley outlined would reduce the prices of coffee four cents a pound, tea ten cents a pound, oranges to about the level of September and October, 1941, the price of milk general objective being two cents a quart to the consumer while profit margins on beef taken by some retail dealers were to be limited "to reasonable limits."

A later statement said that the reduced prices on milk, tea, coffee and oranges would be soon apparent in prices cheaper by two cents per quart on milk, ten cents per pound on tea and four cents a pound on coffee although the full amount of the orange reduction might not be apparent for a week or ten days.

BIG RAIDS BY R.A.F.

LONDON, Dec. 7 (CP)—Hundreds of British and American bombers and four hundred fighting planes swept over western Europe in a day-long Sunday offensive, the greatest Allied air daylight operation of the war. Tons of explosives were dropped on Lille locomotive works and Abbeville airdrome. A total of about six hundred planes participated, seventeen failing to return.

Last night, at a cost of nine planes, the Royal Air Force, with two Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons participating, bombed targets in southwest Germany which Berlin identified as Karlsruhe and Pforzheim, neighboring communications and war factory centres on the most direct route from Germany to Italy.

While the port of Buna and the gradually shrinking area controlled by the Japanese continue to be heavily bombed by Allied aircraft, the carefully planned ground campaign of the Australians and Americans makes slow but steady progress. A.R.P. Broadcast From Pr. Rupert

First of Series to Commence Tomorrow Night

Sponsored by the advisory council of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee, a series of ten dramatized radio broadcasts on A.R.P. will emanate from Station CFPB Prince Rupert commencing on Tuesday of this week from 10 to 10:15 p.m.

The programs, somewhat in the lighter vein, are good entertainment and provide the necessary furtherance of the message which they were designed to put over. The broadcasts are not alone for the A.R.P. personnel, but for the public generally.

The scripts were written by David Savage and Bernard Braden. The dramatizing was under producer, Roy Dunlop, of the C.B.C. staff. The cast includes Frank Vyvyan, Miss Clare Murray, Bernard Braden, Al Pearce and Cpl. D. W. Taylor, chief inspector of the British Columbia Police division of Civilian Protection. Cpl. Taylor is well known in Prince Rupert, formerly having been stationed here.

SERVICES FOR NATIVES HERE

Important Development Yesterday — Arrangements for Permanent Feature

Marking an important development in the community life of the natives now residing in the city, a meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Salvation Army Citadel under the auspices of the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association. There was a good and representative attendance of local natives and, after divine worship conducted by Indian Agent Rev. James Gillett, assisted by Adj. E. A. Brunsdon and Rev. A. F. MacSween, arrangements were made for the holding of regular services each Sunday at the same place.

A committee consisting of Alfred Adams, Massett, William Harris, Kitwanga, and Peter Nyce, Canyon City, was appointed by the natives present to meet with the ministerial committee and complete arrangements.

It is understood that the services will be conducted by the native leaders as in their own villages, assisted by members of the local clergy.

Mr. Adams, supported by Mr. Harris, spoke of the need for such services and voiced the deep appreciation of the natives to the Ministerial Association for its interest.

C.B.C. Takes Over . . .

For many years Prince Rupert radio listeners have clamored for better service. They have irked at nerve's edge and almost in despair at the consistent impossibility to receive outside programs. While we have been fully appreciative of the limited program service which the local station has found it possible to offer, there is no question that it has been for some time inadequate to meet that demand and what might be reasonably expected in the way of entertainment and news.

Now the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has entered the field to take over station CFPR. The transfer will take place tomorrow. The first step in improving the service will be to extend the time on the air to between twelve and sixteen hours per day. Pending the establishment first of a short wave link and then a physical link with the nearest land line outlet of C.B.C. which now happens to be at Prince George, there will be a special transcription service of network programs provided by both Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and National Broadcasting Co.

The power of the local station will also be materially increased so as to reach out to district points which the limited wattage of CFPR has been unable heretofore to serve.

The entry of C.B.C. into Prince Rupert will naturally be followed by a period of transition and experiment with a view to developing the best possible service to adequately meet the requirements of this long radio-neglected district.

Advent here of C.B.C. is a matter of importance and interest and, in welcoming the event, the people will look forward with keen anticipation to provision of the service and pleasure to which they have long felt themselves entitled.

Through its medium of C.B.C. the best and most important programs of world networks will eventually be made directly available locally.

Another highly important feature is that under C.B.C. the station will be operated in the category of a public service rather than a commercial undertaking and the blare of advertising and ballyhoo which is so annoying on privately-owned stations, necessarily putting the considerations of profit before service, will be lacking.

Prince Rupert may consider itself fortunate in the long deferred culmination which is now about to materialize to remedy our radio ills.

An Important Announcement . . .

An important and interesting announcement of new government policy whereby food prices are reduced for the people of Canada by a system of federal subsidies and tariff and tax adjustments protecting at the same time the producers and distributors is made by Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance. It is all, of course, a part of a larger plan to regulate distribution, control profits and keep the war effort running in an orderly and more effective manner.

The cost of living is always a vexed problem in times such as these. Many may not agree with the idea of regulating living costs by means of government subsidy. Granted it is only an expedient in view of a critical situation but it is at least a line of action which will provide relief at a time when relief is required and required immediately.

The whole economic system is running along in a temporary and makeshift way under emergency conditions in order that the maximum of resources may be applied to the war effort. Many things are being done that under any normal sort of a situation would be regarded as entirely unsound. When conditions return to normal, there will be many readjustments to make. Possibly some of these readjustments will come about more readily than we might anticipate now.

John McLean left at the end of the week on his return to Vancouver after having come north last week to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Harry Menzies. Mrs. J. E. Gibson, sister of the late Mrs. Menzies, and son, Sonny, and Miss Muriel McLean, who also came north for the funeral, will be remaining in the city for a couple of weeks longer.

C. E. Thomas of Pechtel, Price and Callahan Co. dropped thirty feet from the dock at Port Edward at 10:30 Sunday morning. He sustained slight head injuries and possibly a broken arm. He was brought into hospital on Saturday's train and taken by ambulance to the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

CIVIC APATHY

Editor, Daily News:

What is the matter with the people of Canada? Do they or don't they want democratic governments?

In the recent civic election in my home town of Winnipeg, only a bare thirty-three percent of the qualified voters took the trouble to go out and vote. The same holds true for most other cities in Canada. As for Prince Rupert, the people seem to be utterly indifferent as to whether they get a city council at all or not. What a fine way of showing our appreciation and gratitude to the boys who are risking their lives on the various battlefronts! Just think of it! Millions of men—yes and women and children, too—have already lost their lives in this, most tragic of all wars. Millions of men in the army, the navy, and air force are risking their lives every day of the week to defend our right to elect our own governments in a democratic way, rather than have a gang of dictators, thrust upon us. And yet only a bare thirty-three percent of the people care to trouble their comfortable little selves to make use of this right! What a bunch of slackers we have on the home front! How can we ever hope to get better governments and better conditions in this country if the people refuse to take any interest in public affairs? How can we ever be worthy of the great sacrifices the men are making on the far flung battlefronts of the world if we are too lazy or too indifferent to even make use of the democratic rights for which they are fighting? I hope the guilty ones will at least be ashamed of themselves as they should be.

There is one other thing I want to get off my chest while I'm at it. Although I have not been here long enough to vote I am nevertheless one of the few who are taking an active interest in the forthcoming civic election in Prince Rupert. I find that in our search for suitable candidates the big stumbling block we have to overcome is the property qualification. I surely hope the incoming council—if there be an incoming council—will not give the provincial government any peace until the Election Act is changed and this property qualification clause is relegated back to the dark ages where it came from and where it properly belongs. Certainly no modern, enlightened community, calling itself democratic, should tolerate this absurd and unjust restriction of civic rights—a restriction which severely hampers the efforts of the community in securing able and qualified men and women to carry on the civic administration.

The people to be elected to office should be responsible citizens of character who are interested in public and community affairs and have the necessary ability for whatever position they are elected. You find these young people among both the property and non-property owners. The fact that a man does not own property does not mean that he is in no position to own it. With the advent of large apartment houses many people prefer to rent their homes. Now take for example the absurd situation: Jim Smith may be an outstanding man in the community; a man with great ability. Everybody thinks that Jim Smith would be the right fellow for mayor or alderman but, lo and behold, you discover that he doesn't own any property but pays rent on an eight-room suite. He may pay more than $1,000 a year in rent but still he doesn't qualify to run as mayor. On the other hand there is Bill Whatsisname who may be a scoundrel and an utter no-account but because he owns a few chunks of muskeg and a one-room shack he is ipso facto qualified to run as mayor!

The truth is everyone who has a roof over his or her head—even if it's a leaky one—pays taxes whether you own the property or not. If you own the property you pay your taxes to the tax collector. If you rent a room or a suite of rooms you pay your taxes to the landlord or the landlady who in turn pays them to the tax collector. Therefore we are all qualified to be members of the Ratepayers' Association.

And another thing, I noticed quite a few of my buddies listed among the casualties yet not one of them owned any property. Suppose we had put a sign "only property owners need apply" in front of every recruiting station how big an army, navy and air force could we have raised?—but I needn't labor the point. I have talked to many of the property owners in this city and they all agree that this property qualification should be abolished. Ability is what counts. We want to elect men and women for what they are and not for what they own.

CHAS. BIESICK.

A CIVIC PLATFORM

Editor, Daily News:

Being resident in your city for eleven months and intending to remain a citizen, I am shocked at the apathy toward civic affairs apparent on the part of large numbers of citizens. I had expected more interest to be displayed by labor as of late years labor has taken an active part in civic affairs and has elected representatives in many Canadian cities.

In reading some chronicles of the early days of Prince Rupert I notice you were fortunate in having had your affairs controlled by one of the most enlightened, enterprising, albeit businesslike civic governments in the world. They were probably over-optimistic in more ways than one but they made a splendid start and were probably not to be blamed for some of the difficulties they got into.

I wish to recommend a small program of improvement and change based on my observations. Any portion of this may be adopted by any candidate with my blessing and my campaign support, if wanted.

(1) Appointment of a permanent civic police force for the purpose of enforcing observation of all civic bylaws and collecting licenses, poll taxes, regulating street traffic, preventing loitering on streets, etc. Increased revenues due to their activities would make an efficient force self-sustaining.

(2) Inauguration of a civic bus line. Such franchise is too valuable to become permanently lost to the city.

(3) Extension of water and sewerage systems and connections with all buildings where people live or work.

(4) Systematic campaign for abatement of the rat nuisance. ment of the rat nuisance.

(5) Construction and operation of an artificial ice skating rink where hockey and skating might be enjoyed by all. This is a valuable civic utility giving moral uplift to youth and its revenues would reduce taxation as proven by the experience of other cities.

(6) The securing at the earliest opportunity of a suitable power development site for the re-establishment when feasible of civic power station. The revenue from such would greatly reduce taxation on property. This is the proven experience of other cities.

(7) The regulation of all public gatherings from the standpoints of safety and sanitation of buildings, number in occupation at any time, and the collection of taxes on admissions at all public places or gatherings, including clubs, church services only exempt from tax.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

Oil (like dirt) Can be "Matter in the Wrong Place"

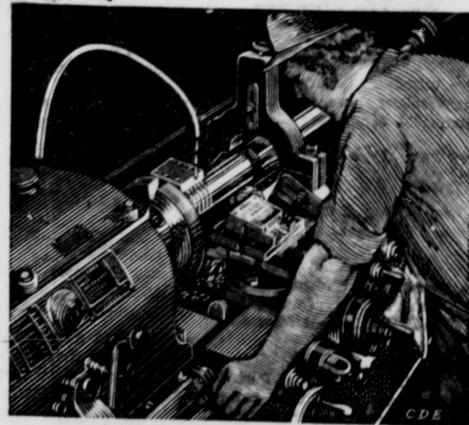

Oil—used in machining metals—must be removed before finishing can take place. In the language of the trade these metals must be "degreased."

Time was when degreasing was a slow, tedious process. Today, a product of industrial chemistry does it better, does it faster. The product has a long name—trichlorethylene—but its work is done in seconds. Metal parts are now dry-cleaned by passing them through a controlled vapor of trichlorethylene. Oil and dirt fall away—even from the deepest crevices—leaving the surface chemically free of foreign matter . . . ready for plating, painting or any other finish.

The use of trichlorethylene means time saved—a boon to Canada's war effort. In aircraft and mechanized transport trichlorethylene cleans engines and moving parts of oil, grease and dirt, making possible quicker, close inspection.

Introduced to Canada a few years ago by Canadian Industries Limited, trichlorethylene is produced from domestic raw materials by the Organic Chemicals Division of C-I-L at Shawinigan Falls. Production of this important chemical solvent is adequate for the demands of war-stimulated industry.

Trichlorethylene is another of the many C-I-L products of Industrial Chemistry which are aiding Canada's War Effort.

SPORT CHAT

Back on the high road to regain Peter Kane took only six rounds to clear the final hurdle before a bout for the British and Empire flyweight crowns. The R.A.F. sergeant, giving the best performance of his come-back trail, battered Army Cpl. Paddy Ryan of Manchester into submission after six rounds of a Liverpool fight, to win again the Northern Area title he first won in 1935. Ryan had no chance after the first round and hit the canvas several times before the referee stopped the bout in the sixth. Victory qualified Kane, who held the world flyweight championship for a year but renounced it because of increasing weight, for a British and Empire title bout with the present holder, Jarring Jackie Peterson of Glasgow.

Kane became world champ by outpointing the American, Jackie Durich, for the vacant title at Liverpool four years ago. Then 20 Kane was one of the youngest world titlists. He won his first professional fight at 16. After retiring and entering the R.A.F. he found he could make the flyweight limit without too much wasting. When Kane and Paterson meet for the Glasgow Boy's double crowns, it's considered possible the winner will be regarded as world champion. Otherwise a world title fight is off for the duration.

The British Boxing Board of Control has ruled that no champion need engage in a title fight during the war but another attempt is being made to get Eric Boon into the ring to defend his British lightweight title. The Queensberry Club is prepared to put up a purse of approximately $4,450 for a championship tilt between Boon and his chief challenger, Ronnie James of Swansea, Wales. The London club wants to stage the show December 2. Boon, now in the R.A.F., won the title from Dave Crowley in 1938. He defended it successfully against Arthur Danahar two months later and against Crowley the following year. That was the last time the crown was at stake.

There is every indication of a very successful season as the scores are consistently higher than they have been the last few seasons.

The top averages are:

"Seaforth Follies" Coming to Prince Rupert This Week

Another top-flight professional travelling show will visit Prince Rupert camps of the armed services for six days from this Wednesday to Monday, according to announcement made by R. G. Gibson, area secretary for the Young Men's Christian Association War Services. The troupe will play at various military posts here and will give performances at the Capitol Theatre Sunday afternoon and evening.

Gladys Cooper, lovely songstress, and Lola Strand, precision dancer, both of whom made such a hit here a few weeks ago, will return to highlight the show with new routines. The Ozark Hillbillies, an act which has been wowing crowds at the Cave Cabaret in Vancouver for the past two weeks, will be with the company and promise to provide an interlude of merriment.

The Strand Dancing Lovelies, three dainty mistresses of the terpsichorean art, will provide colorful dancing production numbers with eye-filling results.

On the masculine side the terrific tenor voice of Charlie Ross, who has just returned from entertaining Army units in Eastern Canada, will complement the skillful banjo and guitar work of versatile Ab. Hine. The deft fingers of Don Flynn will do wonders with the piano.

Yvonne Firkins is in charge of the company which is known as "The Seaforth Follies." The title arises from the fact that the show is a gift from the Second Battalion Seaforths (Reserve) to their friends on active service. The Seaforths presented this company in a performance at the Armories last Friday night in Vancouver, charging admission to the public. Proceeds from the enormous ticket sale were turned over 100 percent to Service Shows to finance the cost of sending this professional show through the Northern posts. Exact times of performances will be announced later.

THERE NEVER WAS A BETTER YEAR FOR PRACTICAL GIFTS

Christmas, 1942, is no time to buy silly gadget-gifts for men — get them what they need and really want—something to wear. It's the sensible and patriotic thing to do this year.

Our stock, though not as complete as in former years, affords plenty of selection — and, if you're not just sure what's needed most, you'll find one of our gift certificates a grand solution.

Local Girl Is Bride Of U.S. Soldier Here

The marriage took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Weatherly, 1317 Overlook Street last Wednesday evening, of their only daughter, Grace, to Sergeant Fred W. Schlicker, United States Signal Corps, in the presence of close friends of the contracting parties.

The ceremony was performed beneath the flags of the two countries represented by the bride and groom. It was conducted by Rev. A. P. MacSween of First Presbyterian Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and among those present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson, Lieut. Robert Nicholson, Miss Mae Lindsay, Chief Petty Officer John R. McKenzie, Sergeant A. Gallimore and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Salter.

The bride is well known in Vancouver where she was born and resided until coming to Prince Rupert with her parents.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Grace Schlicker of Snyder, Oklahoma and the late Mr. Fred Schlicker, a United States veteran of the World War No. 1.

An ideal test for a new model railway hospital car to be used by all three of Canada's armed services was provided when Brigadier Sherwood Lett of Vancouver who won the Distinguished Service Order at Dieppe where he was wounded, tried out one of the comfortable Pullman-type berths during a display at Ottawa, although he has long since passed his hospital convalescence. At the suggestion of Defence Minister Ralston during the inspection, he consented to demonstrate the car's facilities and the photographs show, upper left, Brig. Lett's pulse being taken by Matron T. R. MacRae, R.C.A.M.C.; centre he relaxes in the comfortable berth and his expression tells the story and, right, he voices his opinion of the comfort available for Canada's wounded servicemen; lower right shows: Brig. J. C. Meakins, R.C.A.M.C., Deputy Adjutant-General (Medical Services), Col. C. C. Rae, R.C.A.M.C., Toronto, who with Brig. Lett recently returned from overseas; Major-General H. F. G. Letson, Adjutant-General; Brig. Lett; right photo, P. M. Buttler, Ottawa, chief representative of the Canadian National Railways; Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence; Col. E. L. Stone of Ottawa, embarkation medical officer who with C.N.R. engineers designed the car; and Brig. E. J. Renaud, Deputy Quartermaster-General, all of whom inspected the car. (Canadian Army Photo)

A DAY'S WORK

Eight hours is a good days' work in peacetime. In wartime, it's "Eight Hours Plus."

Plus what?

Take your choice:

- Plus Red Cross Work.
- Plus Civilian Protection Service.
- Plus Canadian Army Reserve.
- Plus Pacific Coast Militia Reserve.
- Plus First Aid or Home Nursing.
- Plus Victory Loan or War Savings Work.
- Plus Salvage Campaign Work.
- Plus Extra Time on your Job.

That "PLUS" is our obligation to our armed forces, the airmen over Germany, the United Nations' forces in Africa, the valiant fighters in the Caucasus—these men don't stop at eight hours a day. Why should we?

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT, Hostess

Each afternoon of late the water at the "Y" has been turned off and it has been a veritable small boy's paradise. I don't know whether it is the city's idea for conserving water or the prank of some practical joker but, at any rate, the remarks of Mrs. Wardale, when she is all set on a big cleaning job and finds the water turned off, are most explicit. It's a handy state of affairs too in the canteen with stacks of dirty dishes to be washed up continually. Sweet are the uses of adversity—I don't think.

Next week I'm going to buy a nice fresh new book and on the cover of this nice fresh new book I'm going to write in big letters "Invitations for Christmas dinner for service men." Then I'm going to rule each page down the middle and on one side put invitations and under that put down all the names and addresses of the people who call up with invitations. Next to each name will go the name of the boy or boys who go to that particular place. It shouldn't take long to fill it.

Or should it?

It was a quiet Sunday night around the "Y." The concert at the Capitol Theatre took most of the crowd and it was almost like the early days here when we first opened and all knew each other well and by name. Someone was doing a two finger exercise on the piano in the mistaken idea that it was Boogie-Woogie. No, you're wrong, it wasn't Rocky Schulstadt. He has more or less deserted us these days, although he does seem to be spending an enormous amount of time at the "Y" cafeteria. Could it be that Rocky is in love again,

Hon. Ernest Bertrand, federal minister of fisheries, is making his first tour of British Columbia following his recent appointment, but it is uncertain as to whether he will visit Prince Rupert. GAY FILM DUE HERE
 Red Skelton and Ann Sothern in Sparkling Musical Comedy

"Panama Hattie," coming tonight and Tuesday to the Capitol Theatre, stars Ann Sothern and Red Skelton. This version of the Broadway production is fast-moving and offers new and hummable tunes.

Rich in elaborate stage numbers and tempered with a good down-to-earth story revolving around the romance of Miss Sothern and Dan Dalley Jr., plus the zany antics of Skelton, Rags Ragland and Ben Blue, the film contains every element of entertainment.

Miss Sothern, as Panama Hattie, portrays a night club singer who is loved by everyone who meets her. Red Skelton continues his amazing strides along the star path, ably abetted by Ragland and Blue. Virginia O'Brien switches from her dead-pan technique of singing and does an excellent job of deciding that Alan Mowbray, playing the butler again, is "hey man" and then proceeding to snag him. Dalley turns in his usual outstanding performance.

Lena Horne, noted colored chanteuse, renders a fine interpretation of Cole Porter's "Just One of Those Things," and the Berry Brothers amaze with the extraordinary dance routines.

In addition to the Cole Porter numbers from the Broadway show "Just One of Those Things," "Let's be Buddies," "Flesh as a Daisy," and "I've Still Got My Health," there are five other numbers: "Good Neighbors," "Hattie from Panama," "The Son of a Gun Who Picks on Uncle Sam," "At the Savoy," and "The Spring." You'll be whistling them on the way out.

Others in the excellent cast are little Jackie Horner, Marsha Hunt and Carl Esmond.
