LOAMAC MARTINE

The Skeena Highway . . .

For years The Daily News has been urging the construction of the highway between Prince Rupert and Hazelton. There have been other voices raised urging the same thing and to all these the news that it is about to commence is welcome. It is not necessary to review any of the steps in the campaign in favor of the highway. We are told that the survey of the section nearest the city will be ready with a view to receiving tenders in about a month and, in view of the Japanese situation, we hope there will be no delays.

Beginning to Hate . . .

We had been told that Japan was a civilized country and that she would treat her prisoners in a decent manner. Now we are beginning to hear of the horrible things they are doing to some of the prisoners and we are terribly shocked.

We have read that no person or nation could begin to fight until they hated the enemy. If the stories that are coming through are true, and no less a person than the foreign secretary vouches for them, we shall hate all Japanese and, when the war is over, we shall advocate sending them all back to their own country. We cannot build a nation from such people.

Now We Grow . . .

Prince Rupert has from the beginning been a small town with small town ideas but now at last we are getting away from the condition where every person knows his neighbor's business and talks about it indicating that Handicap 777 Walter Hawthorne was laid in its Totals From The Waterfront he knows more about it than does the neighbor himself. final resting place.'
