Philippine War Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8: (AP)—In the Philippine war theatre General Douglas MacArthur's troops were reported today to be still fighting doggedly against Japanese land and air assaults.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8: (AP)—The pattern of the Japanese plan for subjection of the Far East has become apparent. It is patent Japanese naval commanders hope to prevent or delay juncture of the combined fleets of the Allies.

The sortie that established a beach head at Miri in Sarawak adjoining British north Borneo is typical.

The line from Indo-China held by Japan to Borneo constitutes the "waist" of the South China Sea. Control of both sides of the waist gives Japan bases for a shuttle relay of planes and submarines over waters which are the most direct route to effect a juncture and strengthening of the British, American and Dutch Asiatic fleets.

In effect, it erects a toll-gate between the two great bases of Manila and Singapore, and the Allied commanders can expect to pay a heavier price in lost craft because of the thrust at Borneo.

There is some evidence also that Japan contemplates erecting another plane-sub fence from North Borneo across the 1,200-mile stretch to the Japanese base on Palau, thus harassing an attempt at juncture via the more circuitous route.

Land Attacks. At the same time, the Japanese are smashing at the shore points on which Allied fleets depend. The two major bases, of course, are Manila and Singapore, and both are objects of great Japanese offensives.

Manila and Singapore are primary objectives for different reasons. Manila menaces the long supply line Japan must keep open to supply her forces in the southern theatre. Squarely athwart the flank of that lifeline, Manila can send out sub-seas, surface and air raiders to bedevil Japanese convoys.

Until Manila is completely knocked out, no Japanese commander can rest easily with his communications under constant threat. So far, General MacArthur's Philippine command has brilliantly resisted complete domination of the Manila area.

Strategic Singapore. Singapore guards against Japan's ultimate goal—seizure of the rich Netherlands Indies and Malaya. If it falls, there's little to prevent Japan from investing Sumatra and other fat islands of the group.

So the picture takes shape, with Japan thrusting for bases to anchor fences to impede juncture of the Allied fleet units. Then, without exposing her grand fleet, it's obvious, she hopes to whittle down the separated and weaker fleets with planes and subs, while her land armies invest the strong points.

Seizure of the key bases would put the Allies at a grave disadvantage. Their main battle fleets would find it almost impossible to operate in the area, without either Singapore or Manila. Happily, the defenders have given evidence that they have a better than even chance of keeping the Japs out of the vital zones.

Must Be Fast. If the bases hold, it's only a question of time until the heavy Allied fleet units come up. With the backing of the bases, they can ultimately raise hob with the Japanese supply line.

When that time comes, Japan must risk her grand fleet to keep the line open—and that's the moment some grim-faced sailors are living their lives for right now in the Pacific. Japan has got to take those bases quickly, keep the lighter Asiatic fleets separated and consolidate the area before her grand fleet can be outgunned by Allied reinforcements coming up, or her South Seas gamble is a bust.

There's a China in Maine and another town of that name in Texas.

GERMANS RETREAT

Enemy Forces Still Falling Back in Libya Under Cover of Sandstorm—Britons Far Afield.

CAIRO, Jan. 8: (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's tattered North African armies have started a new retreat on the westbound road to Tripoli, the British command announced today, and British spearheads now are operating six hundred miles from the starting point of the drive into Libya.

A bulletin from British Middle East headquarters said that Axis forces which had failed to give battle at Agedabia, ninety miles south of Benghazi, are falling back under cover of a sandstorm, harried by British mobile columns.

Procession For Dead Airman Is Very Impressive

An impressive procession of about fifty officers and men of the Royal Canadian Air Force last evening escorted the body of Flying Officer R. E. McLeod, who lost his life in a crash near here on Sunday afternoon, when it was removed from the chapel of the B. C. Undertakers to the railway station for shipment to deceased's home at Niagara Falls.

A single drum beat solemnly for the slow march.

NORWAY'S PROUD PART. LONDON, Jan. 8: (AP)—The Norwegian Seamen's Union reveals that there are 33,000 Norse seamen sailing under allied colors; their 700 merchant ships represent 3,500,000 tons and about 500,000 tons have been lost in the war.

LISBON, Jan. 8: (AP)—Depressed by the number of men they have lost in the African and Russian campaigns, the people of Italy are becoming weary of the war, according to reports reaching here, and many arrests have been made in Naples and Genoa.

Germany Restless

LONDON, Jan. 8: Information received here tells of internal discontent and uprisings against the Hitler regime in Germany. Machine guns have been mounted by the Nazi authorities in Berlin and elsewhere for the express purpose of dealing with such trouble.

Pallbearers were Jack Preece, J. M. Walker, G. J. Dawes, R. E. Benson, Alex McRae and H. E. Alton.

Two Infants Die Suddenly

NOT READY IN PACIFIC

Although Japan Has Strongest Fleet in This Area, Churchill's Aide Is Optimistic

LONDON, Jan. 8: (AP)—Clement Atlee, Lord Privy Seal, speaking as Prime Minister Winston Churchill's deputy, told the House of Commons today that Great Britain did not have sufficient resources for complete preparation against the Japanese who, he declared, at present have the most powerful fleet in the Pacific.

Mr. Atlee then drew a sharp picture of Britain's utilization of her strength where it was concentrated and gave an optimistic broad view of the war.

MORE BORROWING ON LARGE SCALE FOR GREAT BRITAIN

Review of Past Year Talks in Billions of Dollars But Financial Machinery Is Standing Strain—Weekly War Cost $450,000,000.

LONDON, Jan. 8: (CP)—Concentration of economic resources on the war effort in Great Britain reached the point in 1941 where large-scale transfers from civilian to essential trades became necessary.

Total government expenditure, before the war around $90,000,000 a week, now approaches about $450,000,000; last April when the current fiscal year began it was still below $382,500,000.

In the circumstances it seems likely that the treasury will have to revise its original estimate of $18,900,000,000 total expenditure in 1941-42 by a substantial margin—a tribute to the rapid progress of defence work—but revenue also is expected to yield more than the $8,100,000,000 budgeted for.

There remains a need for borrowing on a vast scale. During the second year of the war savings campaign which ended in November the "small saver" provided $2,857,000,000 for war finance.

All loans, big and small, direct from investors and indirect from financial institutes, insurance companies, building societies, etc., together yielded more than $5,850,000,000 in April-November.

The floating debt increased in April-November by $2,961,000,000, mostly in the form of Treasury bills and deposit receipts placed with the banks. The Exchequer thus was able to profit from the banks' liquidity.

The steady expansion in bank deposits and not circulation, while reflecting the speed-up in economic activity, has caused some concern. The note circulation, before the war slightly above $2,250,000,000, was $2,700,000,000 at the end of 1940 and now is about $3,240,000,000.

Price Advances. Fortunately, prices have advanced only slightly in 1941, and the cost is kept stable by government subsidies, mostly for food, amounting to $450,000,000 a year.

Cheap Money Policy. Further progress was made during 1941 in the "cheap money" policy. With $22,500,000,000 new government debt since the outbreak of the war, maintenance of low interest rates is essential and leading economists hope in this way to keep the post-war burden of war loans bearable.

JUBILEE OF CRIBBAGE BASKETBALL

Invented By Canadian With Peach Baskets And Bright Ideas, Game Has Seen Many Changes

By CLAIR BEE
NEW YORK, Jan. 8: (C)—Fifty years ago a young Canadian-born teacher in New England gathered his physical education class around him, pointed to peach baskets hanging at either end of the gymnasium, and told the 18 students about a new game.

The new game was basketball. Dr. James A. Naismith had dreamed it up as a means of interesting students in physical exercise, as a game that could be played by the average student.

Dr. Naismith was born in Almonte, Ontario, graduated from McGill University, Montreal and died November 28, 1939, at the age of 78.

In 1942, basketball's golden jubilee year, about 100,000,000 people in Canada and the United States will watch the game played by teams representing more than 1900 colleges, high schools and countless miscellaneous organizations.

They won't see the same game. But what they see will be a game which, despite all the technical improvements of the last 50 years still retains most of the basic features Dr. Naismith outlined that first day.

Gone Technical

Modern basketball is highly technical. In contrast to the original contest, in which the players assembled madly and without a semblance of planned attack or defence, teams today may use one or more of various systems—offensive and defensive—each of which has scores of variations.

There's the quick break offence, for instance. It's a highly refined version of what happened on that day in Springfield—grab the ball and whip it forward toward your basket.

There's the set offence, a deliberate system in which the offensive team calmly brings the ball up the floor, attempting to carry a signalled play through step by step for a score.

Then there's the eastern or professional offence, by which the ball is advanced deliberately with players depending on individual resourcefulness to map out scoring plays as situations develop.

Chief defensive systems are, in the U. S. modern play, zone and man-for-man. A third, the pressing defence, is in itself an offence.

Rhodey's Game

In the Rhode Island State gymnasium the basketball scoreboard is rigged up to take care of scoring totals which run to three figures. That isn't just wishful thinking. They often use all three figures when Coach Frank Keane's outfit is moving in high gear.

—and both teams were undefeated prior to this game—Rhode Island piled up a score of 102-81. The Rhode Islanders didn't do it with mirrors. Unbelievably they do it with a defence. They call it a "pressing defence." And it is pressing. Rhode Island for instance used the 260-pound son of Coach Keane to retrieve from the backboard. When he came down with the ball he swished it—almost without looking—at a spot near the far basket and one of his teammates usually hit that spot about the same time as the ball.

Do a Little More . . .

Most Prince Rupert people are doing something to meet the war pressure. Many pay a good-sized income tax, contribute voluntarily to various war services and buy bonds or war certificates. All this is good work, and those who do it are worthy of all praise. Yet it must be remembered that Prince Rupert benefits to a very great extent from the spending of all the money that is contributed at this point. The income tax builds the ships and provides the payroll. It also provides the money that builds and keeps up the Seal Cove centre. The war has brought about better price for fish and the building of houses which will be the basis for an increase in the population of the city.

If we imagine to ourselves what Prince Rupert would be like if it fell into the hands of the Japanese or the Germans, we can see that we should spare no effort to hold what we have. We should not then allow ourselves to make money during this period but use all our energies and spare cash to help win the war. Make it an all-out war!

If you have something to sell, a classified advertisement in this paper will soon let you know if there is a buyer in the city.

Novel Party and Dance Is Enjoyed At Port Essington

PORT ESSINGTON, Jan. 8.—A. W. Stewart and members of his Raven tribe entertained the community of Port Essington with a novel party and dance in the Essington Band Hall on Monday night, the event lasting from early evening until after midnight and being much enjoyed by the many persons who attended.

To open the proceedings members of the tribe entertained the guests with an exhibition of their raven dance and Indian songs after which Chief Lewis Starr took charge as master of ceremonies. Games and dancing were then enjoyed with excellent music by an orchestra consisting of H. Spalding, director and saxophonist; F. Brown, drummer, and Howard Starr, pianist.

Before midnight delicious refreshments were served, the blessing being asked by the missionary, Roy B. Vanmetter. Then there were speeches by Ben Brown, William Brooks, Mrs. Joseph Roberts and A. W. Stewart, all of whom extended the compliments of the season to all the people of the community.

Nurnburg, Germany, long the capital of toyland, used to market almost a million dozen dolls a year.

C. F. Leslie Speaker Before Prince Rupert Rotary Club at Regular Weekly Luncheon Today.

An interesting account of the war services work of the Young Men's Christian Association, more particularly in the Prince Rupert military area, was given by C. F.
Leslie, senior supervisor for this area, in addressing the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon today. He described the wide variety of activities being carried out for the forces, a work which has involved the expenditure of $16,000 here last year and which, it was expected, would cost $18,000 this year. Much information was conveyed to the Rotarians and guests by Mr. Leslie. President P. H.
Linzey was in the chair.

Mr. Leslie spoke as follows:

"The first question is: Where Do We Get Our Funds? As you know last March the War Services Drive was held which raised the sum of, I believe, approximately $17,000,000. Although the quota for Prince Rupert in this drive was $5,000, I understand you raised in excess of $10,000. The funds in this drive were divided among the Canadian Y.M.C.A., Salvation Army, Canadian Legion, Knights of Columbus, Y.W.C.A., and the I.O.E. in the order mentioned, to do war services work.

"The next question I have down is: Who Are We? I speak now of the Y.M.C.A. We all know what the Y.M.C.A. is but we do not realize that the National Council of Y.M.C.A. War Services Committee is a separate organization with a separate management and that financially there is no connection between the Y.M.C.A. and this committee. The governing body of our organization is a committee of prominent citizens and all funds expended by our organization for war services are audited both by the Y.M.C.A. proper and the Dominion government. Our canteens turn over $3,900,000 annually. Canteen profits are all turned back to units for extra messing, etc. Military areas are assigned as special responsibility to organizations for service. In other words, certain districts are assigned to Canadian Legion, others to the Salvation Army and still others to the Y.M.C.A. It so happens that Prince Rupert defences were assigned to the Y.M.C.A. Of course, the Salvation Army has a charter for a hostel and the Knights of Columbus for a recreation hall and the Y.M.C.A. for a hostel in our hall, but the main responsibility lies with the Y.M.C.A.

In Prince Rupert, during this last year, we spent approximately $16,000 and, as our work enlarges, we expect to spend $18,000 this year. This money is spent judiciously and we operate as economically as possible.

Activity in Area

"During the past couple of years we have had from one to three secretaries in this area supplying sports equipment, organization and numerous other services which you have, perhaps, all heard of.
We had a small hall in conjunction with the Toc H, which served its purpose but which became very inadequate and last July the Y.M.
C.A. leased, as you know, the Moose Hall and converted it into a Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Club and acquired a Y.W. hostess to assist by organizing the ladies of the city to provide entertainment for the men and recreation for the wives and home registry. I shall not attempt to tell you about the hall but invite you all to come and see what has actually been done.
At that time three new secretaries were placed in this field—one as secretary to the air force at Seal Cove and Alford Bay, on as fort secretary and myself as senior supervisor for the area.

"One of our most important duties is in the field of sports. We act as sports co-ordinators for the three services, organizing basketball, bowling, softball, baseball, volleyball, paddle, paddleball, paddle tennis and numerous other sports and supplying all the sports equipment which is used. Our work in forts is very important in keeping the men more or less satisfied and contented with their lives. It is interesting to know, at this time that, since August 26 when our hall was opened, 52,000 men have used the reading and writing rooms, 62,000 have used the game rooms. Last month in this area 60 movie picture shows were shown to 11,783 men. The FILM IS MYSTERY

"The Maltese Falcon" Showing At Capitol Theatre This Week-end

A grim story, well mixed with humor and suspense, is the mystery film "The Maltese Falcon," featured on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this Friday and Saturday. The picture stars the hard-boiled Humphrey Bogart and the alluring Mary Astor against a sinister background in which a gang of suave but bloodthirsty criminals match wits with an exceptionally clever detective.

Cold, hard and sometimes cruel but never without a sense of humor, Bogart, as the detective, is called upon to bring all his resources into play when his partner is murdered while doing some shadowing for a client. The picture moves along in a breezy manner with an exciting plot which is thrilling but credible.

The supporting cast includes Peter Lorre, Gladys George and Lee Patrick.

cost of the rental of films for this area last year amounted to about $7,500, almost half of what we spent. During December 1941 in this area 25,500 sheets of writing paper were used, all supplied by the Y.M.C.A. We collect around town from your homes, about 2,000 magazines a month and distribute them to the men in forts, stations and ships in the area.

"I might go on to tell you of the dances that are held every Wednesday with our own orchestra, organized within the services; of the concerts that are held almost weekly with the kind assistance of citizens of Prince Rupert and the organization within the forces, of the numerous card parties and game parties which are held in the hall weekly of the 60 men who were invited, through the office of the Y. W. C.
A. hostess, for Christmas dinner, of the numerous men who are invited to spend their 48 hours leave in private homes.

"I might quote you figures by the hour but one of the services of which I am most proud was a case of a man whose home is in Sault Ste. Marie. Christmas Eve he received a wire stating that his father had an accident and had both legs amputated. His mother is a cripple and it was our privilege to wire our Y. M. C. A. secretary in Sault Ste. Marie, have him contact the parents and I was able to report the following morning that his parents were being looked after financially by Workmen's Compensation and personally by our own secretary in that city. It is interesting to know that the influence of this work is felt not only by the members of the services but by the civilians of the town. We have had a total of 537 different women assisting from the hostess end, then there are two volunteer canteen workers each evening. This all tends to give the citizens new interests and allows them to help in war work.

"I may say we have in Prince Rupert an advisory board composed of seven prominent citizens whose duty it is to advise me on the general program of the area.
Your president, P. H. Linzey, is the chairman of this board. Within this advisory board there are subcommittees to assist in the work.
There is the canteen committee, the entertainment committee and the house committee.

"All these services, and the services of other organizations, last year cost the people of Prince Rupert the sum of 1-1-3c per day per man in the area. We are truly a large part of your war effort."

NEEDN'T BE DRAB

Old Country People Put Pep Into New Outfits of Clothes

MANCHESTER, Jan. 8. —The women of Britain have discovered to their delight that wartime restrictions on the manufacture of clothing does not mean that new clothes must be drab.

Women can't buy all the clothes they would like because of rationing, but those they can and do buy are as brightly-colored as they ever were. New dresses appearing in shop windows are in greens, royal blue, fuschia and scarlet, besides the usual blacks, greys and browns.

One new dress display features what the designer calls "dredged" shades—slightly softer than the straight colors. However, one outstanding exception is a golden yellow as becoming as it is striking.

Some Items
It has been made into a suit called "Wheatseaf" of frayed tweed with buttons of plastic designed after a sheaf of wheat. The suit's lines are more or less clean and trim. The skirt is high-waisted —almost corsetlike.

Most spectacular model in the display is a golden crepe dress, high-necked and sleeveless.
Gold epaulets stand out from the shoulders. Its loose, hip-length coat has sleeves open near the shoulders and permitting the epaulets to burst through. Other designers show a liking for blue and fuschia. A third uses beading on black in close designs.
