Newspaperman's Story—

PERSPECTIVE OF COMMANDO RAID GIVEN BY C.P. CORRESPONDENT

Graphic Description of Grim and Crazy Battles at Dieppe—Ontario, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Quebec Regiments Used

Ross Munro, 28-year-old Canadian Press war correspondent, landed in France with the Canadian-led commando forces yesterday. Here is his story for the Daily News:

Units of two London regiments—the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry and the Essex Scottish of Windsor, Ontario—with a Calgary tank regiment carried the main attack on the Dieppe raid yesterday right into the town itself and battled the Germans in the streets to capture main portions of the town.

For eight raging hours under intense Nazi fire from dawn until sweltering afternoon, I watched Canadian troops go through the biggest of the war's raiding operations in wild scenes crowding helter-skelter on one another into a crazy sequence.

There was a furious E-boat attack by the Germans while Canadian moved in on the beaches in the dawn's half-light and, when Canadian battalions stormed through an inferno of Nazi defenses, I spent the grimmest twenty minutes of my life with one unit when a rain of German machine gun fire wounded half the men in our boat and only a miracle saved us from annihilation.

A few hours later there was a spine-chilling dive-bombing attack by seven Stukas that spotted a small assault landing craft waiting off shore to re-embark fighting men.

Major General J. H. Roberts, senior ranking officer of the expedition, commanded the Canadian Hamilton and Essex Scottish which landed on the beach in front of the town after a tremendous naval bombardment and aerial bombing of the area. They stormed Nazi-held buildings, barricades and strong points.

On the flank units of the South Saskatchewan Regiment and Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg landed at Pourville, two miles west of Dieppe, and the Royal Regiment of Toronto went in at Puits, one mile east of the port.

Units of the Fusiliers—Mount Royal, French-Canadian battalion, were floating reserves and finally were sent into Dieppe.

RAID IS SUCCESS

Smashing Assault by Commandos Yesterday May Prelude Invasion

One Third of Hitler's Fighting Plane Strength Believed Destroyed

LONDON, August 20:—First units of the Allied commandos who smashed at the French coast around Dieppe yesterday commenced returning to their British base yesterday afternoon in gay spirits.

About ten thousand Allied troops, a large proportion of which were Canadians, took part in the expedition which was made in 300 to 400 small boats and power driven barges under the protection of a dozen or so warships and hundreds of aircraft. The landings were along a twelve-and-a-half mile front.

The smashing assault it was believed by some might signal the prelude of an invasion of Europe.

Much information was obtained in regard to enemy defences. One thousand fighter planes were used to cover the landings and ninety-eight of these were shot down, thirty pilots being rescued. Ninety-one German planes were shot down.

New assaults on Nazi-occupied Europe, attacks to make ruined Dieppe a mere sample of what a full-blown invasion will be, were predicted today with the forces of four nations back here after the fiercest smashes against the Nazis' gun-studded coast. Canadian troops, it was officially announced, spearheaded the nine-hour assault. Power-driven barges and other vessels arrived home throughout the night with tired troops who brought with them German prisoners described by a Canadian officer to have "come along quietly which surprised us as we had thought they would fight until the end."

Plane Strength Hit
As the first fruits of the raid, informed London quarters declared that probably one third of Hitler's fighter plane strength in Western Europe had been destroyed.

Dieppe itself was pictured as lying in charred ruins. Eye-witness stories to Vichy told of fierce street fighting under a rain of British artillery and civilian estimates said that about ten thousand Allied raiders, striking in a huge wave along twelve miles of coast, landed in 300 to 400 small boats on fortified beaches while British warships hurled shells into the Nazi defences.

Shocks Nazi Gal With Chocolate

Confection Seldom Seen in Germany and it Aided Belgian Officer's Escape

LONDON, August 20:—A chocolate bar helped a Belgian Air Force officer make good his escape from Germany. He took the chocolate from his pocket as he rode on a train headed toward Belgium and a young German girl, sitting next to him, was astounded at the sight. She hadn't seen chocolate for two years.

"And such was the power of the chocolate," he said when he reached Britain, "that, thanks to her help, I managed to pass the customs without difficulty and reach Belgium." How he got away from Belgium is a secret.

ACTION IN ALEUTIANS

Japanese Cruiser or Destroyer Sunk by United States Submarine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (CP)—A United States submarine sank a Japanese cruiser or destroyer in the western Aleutian Islands, the Department of the Navy announces, bringing to twenty-three the total of enemy ships announced sunk or damaged in that area. Conditions made exact identification of the enemy vessel impossible.

NAZIS ARE MOVING ON

Further Gains Made in Direction Of Stalingrad, Caucasus and Caspian

MOSCOW, August 20: (CP)—The Red Army has taken the initiative in battles developing on four key central Russian fronts along four hundred miles from Bryansk to Lake Ilmen while holding doggedly before Stalingrad and in the Caucasus, battle-front dispatches reported today. Centres of Russian attack were listed as the Bryansk front 219 miles southwest of Moscow, a salient 130 miles west of Moscow in the Vyazma area, the Kalin front west of the capital and the Lake Ilmen front south of Leningrad.

MOSCOW, Aug. 20—German troops, in their drive towards Stalingrad, crossed the Don River to the eastern shore yesterday but Russian sources claimed that their spearheads were smashed.

Meanwhile, further gains by the Nazis in the direction of the Caucasus and the Caspian Sea on the extreme south are admitted.

ROUTES ARE DISCUSSED

Conference in Edmonton Talks of Railway to Alaska

EDMONTON, Aug. 20:—Possible routes for a railway to Alaska are understood to have been the main subject of a conference of United States Army engineer officers from Washington, representatives of the Alberta and British Columbia governments and the Canadian National Railways here. No statement was issued by the participants. Premier John Hart and engineers of his government attended, the party including W. H. Tobey, general manager of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

BOMB JAP WARSHIPS

Loss of H.M.A.S. Canberra Announced—Leathernecks Hold On in Solomons

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Flying fortresses, hunting down units of the Japanese fleet which retreated in the initial phase of the fifteen-day old Battle of Solomon Islands, reported today to have bombed enemy warships four hundred miles north of the main battle theatre.

A communique from Melbourne also disclosed loss of the 10,000-ton Australian cruiser Canberra which was sunk in the opening attack on the islands where the American marines have gained strong footholds.

No further word is given on land fighting but it is apparent that Allied planes and warships are guarding the leathernecks from any Japanese attempts at reinforcements.

Toughening Up Ground Crews

R.A.F. Non-Fliers Being Trained Like Infantry For Emergency

LONDON, August 20:—The Royal Air Force, the toughest thing in the air, is learning to be tough on the ground as well. Non-operational personnel are being put through a "toughening course at Army Co-operation Command schools and the men have to step lively.

If they are slow at getting through barbed wire or over rope bridges a "bomb" is thrown at them. Although harmless, it is a gentle reminder that in actual warfare they would have been killed. If they fall into the water while negotiating a rope bridge a small bomb explodes under them to drench them with spray. After negotiating a mile course strewn with obstacles, they are expected to be steady enough to take aim and fit to charge the enemy.

A few months ago most of these men were doing nothing tougher than driving trams, clerking in banks, keeping books or mending shoes, now they are fitters, armorers and other ranks. After a few days preliminary training in handling firearms, the men are put through a gruelling assault course during which they have to negotiate under fire a series of obstacles including pits and ditched wire entanglements, streams, rope bridges, ladders and pallisades.

Canadians To Be Placed More Directly Back of War Effort, Says King

Unemployed Will Be Required to Accept Work and Changes Will Be Made From Non-essential To Essential Industries

OTTAWA, Aug. 19 (CP)—Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King announced last night proposed new measures for the control of manpower and women-power designed to place all but the very old, the very young and the disabled behind the war effort. Speaking over a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation hook-up, the

Canada at War—

TRIP EAST DESCRIBED TO ROTARY

Local Newspaperman Gives Impressions of Dominion in Time Of National Crisis

"Canada in wartime I found a sober Canada, a Canada that is getting down to cases, a Canada that now realizes that there is a war on," said G. A. Hunter of the Daily News in speaking before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club last evening. Possibly some may be able to travel across Canada these days without a background of war in one's senses and the question lurking: Whither Canada?

I journeyed by rail from Prince Rupert to Jasper. Everywhere it was Canada at war—the great roadbuilding program in the lower Skeena, the thousands of bivouacked soldiers, enormous airports springing up here and there, the industries pounding away as they never did before, the northern line of the Canadian National Railways handling an unprecedented volume of traffic, all these things playing their part in the war in the Pacific arena.

"What is going on even in this district is reflected everywhere one goes. The prairies are faced with their war problems—the prospect of a harvest as bounteous as they have ever known but harried with the questions of how it is going to be harvested and where it is going to be stored after it is harvested.

"But it is down in the industrial Continued on PAGE FOUR

Asks For Realism On 'Kitchen Front'

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., August 20:—Householder Malcolm Holmes has issued a call for more realism on the kitchen front. He claimed, in a letter to the editor, that there was little point in the Food Ministry's early morning broadcasts "making virtue out of sheer necessity."

From time to time, he said, food front officials claimed ordinary foods, such as carrots, are "so nourishing and good for you" served either raw or under all sorts of wartime disguises. Holmes added he didn't mind the food, just the manner in which something everybody has been eating all along is put forward as having something especially good and new in wartime.

"For my part I readily suffer makeshift meals, not because I shall ever be mesmerized into believing they are delicious but because they directly help to speed the day when I shall return to a real trencher's plate of bacon and eggs," he said.

Gravity of Situation
Landings of the Japanese in the Aleutian Islands, Mr. Mackenzie King said, had brought danger to the doors of Canada.

Nothing was to be gained in refusing to face the gravity of the situation. It was a time for grim determination and the situation was such that it required the utmost exertion on the part of all the United Nations.

The immense strength of the United States, the Prime Minister observed, was now making itself felt and in the Pacific severe blows had been dealt the Japanese.

To win the war, however, it was essential that there be the most efficient effort. Every citizen must make his most useful individual contribution.

The government's manpower policy had already touched directly at the lives of many Canadians but there were still many who could render much greater service. Every man and woman capable of some form of war service would be required to undertake service for which they were best qualified and for which there was the most (Continued on Page Two)

RAIDS ARE KEEPING UP CONTEST STANDING

British Bombers Are Out For Second Night In Row Over Northern Germany

LONDON, August 20:—The raid of the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force, which centred Tuesday night on the Nazi submarine and ship-building centre of Flensburg almost on the Danish border, marked the second night in a row on which British bombers were over northern Germany. The Air Ministry confirmed that four of the raiders were missing following the Tuesday night excursion.

CONTROL OF MANPOWER

essential need. New measures would effect all but the "very old, the very young and the disabled among us."

The new government policy on manpower would be administered without fear or favor regardless of color, creed or race.

Every person must regard his or her service in the light of its essentiality.

Consciousness of danger, the Prime Minister was confident, would increase the readiness of all to accept direction of services—the services of both men and women, both young and old.

Government Determined

The government was determined, Mr. King declared, to make sure that the best and most efficient use was being made of the services of all men and women in some part of war services—the armed forces, the war industries or essential activity.

The Prime Minister admitted the essentiality of maintaining the health and efficiency of the people who were engaged in the war effort. There was the urgent need of armed forces but there was also need of ships, tanks, guns and shells.

The government, Mr. King observed, had immense powers to control and direct the efforts of men and women.

It was necessary to understand what tasks men and women were most needed for in wartime—for the fighting forces, for the maintenance of navy, army and air force, for the making of machines and munitions, for the provision of clothing, food and shelter, for the care of the sick, for fire protection, for transportation.

Then there was the important question of keeping the services in balance, to decide what proportion of manpower was required in each class. Here was where the Department of Selective Service would come in.

Mr. Mackenzie King then turned to the question of compulsion. Control and direction need not, he believed, be wholly compulsory. Upon those who were willing to serve, compulsion would not be necessary. To those who were not willing, however, it could and would be applied. Voluntary methods were, however, by far the most satisfactory, involving an immense saving in what was known as "red tape." In time of war, compulsion was more necessary, however, than in time of peace.

It must be ascertained, the Prime Minister continued, how many men and women were available and what their capacities were. There must be accurate information on this point. The 1942 registration had been of much value. There had been the recently newly taken records of the unemployment insurance commission. These were being combined and the department was keeping up the information. A special registration of women would be made. Employees would be asked to make returns on additions and deductions to their staffs since April 1.

Shifting Manpower

The Prime Minister then proceeded to outline plans for the shifting of men and women from non-essential to essential industries and the conservation of manpower for direct war activities. The government had decided that non-essential civilian activities must be met with a minimum use of manpower and materials.

Plans were also being made for the relief of women from domestic duties in order to enter war services.

TRIP EAST DESCRIBED

East where one can see a Canada whose whole thought and work appears to be the war effort. There every industrial plant given over entirely these days to the production of the sinews of war, great factories doubled and trebled in production capacity to turn out planes, guns, tanks, shells and the diverse other things that go towards the equipping of the fighting democracies for their battle against the tyrants.

Appreciation

"And as I saw for the first time those rolling prairies, those great mining fields of northern Ontario, those wonderful pastoral regions with their agricultural potentialities, those architectural achievements of the eastern cities—Canada in her great expanse—the fine things, the historic things that associate themselves with a comfort and ease, a way of living that we have come to take for granted, I could not restrain the inner question—have we appreciated what we have in this great Dominion, have we not accepted too much as a matter of course things that other nations have long coveted and which they would now seize from us? I wonder now if we are willing to go all out in Canada's defences for in my opinion it is going to be a case of all out and that right soon. We are fighting a foe whose efficiency, whose grim determination, whose ability to endure, are his principal weapons. In natural resources we have nothing that our enemy has not got. We have had losses to be sure—serious losses—we have had dark days and we will have more. Have we the will to win, even if it involves sacrifices which few of us have yet felt but which, if we are to win, we must soon be resolutely facing.

"Have we started to fight the enemy yet or are we still fighting ourselves? Are not little, personal things—the idea of one putting it over the other—the unwillingness to change our ways—the persistence of clinging to the old easy ways—are these things not hampering the war effort of many of us today?"

"We went to Ottawa to attend a manpower conference. I still remember words of the minister who opened the conference—the situation you must know as well as I do is serious—possibly more serious than he knew" he hinted grimly. That is how they feel at Ottawa about it. At Ottawa they ought to know. Possibly the older, the more mature of us do sense the seriousness of the position—not in a local way, not in a provincial way—but in a national way.

President George Mitchell occupied the chair and guests were Steve Farris of Ketchikan, William Stapleton of Vancouver, C. H. Orme of Victoria, visiting Rotarians, and Gordon Huff of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The winner of the Queen's Fund raffle was Dr. R. C. Bamford. The fact that it was the birthday of Dr. Bamford and R. C. St. Clair was mentioned.

Tyrone Power Heads Cast in Fiery "Son of Fury" at Capitol Theatre

Spanning three continents and seven seas, "Son of Fury," coming as the feature picture on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end, is the fiery, action-packed story of a man who battles the world for his birthright. Starring Tyrone Power in the title role, the filmization of Edison Marshall's story "Benjamin Blake" is replete with adventure and tempestuous romance. A notable cast includes Gene Tierney as an alluring native girl, George Sanders as Tyrone's villainous uncle, France Farmer as Tyrone's beautiful English sweetheart and young Roddy McDowall as the youthful Benjamin Blake. Other well known members of the cast are John Carradine, Elsa Lanchester, Harry Davenport, Kay Johnson and Dudley Digges.

The story is laid in the early 1800's and depicts the adventures of a nameless urchin who rises from the humble position of a stable boy to become the ruler of a South Sea paradise and, who finally deserts this paradise to claim his name.

The Prince Rupert Gyro Club was in regular monthly business session at its weekly luncheon yesterday. Past President G. A. Hunter was in the chair in the absence of President G. L. Rorie. It was decided to hold a stag party on the night of August 29 as a farewell to Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, for years a prominent and popular member of the club, who is leaving the city, the affair to take place at the home of Dr. R. G. Large. A letter was received from one of the members, J. H. Bulger, who is making good progress at Tranquille Sanitarium and is expected to be home before so very long. Business at the luncheon yesterday was of a routine nature.

DUE TO WAR CONDITIONS

Canada will now on, have to depend as never before on the output of her mines to fill the ever increasing demands for coal. Much of this will have to be from Alberta mines, but this will be difficult if not impossible if consumers wait, as in the past, for cold weather before taking delivery.

Do your part in helping to avoid a serious situation, by filling your bin NOW and keeping it FULL.

Stocks of Foothills Alberta, Bulkley Valley and Comox now on hand.
