Today's War Summary

(By Canadian Press)

Progress of European War...

Great Britain sent a mighty armada of perhaps 750 to 1,000 bombers, including two Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons, against Germany before dawn today, blasting war foundries in the city of Duesseldorf, while, on the Soviet front, Red armies yielded four more villages in the grim battle of Stalingrad.

Duesseldorf Heavily Bombed . . .

British authorities said that hundreds of planes dropped a terrific weight of bombs on Duesseldorf. The loss of thirty-one planes was admitted. On the basis of average losses of from three to five percent, this would indicate that the attacking forces reached high into three figures. The German high command admitted that the raiders inflicted widespread destruction.

On the Russian front dispatches to Red Star, Soviet Army newspaper, said that captured documents disclosed that Chancellor Adolf Hitler had demanded the immediate capture of Stalingrad at any cost. The newspaper declared that the number of troops, machines and planes locked in bitter struggle was greater than in any previous battle of the war. With a full week now passed since the German high command boasted that Nazi troops had entered the outskirts of the stronghold the Red Army announced that "the city continues inaccessible to the enemy." Nevertheless, the situation remained extremely critical as Red Army headquarters said that Nazi power drives had overrun three more villages west of Stalingrad and had driven the Russians from another settlement southwest of the city.

However, the Germans are ob- Madagascar Occupation Proceeds . . .

It was an all-Empire undertaking without participation of the fighting French, a British military commentator said. This informant placed the strength of the Vichy garrison at no more than ten thousand troops, mostly natives. He said that Japanese reconnaissance planes had recently been sighted over the island and surmised that they came from an aircraft carrier. A Foreign Office source said that, although negotiations between Great Britain and the island government had been going on for some time, "it was apparent there could be no real basis for to her population United States acteristic fashion called them has been reached by German negotiations so long as Axis pressure on Vichy continued."
