QUESTION OF RADIO

Various Aspects of Local Service And Reception Discussed

The question of radio conditions locally was brought up at the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night by C. G. Minns who reported for the radio committee in the absence of D. C. McRae who is out of the city. Mr. Minns reported on a meeting which had been held Monday with B. Irvine, chief radio inspector for British Columbia, and J. J. Little, general manager of the Northern British Columbia Power Co. The inspector, Mr. Minns reported, was convinced that the local lighting system had considerable to do with radio interference. A properly equipped testing car had been sent from Victoria so that the cause of trouble might be definitely located.

A letter from Olof Hanson M. P. conveyed the suggestion from Ottawa that a nomination be made for a local radio licence supervisor who would be remunerated on the basis of ten percent of licences collected. In regard to this, Mr. Minns pointed out that no one wanted the job on such terms. Therefore, the committee suggested that a salaried inspector and collector be appointed at possibly $150 per month.

Mr. Minns also read to the meeting a letter from N. R. Olding, regional engineer of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, suggesting that mountains might be blamed for poor radio reception at Prince Rupert, also mentioning the possibility of Prince Rupert being connected up by short wave with the C. B. C. from Prince George or some other interior point.

President Arnold Flaten expressed belief that there would be no unwillingness about paying radio licences in Prince Rupert if any kind of a proper service was given.

Allan Cormack thought the matter of better radio broadcasting from Prince Rupert should be concentrated upon.

EXEMPTION NOT ASKED

Five Thousand C.N.R. Men Already Under Arms

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 15—That the Canadian National Railways have not asked for the exemption of a single man from military service was stated by A. A. Gardiner, assistant general passenger traffic manager in an address delivered to the Chamber of Commerce here.

"In this war more than 5,000 Canadian National men are already under arms," he said, "and no reference to this side of the railways contribution to the war effort would be complete unless it referred to this heavy contribution made by our man-power. This will be all the more apparent when it is recalled that for most railway operations the same physical and other qualities are required as are necessary as those who serve in the armed forces. Each man who leaves us consequently causes a definite loss. Yet, this slack has been taken up, however, and we have not asked for the exemption of our men as a class, nor have we even asked for exemption from military service of a single man."

Mr. Gardiner pointed out that, in addition to the men who have joined the fighting forces, the railways have been drawn heavily upon by the Government for technical men, for experts in various fields and for administrators of all kinds. The places of such men have likewise been filled and the work carried on.

"The railways are, and I feel that they will be, justly proud of their war record both past and present," said Mr. Gardiner.

LAVAL BECOMES PREMIER OF VICHY FRANCE; AGED PETAIN ABANDONS POWER

London Sees Change of Administration As Diplomatic Defeat For Allied Nations—Even Navy May Now Go Over To Axis

LONDON, April 15: (CP)—Reaction in London to the announcement from Vichy that Former Premier Pierre Laval has taken over the government of France is that the United Nations have suffered a diplomatic defeat in the attempt to sway France away from collaboration with Germany. The feeling is manifest that the only answer against Vichy is stronger measures, possibly including a tighter blockade and new strength for the DeGaulle Free French. Some sources predict that Germany stands a better chance than ever of getting the French fleet for Axis operations against Britain. Chancellor Adolf Hitler's ultimatum on Vichy calls for Nazi control of south French ports although it is said the French fleet is not demanded. Hitler threatened Vichy with a puppet government and Paris with a Nazi governor. Fear of an allied invasion of the continent is believed to have had something to do with Hitler's move at this time to gain complete domination of France.

Marshall Henri Philippe Petain, it was announced in Vichy yesterday, had decided to form a new government with Laval and Admiral Jean Darlan who has been vice-premier since Laval's ouster on December 13, 1940. At another meeting of the three leaders today the places of Laval and Darlan in the government were allotted. Laval, as Premier, will be the actual as well as the nominal political head of the French government, with full power to control and re-form the administration. Darlan, as vice-premier, controls army, navy and air force. Petain relinquishes all control. At the same time as the announcement of the Vichy government reorganization, it was made known that the Riom trials of France's republican leaders, to which Chancellor Adolf Hitler had objected, were suspended. Laval has left Paris to confer with Nazi leaders.

As well as causing a stiffening of British attitude toward France, it is likely that there will be a rupture of relations between United States and Vichy France. The likelihood of this increased last night with a statement from Vichy that the appointment of a United States diplomatic representative to Free French-controlled Equatorial French Africa was "insulting" and "injurious." The United States has held up a shipment of non-military supplies to French North Africa pending clarification of the situation in Vichy, it was disclosed at Washington today.

A British spokesman said that the surrender of Petain to Hitler reduced France "to the level of a fifth Balkan state in Germany's new order in Europe."

A United States spokesman said France was being "sordidly and abjectly prostituted" to Germany.

FREIGHTER LAUNCHING

Ten Thousand Tonne Fort Stikine Takes to Water Without Hitch

AT A WEST CANADIAN PORT, April 15—With the official party participating from a specially erected platform, workers and friends viewing the event from close range within the yard and spectators generally crowding various points of vantage from the higher points around, the launching of the 10,000 ton freighter Fort Stikine took place under auspicious conditions. There were several distinguished officials in attendance as well as local company heads and representative citizens. Promptly on scheduled time and without hitch, the big flag-bedecked hull slid smoothly down the ways into the harbor and later was towed to a mooring berth where work of completion will proceed. There were suitable christening ceremonies.

Following the launching, a reception took place in the administration building where appropriate speeches were made by officials concerned and refreshments served.

Jack Thornton, publicity representative of the Canadian National Railways with headquarters in Winnipeg, is paying a brief visit to the city on official duties. He arrived from the East on last night's train and will sail tomorrow night on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver. Mr. Thornton was formerly located at Vancouver.

A NATIVE VIEW

Editor, Daily News:—
I am in favor of less liquor and the wise person who has initiated the movement to this end in Prince Rupert it seems to me is deserving of much credit. Less liquor would certainly be a benefit to the city of Prince Rupert, helping its development along civilized lines, improving conditions for healthy development and ensuring protection for the beautiful homes. Even the homeless would be benefited.

I think the person who started the manufacture of liquor should have been hanged.

Booze has caused the deaths of many persons who would have been valuable citizens had it not been for the liquor. It has rendered many people homeless. It has brought sorrow and misery to many homes through daughters falling among boozers and coming home to their parents with fatherless children, the parents having to suffer and strive because the boozers would not support his own child.

I used to be a boozier myself and

EDITORIAL

DAILY EDITION WEDNESDAY, April 15, 1942

We Should Spotlight Ourselves . . .

Many intelligent men and women throw stones at advertising: they aver that advertising adds to the price of the advertised products bought by them. On the surface it may appear to be true that advertising adds to the consumer price of advertised products. Yet the consumer price would not be less if they were not advertised. On the contrary, it might be higher. This statement is capable of abundant proof.

Where many go astray is in assuming that a product's sales could be raised to and held at peak levels without advertising. Yet reflection and experience should inform them that what goes out of sight is likely to be forgotten, and that the competitive product which is kept in public view replaces it, in the favor of consumers. Pears' Soap is an illustration of this fact. It has gone off the market. Lux has replaced it for Lux is heavily advertised.

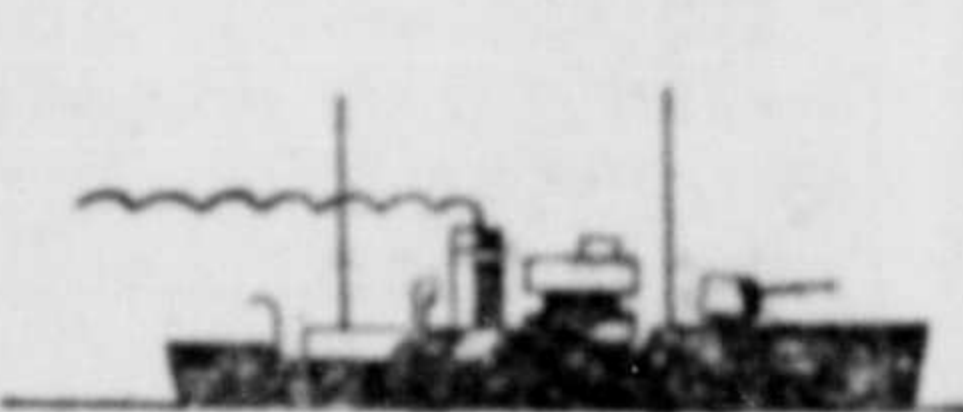

What we want imperatively has to be paid for with actual money. If we want social acceptance in large measure, we get it with money—by dressing well; by the liberal use of cosmetics and toiletries; by attracting attention to ourselves when in the company of others, by a variety of money-costing ways; by entertaining, and by going where we shall be seen. In other words, we must spotlight ourselves, and spotlighting costs real money.

It is not economy to be parsimonious and miserly. This is true in respect of our education, our social aspirations, our vocational advancement; true, also, of manufacturing industry and of retailing; also of communities which want more industries, more retail trade, more visitors, and more population.

We want you to look below the surface in regard to this matter of advertising. Deep seeing will persuade you that advertising can be real economy.

- Custards and Puddings
Will keep well in the top middle section.
- Leftovers—Foods prepared ahead
The lower section is the best place. Also for salads, desserts, and some fruits — berries, grapes, melons.
- Ice Cubes—Frozen Desserts—Frozen Foods
Put them into the freezer itself. Frozen desserts and foods should be placed on a refrigerated shelf.
- Butter
Also keeps best in the top middle section.
- Meat and Fish
Right under the freezer — in the meat-keeper, if you have one — is the safest place for these foods.
- Vegetables—Most Fruits
These should go in your Humidrawer, or Crisper.

Both health and economy depend on your buying the right food — and storing it right, too. Different kinds of food need different kinds of cold to protect them. Simply observe the above storage instructions and your electric refrigerator will automatically keep each type of food at the required degree of cold.

UNUSUAL ROMANCE

"Honky Tonk" With Clark Gable And Lana Turner, To Have Three-day Run Here

Fast-paced adventure and unconventional romance are blended in "Honky Tonk," starring Clark Gable and Lana Turner, which is the feature picture on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here for the last half of this week—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is the rip-snorting story of a western gold camp with a back-drop of unusual romance.

Gable appears as a fascinating card sharp with political ambitions who is run out of one camp after another to finally make his last stand in Yellow Creek where he not only fleeces the citizens but battles for the highest political offices. He fights with six-shooting implements and rapier-keen wit against his enemies and besieges Miss Turner in an unusual courtship. Miss Turner is a prim Boston school teacher who comes west to find her father but instead discovers perilous adventure and romance.

An outstanding supporting cast includes Frank Morgan, Claire Trevor, Marjorie Main and Albert Dekker.
