CURTAILING OF LIQUOR

Letter Sent by British Columbia Church Leaders to Premier John Hart

Brief press dispatches have made reference to a request sent to the provincial government by leaders of both Catholic and Protestant churches asking for a move towards curtailing of liquor consumption in British Columbia in furtherance of the war effort. A letter along these lines was sent to Premier John Hart is signed by Most Rev. W. M. Duke, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Vancouver; Most Rev. Walter R. Adams, Anglican Archbishop of Kootenay and Metropolitan of British Columbia; Rev. Dr. J. B. Skene, past moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, president of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church of Canada.

The letter is as follows:

Representing a large total of citizens who are trying to keep public morale properly attuned for a maximum output of the energy needed for present war effort, we venture to address you, the Prime Minister and your responsible government and humbly to ask for action to remedy the alarming increase since the war began in the amount spent in purchase and consumption of alcoholic liquors in the province.

"In 1940 the expenditure was only a little under $15,000,000. In 1941 it rose to over $17,500,000. We understand, from a reliable source of information, that the amount for 1942 will be over $20,000,000.

"It is reported that the federal government's action in forbidding any further manufacture of alcohol except for war purposes will have no effect for at least three years on the supply of spirituous liquors as the stocks in process of maturing will last for this period.

"It is a well known fact that shorter hours of service, especially in places where liquor is consumed on the premises, is a great help to prevent drunkenness and excessive drinking.

"We, therefore, request that due and immediate steps be taken to provide the best remedy for this growing and insidious evil. Other provinces have already taken action.

"We would suggest that full penalties be inflicted on conviction for illicit sale, to prevent any such increase through this channel as might be attempted when restrictions of legal sale are put in force.

"We are aware that in one place in the province both the military authorities and the local police requested the earlier closing of beer parlors in that district but so far the advice and request have not been implemented by any government order.

"We need not elaborate more fully the harm that is being done to many of our young men and women and we view with grave concern and alarm the longer continuance and alarm the longer continuance of existing conditions.

"We feel that we are voicing the opinion of all loyal and high-minded citizens as well as of those whom we more directly represent."

W. M. DUKE, Archbishop of Vancouver.

WALTER KOOTENAY, Anglican Archbishop and Metropolitan.

J. B. SKENE, Past Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

A. E. WHITEHOUSE, President of the B.C. Conference of the United Church of Canada.

HONORING CANADIAN NAVY MEN

Gallant and Skilful Work is Rewarded Through Giving of Decorations

OTTAWA, Nov. 26 (CP)—Gallant and skilful work by Canadian Navy personnel in the sinking of two enemy submarines and an attempt to salvage a torpedoed merchant ship was recognized officially today through award of twenty-six decorations. The destroyer Skeena and the corvette Wetaskiwin teamed up to put one submarine out of business and the other submarine was one of two sighted on the surface by the destroyer St. Croix and chased for two hours before the kill.

Two posthumous "mentioned in dispatches" citations went to a pair from the corvette Nanaimo who lost their lives attempting to salvage merchantmen. Several Vancouver and Victoria men were among those decorated.

Record For Xmas Travel

Christmas travel is expected to reach an all time high this year throughout the country and it certainly holds true in Prince Rupert. One travel agency here states that the travelling facilities are booked solid from the middle of December on and that there is a long waiting list for cancellations. Other local agencies expect all reservations will be filled shortly by service men and civilians hoping to spend the holidays with their families.

Today's War Summary

(By Canadian Press)

Reds Rolling Nazis Back...

MOSCOW—From the long besieged city of Stalingrad, the Russians are reported today to be still rolling back the Nazi wedge to the Volga River, clearing another avenue of supply and reinforcements for the garrison which is lashing out from defensive positions and beating the Nazis back street by street. Northwest of the city the Russian offensive has penetrated eighty miles into the depth of German defences within the great Don bend and to the southwest the Russians have stabbed sixty-five miles into the invaders' lines.

Battle Gathering in Africa...

LONDON—Anglo-American forces are reported roaming Tunisia today, clashing occasionally with enemy patrols in short but violent engagements as they prepare the ground for a final and bitter reckoning with the Axis in Africa. Meanwhile the Nazis are reported to be still pouring heavy reinforcements into Tripoli and southern Tunisia as well as Tunis and Bizerte. Cairo dispatches say that advance British units are maintaining pressure on the retreating German army between Agedabia and El Aghila but poor weather conditions are holding up aerial activity over the desert battle area to a small scale. Reuters reports a mammoth German transport plane capable of carrying up to eighty fully equipped soldiers was shot into the sea yesterday off Tunisia by the Royal Air Force.

May Answer Tire Problem

The first set of the new tire "sandals" in use in Canada, made from non-strategic materials, are inspected by officials of a plant at Kitchener, Ontario. Exhaustive tests of these sandals show extension of tire life by 2,000 to 3,000 miles. They may be the answer to the problem of extending the life of tires for the average motorist. Tire sandals consist of woven carpet-like fabric treated with an asphalt emulsion. Plans are now being considered for early production.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

Kenneth Cuffe, Soldier Under Arrest After Alleged Visit to Bulger's Store

Kenneth F. Cuffe, in military service here, was arrested by Constable M. H. McLeod as he attempted a getaway after allegedly breaking and entering Bulger's Jewelry Store in Third Avenue about 11:15 last night. The robbery was frustrated by John Bulger, proprietor, who as he entered the store by the front door, heard a pan of glass crash in the rear and telephoned the police. Cuffe was picked up in the lane which is nearby the police station.

Entry had been gained by removing the window in the washroom at the back of the store.

Cuffe was believed to be in the stock room when Mr. Bulger arrived. He later admitted that he had been looking for money but was unsuccessful. A safe containing watches and other jewelry had been left open and Cuffe is alleged to have taken a watch from there and an electric shaver from the washroom.

Frightened by the entrance of Mr. Bulger, Cuffe supposedly left by the washroom window and, apparently, stepped on the pane of glass which he had previously removed, thus making his presence known.

Germans Are Resorting To Desperate Tactics To Stop Russ Advance

Charging Russian Army is Engaged in Widespread War Of Manoeuvre Imperilling Large Enemy Force

MOSCOW, Nov. 26 (CP)—More Russian steel buttressed the walls of the perilous escape corridor lying behind Chancellor Adolf Hitler's siege army today while Axis losses in the still young Red Army offensive rushed toward the 25,000 force of men, the latest battle reports showed.

The German Command threw all available air forces into the Stalingrad battle and buried tanks in groups of thirty to fifty along the outer ring of defences in a desperate attempt to halt the Red Army defence. The charging Red Army was engaged in a widespread war of manoeuvre.

While the shadow of disaster lengthened across the estimated 300,000 Axis soldiers still at Stalingrad, the Berlin radio reported heavy Russian offensive action west of Moscow in the Rzhev sector. Soviet communiques did not mention this action but the Russian command often withdraws news on offensive actions until they are well developed.

C.C.F. WINS BY-ELECTION

Government Loses Southern Interior Seat as Result of Voting Yesterday

SALMON ARM, Nov. 26 (CP)—The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation representation in the British Columbia Legislature rose to fifteen today following election in yesterday's by-election of George F. Stirling. His victory was conceded by the coalition opponent Mayor Cyril Thompson of Salmon Arm, when twenty-four out of twenty-five polls reported 1,138 votes for Stirling and 980 for Thompson.

The seat had been held for the past fifteen years by the late Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Conservative and minister of public works in the present union government.

HAS VARIED EXPERIENCE

Dr. O. A. Wiesener to be Visitor To Prince Rupert Next Week to Institute Campaign

Service in the Russo-Finnish war, during the resistance of Norway to the German invasion, on a British convoy around the Cape of Good Hope to Egypt, taking out troops and returning with enemy prisoners and now as a medical officer with the Royal Norwegian Air Force in training in Canada are among the varied experiences of Dr. O. A. Wiesener, in civilian life a medical doctor engaged in institutional work in Oslo, who will be in Prince Rupert next week to institute a campaign to raise $12,000 with which to purchase a training plane for the Royal Norwegian Air Force.

Dr. Wiesener served as a volunteer medical officer with the Finnish army in the war against Russia on the conclusion of which he returned to Norway three days before the German invasion of his native land. After that campaign, he escaped through Finland, crossing the Atlantic Ocean in a fishing vessel from Petsamo to Boston, coming to Little Norway. Following this he went back to England again and was medical officer on a troop transport which went in convoy around South Africa and the Cape of Good Hope to Egypt, returning to England with the Axis prisoners. Then he returned to Canada and has been here since that time.

It will not be Dr. Wiesener's first visit to Prince Rupert as he was here last spring with a Norwegian Air Force recruiting party. Next Tuesday night Dr. Wiesener will arrive here by train from the East. At noon on Wednesday he will address the Prince Rupert Gyro Club and that night will give an address in the Eagles' Hall here in Norwegian. His visit to Prince Rupert will extend over two or three days. While here Dr. Wiesener will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Jens Munthe.

TUNISIAN OFFENSIVE IMMINENT

Allied Aerial Assaults of Mounting Violence—Eighth Army Driving On

LONDON, Nov. 26—Allied aerial assaults of mounting violence attended Morocco radio reports today that a grand offensive against Tunisian strongholds of the Axis was imminent. The Royal Air Force concentrated against Bizerte, starting explosions upon air fields, docks and shipping while the Algiers radio reported for the first time that British reinforcements had been brought up to the Tunisian front by air.

Cairo announced that targets at Tripoli and Sicily had been attacked in addition to Bizerte and reported that British Eighth Army troops were in contact with Axis forces between Agedabia and El Aghila again yesterday.

ARMY WOULD BUILD HERE

But Cannot Get Permission or Material, Col. Dray Says

The Salvation Army war services recognizes the need of more adequate services being provided for the forces in Prince Rupert and would be ready to erect accommodation here if it possible to obtain the permission and then the material, declared Col. William Dray, Salvation Army auxiliary services officer, who was a visitor here yesterday. Under these conditions there seems little opportunity of the Army doing little more than continue the operation of the overnight hostel on Second Avenue which is always full to capacity.

Changing Days...

Here in Prince Rupert with so many developments going on these days, the majority of them blacked out altogether or shrouded by censorship, many local people have long since come to the point where they "cannot see the forest for the trees." Casual visitors who come here from time to time see great changes—immense undertakings and transformations—and they wonder why the newspapers do not tell about it all. They cannot understand that we are not writing big stories about this building or that, this excavation and that and a good many things "this's" and "that's" which to mention even in this vague way we are inviting trouble with the censors.

Yes, there are many big stories in Prince Rupert these days. Things are going on that as late as a year or so ago we would not have been able to find headline type big enough to shout about.

It is the newcomers and the casual visitors who are impressed. We people who stay in Prince Rupert have come to take these things in our stride although we may feel somewhat overwhelmed.

A mere two-storey building can go up almost overnight and most of the local people, whose tongues a few years ago would wag about such a thing, are not even impressed enough to inquire what it is. There are so many big things going on that they are just overcome with it all. They just cannot keep track of it.

The fact of the matter is that we are becoming metropolitan. If Jones paints his house, if Brown puts on a lean-to, it is no longer something for the friends and neighbors to talk about. The same applies to the more personal things that used to keep the gossips' tongues wagging. The old community intimacy is passing. Whereas as a couple of years ago we used to go down the street and know ninety percent of the folks now, we don't know ten per cent of them and we don't care.

Not only is the town being transformed physically but it is also having a social transformation. For a lot of the old timers the change is quite unwelcome. They feel that the old friendly days are gone and they hate to see it that way. They find it difficult to keep up with changing times and different ways.

Prince Rupert is "getting out of the rut" and the process is just a little painful. There is a feeling of being baffled and overwhelmed—being smothered by the pangs of the growing pains if we may put it that way.

Our town is being reborn in more ways than one. That is what the war has done for us. Maybe it would have been less painful if the circumstances of our transformation had been different.

Everything is so sudden, so drastic that many folk are finding it hard to take it. Some are benefitting. Some are suffering. For more it is stimulating. For some it is stifling.

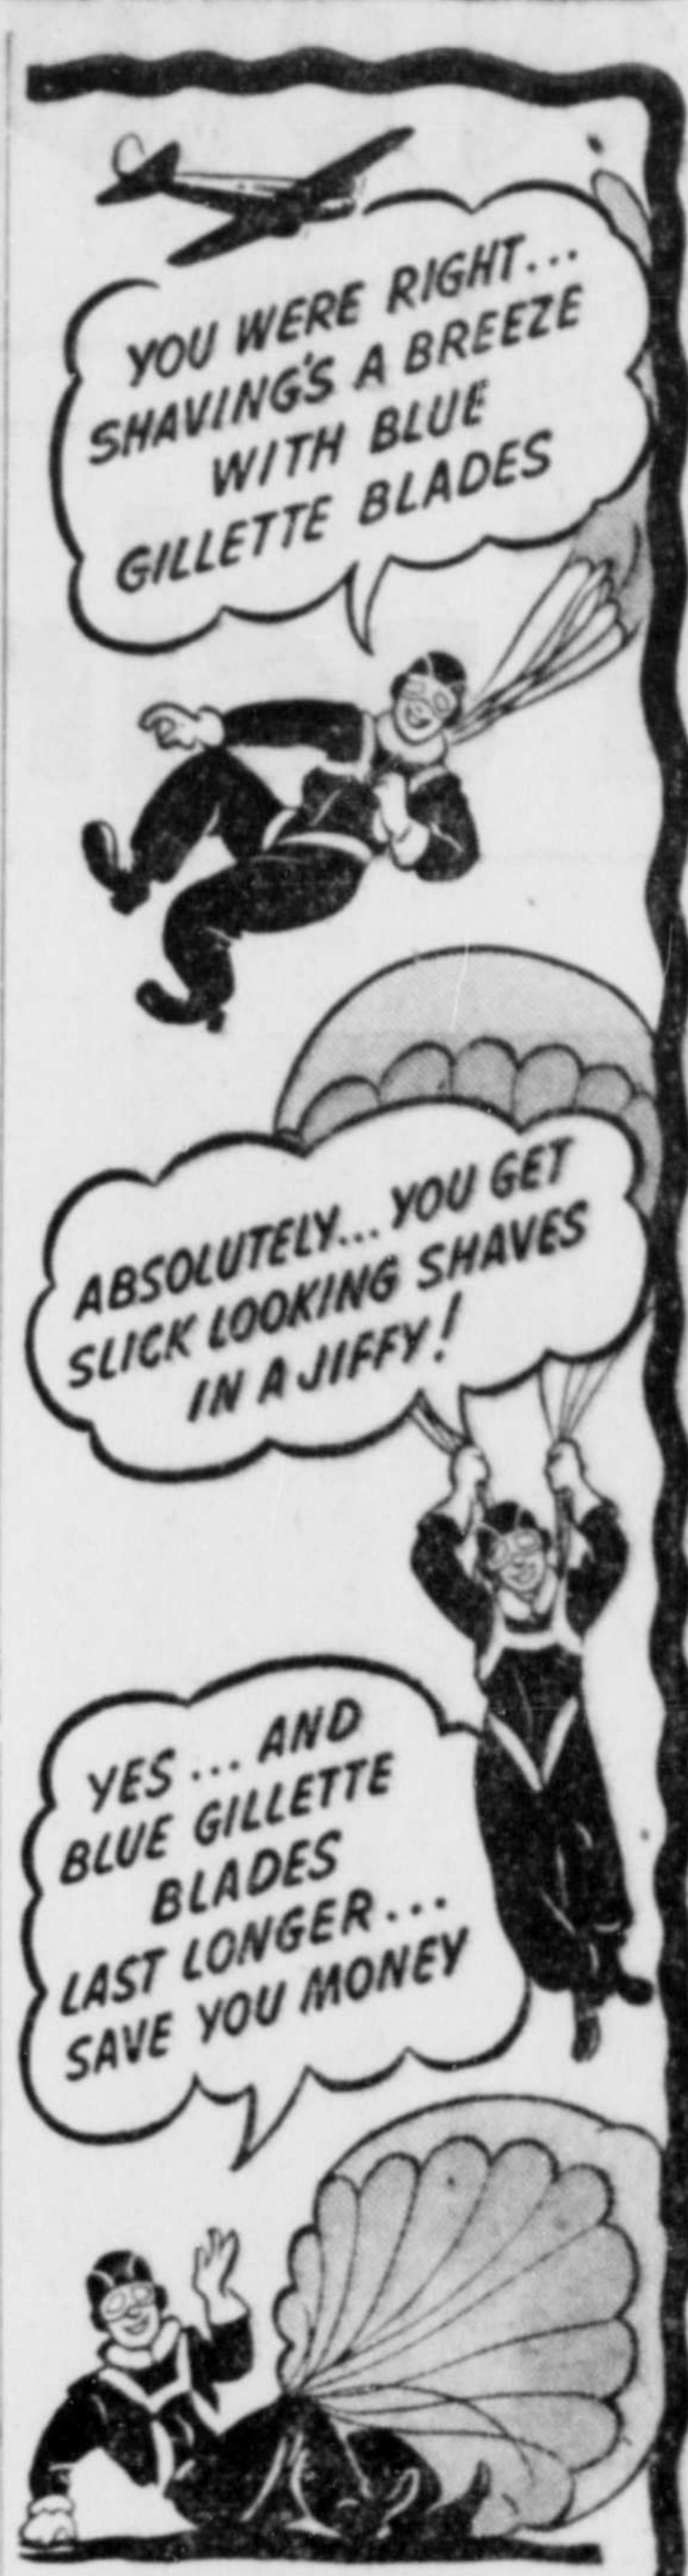

It is indeed a "changing world" here in Prince Rupert. Some day we hope to be able to tell about it all.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUU, Hostess

There are such a lot of comings and goings to report today. Carl Clay has returned from his holidays in the south looking very well and feeling very fit. He says his program went exactly to schedule and that he had a whale of a time. He saw Ina Robertson and Mrs. Black down there and he brought back buckets of one-act plays with him.

Flying Officer "Bud" Boyd leaves soon for parts unknown. He and Harvey Orr, the Y.M.C.A. supervisor at Seal Cove, used to drop in of an afternoon for a spot of tea, Harvey trotting ahead and Bud, at least a foot taller, looming up in the background. The irreverent ones here used to speak of "Harvey and his little Bud behind."

I met Officer Lister who is in town with the R.C.A.F. concert party scheduled for this week-end at the Capitol in the regular "Y" concert. He promises us a first-rate all-mail show. Harvey says the talent in the group is remarkable. Len Moss is here with them and you remember what musician he is.

Gordon Wilson, telegraphist in the navy, came a cropper at ping pong the other day and had to retire in haste to the family lounge while Rene Jeanotte ran up the offending seam on the sewing machine. Gordon, not being a contortionist, couldn't do his own mending in this case, if you see what I mean.

Glad to hear that Mrs. Muirhead who substituted for me this summer while I was on holiday is better now after her spell of illness. She attributes her return to health to an intensive course in detective fiction. She was so enthralled she had no time to think about herself. Mrs. Muirhead is the Y.W.C.A. hospital visitor and the lady who takes all you girls magazines when you are in the hospital with your babies and what not.

THRILLS IN HOOP PLAY

Navy, Midlands and Dry Dock Are Winners Last Night

Basketball fans were treated to thrilling games at the Armories with the Navy just edging out the snappy United States Headquarters team 27 to 26. In the other two games the Midlands shaded the Grenadiers 30 to 20 in a wild and woolly game while the Dry Dock easily walked through the Co-op team 55 to 26.

Taking the offensive from the opening whistle the Navy had the fans on their feet the whole way as they checked the highly touted Headquarters team to a standstill. Lefty Moline scored 15 points for the U.S. five but he missed enough to win many a basketball game. The Navy's top scorer, Sparks, paced them to their win, flipping in 13 points, followed by Munro with 8 points.

The Midlands outran the Grenadiers to chalk up a 30 to 20 win in a rugged game. The Grenadiers led 9-8 at the first half but in the second half the Midlands started to click with Corbett, Hunt and MacKenzie leading the offensive. The first-mentioned made an even dozen points. Tait, Midland guard, went to the showers in the last half with four personals.

The Dry Dock coasted to an easy 55-26 win over the Co-op five. The Grocers just couldn't keep up with the smart passing and shooting of MacPhee, Santerbane and Fitch. MacPhee ran in 17 points closely followed by Fitch, Santerbane and Murray with 10 points each. The Co-ops looked flashy as far as their new uniforms went but they couldn't keep up with the fast pace set by the Shipbuilders. Vunovich led the Grocers with 8 points. This gives the Shipbuilders seven wins in as many games. They now lead the league by four points over the second place High School.

Canadian Loud in Praises of Cooperation in Air War on Coast

While they decry the weather, Canada's airmen operating on the Pacific Coast to Alaska are equally vociferous in praise of the cooperation afforded by the Americans.

"We can get anything we want from them," declared Flying Officer W. M. Lord, Ottawa, engineer officer, who entered the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1930.

Even more emphatic were Flight Lieutenant Douglas G. Hair, Montreal, equipment officer; Flying Officer W. Burgess, Vancouver, accountant officer, and Flight Lieutenant Ian Webb, M.M., Gulfport, Miss., former British Army officer of the last war and now an administrative officer with the R.C.A.F.

Glad to hear that Mrs. Muirhead who substituted for me this summer while I was on holiday is better now after her spell of illness. ## SPORT CHAT

Most of Britain's professional boxers are in the armed forces but Gunner Johnny King—who announces he has no intention of defending his bantamweight title—is the only British champion serving overseas. Johnny is in South Africa at the moment. The other titlists, heavyweight Len Harvey, light-heavyweight Freddie Mills, Welter Ernie Roderick, lightweight Eric Boon, featherweight Nel Tarleton and flyweight Jackie Paterson, are in the R.A.F. PO. Len, only one to reach commissioned rank, is sports officer at an air station. Jock McAvoy, middleweight King, is not in the services. He's doing war work and running a butcher shop in northern England. King is an anti-aircraft gunner and has had a more adventurous career since the start of the war than he ever had in his 16-year ring career. He was on the battleship Prince of Wales from the time she was commissioned until she was sent to the bottom by the Japanese. On that trip, Johnny was picked up after being in the water nearly three hours. He was bombed and machine-gunned in Singapore, then transferred to a minesweeper in the Pacific. The sweeping was hot stuff, too.

WEST YORKS COLD STEEL

British Unit Allied With Royal Monarchs Has Made New Name for Itself in Present War

Written for The Canadian Press By CLAUD GOLDING

LONDON, Nov. 26 (C) — In the wilds of Eritrea and the jungles of Burma Britain's West Yorkshire Regiment has lived up to its motto: "Nec Aspera Terrent"—Hardships hold no fears.

At Keren in Eritrea the West Yorks, associated with the Royal Montreal Regiment of Canada, won a victory that set all Yorkshiresmen glowing with pride.

The defending Italians had thought the fortress, set 7,000 feet atop precipitous slopes, was impregnable with its carefully prepared defensive positions. Attackers who tried to scale the heights were met by a hail of bombs and intense machine-gun fire. But the West Yorks, with the help of a handful of Indian troops, gained the difficult objective and wiped out the Italians.

Same at Burma

The West Yorks displayed the same mettle in Burma after the Japanese had invested the town of Begu and cut off British troops. Gurkha and Sikh troops attempted to relieve the beleaguered garrison, but were repulsed. Roads leading to the town were blocked by barricades and obstructions, including wrecked tanks and trucks. During a moonless night some

A notice to mariners issued by the Department of Transport announces a change in the color of the light on the gas and whistle buoy off Lawn Point in Heatee Straits, Queen Charlotte Islands. The flashing white light has been replaced by a flashing red light. It is also announced that a new light has been established off Lawn Point on a cliff southward of the point. It is a flashing white acetylene light, automatically flashed at short intervals, shown from a lens lantern. The elevation is 146 feet and the structure is a white wooden mast with a white wooden day mark, 20 feet wide and 22 feet high, on a former day beacon. The light is unwatched.

A. J. Whitmore of Ottawa, western representative of the Department of Fisheries of the Dominion of Canada and member of the International Halibut Fisheries Commission, arrived in the city Tuesday to confer with local fishermen on various problems.

tanks in the town succeeded in breaking out and joining forces with those outside. Then it was decided to make another attempt to break the road blocks and the West Yorks made the first assault. It was repulsed but they attacked again and swept away the Japanese and carried the road blocks.

Restrictions placed upon us by the Wartime Prices & Trade Board compel us to announce we shall be unable to put on our "Christmas Special" this year.

This practice of sending a small box of smoked fish, typical of the dominant industry of Prince Rupert, has become increasingly popular and we are very sorry we shall have to disappoint our many customers this year.

After the war, we hope we shall again be able to make this special Christmas offer available to our many friends.

Col. Dray of Salvation Army Gives Impressions at Luncheon of Gyro Club

"We must sacrifice as individuals if we are to win this war," declared Lieut. Col. William Dray, auxiliary services officer of the Salvation Army for Canada, in speaking before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday. "Even here in Canada we have got to pull in our belts and tighten up. We must cease our selfish indulgences and comforts. And in addition to a straight military victory, the peace must be based on the righteous teachings of the Prince of Peace. We people can help to bring that about."

Col. Dray spoke interestingly of life under wartime conditions in England which country he recently visited. He paid tribute to the great spirit of the British people under tribulations which had beset them. It was a spirit which never could be conquered.

Col. Dray went over to England last December. Everywhere in England there were signs abundant of the great blitzes, the bitter and bloody battles of the air but the people were entirely unconquered. The path of victory in Britain was one of blood and sacrifice but the people had stood up to it in a wonderful way without complaint or murmur.

Col. Dray went on to tell interestingly of how women were doing men's jobs. He also referred to some of the rationing difficulties.

Life in England these days might be drab but the people were cheerful and there was certainly nothing in the way of despair.

Col. Dray then went on to describe his impressions after visiting the forces through Britain. There was a fine spirit among the men. They might be chafing at inaction but they felt that they had gone over to do a job and they were resolved to stay there until it was done. It was not an easy thing to sit there and wait for something to happen. That too took courage and the boys could be counted upon to represent Canada well when the time came.

Col. Dray had found that the Canadians overseas were getting married in considerable numbers—quite a natural thing for them to do. Good English homes were opened up to them. The padres, as far as possible, investigated all marriages. Nor was the general idea that of one young soldier who when asked to swear "until death do us part" had answered "just for the duration."

Col. Dray referred to the importance of the work of the auxiliary services declaring that the boys must not be failed and that it was essential the good work be kept up.

President George L. Rorke was in the chair and expressed the appreciation of the listeners to Col. Dray for his fine address. Next week the club speaker will be Dr. O. A. Wiesener of Little Norway, Toronto, who will be in the city in connection with the Norwegian training plane fund. Dr. Wiesener was a medical officer in the Russo-Finnish war.

The local club is also anticipating a visit from the district governor, Dr. George Froome of Kamloops, about the middle of December.

"Tailspins" Party Here in Course Of Tour of Coast Stations

"Tailspins" revue group, a versatile concert party of the Royal Canadian Air Force, which is on a tour of bases on this coast, is paying a visit to this area. Tuesday night there was a much appreciated entertainment at the local air base. Last night there was a show at a construction camp. Sunday afternoon and evening there will be shows for the men of the forces and their friends at the Capitol

Theatre under the auspices of Young Men's Christian Association war services.

The "Tailspins" program is a well knit variety entertainment consisting of comedies, skits, group numbers and orchestral selections. Under the leadership and direction of Flying Officer Fraser Lister, in civilian life a Victoria school teacher and well known in entertainment quarters there, the party consists of Len Moss, piano acordian; Al Bestal, comedian; Dick Taylor, swing guitar; Frank Kuese, drums; Stan Kirby, saxophone and clarinet; Archie Davy, baritone; Curly Reynolds, yodeler; Don MacLean, piano. All are bona fide members of air force ground crew.

DIGNIFIED ROMANCE

"Talk of Town" With Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman, at Capitol Theatre

A delightful combination of rich and racy romance with a suspenseful background of melodrama and action, "Talk of the Town," this week-end's feature offering at the Capitol Theatre, is a different sort of story. Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman are starred.

The story involves a fugitive from legal injustice, the nation's foremost legal theorist and candidate for the United States Supreme Court bench and delightful girl gossips. A romantic triangle is handled in a delightful and dignified manner.

Cary Grant is the fugitive. Miss Arthur is his fellow-fighter against injustice. Colman is a bearded, dignified law school dean.

Edgar Buchanan, Glenda Farrell and Tom Tyler head the supporting cast.
