GERMANS DESPERATE— PRESSURE ON NAZIS IN RUSSIA

Press Mail and Training Planes
Into Military Service—Reds
Advance Slowly

MOSCOW, Dec. 9 (CP)—The German army, trying desperately to hold the siege of Stalingrad begun 106 days ago, is pressing mail planes and training ships into service in the attempt to bolster their threatened forces with reinforcements, the Soviet newspaper Red Star reported today. The Red Air Force had downed sixty German transports in three days, Red Star said. The planes are bringing reserves from as far as Germany itself.

Heavy snows along the Russian front, coupled with fierce German counter-attacks, hampered the offensive operations of the Red Army on the ground yesterday but Soviet authorities said their troops still pushed ahead in slow-going smashes at German fortifications and communications.

DRAFT AGE LOWER NOW

Youths Eighteen Years May be Called in Britain But Not Sent Overseas Until Nineteen

LONDON, Dec. 9 (CP)—Hon. Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, announced yesterday that the government proposed to bring Dominion and colonial citizens resident in the United Kingdom within the scope of Britain's national service acts. Mr. Bevin spoke in moving the second reading of a bill pegging the army draft age at eighteen years. In this regard he told the House of Commons that men would not be sent overseas until they were nineteen but expressed belief that increased training would greatly benefit the youths concerned.

CBC TAKES OVER HERE

Station CFPR Under New Operation—
Difficulty With News—
Formal Opening Last Night

Station CFPR came under the aegis of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation at 7:30 yesterday morning with the formal opening last night when there were a number of interviews conducted by Announcer Dick Halhed with military and civic officials. Regional Representative Ira Dilworth also taking part. The other speakers, all making comments appropriate to the occasion, were City Commissioner D.J. Matheson, Arnold Platen, Chamber of Commerce president, Col. D. M. Martin and C. H. Insulander.

A news broadcast was to have been presented after the taking over yesterday morning but transmission conditions by radiotelephone were not auspicious and it was 1 o'clock in the afternoon before it was possible to bring the news through. Then the quality was none too good. However, there has been some improvement since although it was again impossible to get the news through this morning.

Local listeners were particularly attentive to their receivers during yesterday in view of the change.

MEET MAN SHORTAGE

Cold Storage at Seal Cove Using
Women to Good Advantage,
Also Men of Air Force in Spare Time

Employment of women and Air Force men during their hours of leave means that the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. have resorted to in order to meet the manpower problem at the big fish plant at Seal Cove.

Women are being employed in the company's fish packing shed and elsewhere around the plant doing such jobs as fish dressing, cutting and filleting which had always been considered a man's job. They are also trying their hand at fish packing and their work on certain jobs is considered quite as satisfactory as could be done by men.

The Air Force men appreciate the work in their spare time as it gives them extra cash and helps to keep their time occupied—something that is often a bit of a problem in Prince Rupert.

JAP CONVOY BROKEN UP

Another Desperate Attempt to Land Reinforcements on New Guinea is Foiled

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 9 (CP)—A fifth frantic attempt of the Japanese to rush warships to the aid of their faltering forces pocketed at Buna and Gona on the coast of northeastern New Guinea has been repulsed by Allied planes, the High Command announced today.

A communique said that Japanese destroyers in convoy were intercepted by heavy bombers which scored two direct hits on the leading destroyer which burst into flames. The remainder then fled.

WARRING ON BLACK MART

Eire Government Takes Action on Illegal Trade Conditions

DUBLIN, Dec. 9 (CP)—The government is cracking down on the black market. The supplies minister has been armed with powers enabling him to place an embargo on trade and to confiscate goods believed destined for sale at over-the-market prices.

Enforcement officers have the right of search and where goods are found which are likely to be used in black market operations the minister has power to issue a standstill order which prohibits their removal. Where such action is taken the minister has two subsequent lines of action open. In cases where sufficient evidence is obtained to sustain a prosecution the court is requested at the time of prosecution to make an order confiscating the goods, which are then disposed of by the minister and the moneys so derived are paid into the exchequer.

In the case of goods where insufficient evidence is obtained to sustain a prosecution for offences or overcharging or breach of rationing orders, but where the supply minister is satisfied such goods are being used for the purpose of making excessive profits, a direction for sale is served on the person holding the goods. This requires such person to sell the goods to a person or persons named in the direction at an agreed price, or a price determined by the minister.

KNOCKING ITALY OUT

Royal Air Force Delivers Another
Heavy Blow at Important Industrial City of Turin

LONDON, Dec. 9 (CP)—The Royal Air Force is continuing its offensive to knock Italy out of the conflict. Last night bombs of the heaviest type were dropped as the Air Force blasted the great northern industrial city of Turin with another knockout blow for the third time in two weeks. The results are believed to have been "good." One British plane failed to return.

This latest attack on Turin came within forty-eight hours after a strong force of British and American airmen carried out the biggest daylight bombing assault ever directed against the continent. Attacks are now being concentrated on the bottleneck in a rail system through which the Nazis sustain their weaker partner.

REASON OF SUBSIDIES

Further Explanation Made By
Ottawa of Foodstuff Price
Reduction Measures

OTTAWA, Dec. 9.—The price reduction measures on such foodstuffs as tea, coffee, milk, oranges and beef which have been put into effect by the federal government have been made necessary because of the "staggered" increase in living costs. In the case of commodities not under price ceiling, it is explained by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the increase in the average cost of production has been largely due to higher food costs.

An increase in the cost of living bonus would further increase the manufacturing costs and only make the situation more acute besides giving no help to the dependents of service men, pensioners, farmers, professional people etc.

Therefore the decision was made to stabilize living costs at the November 1 level, by reducing the prices of four widely used foods—tea, coffee, oranges and milk—besides regulating the beef price.

The government will pay subsidies on tea, coffee, oranges and milk.

The profit of distributor, wholesaler and retailer remains the same. Only the consumer benefits.

The increased cost of producing food is a wartime fact. It can be paid by the consumer in taxes and subsidy or in a bonus to the wage earner which results in increased costs, leading to further increases in prices.

The subsidy method benefits all while the cost of living bonus benefits only certain salary and wage earners.

The subsidy methods also holds production costs down.

The milk subsidy will be paid only on fluid milk for human consumption, not on milk for other dairy products. Milk subsidies are already in effect in some districts to stimulate production. These districts are not affected by the new measure. It will now be possible for the average family to save $11 a year on milk or buy one hundred extra quarts.

The new tea and coffee prices are welcome particularly on the farm because they reduce the cash outlay for foods.

The ration prevents an increase in sales of tea and coffee.

The orange price reduction is being accomplished by a seasonal removal of import duty and the removal of war exchange tax effective December 1.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is simplifying its procedure so that subsidy claims can be paid promptly.

Detailed fact sheets are being issued.

Heavy Artillery and Air Attack Softening Axis for Early Drive

Heights Overlooking Key Town of Tebourba Are Under Allied Control—Acquisition of Dakar Seen
As Beneficial

LONDON, Dec. 9 (CP)—Heavy artillery and steadily growing fleets of planes were reported softening the Axis in the Tebourba area today as the Allies, secured by the repulse of the enemy's efforts to recapture heights dominating a battlefield, apparently prepared for a big new drive on Bizerte and Tunis. Lull in the ground fighting was reported from Allied headquarters in North Africa which said that activity in the forward area yesterday was limited to patrolling.

WOMEN TAKE MEN'S JOBS

About Thousand in C.N.R. Shops
And Roundhouses

WINNIPEG, Dec. 9 — Replacing men gone into active war service, about 1,000 women have been taken on the staffs of Canadian National Railways shops and roundhouses in the past four or five months and more will likely be added in the near future. This statement was made here this morning by E. R. Battley, Montreal, recently appointed chief of motive power and car equipment for the system, in Winnipeg on his initial inspection trip.

"The women are doing exceptionally well," said Mr. Battley. "They have surprised us by what they can do and how quickly they adapt themselves. At present, most of them are employed in the heavily industrial areas of Ontario, where men have gone into war as well as into the armed forces. They are to be found chiefly in such centres as Toronto, Sarnia, Windsor, London and Niagara Falls, and in Montreal."

The majority of the women workers he pointed out were married, some of them widows, some with husbands in the services. They were engaged in locomotive and car cleaning, in sweeping and gathering scrap and also in handling supplies in the commissary, under the stores department.

"We may have to employ them to run some of the machines in the shops," Mr. Battley said, "and we don't anticipate any difficulty in getting all we need. We have been deluged with applications for work. Many of the women have been working on broken shifts, cleaning offices, and they appreciate the eight hour day in railways service."

The railway was not suffering from any shortage of equipment, Mr. Battley said. "We are doing lots of business and we are able to handle it successfully. Before the war, we took good care of what we had and we are using everything to the best advantage. We build cabooses and other equipment and do a great deal of conversion work in our shops and we have on order 35 northern type locomotives, 300 all-steel 50-ton flat cars, 15 baggage cars and 700 all-steel 70-ton gondolas. Much of this rolling stock has already been delivered."

This morning Mr. Battley conferred with J. Kyle, general superintendent, motive power and car equipment for the western region, and during several days in Winnipeg will make a thorough inspection of the railways shops, roundhouses and car repair yards.

CONVENTION UNDER WAY

Important Conservative Gathering
At Winnipeg Gets Started
Today

WINNIPEG, Dec. 9 (CP)—The Conservative national convention, which will have the important task of naming a national leader and formulating a new national policy, opened here today.

The resolutions and policy committee demonstrated support for making Canadians liable for compulsory military service anywhere in the world, it was announced last night. At present compulsory service is limited to Canada and territorial waters.

A Conservative committee member said that a resolution for compulsory service anywhere which would be presented to the convention Thursday received "predominant" approval of the delegates.

Labor in Election . . .

Labor organizations of Prince Rupert show their interest in the important matter of civic affairs by getting together to enter a slate of candidates in the aldermanic field and draw up an exhaustive platform to which those candidates are presumably committed. The candidates are well known and estimable citizens and Labor is to be congratulated on the choice it has made.

Some of the planks in the Labor platform we may not agree with but we must admit the platform is clear cut enough and will give the electors some definite issues to discuss. The merits of these issues it would be well to thoroughly consider. Whether or not the choices in voting will be based on the issues or the men who do not know but it is to be supposed that both considerations will be actuating factors in the choices that are made.

Meanwhile with ratepayers and labor organizations both actively in the field, interest in the civic election, due only a week from tomorrow, is beginning to develop which is as it should be. Most of the cities and municipalities of the country seem to be stricken with apathy these days as far as municipal affairs are concerned but that certainly should not be the case in Prince Rupert where we are about to launch out once more in municipal autonomy after nearly ten years of commissioner rule.

The campaign here may not be long but it may yet be lively.

An Historic Step . . .

The negotiations about to be undertaken by Canada and the U.S. toward the lowering of trade barriers and close economic co-operation after the war, will be a positive step toward carrying out Article 5 of the Atlantic Charter, and Article 7 of the agreement between Britain and the U.S., regarding economic co-operation, in which other nations were invited to join. Canada and the United States are to demonstrate that these have not been meaningless declarations of principle. They are in earnest and they are to give an example of what two friendly nations can do for their mutual advantage by close economic co-operation rather than the comparative isolation and exclusiveness of the past.

The Atlantic Charter of August 14, 1941, stood for "fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic advancement, and social security." All the United Nations, including Canada, subscribed to that charter on January 1 of this year.

The agreement between Britain and the U.S., of February 23 last, declared, in its economic clause, for the expansion, by international and domestic measures, of production, employment and the exchange and consumption of goods, "which are the material foundations of the liberty and welfare of all peoples." It called for the dropping of all discriminatory treatment in international commerce and "the reduction of tariffs and trade barriers."

These purposes, stated in the Anglo-American agreement, with an invitation to other countries, were repeated by Secretary of State Hull in his recent note to Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister at Washington. And Canada and the United States are now going to get down to business and see what they can do toward much closer economic intercourse.

This will become an immediate subject of discussion in both countries, and it is vitally important that the people generally shall be convinced of the advantages of a freer world economy, as against the restrictions and isolationism of the past. A good deal of spadework may be necessary to ensure strong public support for the new policy. There will be opposition in both countries from interests fearing that they will suffer if their old protection is removed, though everyone will be better off in a more prosperous world. Canadian manufacturers will have a bigger market, and U.S. farmers will be able to sell all they can produce in a more prosperous United States and more prosperous world. But a crusade will be needed to drive those facts home.

BASKETBALL AT BARRETT

Signals Defeated Navy in Well-Contested League Game Monday Night

Signals defeated Navy at Barrett Monday night in a postponed basketball league game, the score being 42 to 34. There was fast play on the big floor, the Navy, in spite of the fact that it was short-handed and had to be reinforced by Owens of the Battery, giving a creditable account of itself. Stars were Bob Houston for the Signals and Sparks for the Navy.

Play was quite close all the way and half time score was 16 to 14 for Signals.

SPORT CHAT

Wherever the British soldier eases his pack football is among his first thoughts and it's no exception in Egypt. The big offensive out there is a bit of a blow because it has mostly curtailed the "Desert League." Until the Tommies started their new push west there were many big matches at Cairo and Alexandria but the real fun remains in local games played under fantastic conditions. Internationals try out pet tricks in inches of sand and in temperatures—well. Goalposts are a couple of oil drums or even lorries. And there are such teams as "Tobruk City," "Mersa Matruh United" and "Sidi Barrani Wanderers."

Edmund Somerville Tattersall was senior partner of the most famous firm of bloodstock auctioneers in the world but music, not horses, was the ruling passion of his life. He cultivated great musicians and few persons had such a full knowledge of Wagner. Last of the famed Turf Tattersalls whose death in London was announced at the age of 79, the racehorse breeder and owner had been described as "the most persuasive personality who ever stood on a sale rostrum." His memory for horses was uncanny—but he never rode one. Over a period of years 25 animals paraded before his auctioneers stand at Newmarket, London and Doncaster, the firm's average annual commission—representing 25 cents on $4.75—was estimated at more than $300,000. The firm, of whom the senior partner now is Gerald Deane, was founded in 1766 by Richard Tattersall, a Yorkshireman who came to seek his fortune in London. The last of the Tattersall line was not married and his only surviving male relative is a nephew, Lt.-Col. E. H. Tattersall, author and journalist.

The boys ran eight miles and finished in a dead heat for first place. It happened to J. M. Stone, Cambridge University captain, and I. O. D. Potter of Orion Harriers during a cross-country event between the two teams.

FAREWELLED AT STEWART

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrice Honored on Leaving Mining Town

STEWART, Dec. 9—A whist drive and dance staged by the Loyal Order of Moose in their comfortable hall on Saturday evening last became practically a community farewell party to Mr. and Mrs. James Morrice who are leaving Stewart for Vancouver to reside. The large number in attendance was at least partly due to the knowledge that this was the last public function here which the Morrises would attend.

At whist the high score of the evening was won by the guest of honor, James Morrice, while Mrs. F. Harrison carried off the ladies first prize. Consolations were awarded to Mrs. Baker and Tom Kirkpatrick.

Music for the dancing was furnished by Mrs. Allan Carolan and W. S. Orr. A tasty supper was served by a combined committee from the Moose Lodge and the Women of the Moose.

At the supper table Mr. and Mrs. Morrice were placed at the head of the table. Harry C. Bennett, governor of the Moose, spoke of the regrets of the organization at losing Mr. Morrice, a past governor of the lodge.

Mrs. F. Fisher, Hyder, Alaska, senior regent, Women of the Moose, speaking on behalf of that organization, expressed regrets at Mrs. Morrice's departure and made a presentation to Mrs. Morrice, who is a charter member of the local chapter.

By permission of the governor of the Moose, S. G. Lawrence, a charter member and past president of the Stewart branch, Canadian Legion, spoke on behalf of the branch, referring most feelingly to the work done for that organization by both Mr. and Mrs. Morrice to whom he presented an inscribed certificate of appreciation from the Legion and to whom he also extended best wishes for the future.

Mr. Morrice himself is a charter member and past president of the Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrice both replied in neat brief speeches.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrice have been active in community work here for many years particularly in connection with music and entertainments. Both will be greatly missed by the whole community. For the past few years Mr. Morrice has been postmaster at Stewart, a position which is being temporarily filled by A. Russwurm.

Mrs. Morrice and two sons, Mickey and Ian, left Monday night for Vancouver. Mr. Morrice will leave in a week's time. They will carry with them the sincere good wishes of the whole Stewart community.

FOGS ARE THRILLING

C.W.A.C. Unit in London Has Early Taste of Pea Soup Variety

LONDON, Dec. 9 — Nobody can tell members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps serving in Britain anything about a London fog. They have been through about as foggy a night as London ever had or will have.

Not long after their arrival here a fog settled over London and, though the girls' residence was only 15 minutes' walk from the building where they work it was decided to send them home in two trucks because of their lack of familiarity with London. Both trucks left the office district at 6 p.m. The first arrived at the residence at 7:45 p.m., and the second at 8:20 p.m.

Finding Their Way
"You just couldn't see a thing and our driver would go ahead just a few steps at a time and then get out and try and determine where we were," said Pte. Cecilia Eardley Wilnot of Quebec.

The girls found it more thrilling than frightening to experience such a fog. "We just sat in the truck and sang 'Lost in a Fog,' 'Show Me The Way To Go Home,' and so on until we finally made it," said Pte. Stella Comar-Bruce of Vancouver.

Members of the army's airborne force who have volunteered for the adventurous task of piloting Britain's fast going glider fleet into battle, have all undergone vigorous army training before taking up a job which requires the skill of a pilot when in the air, and fighting physique when they have landed the gliders on enemy soil. EVERY DAY ADDS WORK

It's Jennie Here and Tilly There In All Kinds of British Trades And Jobs

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Dec. 9 — Were it not for the women war workers in Britain, the country's war effort would be at least a year behind, authorities say. They are to do even more.

Thousands of mobile young women with some domestic responsibilities near their homes, are to be sent to other parts of the country to create near-to-home jobs, full-time and part-time, for older women with some domestic responsibilities.

Many women work at war factories in the Home Counties — those adjacent to London — are to be directed to shipbuilding yards where they will be trained as assistants to riveters, platers and crane-drivers.

Outlining the plan a labor ministry official said, "mobile women are to be weeded out of city and suburban shops and offices and will all go to essential work and their old jobs will be filled by part-time and full-time married women who live nearby." Also thousands of vacancies for women in war work will be caused by the ending of the deferment system for men in scores of industries as increased manpower demands of the services are met.

Full Time Job
Nobody knows better than women themselves that a married woman with a house, a husband and children, already has a full-time job which is difficult to carry out but thousands of them are working long hours in Britain's factories nevertheless.

Tribute to the work of these women is contained in a government publication addressed to factory managements the country over. "If they (women workers) can carry on with a mere half-day a week off the ordinary factory hours they are achieving something marvellous. It is time somebody said more about women's effort on these lines and more about the arrangements which ought to be made to enable them to carry on."

Every day now trades are being added to the work which British women are doing. But already there are more than 300 classifications of women's war work. In this catalogue of achievement some of the jobs are fairly obvious, such as care of livestock, work as tailresses in the services, hairdressers, switchboard operators and cooks.

Women in Everything
For a long time there were jobs in Britain which tradesmen reserved for themselves and other jobs which were considered too dangerous for women. No more. Now women are on operational anti-aircraft duties where they are actually in the firing line. Women are modellers and painters for camouflage, vulcanizers, watch-makers, they are charging mines, assistants to naval officers planning movements of the fleet, weather forecasters, repairers of delicate instruments in bombers and fighters, stokers in gasworks, bricklayers, banksmen on coal sampling plants, steel-smelters and machine gun testers.

SCOTTISH PIPES WAIL ABOVE THUNDER OF BATTLE

The pipers of a Highland division in action on the western desert have distinguished themselves in leading attacks against the Afrika Korps of German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel in the last few days of fighting. Although the men of this division may not have the native "haggis" to eat in the forward fighting areas, they still have the accompanying pipe music with their meals as shown here. Note the Scots have doffed their kilts for the knee-length pants.

War Workers NEED GOOD MEALS

"SAVE

those health-guarding Vitamins and minerals with WATERLESS ELECTRIC COOKING"

says REDDY KILOWATT

Modern electrical cooking not only means more delicious meals... it means more nourishing meals, too. Here's why:

Many of the vitamins and mineral salts our bodies need, and which are contained in uncooked food, are soluble in water. Don't drain off these essential elements—they are the most valuable part of the food you buy.

Use little or no water so as to keep to a minimum this dissolving and loss of food values.

Start fast, cook quickly, reducing the time these elements are exposed to liquid, heat and air.

Avoid violent boiling, with its vitamin-destroying effect, by accurate heat control.

Cover utensils and don't stir—it's not necessary with even electric heat.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT,
Hostess

Tony Hamilton has just told me that there is to be a gala opening of the naval barracks on Boxing Day. The event is to be celebrated with a big dance and party at the barracks to which all junior hostesses are invited. Navy boys attending the dance will be admitted only by showing their Chatham liberty cards. Tony says this is important so don't say you haven't been told. Remember, girls, keep Boxing Night open and really help make it Navy night. More details later. The dance will last from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Tomorrow night the Ontario regiment is holding regular fortnightly dance. Junior Hostesses and chaperones will meet at the 'Y' as usual. Chaperone will be Mrs. Bussey.

Claude Wilkins, you know the ebullient chap who wears the Scotch bonnet, is a very hardy lad, so much so that he doesn't bother wearing his overcoat this winter. But I hope no one will be impolite enough to ask him why he doesn't wear it. Perhaps some day they may find one to fit him, I hope. I wouldn't dare say all this only I know Claude is good natured.

Tomorrow afternoon the Service Wives Club is holding a bridge whist. They want as many out as possible because plans for the children's party on December 19 must be discussed.

I have a terrific problem on my hands—whether to open my birthday present from home now or wait until the appointed time. Then when I make up my mind the darn thing will start all over again with the Christmas presents. What a life this is.

Don't forget, the 'Y' dances start again tonight—and at eight o'clock.

Junior Red Cross

British Columbia Junior Red Cross membership is off to a good start. In spite of the late opening of many schools, harvesting and lack of teachers, approximately 33,000 girls and boys in High and elementary schools have signed Junior Red Cross "I Serve" pledges. Many schools have 100 percent membership certificates this year.

Burns Lake Concert

"We have formed our Junior Red Cross," writes Colleen Tielke of Burns Lake, to provincial headquarters. "We have decided to have a Christmas concert and the proceeds will go to the Junior Red Cross. We are finishing up some work which we did not complete last year. Other than this, we are at a loss for work to do and would appreciate any suggestions you could make."

Health Houses

Each Junior Red Cross branch at Kingston Street School, Victoria,

has a health house, each window of which has the name or picture of a member on it. The windows have shutters which are closed when any member has not kept the health rules. "It can work wonders," says Miss Ella H. Creighton, teacher-director.

100 Percent Enrolment

Lower Nicola School Junior Red Cross has only ten members—100 percent of the school. There is only one girl but she made a pretty tea cloth which the boys sold to pay the enrolment fee.

Emergency Call

All Red Cross knitters are asked to start at once knitting turtle neck pullover sweaters with sleeves in special heavy service wool of air force blue for the Air Force and all types of khaki army sweaters, including turtle neck pullovers with sleeves. This emergency call has been received from National Red Cross headquarters.

TRADITION OF ARGYLL

Gallant Scottish Regiment is Allied to Two Canadian Regiments

Written for The Canadian Press By CLAUD GOLDING
LONDON, Dec. 9 — Ammunition was low. Wounded men moaned for water. Yet the composite force of Gurkhas and Sikhs holding a position in front of the Singapore reservoirs, fought on. Pressing them closely was an overwhelming force of Japs.

Suddenly, from out of the brush, came three tattered Tommies, loaded with rifles and a Bren gun. They grinned, raised their thumbs, identified themselves as Argylls and Sutherlands and inquired for directions to a pipe line where they had been ordered to meet their battalion. But they were the last of the battalion and they decided nevertheless to hold the pipe line.

Within an hour the Japanese attacked. Down the pine line there was a rattle of Bren and rifle fire. The last of the Argylls were in action.

Thus did three men of the gallant 93rd uphold the traditions of the regiment of Sutherland Highlanders who earned the name of "The Thin Red Line" at the Battle of Balaclava. Then they broke ranks and charged the Russian cavalry with Sir Colin Campbell shouting, "Back! Back! Damn your eagerness."

The first battalion, once known as the 91st Foot, is believed to have been raised by the Duke of Argyll late in the 18th century. The Argylls and the Sutherland Highlanders were merged in 1831. The regimental marches are "Campbell March" and "Highland Laddie," and the mottoes are No Obliviscaris (Do Not Let Us Forget) and Sans Peur (Without Fear). The badges are a boar's head with a wreath of myrtle, and a cat within a wreath of broom, over all the label as represented in the arms of the Princess Louise.

The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders are allied to the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Canada of Hamilton, Ont., and the Calgary Highlanders of Calgary.

Some men seem to hold the spotlight in any gathering. "They talk well," people say.

They can express themselves in an interesting way because they are informed about what's going on.

You have the same opportunity to be informed that these men have.

The subjects they discuss are NEWS... things printed in your daily newspaper... war news... politics... business deals... sports... new inventions... new medical and scientific discoveries...

Your daily newspaper is a record of world happenings... as they happen... day by day.

If you read your newspaper you can keep up with what's going on in the world. You can be informed about the things you hear talked about by men and women you meet every day... you, too, can discuss these things with authority.
