United Nations On Offensive Now

The United Nations have switched definitely from the defensive to the offensive on at least two of the major war fronts—western Europe and the approaches to Australia. In Western Europe wave after wave and squadron after squadron of bombing planes are keeping up the incessant twenty-four hour per day attack upon Germany's industrial areas and France's invasion coast with devastating results to the enemy. After more heavy attacks during the night on Western Germany, particularly the Ruhr Valley and its munitions factories, the Royal Air Force was at it again today with St. Nazaire, Le Havre and Calais and the low countries and their enemy fortifications as the early objectives. During the day yesterday swarms of British bombers and fighters had attacked France. The raids of the day extended from Cherbourg in France to a fjord near Bergen, Norway, where a German cargo vessel was hit.

Japanese Bases Being Smashed

Meanwhile in Australia a smashing attack by thirteen United States flying fortresses on the Philippine Islands was hailed as merely a prelude to a great counter-offensive, the first installment of the drive promised by General Douglas MacArthur, United Nations commander-in-chief, to drive the Japanese out of the Philippine Islands and definitely turn the tide against the Nipponese aggressors. The attack by the thirteen big planes, only one of which was lost, its crew being saved, did extensive damage to the enemy. Eight Japanese ships were sunk or damaged and at least four Japanese planes were brought down, this in addition to destruction of enemy shore installations. Among the points attacked were Rabaul on New Britain, Cebu, Luzon Island and Nichols Air Field near Manila, the last-named being heavily bombed. In addition to all this, the attacking United States planes were able to pick up some evacuees from the beleaguered Philippine Islands and bring them back to Australia. Brigadier General Ralph Royce, in charge of the operation, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. At the same time the Royal Australian Air Force attacked Kupang on Timor Island again, dropping high explosives and incendiaries on the air base there.

Burma Situation Is Very Critical

British headquarters at New Delhi reported today that fierce all-day fighting raged in key sectors of Burma and the outnumbered British and Indian troops again had fallen back to a line south of Mindat fifteen miles below the gateway to the central Burma oil fields. It seemed clear that Japan was striking hard for a quick knock-out and a Chinese spokesman said that the Japanese are pouring five-and-a-half divisions into the campaign. The spokesman said that two new divisions were already landing at Rangoon where the Royal Air Force sighted forty transports. He said that the position of the Chinese below Mandalay was made still more difficult by a British retreat which exposed the Chinese right flank.

Corregidor Guns Still Fight Japs

At Washington the United States Department of War reported that Corregidor guns scored hits on troop concentrations and truck columns on Bataan Peninsula and enemy ammunition dumps were hit and blown up.

Russians Advance On Kharkov and Bryansk

Moscow reports that Marshal Timoshenko's forces are now only fifteen miles from Kharkov. At the same time the Red Army is pressing forward towards Bryansk. The Moscow midnight communiqué said that Russian submarines had sunk two German transports in Berents Sea, one being a 9,000-ton vessel.

SALVAGE IS TAKEN

Red Cross Is Again Accepting Scrap Material Here

The Red Cross Salvage department is now established in the new headquarters in the basement of Fraser & Payne's Store and is sorting and packing the lighter kinds of scrap there. Scrap iron is being accumulated in a pile at the provincial government dock beside Bacon Fisheries.

A limited amount of scrap can now be taken, calls to be left, as before, with 130. While the calls will be attended to as quickly as possible, no promises can be made as to when anything will be picked up. It is requested that anyone who can possibly do so should send or bring in the salvage themselves, leaving everything but scrap iron at the salvage depot in the basement of Fraser & Payne's. The entrance is on Sixth Street, beside the Imperial Barber Shop. If it is locked, the material can be left at the door. All scrap iron, except very small pieces, goes directly to the pile at the provincial government dock.

Launching Success—

SHIP NEED IN WAR IS VERY VITAL

Impressive Ceremonies As Freight er Fort Stikine Takes To Water

AT A WEST CANADIAN PORT, April 16.—Speaking at the launching ceremonies of the 9,300-ton freighter Fort Stikine, R. E. Heartz, general manager of Wartime Shipping, Montreal, expressed appreciation and congratulations to management and men for the production and launching of such a fine ship which he hoped and prayed would have a long and successful career. "We are in a war of survival," Mr. Heartz declared. It was a case of one side or the other. Ship sinkings were running much too high, he declared. Ships were the greatest need today. That was why they had priority over every other munitions of war—tanks, guns, shells or trucks. Wartime Shipping was asking every yard to step up its production and was anxious to do everything possible to assist in such stepping up. All criticism and advice would be welcomed. When the public came to realize the shipping situation, it would insist upon the fullest effort in the way of shipbuilding. "The difficult can be done anytime," Mr. Heartz declared. "The seemingly impossible will take a little longer."

NORMANDIE FINDING

CHURCHILL STATEMENT

LONDON — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden says that Prime Minister Winston Churchill will soon make a statement to Parliament on the war situation. It will probably be at a secret session.

The Dedication

A bishop conducted the service of dedication at the launching.

There was a prayer and singing of the hymn "Eternal Father Strong to Save." An orchestra of shipyard workers laid down their tools to accompany "O Canada" and "God Save the King," and, as the ship slid smoothly down the ways to a perfect launch, played "Land of Hope and Glory." The sponsor, a highly esteemed pioneer woman, shattered a bottle of champagne on the receding bow. Whistles sounded and the crowds far and near applauded. A beautiful bouquet was presented to the sponsor by a charming little flower girl.

Even before the launching had been completed, the keel plate for the next ship was laid down on the stocks.

After a threatening morning, weather cleared nicely for the launching.

AIR FIGHT IN FRANCE IS BITTER

Royal Air Force Continues Relentless Attack on Western Europe

Luftwaffe Hits Northeast Coast

LONDON, April 16 (UPI)—Thunderous roar of hundreds of British fighter planes filled the English Channel sky today in what coast watchers believed the Royal Air Force's greatest daylight sweep of the war against German holdings in France.

British and German fliers fought bitter air battles high over France today as the Royal Air Force, still hitting on round-the-clock schedule, smashed back in a daylight on the Ruhr last night. Two Nazi planes were reported shot down and three others damaged by the Royal Air Force this morning when Hurricanes, now carrying bombs, scored hits on railroad sidings and the dock area around Dunkirk, all British planes returning safely.

The night attack on Germany was the second large scale penetration of Reich territory in as many nights.

The German air force struck back with a night raid on northeast English town which killed at least twelve persons.

BUILDING CHARACTER

Rev. J. A. Donnell Speaker At Prince Rupert P.T. Meeting

The Prince Rupert Parent Teachers' Association held its regular monthly meeting last night at the Booth Memorial High School when the speaker of the evening was Rev. J. A. Donnell. He addressed the meeting on the subject of "Character-Forming Agencies of Young People." In the first group of these factors he placed the home, the church and the school and in a second division those agencies of the press, the radio and the movies.

Mr. Donnell expressed himself as very dissatisfied with the amount of effort put forth by the home, church and school and many methods used in instilling worth while character-forming habits in the young people of today. He deplored the lack of co-operation between these agencies. Following his severe criticism he suggested some simple methods toward improving this co-operation.

During the evening Ronald Bridgett, accompanied by Peter Lein, rendered two vocal solos: "Breathe Softly Ye Winds," by Handel, and the other from a song cycle "In A Persian Garden." Others who contributed to the musical entertainment were Bessie Lee, with the "Blue Bird Dance," and Pat McGlynn with two piano solos.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Braun and her committee.

The President, Mrs. T. Dixon being indisposed, the vice-president, Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby, presided over the meeting.

The secretary, Mrs. W. Bussey, reported a paid-up membership of 182. Mrs. E. W. Becker, the treasurer, informed the meeting that the recent sale of hot cross buns held at the local schools had netted the sum of $43.

The meeting unanimously went on record as being in full support of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club's resolution condemning the excessive sale and consumption of beer and liquor now prevalent in Prince Rupert.

It was decided to hold the Association's annual spring tea early in June. The time and place will be advertised in the press.

EDITORIALWar's Effect Here . . .

It is interesting to turn for a moment from the bigger war news, with which we are all concerned so much these days, and think what the war is doing to Prince Rupert in an industrial and commercial way.

Various phases of war activities have transformed Prince Rupert within the space of the last couple of years from a tranquil little railway terminal deriving its main industrial support from the fisheries of which it is a key-stone port to a bustling constructional, business and shipping centre which is at last finding its place in the sun. Its actual population estimated today at close to ten thousand people, Prince Rupert now appears to be entering into a period of port development which has long been envisioned but which up to now has been disappointingly slow in developing. In short, the exigencies of war appear to be bringing Prince Rupert into its own. Strategically situated distribution point for a vast and well-resourced hinterland, it is now making definite progress. The feeling grows that the position will be maintained after the conflict is over and the period of post-war rehabilitation commences.

Almost all activities at Prince Rupert today are concentrated on the war effort. Practically all the building and construction work that is going on is more or less directly associated with the war. Much, of course, that is now being done will be of permanent use and value after the war is over.

Business, generally speaking, is enjoying a real boom in Prince Rupert at present. The retail trade has reached a volume possibly never known before in the history of the city. Contractors and tradesmen have all they can handle in the way of work these days. Only scarcity of help and paucity of goods limit the volume, it seems.

The primary industries are carrying on with considerable stimulus. Lumbering is back to the intensive production of Sitka Spruce, principally on the Queen Charlotte Islands, such as featured the last war. There is also a filip in production of poles and piling in the interior.

The fishing industry—halibut and salmon being the principal products—is looking forward to a fruitful and profitable season with strong demand for everything that can be produced.

Never was the outlook for agriculture better than it is today in the central hinterland of Prince Rupert. Increased population in the coastal city presents to the farmers a market of proportions they have not previously been offered. In view of this, the farmers are moving to improve the standard of their produce and the manner in which it is marketed.

Naturally, the war presents a demand for certain types of metals, some of which have been dormant for years. Mining development in the district may well expect to have a new lease on life.

Increased population and development of the port promise to give the Prince Rupert railway line a volume of traffic such as it has never before been called upon to handle.

The years immediately to come should witness an unprecedented expansion and development for the port of

NEW YORK, April 16: ① — It takes all kinds of women to make successful wives to famous radio stars.

Ida Cantor—Eddie's wife—is a radio show—he does it still. He concentrated on being just that, affairs and a lot of other things, though she has to do a lot of her! That is the secret of Ida's success—making in hotels. In the cess as a wife? "I always had years when Eddie toured in the implicit faith in him," she says.

She looks surprised when anyone asks her the secret of being a successful wife to one of radio's big shots.

"I think it's doing everything he wants you to do," she says. "And I like it. That last is very important. We go out very rarely and after the years in show business I used to wonder whether I could get used to the quiet life we lead. But now I like it best. We just don't bother with the things which are not important."

Lily Pons, Andre Kostelanetz' wife, has a career of her own. She is the Metropolitan Opera's most brilliant coloratura soprano. While LONDON, April 16: — The cycle is back for the duration anyway, and the Incorporated Institute of Cycle Traders and Repairs have prescribed examinations to test the competency of repairers.

LOYAL CITIZENS DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs.

Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $5,000, and imprisonment for as long as two years.

AVOID ALL UNNECESSARY BUYING — AVOID WASTE MAKE EVERYTHING LAST THE LONGEST TIME POSSIBLE

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

WAS GREAT ORGANIZER

General Hugh S. Johnson Was Strong in Times of Crisis

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 16 (AP)—A dynamic talent for organization lifted Gen. Hugh Samuel Johnson, who is dead here, to eminence. Tenacious, explosive, he was entrusted in crises of war and peace with momentous national responsibilities. He gave himself without stint.

Steps for mobilization of the American Expeditionary Force in 1917 found him captain of the army legal staff in Washington. He administered the selective draft law with such success that within a year he was a brigadier general, aged 35. He won the Distinguished Service Medal and, what meant more to him, command of the Eighth Division. But the armistice came as he was about to embark for France.

There followed active, profitable years in private business. Then, when more than three years of depression had challenged American ingenuity in 1933, this took back to Washington his driving, resourceful intellect and energy. He had been one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's counsellors in the presidential campaign.

Again in that role but without title, while congress sat in emergency session, Johnson helped to frame the National Industrial Recovery Act and to get it enacted. He at once was appointed by the President as head of "NRA," the extraordinary agency created by that law.

Under it, industries were allowed to combine without regard to the anti-trust laws in "codes of fair competition" which outlawed cutthroat business and child labor, and reduced hours but raised the hourly pay of the workers. The objective was to stem inflation, the entertainment of the armed forces here, this being the prime object of his company in projecting another theatre in Prince Rupert. He stated that he had been empowered by his company to go ahead with the undertaking and had gone so far as to option a site on which to build a theatre which would seat not less than 800 persons. Mr. Borland submitted that his company, through its record of service to this community and its capacity to meet the entertainment demands of the city as a whole and the forces in particular, was entitled to a consideration in the granting of a permit.

Following yesterday's luncheon, at which President G. L. Rorie occupied the chair, members and guests were taken on a harbor spin aboard Dr. R. G. Large's yacht Soogwiliis to witness a launching.

In addition to Gyro members at yesterday's luncheon, guests were Lieutenant Stewart U.S.A., J. E. Ormheim, Rev. J. H. Myrwang, David Smith (Vancouver), J. J. Morse (Kamloops), Leading Air-craftsman Arthur Morrison (Grand Forks), C. E. Starr.

PLANTING CARE

Too often the seed or nursery stock is blamed for poor results when in reality the fault lies entirely in careless planting. The job is simple but experienced gardeners point out that it must be done properly for satisfactory results.

er must be right. It doesn't do to plant tender things before danger of frost is over and it doesn't do either to wait until summer is at hand before planting hardy things like sweet peas, garden peas, grass and other hardy lines. These must make their first growth while the weather is cool and moist. If they don't, root growth will not be sufficient to carry them through the blazing days of summer.

Too Deep, Too Thick

Generally speaking, the amateur gardener, it is claimed, plants too deep, too early and too thick. All these mistakes lead to trouble. Seed planted too deep will not germinate well. The general rule is three times the diameter, which means mere pressing into the soil for fine seed like that of radish, poppy, carrots, etc., and about one or two inches deep for beans and peas. With bulbs and tubers, like gladioli and potatoes, from six to ten inches deep is recommended—the heavier the soil the shallower the planting.

Too early planting, of course, with tender things that will not stand frost is fatal. Many gardeners, too, rush all vegetable seeds in at the same time and usually a day to a week ahead of the regular season. This is all right professionals point out, for a portion of the seed in each packet. With luck, one gets very early vegetables, but most of the seed should be saved for regular planting and some of it for later on. This ensures safety against early losses through weather and, what is more important, it spreads the harvesting season over several weeks, with really garden fresh vegetables coming along steadily for the table instead of a feast and a famine succession.

Precautions against planting planting seed too close together are based on a genuine desire to save the amateur gardener a lot of work and keep him fresh just in case the Japs get too close. If seed is properly spaced in the first place, there will be little thinning, which in most cases is a bit of a chore. With things like beans, peas, etc., the seed should be planted from three to four inches apart. With smaller seed like that of carrots, beets, lettuce, etc., it is difficult to space to two inches the first plant should be apart, but with a little care it can be sown thinly. Sowing of very small seed can be aided by mixing the same with a little dry sand, then sowing the whole mixture.

Grass Care

The professional advises a thorough rolling of the lawn each spring to press roots back firmly into the soil. They also urge one thorough weeding each year with a special spudder, and at least one good application of fertilizer. The latter is most important as it will tend to promote rapid growth, which will choke out most weeds. It also improves the color.

Religious Festival Observed At Oolahachan Fishing Centre On Naas River

The native people of Greenville, Alyash and Kincolith villages, who are gathered at Fishery Bay on the Naas River for the oolahachan fishing season celebrated the Easter season in a fitting way. Three services were held during Easter Sunday, St. Peter's Church being filled to capacity.

At the morning service, Holy Communion was celebrated by Rev. W. S. Cooper of Greenville. During the service the St. Andrew's Church Choir of Greenville sang the third part of Handel's "Messiah" entitled "Worthy Is the Lamb."

In the afternoon the Church Army service was presented by the Greenville Concert Band which rendered the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," also selections from Gounod's "Faust" and a number of marches. The afternoon service was followed by the serving of lunch to all the congregation by the citizens of Greenville.

At the evening service the Greenville choir sang the entire Easter cantata "Victory."

Capt. H. J. Barton of Ketchikan was an Easter visitor at Fishery Bay.
