China and the Allies ...

The aggression that threatens the world struck first at China. No nation has felt more of the cruelties to which aggressors will descend, nor has withstood their assaults half as long as have the Chinese. They, like the British, have known what it is to stand without effectual allies against superior military force. They kept their faith in democracy when democracies seemed to be losing faith in themselves.

The Chinese have shown such dogged hopefulness, such patience in protracted trial, such calmness in crisis, that their call for help from their allies now should not have to be accompanied by any proofs of urgency. Strategists in Washington and London must calculate how widely the allied war effort can be spread without sacrificing that concentration necessary for effective thrusts at the Axis. Yet the consequences of Chinese defeat would be so grave for the United Nations that this ally must be supported even at great cost and great risks.

Though the Russian front promises to be the most decisive of all fronts now open, the course of the war in China might prove equally decisive. Should Japan knock out China the Russians would have at their backs a foe restrained from attacking only by such power as the Russians themselves could muster on their eastern borders. Ready or not, the United Nations might then have no other course but to open a second front on the Continent to relieve a Russia caught in a two-front war. Moreover, the time when United Nations air power might operate in great force against Japan itself might be long postponed.

Reports on Japanese troop movements in China indicate the growing danger China feels. Closing of the Burma Road over which most of China's supplies had been passing, and the probability that the road from India cannot soon be completed, must suggest to Tokyo that this is a propitious movement for an all-out offensive against China, especially as India has become less tempting now that the rains have set in.

Whatever military diversions the United Nations can offer the Japanese will be greatly appreciated by our great eastern ally.

The Chinese have been in the habit of helping themselves out of their difficulties. This fact puts great force behind their call for help in this crisis—this fact, and another, which all the United Nations recognize: namely, that China's war is our war. China's victory will be our victory. And no other outcome but victory for the Chinese can be tolerated by friends of world freedom.

Have You The Cash To Pay For Next Winter's Coal Now?

If not, discuss the question of a personal loan for the purpose with our nearest branch manager.

Many patriotic citizens are buying next winter's coal now, following the suggestion of the Coal Administrator, who has urged early ordering of fuel because of the transportation difficulties with which Canada will be faced in the months ahead.

Delayed or reduced deliveries may occur if orders for coal are not placed in good time.

If you are without the ready cash, our personal loan service, available at any of our branches, may be of real help to you, and our local manager will welcome the opportunity of discussing your requirements in confidence.

STOP YELLOW TINGE IN YOUR WASH

BLUE stops clothes from turning yellow and makes them snowy WHITE

Washing fades the blue that's in all white things — gradually they take on a yellow tinge. But — a swish or two of Blue in the last rinse on washday will make them white as snow — lovely, fresh and new again. That magic touch of blue is the secret of lasting whiteness.

Seven colours combine to make white. One of these colours is blue. There is no true white without Blue!

PROTECTION...of the People...by the People

FRED: Insurance companies are operated for the people, aren't they?

FRANK: Yes, with over four million men and women holding policies life insurance has become Canada's greatest co-operative business. Over 93% of all policies are for $5,000 or less. Over a million Canadian families come within this huge circle of protection.

FRED: Do many people now have to be convinced that it's a good way to save?

FRANK: No, most people prefer to save with insurance because its regularity "makes them save", as they say. And as for safety, the last war, the 'flu epidemic and the depression proved how life insurance stands up and pays when a hundred cents on the dollar promptly.

FRED: I've heard that insurance investments total two and a quarter billions. What happens to all that money?

FRANK: In peacetime, it's put to work all over the country, financing homes, farms, highways, schools and industry generally. You can look anywhere without finding life insurance dollars at work, making jobs for more people.

FRED: But what have they been doing since the war started?

FRANK: Man, that's a real story. Insurance policyholders have a larger investment in war loans than any other group in the country. They've put 300 million dollars into Victory Bonds — enough to build 12,000 Spitfires.

FRED: I've heard that life insurance helps to curb inflation. What does that mean?

FRANK: Well, inflation is caused by people with too much money to spend and too little to spend it on. By buying only real necessities and saving for Victory Bonds and life insurance, prices are kept down and our war effort increases.

FRED: Is life insurance still doing its main job of protection?

FRANK: It is, and always will. Bill Smith's widow continues to be looked after. Tom Jones has his money for his old age. Half a million dollars every working day is paid out in Canada to living policyholders or their families.

"In wartime as in peacetime, life insurance money is the people's money working and fighting for the people"

More Canadians than ever before are turning to life insurance. The amount of protection held by the people of this country to safeguard the future security of themselves and their families has steadily increased. There has been at the same time a persistent decline in lapsed policies. These facts reflect growing public confidence and satisfaction in life insurance performance.

I can properly report another twelve months of successful administration by the forty-eight life insurance companies in Canada — British, United States and Canadian — members of our Association. We are stewards of the interests of over four million Canadian men and women and our business affects the whole economic life of the Dominion. The operations of our member companies have been conducted in the people's interest with that full consideration for individual policyholders and beneficiaries which has characterized this co-operative business of life insurance.

It is nearly three years since the war began. In that period, reflecting the patriotic spirit of policyholders, life insurance companies operating in Canada have been the largest subscribers to the Dominion's war loans in which they have invested over 300 million dollars. During that period, carrying out the terms of our policies, we have returned nearly 500 million dollars to Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries — five hundred thousand dollars every working day to relieve distress, comfort old age, tide over emergencies. Moreover, life insurance premium dollars, saved out of current income, have been a factor in curtailing unnecessary buying. They have thus assisted in curbing inflation.

In wartime as in peacetime, life insurance continues to be a mainstay of private and public life. Never has it been more emphatically a business of the people's money, working and fighting for the people.

— G. W. BOURKE, President, at the 49th Annual Meeting of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, May 28, 1942.

MARY BACK IN ALASKA

Young Brunette Knows Her Mountains and Rivers In Far North

By SIGRID ARNIE
Associated Press Staff Writer
SEATTLE, May 29 (AP)—The Alaska sourdoughs are accustomed to Mary Joyce. She's a slim young brunette who persists in roaming alone over Alaska's wild rivers and woods. It's just "Mary" to them.

Mary never capsizes her boat, gets tree-ed by a bear, or breaks a leg. She always turns up calmly her black hair combed, her parka faintly fragrant with French perfume, and her dogs well fed. There's plenty of sourdoughs who do worse.

She's been in Seattle all winter. To break the city monotony she has flown as an air-liner hostess between Seattle and Billings, Mont. But now with spring in the air, Mary wants to point her little boat out of Juneau up river 42 miles to her lodge.

Lots of Warnings
She's getting dozens of letters from all over Alaska. She's known from Ketchikan (south) to Point Barrow (Arctic Circle). The letters all say the same thing, "stay in Seattle this summer, Mary. We might have Japs this year and our lodge is pretty far out." Mary says, "Nonsense. The lodge is home. Besides I know what I'd do."

She has it figured out she can load her boat in 10 minutes and head up stream. She points out the route on the map, and there's not a town for hundreds of miles. She points out the canyons which have never been crossed by anything but moose, Eskimos and Mary Joyce.

Besides, she can shoot well enough to give a hot reception. Not just shoot. But nick a grouse in the neck so the rest of the bird is perfect for the roaster. So she's going back.

Lots of Breezes

Mary's place is called Taku Lodge. That's the Eskimo for "Windy." It is four bodies of water meet near Taku. Mary gets in and out by boat for shopping in Juneau. So she has to know those waters especially when rip tides roar in, 12 feet high.

The lodge is cedar paneled. It can sleep 30. Sometimes it's full, and she made her first trip to Alaska with a rich patient and his mother.

Mary has been in Alaska since 1930. She saw it first in 1928 "the right way"—from a private yacht. She was a trained nurse, and she made her first trip to Alaska with a rich patient and his mother.

From then on it was sheer romance between a girl and wild man when he set up a model line in

Ships and lives must be conserved

To bring tea from Ceylon and India, to bring coffee from South America, ships must cross oceans infested with submarines. Today those ships and their naval escorts are required for more essential services. Every ship, every foot of cargo space, is needed to carry war materials, and to bring essential goods to Canada.

So Canadians must now reduce their consumption of tea and coffee. You must reduce your normal consumption of tea by at least a half. You must reduce your normal consumption of coffee by at least one fourth. These reductions are absolutely necessary.

TEA CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT AT LEAST IN HALF

COFFEE CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT AT LEAST ONE FOURTH

THIS IS THE LAW

You must not buy more than 2 weeks' supply of tea or coffee for yourself and household in any one week.

You must not make further purchases of tea or coffee at any time when you have two weeks' supply on hand at the reduced ration. (Exception: those in areas remote from supply.)

Retailers have the right to limit or refuse customers' orders if they suspect the law is not being kept.

Retailers must not have on hand more than one month's supply of tea and coffee, whether packaged or bulk.

There are heavy penalties for violations of this law.

SUGAR RATION Now 1/2 LB.

PER WEEK PER PERSON

Since sugar rationing was first introduced, the shipping situation has become more serious. The danger to ships and lives has increased. Consequently it has now become necessary to reduce the sugar ration from $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. to $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. per week per person. Only persons in areas remote from source of supply are permitted to have more than two weeks' supply on hand at any time.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVING

Special provision is made for additional quantities of sugar for home preserving and canning.

In addition to your ration, you may purchase $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit that you preserve or can, and $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit made into jam or jelly.

Every person who buys sugar for canning or preserving is required to keep an accurate record of the sugar purchased for this purpose. If any sugar remains after canning and preserving, it shall form part of the regular ration of $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. per person per week.

Loyal Canadians will be glad of this new opportunity to do their part to ensure Victory.

ARMY PLAN EXPANSION

Shifts Involving Officers at Canadian Headquarters Bring Young Men to Front

By ROSS MUNRO

(Canadian Press Staff Writer) SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND May 29.—As the new Canadian army headquarters develops and the military program expands, numerous staff changes have taken place at headquarters or different formations which have brought a number of young staff officers right to the forefront.

In each of the three infantry divisions and at Corps, there are new general staff officers (2nd grade) in the operations branches. This appointment involves handling very important work and many young officers look upon it as one of the choice staff jobs.

In one division, Peter Wright of Toronto's Royal Regiment became the "G2" with the rank of major while filling this assignment, and at another division the new officer in this appointment is Maj. E. D. Danby of Vancouver's Seaforth Highlanders.

A year ago Maj. Danby was a lieutenant, serving as aide-de-camp to Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, a divisional commander. He took the staff course at Camberley and carried out different divisional staff duties before being named "G2". There is also a new G.S.O. (3rd grade) in this division's operations branch — Capt. Gordon Proctor of the 48th Highlanders from Toronto. Maj. Wright also is a Camberley staff college officer with considerable experience at a brigade and at corps headquarters on staff work.

Early Graduate

Maj. Doug Robertson of the Calgary Highlanders, who graduated from the first Canadian junior war staff college here, is the other divisional "G2", coming to headquarters after being acting second-in-command of the Highlanders.

At corps headquarters, Maj. C. M. Harding of Toronto, a gunner, is the new "G2" and Maj. W. G. M. Robinson of the Toronto Scottish is the G.S.O. (3rd grade) in operations.

A newcomer to Corps is Maj. C. M. Wrenshall of Toronto, a Royal Canadian Engineer, in the post of G.S.O. (3rd grade) liaison staff duties. He has two brothers in the forces, Capt. Arthur with a field regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery in England and Flying Officer "Tiny" of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who now is in Canada taking a special navigation course after flying on operations here with coastal command. He helped bomb the Bismarck.

Other Changes

Back at Corps after service in the field with a brigade is Maj. Ernest Cote of Edmonton, member of the Royal 122nd Regiment. He is deputy assistant adjutant general. His predecessor, Maj. John McQueen of Calgary, now is second-in-command of the Calgary Highlanders, his own regiment.

On the artillery side at Corps, Maj. Freddie Clifford of Hamilton, Ont., is holding down the post of G.S.O. (2nd grade) and other officers in this branch include Capt. P. H. Riordan of Montreal, and Maj. W. G. Ledingham of Calgary, and Capt. T. D. Lownsborough of Toronto.

The staff at army headquarters grows daily and officers brought down from field units and formations include Maj. Keith Amy of Quebec City, who had been commanding a field battery, R.C.A. and Maj. Bob Kingstone of Montreal, who formerly filled the "G2" appointment now held by Maj. Danby.

Lord Tweedsmuir, son of the late governor-general of Canada, likely will move to army headquarters as a major.

Darrow Casey Is Going Overseas

Joins Up From Trail With Fire
Fighters' Corps And Is Off
To Ottawa

Darrow Casey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Casey of this city and a former well known Prince Rupert boy, has left Trail, where he has been assistant chief of the Tadanac fire department, for Ottawa where he will join the Overseas Fire Fighters' Corps. He will take a short training course in Canada before proceeding overseas.

Prior to leaving Trail, Mr. Casey was honored at a farewell dinner by some twenty-five fellow workers and friends at which Fire Chief W. H. D. Campbell presented him with a pen and pencil set and travelling clock in a leather case as gifts from the Tadanac fire and police departments.

Another Sea Serpent Seen on Islands—More Trollers Are Gradually Moving Out to Grounds Many Angling Parties.

Another sea serpent is reported to have been seen on the West Coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands, this time near Buck Point, Porcher Island. The crews of two halibut boats—V.T.G. No. 2, Capt. E. Gladstone, and the Stevenson, Capt. A. Jones—report sighting the marine monster. It looked, they say, like a huge sea lion, brown in color, rising out of the water for about ten feet and then slowly submerging—not diving like sea lions do. A similar monster was seen by the seiner Beatrice H. last fall off the west coast of the Queen Charlotte. The Beatrice H. ran right alongside of it and the crew described it as being brown in color with hair, having a head like a horse and about fifty feet long. Still another seinboat reports having seen such a monster lately, also brown in color, rising out of the water slowly to a height of about ten feet and slowly submerging. This was at the mouth of Dawson Harbor on the west coast of Graham Island.

The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. packer Chief Tapeet, Capt. Harold Tattersall, called recently in Skidegate Inlet on the way to Shag Rock on a fish collecting trip. Skipper Tattersall was welcomed by many friends on the Islands who were glad to see him back.

Skipper Bill Eccles, now with the Royal Canadian Navy, recently called on many friends in Skidegate Inlet where he had not been for several years. He is an old timer on the Islands, having been for years aboard the Prince John and other vessels of the Canadian National Coast Steamships fleet.

Skidegate is one of the busiest points on the Queen Charlotte Islands these days. Many of the fishing boats make the place their headquarters and the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. and the B. C. Packers have fish collecting boats there.

Owing to continual southeasterly gales Skidegate Inlet trollers are not making very heavy catches and there is a shortage of bait. Around Dundas Island there is an improvement in the spring run. The active trolling fleet is gradually growing.

Some of a number of trout fishing parties which were out over the Victoria Day holiday weekend made good catches while others did not do quite so well. However, the outings in all cases were very pleasant.

The Indian Department power cruiser Naskeena is away on a trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands having on board Mrs. Laura Bolton, Operator Robbins and Miss McLean of the National Film Board as well as Indian Agent James Gillett. Massett and Skidegate will be visited for the purpose of taking moving pictures of native industries.

Having been delayed for several hours by fog outside the entrance of the harbor, C. P. R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. Thomas Cliff, arrived in port at 1:30 yesterday afternoon from Vancouver, sailing at 4:30 p.m. in continuation of her voyage to Skagway and other Alaska points whence she is due back here next Tuesday afternoon southbound. The Princess Louise had on board 92 passengers of whom five disembarked here. Two took passage from Prince Rupert for Alaska.

Within the next six weeks or so inc. the Fisheries Research Board station will have been vacated from the provincial government wharf, moving into the building at the foot of McBride Street, the unfinished portion of which on the first floor is about to be completed to accommodate the staff and services which have been on the government wharf that the first fisheries experimental station here was located. When the new building on McBride Street was built, the wharf premises were used for vitamin and other rheumatic research work largely and it was there that Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, assistant director, made his headquarters. The wharf building, it is understood, is being taken over for naval purposes.

The German port of Lubeck has been held at various times by the Danes, Saxons, Swedes and French.
