SHIPBUILDING OF CANADIAN NATIONAL TO BE DOUBLED, ANNOUNCED

This Will Be Done As Soon As Housing Facilities Are Completed—C. N. R. Head Reviews Company's War Activities

SEVEN-DAY WEEK NOW

OTTAWA, April 24: (CP) — The Prince Rupert shipyard will shortly go on a seven-day week plan adopted in agreements signed with other Pacific Coast yards, it was learned officially last night.

MONTREAL, April 24:—"In our shipyards we have built minesweepers and we are now engaged on a contract for the building of cargo vessels," said R. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, yesterday in giving a review of the railway system's war activities. "For that purpose we have a force of 1200 men at work now and, when housing facilities are completed, that number of workers will be doubled.

That the ability of the Canadian National Railways to deal effectively with the responsibilities of wartime transport was due to the all-out co-operation of its workers, was a statement made by Mr. Vaughan during the course of the twelfth annual meeting of the system committee of the union management co-operative movement, maintenance-of-way section. Mr. Vaughan added that during 1941 the system had handled the greatest amount of traffic in its history, exceeding the previous peak year of 1928.

The performance had been due largely to the manner in which the maintenance-of-way workers had performed their duties in keeping track and bridge structures at the standard necessary for the safe and expeditious operation of the heavy traffic.

Mr. Vaughan made an extensive review of the conditions which face the transportation industry owing to the reduction of materials required and the increased cost of those which are essential to safe operation. As to the system itself Mr. Vaughan reminded his listeners "we operate the largest railway on the North American continent and we have extended our activities. Not only have we added to the tracks but industrial sidings and other war requirements but we have gone into matters also necessary in the war effort. We are manufacturing guns. In our shipyards we have built minesweepers and we are now engaged on a contract for the building of cargo vessels. For that purpose we have a force of 1200 men at work and when housing facilities are completed that number of workers will be doubled."

Mr. Vaughan explained that the company is also operating for the government a number of ships, in addition to the services of the Canadian National Steamships, in which many men are daily risking their lives. He recounted that there have been losses at sea and said that it was the duty of all to support those men and the armed forces engaged in the conflict.

"We must see that the job at home is well done," said Mr. Vaughan "and I am confident that all the skill and efficiency of our men will be exercised in the support of the struggle to maintain what we choose to call our way of life."

Mr. Hopcraft replied on behalf of the Brotherhood of maintenance-of-way employees and warmly praised all that had been done to develop the co-operative movement. He stressed the advance in safety measures and how the men had been enlisted to prevent waste, lessen the fire hazard and reduce accidents.

He stressed the advance in safety measures and how the men had been enlisted to prevent waste, lessen the fire hazard and reduce accidents.

Talk of Invasion Is In Air

ROSTOCK POUNDED

Baltic Sea Port Was Target of R.A.F. Last Night—Left Mass of Flames

LONDON, April 24 (Canadian Press)—Canadians helped the Royal Air Force to sow a whirlwind of bombs and blazing flames in a smashing night attack on Rostock, Nazi supply base for the Finnish front. It was revealed today. The Baltic port was evidently badly damaged by the pounding. "All we could see of Rostock was a square of fire as we headed home," reported one Canadian flier. "The town was lit from end to end. Four British planes are missing."

The Royal Air Force was again over Western Europe last night. Berlin and Luxembourg radio stations went off the air about midnight. Berlin admitted today that a British plane had reached there. Meanwhile German raiders were over southeast and southwest coast towns of England as well as Wales during the night. Three of the enemy aircraft were brought down.

One of Machines Which Bombed Japan Last Saturday Makes Forged Landing On Russian Territory

MOSCOW, April 24—Tass News Agency announces that an American bombing plane, the crew of which says it was one of the machines which raided Japanese cities last Saturday, has made a forced landing on the Siberian coast and, in accordance with international law, Russia not being at war with Japan, the machine has been seized and the crew interned. Ambassador William Standley has asked Washington for instructions. (At Washington both the United States Army and Navy Departments declined to comment on the Moscow report).

An official announcement in Kuibyshev, the provisional capital of Russia, said that a United States bomber which raided Japan last Saturday and then lost its bearings had been forced down in Russian maritime province on the Sea of Japan and the five-man crew had been interned.

It appears to be an already completed test of the year-old Japanese-Russian neutrality pact although United States embassy officials said that instructions were being sought from Washington. Meanwhile Tokyo seeks to draw information from Washington by broadcasting that America has no way of communicating with American planes which took part in the attack.

CHINA AND BRITAIN IN AGREEMENT

Close Military Collaboration—Plenty of Soldiers—The Battle of Burma

CHUNGKING, April 24—Chungking reports that China and Great Britain have just reached an agreement for close military collaboration. There will be no limit to the number of Chinese troops available for use of the United Nations in Burma.

As for the battle situation in Burma, British and Chinese forces are still in command on the Irrawaddy River but elsewhere they are not so secure.

On the eastern end of the line the Chinese have abandoned an important town and are now fighting a rearguard delaying action.

Fresh Japanese troops are being poured into the battle.

Japanese troops are now reported within 100 miles of Mandalay, important Burmese city, it was disclosed today in a British communique which said new attacks were developing in Taunggyi area.

In spite of reports to the contrary, the important oil town of Yenanguang is still in Chinese hands although General Chiang Kai-Shak's forces in that area appear to be in danger of being outflanked.

Pounding Rabaul

Meanwhile United Nations headquarters in Australia report that Allied planes continued almost daily attacks on Rabaul, New Britain, by blasting shipping, barracks and warehouses at the Japanese base again today. It was also announced that the Japanese had made three bombing attacks yesterday on Port Moresby, New Guinea, but the damage was negligible.

Further enemy landings have been made on the Philippines but on Cebu and Panay Islands the American and Filipino defenders continue resistance although they are greatly outnumbered. Corregidor was bombed again but not so severely.

Mr. Coldwell Says "Yes"...

M. J. Coldwell M. P., leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party, very definitely advocates a "Yes" vote in the manpower plebiscite next Monday. As we feel it our duty to do what we can to swell up a large affirmative answer in the referendum, we gave considerable space to Mr. Coldwell's speech in support of the passage of the plebiscite. As there are many supporters of Mr. Coldwell's movement in Prince Rupert, we hope that his outspoken speech will influence even more voters here to turn out and vote "yes." As appears obvious now, the plebiscite vote can in no way be conjured up as involving any political issue. The people of Canada are rising above politics in this matter. Principal leaders have declared themselves as of the opinion that a "yes" vote is vital to the full prosecution of Canada's war effort.

Further in support of his advocacy of an affirmative answer in the plebiscite, Mr. Coldwell had the following to say:

"There is one other point I should like to emphasize. We all criticize the government for those inadequacies in our war contribution which we do not believe to be justifiable. This is right and proper. I, too, criticize the government and do so very emphatically because it already has all the necessary powers to organize an all-out war effort. But in my judgment those powers have so far been used mainly for the conscription of labor and of manpower for home defence. This is wrong and it is right and proper that we should criticize the government constructively for its failure.

"However, in my view, we the people of Canada are also to blame in part. For we haven't yet realized the power of public opinion when effectively expressed. It was the pressure of public opinion in Britain which removed Chamberlain from office in May, 1940. It is the same public opinion which has progressively rid the British government of deadwood and of most of the appeasers. It was public demand in Britain which brought such men as Winston Churchill, Ernest Bevin, and Sir Stafford Cripps to positions of leadership. Public opinion in Britain accomplished these things because the people there take their personal responsibility as citizens seriously.

"I believe we must achieve the same level of political thinking and action in this country. All of us must make our voices heard and our needs and aspirations articulate. Public opinion must begin to play an important part in Canada not only at elections and plebiscites but all the time. This is a responsibility which neither government nor Parliament can fulfill alone. It can only be met if all the people, every man and woman in Canada, take an active part in the organization of our life now and after the war has been won."

"Because of this I urge you to make every effort to get to the polls on Monday next and place your cross opposite the word 'yes'."

John Wanamaker's Way...

While still a very young man, John Wanamaker, a resident of Philadelphia, opened in that city a men's and boys' clothing store—quite a small store. The proceeds of the first day's sales were used to pay for an advertisement in a local newspaper, and this practice—of spending a portion of each day's "takings" on newspaper advertising—was never departed from. From the beginning the Wanamaker business grew.

It was not long before Wanamaker had to find new and larger premises and he found them in a rather dead section of the city. They had been a railway's freight sheds, away off from the best shopping district of Philadelphia and they occupied a whole block. They were made into an attractive store and newspaper advertising was used to pull buyers to the new store. Wanamaker was laughed at for his folly by other retailers but the business grew and before long the laughers began establishing businesses in the vicinity of the magnetic Wanamaker store. So a new shopping centre came into being.

Wanamaker may have been an extraordinary man, but was he? He just did obvious things in accordance with a purpose. He employed newspaper advertising more than most retailers of his day and city. He distributed information about his business among buyers, using the cheapest way of reaching them in large numbers, namely, the advertising columns of newspapers.

The Wanamaker way of making a retail business grow large and strong is a way which can be used today by every retailer in Prince Rupert. Shoppers want retailers' news, and they want it supplied to them in their newspaper, alongside news of what is going on locally and in a wider world.

It's interesting to know when reading the Daily News that the people of the whole district are doing the same.

GARDENERS ARE ALIVE

Prince Rupert Horticultural Society Carrying On—To Have Flower Displays

Notwithstanding wartime conditions and the demands on time for activities in connection therewith, the Prince Rupert Horticultural Society is to carry on this year although on a curtailed basis. There will be no annual flower show but it is planned to have some displays at suitable times during the flower season, possibly arranging these in some downtown show window. The Association will endeavor to foster in the future, as it has done in the past, a friendly community of interest in gardening. A vegetable show in the fall is also suggested as an appropriate undertaking for a war year. Still another suggestion is that the Association and its members should do something about guiding visitors and strangers through the gardens of the city.

Such were among the matters discussed at the annual meeting last night in the city council chamber of the Prince Rupert Horticultural Society. Officers were elected for the year as follows:

Honorary Presidents, R. L. McIntosh and H. F. Pullen.
President, H. T. Lock.
Secretary-Treasurer, C. G. Ham.
Executive—Mrs. R. M. Winslow, Mrs. C. J. Norrington, Mrs. Thomas Priest, Mrs. James Gillett, Mrs. J. K. Allen, Mrs. William McLean, P. C. Miller and Theo. Collart.

Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. Gillett and Mrs. Priest were delegated as a committee to proceed with arrangements for a spring flower display at a suitable date in connection with the display. It was decided to have a competition among students of the High School art class in the designing of a display card for the window.

The financial statement of the Society for the last year showed a surplus of receipts over expenditures amounting to $7.69, leaving the Society in the healthy financial position of having a cash balance in the bank of $74.02.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Lock and Mr. Ham in appreciation of their services last year as president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

Reference was made to the illness of H. F. Pullen, long a leader and faithful worker of the Society and a message will be sent him expressing best wishes for an early recovery from his illness.

The Society decided to hold regular monthly meetings henceforth on third Thursdays.

KEEP ON WINNING

Brooklyn and New York Chalk Up Victories Again in Big League Baseball

NEW YORK, April 24 (Canadian Press)—Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees continued their winning ways in the National and American baseball leagues respectively yesterday. The Dodgers downed the Boston Bees 9 to 5 and the Yanks took the Philadelphia Athletics six to four.

Cleveland Indians assumed the runner-up position in the American League by winning over St. Louis Browns while the Boston Red Sox were losing to Washington Senators.

SPORT CHAT

On the theory that members of the armed forces and civilians need sports in wartime both as participants and spectators, continuance of cricket for the duration was urged at the annual meeting of the London Club Cricket Conference. "I am confident that those of us who endeavor to carry on sport are doing a great deal for this country," said Stanley Christopherson, and in these days recreation is rest. If we can find recreation we are doing something to win the war. We who encourage sport must ignore those people who do not understand what we are doing. So carry on with your cricket," Christopherson told the representatives of nearly 300 clubs that during the last two years conference members had collected approximately $6,650 for the British Red Cross Society.

Sir Pelham Warner, leading authority on cricket in Britain and assistant secretary of the M. C. C., said that sports diversion is especially necessary during the nerve-racking days of war and emphasized that sport had been encouraged by Britain's leaders. As a further inducement towards such diversion, all officers and men in uniform will be admitted free to Lords during the coming cricket season. Sir Pelham told the conference that in July of 1940, at the request of Ernest Bevin, Labor Minister of National Services, he had sent a cricket team from London to participate in a game in the industrial north of England.

"After Dunkerque, men and women had been working extremely hard and Mr. Bevin was anxious that some recreation be provided for them," Sir Pelham said. "They greatly enjoyed the game. War comes first, second and all the time but cricket can take off some of the grimness. As Herbert Morrison (Minister of Home Security) reminded us recently, total war need not mean total misery." Christopherson also told a story of Dunkerque days. He said a haggard-looking army officer walked to his box at Lords and remarked: "To see this green grass and the bat and ball is heaven."

Gardening

WAR GARDENS

This spring, as a war economy, hundreds of thousands of Canadians are planning their first vegetable garden. Much grief, sore backs and time will be saved with a little preliminary planning. In the war gardens of 25 years ago, there were miles of lettuce, radish and spinach grown, of which marauding sparrows got the only benefit.

The beginner should bear in mind that about six to ten feet of row will supply the average family with all the radishes and lettuce needed for a good many meals and that the rest of the space should be utilized for something else. The beginner should also realize that the main purpose of an amateur garden is to supply vegetables fresher than can ever be purchased. To get the maximum freshness, vegetables must be:

- First—Grown quickly.
- Second—Picked when just right, not too green, not too mature. Third—They should not be picked until just before cooking or serving.

Tender Vegetables

Now to grow vegetables quickly means frequent cultivation, watering where necessary and, if possible, an application of good fertilizer. All of this, plus proper thinning of closely seeded stuff like carrots, seed onions, etc., should push growth along which means vegetables crisp and tender. It is only when beets, carrots, radish, etc. get a check in growth or become over-mature that they turn woody.

In order that the supply of vegetables be just right at picking, that is not too immature and not too old, the wise gardener spreads his sowings along all the time. This is especially necessary with tender things like baby carrots, peas, beans, young beets and garden corn.

Labor Savers

The greatest single chore in any garden is the keeping down of surplus growth, whether that growth be weeds or unwanted other plants. The greatest single factor in cutting down this chore is first to have flowers and vegetables properly spaced, and to have rows or intervals between flowers and shrub wide enough to permit of quick and easy cultivation.

For keeping down weeds and unwanted grass or other plants, gardeners are advised to keep their hoes, spades and cultivators sharp. A sharp hoe will cover the ground twice as fast and with less backache than a dull one. Also, the experienced advise some little variety in garden implements, two or three sizes of cultivator, so that one can get in close to small plants, will cover the ground quickly between rows.

Flowers

There are flowers to fit any situation. For those people who have neither the time nor inclination there are such things as alysum, dwarf marigolds, portulaca and California poppies that thrive almost on neglect. Once started they will look after themselves.

Seen through a big telescope the sun presents a mottled appearance on a darkish background.

BARE LEGS IN LONDON

Stockings Off and Sun-Ray Treatment on For Belles With Wartime Restrictions

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, April 24. (C)—Milady without silk stockings or limb make-up will show golden legs as the vogue this summer.

Restrictions on cosmetics and recent slashing of coupons have combined to rush femininity to beauty salons to have winter-white legs tanned to a golden brown through sun-ray treatment. London west end shops and spas have plenty of customers.

The vogue really came about through necessity since few women, it is admitted, feel at ease unless their limbs are adorned with some form of camouflage.

Some Argument

The Board of Trade and the cosmetic trade have been at odds over the whole business since an unprecedented rush for "stocking" creams followed the clothes rational cut. Meanwhile, beauty shops with tanning facilities have captured the leg trade.

Since stockings now will be rarer than ever, the cosmetic industry claims women must have make-up for those nude limbs—a bottle of such cream is as service as a six-course dinner.

The cosmetic group believes that easing of regulations to assure a sufficient supply of "leg do" would help bolster feminine morale, as does sale of the three main beauty aids—powder, lipstick and face cream.

Wartime Glamor

The Trade Board has rejected the urgent pleas on the ground it is allowing the maximum possible make-up for wartime glamor. If the cosmetic industry considers painting of legs a necessity, it should cut down on the facial supplies and use some of the ingredients towards leg paint.

The cosmetic trade claims this course is impossible unless restrictions are raised. There just isn't enough supply to meet the demand, it says.

Now, with the first round lost, the cosmetic industry has passed the torch to the women. They should take up the hue and cry, it believes, while the blushes for their naked limbs match the color of their lip rouge.

MEDAL FOR STOKER

LIVERPOOL, April 24. (C)—James O'Kane, a ship's fireman who swam ashore through heavy seas when a trawler grounded on rocks and then ran bare-footed over rock-studded ground to get help, has been awarded the Bronze Medal for Gallantry in Saving Life at Sea.

CANADIAN NAVY SAVES 38 LIVES

Battered by mounting seas, the grounded after section of an Allied merchant freighter lies grounding on the reefs off Sable Island, near Canada's coast. In a daring exploit of seamanship and at the cost of one navy man's life, 38 seamen were rescued from the wreck. Before these photographs were taken by a patrol plane of the R.C.A.F. the forward part of the ship had broken away carrying 10 men to their death in the icy waters. The upper photo was taken before the rescue. Below the abandoned ship is shown barely visible above the surging waters.

The Plebiscite—
GUARDING
SECRECY
IN VOTING

Returning Officers, Aides, Also Voters Are Asked To Keep Silent

OTTAWA, April 24. — The democratic right of the secret ballot will be fully observed in the manpower plebiscite vote April 27, with adequate safeguards provided in the regulations.

The instructions of Jules Castonguay, chief plebiscite officer, to the various plebiscite officials have been based on regulations from the Dominion Elections Act. The basic instruction is that the plebiscite officer, clerk, voter acting as agent or any other person in attendance at a polling station or at the counting of the votes, "must maintain and aid in the maintaining" of the secrecy of the voting.

No official or agent may interfere with or attempt to interfere with a voter when he is marking his ballot paper or "otherwise attempt to obtain information as to the manner in which any voter is about to vote or has voted." The various officials are forbidden, at the counting of the ballots, to attempt to ascertain the numbers on the counterfoils of any ballot paper.

They must never communicate any information as to the manner in which any ballot paper has been marked in their presence in the polling station. There must be no attempt to induce a voter to show his ballot paper after he has marked it, so as to make known to any person the manner in which he has cast his vote. Any information obtained at the polling station as to the way in which any person is about to vote or has voted must not be communicated to anyone.

Silence Requested
 Observance of secrecy regulations is also required of the voter himself. Unless he is unable to read, is blind or has other physical incapacity, the voter is forbidden to openly declare, on entering the polling station and before receiving a ballot paper, how he intends to vote. He must not show his ballot paper, when marked, so as to allow the manner in which he has voted to be known. Even after he has marked his ballot, the voter is not permitted to openly declare how he has voted before leaving the polling station.

When a deputy returning officer receives an application from any voter who is unable to read or is incapacitated by any physical cause other than blindness, he will require him to take an oath of his incapacity to vote without assistance. After this oath has been taken, the deputy will assist the voter by marking his paper in the manner directed by the voter in the presence of the poll clerk and in the presence of sworn voters acting as agents in the polling station.

No other person may be present and when the ballot has been

HERE AGAIN

"Secret Treasure" at Capitol Theatre With Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in Leading Roles

Laid in the jungle world peopled by wild animals and the perilous traps and devices of nature with Johnny Weissmuller in the title role presenting his feats of underwater swimming, diving off cliffs and swinging through the trees while Maureen O'Sullivan again plays the part of his wife, "Tarzan's Secret Treasure" comes as the feature picture to the screen of the Capitol Theatre this weekend.

The tale revolves around Tarzan's association with members of a scientific expedition who come upon his jungle paradise and, finding gold, seek to permeate the ugliness of civilization upon his untouched haven. After one of them attempts to murder Tarzan, he abducts his wife and son, then falling into the hands of savage tribesmen. However, Cheeta, the faithful ape, finds Tarzan and the jungle monarch, together with his army of elephants, saves the day.

Brilliant photography enlivens such sequences as an underwater swimming exhibition, a battle with a crocodile, the escape from a rhinoceros and savage native rites. Johnny Sheffield plays the part of Tarzan's son and others in the cast include Reginald Owen, Barry Fitzgerald, Tom Conway, Phillip Dorn and a new juvenile in little Cordell Hickman.

marked by the deputy it is placed in the ballot box.

The deputy may deal with blind voters in the same fashion, or he may permit a friend of the voter to accompany him into the voting compartment and mark the voter's ballot paper for him. In such case the poll clerk is required to enter the name of the voter's friend in the poll book. No person will be permitted to act as "the friend" of more than one blind voter.

When Interpreter Needed
 Wherever the deputy returning officer does not understand the language spoken by any voter he shall appoint and swear an interpreter, who shall be the means and the voter with reference to all matters required to enable such voter to vote, and in case no interpreter is found such voter shall not be allowed to vote.

No loitering in the polling station is permitted.
 "Every voter shall vote without undue delay and shall quit the polling station as soon as his ballot paper has been put into the box," the regulations provide.

If at the hour of closing the poll there are voters in the polling station or in line at the door, who are qualified to vote but have not been able to do so since their arrival at the polling station, the poll must be kept open a sufficient time to enable them to vote.

"But no one not actually present at the poll at the hour of closing shall be allowed to vote, even if the poll is still open when he arrives," says the regulations.
