Churchill Speech . . .

Possibly the most significant angle of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's radio speech on Tuesday erset player Robertson-Glasgow abolishment of the third day's where he was on active service eter, who earned the title of is "jungle juice." One recipe is was his comment in regard to Russia. The British added that "all professional play in post-war cricket. He retri-partite collaboration being maintained is, of business for which they may be the ferred to the two-day game as a shorter period than any Engcourse, obvious. It would be a very serious thing for us if anything should happen to interfere with it.

The Prime Minister was confident but cautious and he sounded a note of warning that might well be heeded by us all. This was against any illusions as to an early victory. We had gone into this war to protect ourselves as well as others and Mr. Churchill suggested that it might take some time yet before there could be assurance of that protection. .

Collaboration With Russia . . .

On the subject of collaboration with Russia, Max Eastman has written interestingly as follows:

"The Soviet Union is a going concern with which it will be our task to collaborate. If any iron-jointed reactionaries are still blind to this fact, their brains are buried in the past. Collaboration with a powerful Russia will be a main preoccupation of living Americans for a long time to come.

"If this collaboration is to be successful, however, it will have to be based on facts and not on propaganda. Elementary prudence demands that our people understand Russia's position in the global conflict, know the attitude of her ruler toward the Anglo-Saxon nations, and assess without any intervening pipe dreams the true character of her regime. It is absolutely vital to our own national self-interest that we discard wishful thinking and base our policy on unclouded fact.

"Let us remember that the stubborn resistance of the Russians no more justifies communism than the stupendous assault of the Germans justifies Nazism.

"That simple and obvious fact must be held steadfastly in mind if our policy toward Russia is to have force. And if our policy does not have force, you may be sure it will not command the respect of Stalin. The Russian leader is not a mollycoddle who can be soft-soaped into doing what cold calculation does not recommend. The only sound way to do business with Stalin is to let him know we thoroughly understand his setup as well as our own. The speech that weighs with Stalin must be firm, brief in courtesy. bluntly concerned with the real issues at stake. If we want the Russians to respect us, we must let them know that we are not dupes."

Class distinction in cricket took a verbal beating from famed player in the 1943 Wisden, handbook of the game just off the press. Recommending "total deletion" of all distinction between professionals and amateurs, R. C. Robertson-Glasgow wrote he believed "the hour is ripe, indeed over-ripe, for the sweeping away of anachronisms and the exploding of humbug. "To me such questions as the position of a cricketer initials and the precise gate from which he is to enter the $4.00 field have long seemed vastl absurd," he said. "Once on the field a bowler is as good as a batsman, and a wicket-keeper probably better than either. (Professionals and amateurs must enter the field by different gates.).

Robertson-Glasgow found support in at least one London newspaper when the editor of the weekly Reynolds News commented that the article carried a frankness "that must painful to the Old School Ties. Coming from the source," the editor added, "I regard the view of utmost value to the armory of those who have struggled for years to bring democracy sport, particularly cricket. ## Additional Classes of Men Are Now Covered by Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders

An Announcement of Importance to Employers and Male Employees, in the Lines of Employment Listed Below

Five previous Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders have been issued under authority of National Selective Service Civilian Regulations. These Orders covered men in classes designated under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, as well as young men 16 to 18 years of age, who were employed in specified employments at the time of the issue of the Orders.

A recent Order, the 6th Compulsory Employment their forty-first birthday.

Transfer Order, has been issued under National Selective Service Civilian Regulations (as amended). The effect of the 6th Order is to extend the coverage of the five earlier Transfer Orders to certain men not previously affected, if now employed in any of the employments specified. The men now added are those not already under the Orders, who have passed their sixteenth birthday but have not reached

GENERAL INFORMATION

1. OBJECTIVE: The Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders authorize National Selective Service to investigate the present employment of the men covered, with a view to effecting transfers to employment vacancies at more essential work.

2. EMPLOYEES' OBLIGATIONS: A male employee covered by the 6th Order must report to the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office not later than September 8th, 1943. He must report personally if he is close enough to visit an Office, or by letter if too far removed from an Office to visit it personally.

3. EMPLOYERS' OBLIGATIONS: An employer of an employee covered by this Order may not employ or continue to employ such male employee after September 8th, 1943, unless under special permit of National Selective Service.

Any male employee, at least 16 years old and not yet 41 years old, employed in any line included in the following list of employments, who did not report to National Selective Service under any one of the first 5 Transfer Orders, must do so not later than September 8th. (The list of employments here given, as contained in the 6th Order, is a consolidation of all employments covered in the first five Orders.)

The Chinese War Relief Fund in Moose Jaw was successful in reaching its objective of $7,500.

A mysterious explosion occurred in a manhole at the corner of Sixth Avenue and Manitoba Street here, immediately opposite the British American Oil Co. refinery. Prompt action by the city fire department prevented serious damage.

ANADA'S rubber crisis is still with us. But because of careful conservation and controls there are tires for those cars, trucks, and farm equipment essential to the war effort.

If you fall in this category (the chart at the left will guide you) and your tires cannot be repaired or retreaded, you are considered eligible to buy tires.

Your first move then is to go to your nearest Firestone Dealer. He has the definite official information and necessary forms. He will furnish the required Inspection Report and do everything possible to help you obtain a Tire Ration Permit necessary to obtain new or used tires or tubes and retreading service.

And remember - even if you cannot buy new tiresyour Firestone Dealer has been trained and equipped to help you get the very last mile out of your present tires - no matter what make they may be. Put the care of your tires in the hands of your Firestone Dealer now -see him today.
