RUSSIA IS DESCRIBED

Visiting Speaker Thinks Canada Might Learn Something From Soviet

"The people of the Soviet Union are essentially the same as Canadians," stated Raymond Arthur Davies, noted Canadian author, at a meeting sponsored by the Civic Labor Federation in the Booth School Auditorium last night. "This is proven nowhere better than in this war in which the two peoples are fighting for the same thing—for the right to live as human beings and the privilege of making something out of the future."
"We were not winning this war until it became a war of coalition. If now we are waging a winning war of coalition, is it not reasonable to suppose we shall win a peace of coalition."
"I am not one of those who think everything in Russia is good and everything in Canada is bad. We in Canada make a good job of building ships. We have our TransCanada Airlines, our Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, a great weapon against ignorance, our railways, and other features in which the work of the Canadian is something to be proud of. Yet what the Soviet Union has done is magnificent and we have much to learn from them as from all lands."
In answer to the question "What Lies Beyond the Volga?" the subject of his address, Mr. Davies told how the people of the Soviet Union had developed northern Siberia, a country similar to Canada north of Prince Rupert, not because it was profitable, but for the future good of the people. The backward races similar to Canadian Eskimos, had been developed into thriving, civilized communities, whereas Canada had not yet found a way of bringing the Eskimos and Indians back from their present degraded position. A nation was known not only for what it did for the majority but also for what it did for the suffering minorities.
"I like to think," said Mr. Davies, "that when I gave my donation to the Canadian Aid to Russia fund, I gave it for the Igarka apple tree, which the people of the Soviet north developed, and which we can use in the opening up of our own north, since it thrives in the Arctic. This was a great gift to us as killing Nazis."

EDMONTON BAD TIME

Difficulty and Hardship Owing to Cold Weather and Water Troubles

Arrivals in the city from Edmonton tell of considerable difficulty and hardship which arose there recently on account of cold weather and water distribution troubles.
Numerous families of the Alberta capital sought refuge with friends as homes on the south side were flooded and unheated after a water main broke.
Water froze in the basements of homes and cars were marooned by water several feet deep in places as a result of the breaking of the water main.
Street car service was disrupted for a time and there was complete water failure throughout the city for several hours.

ple have lived a tough life of the frontier to pull themselves up by their own bootstraps. They were angry at the Nazis for having interfered.
One of the fields in which Canadians could learn from Russians was that of culture. Canada had produced no great art as a result of the war. Canadians must pull themselves up. Here in Rupert were problems to be solved, problems of defeating the muskies, of industry, of shipping, of expansion, problems which must be tackled unitedly and with determination. The achievements of this country, particularly in industry, had shown that it too could do great things. Mr. Davies believed "we will unite to win the war and the peace."
An enjoyable feature of the meeting was a Russian choir, composed of Russian-Canadian war workers from all parts of Canada, under the direction of Mr. Gavryluk, which rendered the "Internationale," Soviet national anthem; a Red Army song, "War Today"; "Song of the Russian Guerillas"; "Ukrainian Folk Song"; and "Russian Sailor's Song." The singers were warmly applauded for their stirring renditions.
Bruce Mickleburgh was chairman of the meeting.

Great Industries

Russia would have been knocked out of the war in November, 1941, had it not been for the gigantic steel, coal, manganese and other plants that have been built beyond the Volga. The gigantic steel mill at Magnitogorsk was a part of the defence of Canada, so closely interrelated have all parts of the world become. The Soviet peo-

Industrial Casualties

Will Have To Be Changes in United States to Bring About Objective of War Production

WASHINGTON D. C. Feb. 12 (AP)—Donald Nelson, director of the office of production management, declares there must be casualties in the non-essential industries if the eight billion dollars of production for the national defence program is to be achieved this year. Two million men will be needed and many of these must come from less essential industries.
In announcing this week that United States will adopt the forty-eight hour week, James Byrnes, economic stabilization director, called upon the nation for herculean efforts on the home front to stave off inflation and increase wartime production. Disclosing that 1943 war plans of the United Nations included invasion of continental Europe, Byrnes said this would be "one of the greatest military operations ever planned in history."
The new hours edict means that United States war plant employees will work at least forty-eight hours per week and will be paid time and a half for each hour over forty.

DOCTORS AND NURSES ARE DISPATCHED FROM HERE TO KWINTSA SLIDE ACCIDENT

A slide came down over the Tomlinson Construction Co.'s Skeena River highway building camp west of Kwititsa, about forty miles out of Prince Rupert, early this morning and latest reports were that one man was missing and twelve injured, two seriously. Full details will, apparently, not be available until the return, possibly about 3:30 this afternoon, of a special train which took out a party of local doctors and nurses organized by Dr. C. H. Hankinson of this city. Sergeant O. L. Hall, Corp. C. F. Oland and Constable Muskett of the provincial police also went out with the special train.

Although rumors were current that the accident was much more serious, railway officials this afternoon doubted if more than one was killed.

It was learned that the entire highway camp had been buried.

The party which left for the scene of the accident also included Dr. L. W. Kergin, Dr. John Macdonald, Miss Ada Smith, Miss Kathleen Shumski, Miss Elsie Fry, Mrs. Jefferson and Miss Beth McCubbin, nurses, and Angus Macdonald and Ald. Thomas Elliott, first aid men. Assistance was also recruited from the military hospital.

Train traffic is tied up by the slide, the train which was to have left at 10:30 o'clock this morning, being held until this evening at 6 o'clock.

CANADA AND RUSSIA CAN WORK TOGETHER AFTER WAR

Noted Author and Newspaperman From Toronto Tells of Soviet Republic at Rotary Club Luncheon

Canada and Russia can work together after the war as well as during the conflict providing they do not try to change each other's ways or interfere with each other. This is the opinion of Raymond Arthur Davies, noted author and newspaperman from Toronto who is paying a visit to the city. Mr. Davies, who writes for the Star Weekly, Maclean's Magazine and other publications, made a trip to the Asiatic part of Russia in 1936. He drew from this trip interesting impressions and conclusions for a talk he delivered before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at luncheon yesterday. He predicted that the day would come when Prince Rupert and the people of this place, so strategically situated in the North Pacific area, would profit very materially from trade and commerce with Russia.
When the speaker said that Russia and Canada could work together as long as they did not interfere with each other, he cautioned, however, against any one nation minding its own business exclusively and leaving the Hitler and their ilk to mind the world's business. The results of such a policy were only too evident in the world today.
Canada and Russia had a lot in common, Mr. Davies asserted. There were similarities as far as the people and the terrain were concerned. Northern Canada and Siberia were very similar. With the assistance of air fields and radio stations, Russia was finding it possible to use her northern sea route along the Arctic Coast. Likewise possibilities along this line were being demonstrated on the north coast of Canada. The speaker forecast the establishment of a link between Canada and Russia through the development of northern routes. It was not so far from Prince Rupert by way of the sea to Siberia. From Edmonton air lines would, no doubt, be extended some day to Russia. Highways were being built both in northern Canada and in Siberia. These one day would enable motorists to drive from Buenos Aires in Argentina to India and thence eastwards. These lines of sea, air and

TO MAKE SURVEYS

Provincial Government Sending Parties Over Routes in North As Soon as Weather Permits

VICTORIA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Premier John Hart announces that the British Columbia government will send survey parties north as soon as the weather permits to make their own survey of highway routes to tap northern resources so, if the building of such projects as the road which would connect the Alaska Highway with the British Columbia road system at Prince George is not carried out as a defence measure, the province will be in a position to embark after the war on a public roads project aimed at preventing business from great northern development going East.
Premier Hart says that the government realizes the importance of pushing the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from the present terminus at Quesnel to Prince George to link with any Alaska route.
The provincial Premier discloses new proposals from Hon. T. A. Crear, federal minister of resources, regarding development of the Peace River oil country are now being studied and "may be acceptable to the government."

QUEBEC MEN HEARD FROM

Founder of Bloc Populaire Canadian Says Men Are Actually Being Conscripted for Service Overseas

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Maxime Raymond, founder and leader of the new Quebec party, "Bloc Populaire Canadien," said in the House of Commons that the "public has been fooled" by the contention that men were not being conscripted for service overseas. The former Liberal said that the government has effected a "disguised and hypocritical form of conscription. He based his contention on orders-in-council sending men called up for compulsory service to Newfoundland and other adjacent areas.
Raymond spoke in the House on the day after Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, former minister of public works and transport, who resigned from the cabinet last spring in protest against the government's conscription policy, had said that Canada should not be destroyed for vain glory or vain pride efforts of other countries more interested in the war than Canada is. The Liberal member for Richelieu-Vercheres had proposed that the National Resources Mobilization Act should be suspended until a survey had been made of the whole situation to ascertain the most pressing needs of Canada and the Allies.

Canada at War . . .

Considering the fact that the population of Canada is under 12 millions, the extent of this country's contribution to the materials of war is reaching amazing figures. Because few people outside of Canada and few Canadians themselves realize the proportions of this industrial development, the following material has been compiled. For example, it will probably come as a surprise that this country is manufacturing $1,000 millions of war material and equipment for the United States; the first corvette built in Canada for the U.S.A., the U.S.S. Danville, was launched in Montreal in November.

The impact of this tremendous industrial development on Canadian economy is obvious. The purchasing power of the people and the market for consumer goods and services has risen to new high levels.

During the last three years Canada has built up a new production capacity to a value of more than $1,000,000,000, and peacetime uses can be found for 90 percent of this capacity.

Letters to Editor . . .

The housewife and the social leader, the capitalist and the laborer, the clergyman and the publican meet on common ground when, pen in hand they sit down to write a letter to the editor.

Fifty million letters were addressed to them in one year—offering advice and opinions on countless subjects from the disposal of a used Christmas tree to the solution of the most involved political problem.

The newspaper is at once the defender of freedom and the means whereby every Canadian may exercise his constitutional right to liberty of thought and speech.

Within the limits of libel he may approve, criticize and condemn as he pleases. Though thousands of these letters are published, such is the people's confidence in the daily newspaper's stewardship of freedom that they even buy display advertising to express their opinions more forcibly.

Newspaper Boys . . .

Ninety percent of 6,000 adults interviewed in a recent Gallup poll indicated they would permit their sons to deliver newspapers. Persons interviewed said such experience made boys more self-reliant, more dependable, gave them actual business experience, taught them the value of money, showed them how to approach people, kept them out of mischief, broadened their outlook on life and provided them with money of their own.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT
The Hostess

I haven't seen many of the Red Cross girls at the dances recently. I think I told you once before that, whenever I mention Junior Hostesses, the Red Cross Corps girls are included. The Y.W.C.A. chaperones for the evening at another Army dance in Empress Hall will be Mrs. W. W. C. O'Neill and Mrs. Allan Davies.

And a word about chaperones. I don't always get chaperones now for the weekly Thursday dance as both Hee and Mrs. MacKenzie are in attendance at each dance representing the "Y" and I feel that, under their supervision, everything is quite all right.

The Service Wives held their weekly meeting in the ladies lounge at the "Y" on Thursday afternoon. A number of clothing bags were made for the Military Hospital.

There was no raffle this week. A letter of appreciation from Geordie French, the Royal Navy sailor in Tranquille Sanitarium, was read and plans for his next parcel were made. The members are most anxious for the support of more service wives. A great many of you turned out for the children's Christmas party and we had great hopes of seeing you at further meetings. Surely you haven't all left town. The kiddies enjoy coming as well and are busy in the children's corner. So do come out and support your own club.

It is such a relief for us at the hut on Third Avenue to have the shows and dances held at the Empress Hall. No more chairs to put up and take down after each show and no more large crowds on dance nights. It has made the place so much easier to keep clean and tidy.

Does anyone know where I can get a British flag measuring 4 feet by 6 feet. It is not our regulation size but I happen to need one just that size to match an American one I already have.

HUGE DESERT AREA

The Sahara desert is large enough to blanket the United States.

WEST COAST WHALING

In 1942 on the Canadian west coast whaling grounds 164 whales were caught.

AUSSIE ARMED FORCES

Of the 7,000,000 population of Australia, about 560,000 are in the armed forces.

Football was one of the most popular games in Poland before the war so it's not surprising it's played by Polish members of the armed forces in Britain whenever they get a chance. At one bomber station, embracing both British and Polish personnel, three of the nine soccer teams are Polish and one heads the loop. An "International" match between Polish and British teams at the station will be held at the end of the season.

F. H. Bowden is in his 72nd year but if a stray Nazi gets within gunshot the oldster is not likely to miss. Shooting in the British Short Range championship on his birthday he scored 298 of a possible 300 over a 25-yard range at a 5-16 bullseye.

Before the revolution of 1917, 856 newspapers were published in Russia. In 1939 the number had increased to 8,500.

SPORT CHAT

Hockey among the Canadian Forces overseas is narrowing down towards the finals and four teams the Royal 22nd Regiment, the 1st Anti-Tank Regiment, the 48th Highlanders and the R.C.A.M.C.—emerged as semi-finalists after stiff competition among teams of a division. Royal 22nd blasted the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment 4-1, Highlanders eliminated the W.N.S.R., 4-2, the anti-tank unit defeated an artillery team 5-2 and R.C.A.M.C. ousted an anti-aircraft club 5-2. Pte. R. Corash of Quebec City, in goal for the Royal 22nd, was a big factor in his team's victory, while Lieut. T. Cassells of Toronto, at centre, and Pte. W. McDonald of Gravenhurst, Ont., shone for the 48th. Gnr. G. Vogt of Saskatoon, Sask., headed the anti-tankers. Medical corps stalwarts were G. Nisbet of Fort William, Ont., at centre, and W. J. Rooker of Grimsby, Ont., on defence.

In brigade playdowns of another Canadian division, Camerons of Canada, R.C.A.S.C. and the Essex Scottish Regiment, remained in the running after disposing of a brigade headquarters team, an R.C.E. unit, and the R.H.L.I., respectively. L.-Cpt. Nick Carter of Winnipeg starred for the Camerons while Pte. A. Napier of Moose Jaw, Sask., for R.C.A.S.C., and Pte. R. A. Jardine of Regina and Sgt. W. Hussey of Windsor, Ont., were best for their teams.

Amateur and pro boxers contributed to British ring history when, for the first time in London, American ring rules were used in a card put on for servicemen, almost all of them American soldiers or airmen. The spectators enjoyed the hearty efforts of their American colleagues and the more scientific exhibition put on by Freddie Mills, British and Empire light-heavyweight champion, who went a couple of rounds with Don McCorkindale, South African veteran. Maj. Richards Vintner, peacetime sports writer in the United States, refereed, and Lieut. H. G. Stribling, a brother of Young Stribling, was a judge.

Donations were also made to the Prince Rupert General Hospital and King Edward School, the latter for the purchase of literature.

Officers elected for 1943 were as follows:
Honorary Regent, Mrs. G. E. Moore.
Regent, Mrs. J. A. Frew.
First Vice-Regent, Mrs. R. J. Ker-
on.
Second Vice-Regent, Mrs. J. H. Macey.

TRANS-OCEAN PHONES
 Telephone communication between New York and London was first established in 1927.

CAN WORK TOGETHER

land communication demonstrated that Canada and Russia after all were quite close neighbors. The peoples of the two countries must inevitably be brought even closer together.

Mr. Davies, describing Asiatic Russia, told something of the development of agriculture in Russia above the Arctic Circle. At a place on the Yenesei River about the same altitude as Aklavik in the Northwest Territories of Canada potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce and such like were grown but something of outstanding interest to the speaker had been the development of the horizontal apple vine, the fruit of which, while not as luscious as the vertical apple of Canada, was nevertheless quite acceptable.

But it was wrong, continued Mr. Davies, to think that Russia had all that was good and Canada all that was bad. Canada could be proud of its shipbuilding yards and their accomplishments, its commercial air lines, its great munitions plants. The speaker told of interviewing the Soviet minister to Canada at Ottawa recently. The minister admitted that he had come to see what Russia could learn from Canada.

Excellent Business People
 The Russians, Mr. Davies had found, were excellent business people. They had an amazing railway organization. They tried to do business by cost accounting, even in the grim business of war. A great steel plant deep in Russia, near Afghanistan, thousands of miles from frontiers of the enemy was described.

The Russians might seem naive and simple. There was the instance of a huge Russian receiving a manicure in Moscow. Later it was found that, in the interests of cleanliness, all workers in Russian factories had to have their hands manicured and their hair trimmed. The tradition of ignorance, dirt and poverty was fast disappearing.

The speaker went on to describe marvellous industrial developments of the Soviet Union—a textile factory producing enough cloth for 11,000,000 uniforms.

Mr. Davies' interpretation of the Russian postwar view was favor of the world continuing on a co-operative basis, the organization of the United Nations in some sort of League of Nations, the prevention of cut-throat competition, international antagonisms and war madness.

Already, the speaker asserted, this war was showing that coalitions worked. Stalin had been helped to win the Battle of Stalingrad by the campaign in North Africa.

It was unthinkable to expect that the world would return to the old spirit of national sovereignties.

"Here in the North Pacific we must become friends," concluded Mr. Davies "by the exchange of commerce. I think Canada can do good business in the future with Alaska and Russia. I hope that some day I may be able to come back here to see Prince Rupert and her business men profiting from trade with the Soviet. Russia looks like a good customer to me. She pays her bills and there is good reason to anticipate mutual respect and collaboration. The Canadian Aid to Russia campaign and its success was an indication of goodwill. Business inevitably follows goodwill."

President G. C. Mitchell was in the chair at the luncheon and guests included William A. Deweir of the American Red Cross; Capt. A. Acree, United States Army chaplain; Dr. J. T. Jones of Indiana and William Trotter of Prince Rupert; Rev. W. P. Bunt of Vancouver; Dr. Fiddes of Port Simpson and Rev. J. A. Donnell of Prince Rupert.

LET THE FLAME
 OF FAITH
 BURN BRIGHTLY

In history 'Finis' can never be set at the end of the page nor at the close of a year. The end of one chapter tells the beginning of another, the close of the old year the opening of a new. Standing within the threshold of 1943, the challenge is of the ages, a call for courage amid toil and trial and sacrifice. We look back upon a year of cloud and pain, hallowed by the death of heroes. Their valor is ransom for our future, and has opened for us the vista of triumph now stretching ahead. Let us not lose what they have bought. As we press on to victory, let the flame of our faith burn brightly. With gratitude for the past, with courage for the present, with faith for the future, let us reconsecrate ourselves to our task . . . to the end that torment may be lifted from men's hearts and peace come for all nations and peoples.

PRECIOUS GAS REACHES NEW GUINEA GOAL

BIG MAN IN GRAIN

Late John I. McFarland Had Long
 View of Business

Under the policy of the late
 John I. McFarland the Alberta Pacific Elevator Co. prospered. Its elevators increased, storage elevators were added throughout the west and when Mr. McFarland sold his interests in 1926 the company had 301 country elevators scattered throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He was one of the first grain men of the west to seek volume of trade with narrow profits to establish his business.

Mr. McFarland, recognized as one of the leading grain men of the Dominion, watched closely the advance of the farmers' co-operative movements and was sympathetic towards the objectives of the farmers.

With the sale of his interest in the grain company, Mr. McFarland turned with increased attention to the Alberta oil and gas industry with which he had been closely associated since discovery of the Turner Valley field in 1914 and its intensified development following the close of the Great War.
 In 1927 he bought Imperial Motors, Ltd., in Calgary and entered the automobile field.

Almost overnight, McFarland
 was called from virtual retirement to be a leading public figure in the life of the Dominion.
 It was the chaos in international wheat marketing that brought him back to the grain trade.

Searching for a guiding hand,
 the federal government, the banks and the wheat pool heads remembered Mr. McFarland and on Nov.
 25, 1930, he became the head of the central selling agency of the Canadian wheat pools. Virtually he was called to straighten out the wheat marketing tangle that developed for Canadian growers in company with other exporting countries of the world consequent to depression conditions and huge carryovers of the cereal. Declining any salary, he became a "dollar a year" man, and moved back to Winnipeg with his family from Calgary.

 and presented a resolution for the consideration of the members using provincial financial responsibility for education. After hearing Mr. Cheeseman the resolution was unanimously adopted.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the Legion and was held in the club rooms.

The general business was of a routine nature.

Having enlisted in the Canadian Army for active service, A. E. Phillips of Prince Rupert, Cople
 Jack of Winnipeg and Neil Brodie of Telkwa left this morning for Vancouver.

these operations, backed financially
 by the Dominion government through the banks, that he controlled tremendous quantities of wheat.

Throughout his days in Alberta when he first went to the province
 and later in the federal sphere,
 Mr. McFarland was closely associated with Prime Minister R. B.
 Bennett in business. Their chief joint interests were wheat and oil development. With Mr. Bennett at the helm of the Canadian government in 1930 when the wheat situation became serious, it was an open secret that Mr. McFarland, because of his knowledge of the grain trade and sympathy with the pool farmer, would be called to guide the central pool organization. The farmers had faith in his integrity and continued their support of the pools.

Rebuilding Of Village

New Homes are Making Their Appearance at Kispiox Near Hazelton

The native village of Kispiox, at the confluence of the Kispiox and Skeena Rivers north of Hazelton, has been rebuilding following the flood of several years ago that destroyed some of the older homes and badly damaged or displaced others. Fine new houses, modern and well constructed, have made their appearance on higher ground and housewarmings have been the order of the day.

Among the builders of excellent
 new homes have been Stanley Wilson, Albert Johnson, Silas Johnson, William Tait, Chris Harris, George
 Williams and Peter Muldoon.

The owners are justifiably proud of their new homes and have expressed resentment at official photographers who have come to their village and have featured old dilapidated dwellings of the village,
 some of which have been deserted, instead of the new structures. The natives are endeavouring to set a higher standard of living as exemplified in the new homes they have erected.

PRESBYTERY IN SESSION

District Meeting of United Church
 Held Yesterday

The Prince Rupert Presbytery of the United Church of Canada was in session yesterday for the most of the day with Rev. Peter Kelly, chairman, presiding. Reports were presented covering work of the past year by the church in the presbytery and future plans were laid.

Officers were elected as follows:
 Chairman—Rev. P. R. Kelly, Boat
 Thomas Crosby.
 Secretary—Rev. D. W. More,
 Ocean Falls.
 Treasurer—Rev. J. A. Donnell,
 Prince Rupert.

Induction reported were:
 Rev. T. Moore at Bella Coola on January 31 by Rev. W. P. Bunt,
 Superintendent of Missions; Rev.
 T. C. Colwell at Terrace on October 4 by Rev. J. A. Donnell, and Rev. Andrew Rutherford at Kis-piox by Rev. Thomas Colwell from Terrace.

Reports were made that missionaries would soon be at Port Simpson. Since the last meeting, Mr.
 Argue had been situated at Kitsusekia. The schools were now staffed. The hospitals at Port Simpson, Bella Coola and Bella
 Bella were constantly filled.

Ernest Dudoward reported that no missionary had been at Port Simpson since June last. He paid high tribute to the work of Dr.
 Fiddes.

Appreciation was passed by the Presbytery to native church workers who have carried on in so many villages during the absence of missionaries. In some cases there was even a reported increased action in local churches.

The presbytery noted with great pleasure the very definite improvement in the situation along the coast and in trains since the restrictions in the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Presbytery has asked the Home Mission Board of the Church to give the widest publicity possible for the need for workers in villages along the coast.

Rev. W. P. Bunt of Vancouver, superintendent of missions for British Columbia, was among those present, the delegates also including Rev. D. W. More of Ocean Falls, secretary; Rev. T. C. Colwell of Terrace, Rev. James A. Donnell of Prince Rupert, Rev. A. Rutherford and Moses Morrison of Kis-piox and Dr. Fiddes and Ernest Dudoward of Port Simpson.

Transportation difficulties caused delays and prevented some of the delegates from arriving.
