BACK FROM CONVENTION

J. S. Black Attended Trades and Labor Congress Annual Convention in Quebec.

Ald. J. S. Black returned to the city on Saturday night's train where he attended the fifty-ninth annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada held in the Chateau Frontenac Hotel at Quebec City. The Congress today comprised the largest body of organized workers in Canada, a total of 463 delegates being present representing the various organizations affiliated with the Congress. An increase of 26,403 members over last year was announced and outstanding resolutions passed were:

That the Department of Labor be entirely free from interference from other cabinet ministers and officials and request the replacement of the present head of the Department of Labor.

Representation of labor on all boards and crown companies set up by the government. Equal wage rates for women. That persons receiving less than 50¢ per hour or $25 per week be allowed to receive such payment without restraint from the War Labor Board.

The B.C. Executive of Congress for the coming year will consist of C. E. Herrett, Vancouver (chairman), F. J. Chevis, Victoria, Robert Cormack, New Westminster, and J. S. Black, Prince Rupert.

Post-war plans and many other matters vital to the interest of the workers were discussed during the five days' deliberations.

WAR'S BIG THRILL

Sneak Raid In Aleutians

(Eighth of a series by AP foreign correspondents on their biggest moments in covering the war.)

By WILLIAM L. WORDEN
A U.S. ARMY BASE IN THE ALEUTIANS — A hilltop at the head of Chichagof Corridor on Attu Island overlooked a corridor, still occupied largely by stubborn Japanese troops, and was an excellent vantage point from which to watch the battle progressing on high ground at either side. I had been using it as such for two days, sleeping at night in a sleeping bag. The actual front line was two or three hundred yards northeast of the top of the hill. The top of the hill was occupied by a battalion command post, field guns, soldiers resting, and medical detachments.

The two nights I slept badly. Water had seeped up from the soaking moss and had the lower half of the sleeping bag soggy. But it was some four miles back to the rear command post where a typewriter was available. I decided that the walk over the ridges would be the lesser of two evils, in spite of the fact that I had already made tentative arrangements to sleep that night in a medical tent about 50 yards from my private fox hole.

The next morning, some 600 Japanese made a desperation counter-attack straight up Chichagof Corridor, making their way into the battalion command post atop the hill. Dozens of Americans were killed as they slept, including a soldier whose body still lay an arm's length from the fox hole I had occupied the previous nights.

The medical tent was punctured with bullet holes, ripped with bayonets, surrounded by dead Japanese.

Twelve men had been sleeping in that tent. The initial attack had killed four of them. The remainder had fought off the enemy from 4 a.m. until noon. I'm thankful for the luck that kept me from being the thirteenth man in that tent.

Salamaua Airdrome Captured

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTH PACIFIC, Sept. 13 (CP) — The important Salamaua airdrome on New Guinea was captured by the Australians last night, it was announced today, and the capture of the town and port, two miles distant, is expected soon. The Australians want the Francisco River to make a surprise attack.

The fall of Lae should also come shortly. On the northern flank of the New Guinea offensive against the Australians, moving against Lae Sunday, repulsed Japanese counter-attacks seeking to dislodge them from their bridgehead on the west bank of the Basu River, two miles from Lae's outskirts.

METLAKATLA IS HONORED

Visit is Paid to Native Village By Governor General and Princess Alice.

Last Thursday Metlakatla was honored by the visit of Canada's Governor General, the Earl of Athlone and Princess Alice. Indian Agent James Gillett accompanied the party. His Excellency and Her Royal Highness disembarked from the landing barge at Mission Point and were received and welcomed by Rev. B. Shearman. Unfortunately only about thirty people were in the village, the others not having returned from the canneries.

The visitors first paid a visit to historical St. Paul's Church, and expressed delight with the interior, which contains a fine brass tablet, commemorating natives who made the supreme sacrifice in the war 1914-18. Then followed a visit to the school where parents and children were seated. Rev. B. Shearman gave a brief and appropriate address to the children and parents. The Governor General followed with a kindly little speech. The children sang "O Canada" and the visit to school concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

The following ladies were presented to the Governor General and Princess Alice: Mrs. Haldane, Mrs. G. Ryan, Mrs. H. Ryan, Miss E. Leighton and Miss H. Haldane. The visitors made a visit through the reserve and at 4:15 embarked on the barge for the return trip to Prince Rupert.

Appeal By Badoglio To People

Provisions of Armistice With Allies Call for Collaboration — Progress of Fighting

BITTER BLOODY BATTLE
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 13 (CP) — A bitter and bloody battle raged into its fifth consecutive day around the Allied Fifth Army's Salerno bridgehead today with growing German forces resisting desperately determined penetration into their hill positions girding the plain and protecting the port of Naples. The Anglo-Canadian Eighth Army speeding northward from the Italian toe against little or no enemy opposition, captured the port of Crotona, 110 miles from the southern tip of the peninsula and found the harbor in good condition for Allied use. A British landing at Taranto swiftly re-established their hold on the entrance to the Adriatic after the capture of Brindisi.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 — Premier Marshall Badoglio of Italy, in a broadcast Saturday night, called upon the people of Italy to adhere to the terms of the armistice with the Allies and defend their country against German aggression. The hour is very grave for Italy, he said, and only virile action could save the nation. There should be no hostile acts carried out against the Allies but everything possible should be done to cooperate with them.

Conditions of the armistice between Italy and the Allies have been made public. Among thirteen conditions it is provided that all Italian territory including Corsica shall be placed at the disposal of the Allies for use as operational bases, all the Italian fleet and aircraft shall be turned over to the Allies and all Allied prisoners shall be given their freedom. Italy shall do its best to prevent the use of its territory and ports by the Germans.

The Allies are continuing their rapid advances to tighten their grip on southern Italy while the Germans are increasing control in the north over key points of which they have seized control. The situation in central Italy is still obscure.

Well protected by an air umbrella, the Allies are moving inland from three bridgeheads—Taranto, Naples and Calabria. The port of Bari is reported to have been taken by the Allies.

Bitter street fighting is reported in Rome which would indicate that the eternal city may not be entirely in German control as was suggested at the end of the week.

King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio have moved with the government from Rome to "another point" in Italy.

In the north the Germans are reported to be not only disarming Italian soldiers but taking them to Germany.

A Long Way Yet . . .

Following our victory of Italy and on the occasion of the fourth anniversary of the Dominion's entry into the war, Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King realistically enough warns us that even "more fortitude, greater efforts and heavier sacrifices" will be required of Canadians and that "all that has gone before and all that is taking place now is leading up to the hour of supreme effort." Thus we are warned against becoming prematurely flushed over the increasing prospects of our success and complacent or lethargic in the certainty of ultimate victory. We may well heed the warning and admit that, while things are coming our way nicely, the war is still a long way from being won. The weakest and never a true partner of the Axis triumvirate has been looked out but the two strongest are left and we have said before, it is to be expected that they will take a lot of hard beating yet, particularly the brown men across the Pacific from us whom we have hardly started to beat as yet.

Our Part in Campaign . . .

The surrender of Italy it has been suggested may release considerable Allied forces from the European theatre for use against the Japanese in the Asiatic arena. Rather than decreasing may be anticipated increasing war tempo in these parts. For some time now it has been evident even here in Prince Rupert the technique of war in the Pacific has been changed from defensive to offensive. No longer do we think so much about where the Jap may strike next but we look rather for the blow to be made by our side. We have been striking decisively around the perimeter of the Nipponese defences. Next we may be approaching more to the heart of things.

As the campaign in Europe against Germany intensifies and the ultimate defeat of the Reich becomes more increasingly evident, more and more attention will be paid to the Pacific and in that campaign Prince Rupert will, no doubt, be put to increasing rather than diminishing use. While it would appear that our risk of becoming physically involved on this spot in the actual conflict is lessened, we, no doubt, shall play even a greater part in the prosecution of war than we have done as yet.

Protecting the Young . . .

Last week an indignant mother wrote to the Daily News complaining about molestation of children in city parks. The city council, also last week, called on the military authorities to declare the city parks out of bounds in the evenings to men of the forces.

While we are entitled to do everything possible to protect the children from molestation, there is also a duty on the part of parents to exercise a measure of supervision and discipline over the children which would keep them out of danger of this sort.

There are also certain curfew regulations on the city statute books which, if ever they have been, should be strictly enforced these days.

It is all very well to complain about the risks with which our children are placed from a new and irresponsible element in our population. Its existence, we should not forget, increases our own responsibility. We should not expect the military or the police authorities to assume all that responsibility, although we expect them to look after their own charges and keep them within bounds.

LETTERBOX

LOCAL COAL SITUATION

Editor, Daily News:
Albert & McCaffery have been kind enough to forward to this office a clipping taken from your paper regarding the coal situation and we very much appreciate your efforts in giving this publicity to the people of your district.

For your further information I will point out a few facts.

In your city of Prince Rupert there are, as you know, many government organizations operating, both our own and the United States, and it is also a seaport where coal is loaded for shipment to the Whitehorse country and there has been considerable coal moved in your direction. Naturally the public would see this moved and it is possible that the local consumer has not as yet been able to procure his full supply of coal.

These industries are part of our war effort, and they must be kept going. It is up to the householder today to save every pound of coal available. We have been doing everything possible to relieve the public and your city is no exception. While we realize the increased population due to war industries you should realize the increased amount of coal that we have moved. It will not be possible for any consumer from now on to get his full amount of coal. He will have to take it in ton or half ton lots but we hope to continue to keep shipments moving as production carries on and the writer believes this information might stop the people who are now verging on a panic, and at the same time point out that during the early fall they must resort as much as possible to wood and perhaps a certain amount of wood during the winter. We do not see any necessity of the public becoming panicky.

Again thanking you for your interest.

LEGION'S REPLY

Editor, Daily News:
We notice in the daily press that Col. D. B. Martyn represents the members of the Canadian Legion expressing their indignation at the treatment handed out to them by the reception committee who handled the arrangements for the recent vice-regal visit to our city.

Regarding the inference that the Canadian Legion could have applied for an invitation. May we point out that in the past the proper procedure has been for His Majesty's loyal subjects to await an invitation from the proper authorities to meet his representative. The Canadian Legion has had no information of any departure from this procedure so naturally did not accept the irregular one of applying for an invitation.

The guard of honor represented the local Machine Gun Unit—not the Canadian Legion—most of whose members are beyond the age category for service therein. The statement that the guard was considered adequate representation of the Canadian Legion would certainly appear to be a very definite admission that the Legion should have been granted representation which, of course, it was not.

Another statement which could not be other than misleading to the general public was that the President of the Canadian Legion did receive an invitation to visit His Excellency in his private car. No mention was made, however, of the fact that the said invitation was not received by the president until some sixteen hours after the motion had been passed criticising the reception committee and some five hours after the report of same had been handed to the press.

In view of Col. Martyn's indignation it would appear that he alone was the responsible authority and, if this is so, we wish to take this opportunity of explaining to him the Canadian Legion's view of the matter.

A. M. DAVIES,
Secretary, Canadian Legion.

HIGH PRIORITY

Editor, Daily News:
Just a question to whoever is responsible for carrying out the compulsory employment orders: Are those forty-seven keepers and gamblers going to be made to work or else?

Perhaps gambling is one of those higher priority jobs one hears so much about as the fines were very low.

I have forwarded the news of September 7, 10 and 11 to four of the boys overseas. They will be very pleased to know that chiseling is one of the freedoms they are fighting and dying for.

TARGET FOR TODAY

TODAY, Victory is our first and only target. The things of tomorrow—the new shape of Freedom—the new pattern of Security—the new projects for a better world—these will follow when Victory comes.

The duty of every Canadian is clear. In this struggle, every gun counts, and every dollar that helps to buy a gun counts, too.

Victory depends on how earnestly each one of us carries out the urgent undertakings set forth in this resolution:

I Resolve . . . that I will work and save and lend to the limit of my capacity to support the defenders of my freedom on the fighting fronts of the world.

I Resolve . . . that I will forego luxuries and comforts now to make sure of future security for myself, my loved ones, and my fellow countrymen.

I Resolve . . . that I will subscribe for Victory Bonds when they are offered, and will hold on to them until the war is over.

I Resolve . . . that I will buy War Savings Certificates and Stamps regularly, and keep them invested for the duration.

I Resolve . . . that my life insurance, which aids each Victory Loan and will help to further the measures for national re-adjustment after the war by providing individual independence, will be kept in force, for my own and the nation's benefit.

Your bonds, your war savings, and your life insurance are three safeguards for the future which should be maintained out of present income, even at the cost of personal sacrifice. Each has its protective value. Each means future delivery of money to you or yours. Each is as safe as the Dominion of Canada itself.

Every dollar saved today is a down payment on security and peace of mind.

Roast Beef and Yorkshire Pudding

Before we serve our old favourite, be sure we know how to cook it economically. Nothing like roast beef! But even a 4 lb. roast—like the picture—takes 4 coupons, mainly to make the most of that where modern methods are so important.

Extend your Roast Beef with Martha Logan's Yorkshire Pudding

In Yorkshire the rule used to be "pudding before meat," to dull the family appetites before the precious meat was served. Here is an old Yorkshire recipe for "pudding":—
1 cup flour 1 cup milk
2 eggs drippings from roast salt to taste

Sift flour with pinch of salt. Beat the eggs well and add milk. Blend egg and milk mixture with flour and beat vigorously. Cook in hot drippings from roast (a separate pan may be used) for half an hour. Cut into squares and serve.

The cooking time-table in Martha Logan's "Meat Complete" is invaluable for economical wartime cooking. Send 10¢ for this famous handbook of meat cookery to Dept. NE35, Swift Canadian Co. Limited, New Westminster.

Tribute to the Navy

A lady phoned to say that in our tribute to the British Navy for its convoy of 180,000 cases of Pacific Milk we had omitted mention of the Royal Canadian Navy which she says had the large share in this vital work, which is true, of course. We all are proud of our Royal Canadian Navy and its splendid service, and regret that we did not make this more specific.

TOLD ABOUT NEW PARTY

Bruce Mickleburgh Speaks On Labor-Progressive Movement—Urges Total War.

"Now that the perspective of victory lies clearly before the United Nations it is more than ever vital to press for total war to force the unconditional surrender of Hitler before Christmas." Bruce Mickleburgh told a crowded meeting sponsored by the Labor-Progressive Party at the Eagles' Hall last night. "In this way we will smash the last hope of world reaction, namely, a negotiated compromise peace that would snatch from our hands the fruits of the peoples' war. Now more than ever a second front must be opened that will draw some 60 Hitlerite divisions from the Eastern front and force the speedy collapse of Axis military power."

Answering the question "Why the Labor-Progressive Party?" the speaker said that need to overcome the ban on the old Communist party was a factor, but that the main reason why the Communists had formed a new party was because deep changes in the world situation and one the Canadian scene demanded a party adapted to present-day conditions. While the present war was not a war for Socialism but for national freedom it was nevertheless true implicit in the anti-Fascist feeling of the people was a stern resolve that after the war there should be no going back to 1939. The war has demonstrated the great productive resources of Canada. The people would not permit monopoly to re-establish a restricted economy of scarcity after the war.

Mr. Mickleburgh said that the great upsurge of Canadian labor and the farmers for independent political action away from the old line parties held out the prospect of the election of several labor-farmer governments and parliamentary oppositions in Canada by December, 1944, which could carry out those great reforms which monopoly had hitherto blocked, such as Dominion government responsibility to provide employment at socially useful labor for all Canadians at adequate wages, full provision for the civil re-establishment of the armed forces, social security, the curbing of monopolies and so on. To achieve these reforms Canada needed a united labor movement, a single working class party, a united trade union movement so as not to open the floodgates of reaction.

In practice this meant unity with the C.C.F. and the Labor-Progressive party would do everything possible to achieve such unity. It offered to affiliate to the C.C.F.

The only true objective of the political movement of the working class was the establishment of a Socialist Canada, declared the speaker. The working class could not lead the people to achieve this without its own party of scientific Socialism which was the means whereby Socialism was fused with the Labor movement. The party denounced equally social reformist illusions that socialism could be gained by retaining the essential features of capitalism products of the influence of capitalist ideas and advocates of force and violence, which was the method of monopoly and fascism to perpetuate outworn ways of life. The path to socialism lay through all-sided struggle for greater democracy under capitalism.

The meeting passed a resolution greeting as service to the community any steps by Famous Players Lt. to make the Capitol Theatre available for a speech by Tim Buck, national leader of the workers' movement, a question of intense interest to Prince Rupert working people and members of the armed forces and another resolution hailing Allied victories urging an immediate second front to shorten the war. The question period produced a suggestion by a C.C.F. adherent that a public debate be held between C.C.F. members and Labor-Progressive members. This was accepted by the chair as helping to lay the basis for unity. The chairman, Chas. Vizer, announced that the collection amounted to $42.

Regiment and Air Force Play to 2 All Draw in Cup Final

Stalemated after 20 minutes of overtime in the Mobley Cup soccer final, the Ontario Regiment-Air Force game ended in a two-all tie at Acropolis Hill Saturday. The teams are scheduled to replay the fixture Tuesday night.

Smooth passing plays and sparkling goal-tending were features of the close game. Air Force had the edge in territorial play at the outset and drew first blood when Fowler booted the ball past Infantino, the Army's goalie.

The soldiers then took their turn at testing the opposing goal-tender and their efforts were rewarded when Mills scored from close in to knot the count at 1-1.

Before the close of the first half the Air Force made it 2-1 in their favor on a neat play in which Melville picked up a rebound and kicked it home.

A rebound was also responsible for the Ontario' second goal. Jentsch drilled a lightning shot at Watson, the Air Force goalie. The ball struck the post and bounced back, hitting the soldier on the head and flying in through the Air Force uprights.

Shortly before the end of the regular playing time, Watson, in an attempt to clear the ball, rushed fifteen feet out of his goal and then fell. However he recovered himself quickly and the opposition failed to score.

Moral support was given to the Regiment eleven by a large group of soldiers who attended the game and composed the bulk of the spectators.

The line-ups:
 Ontario— Infantino, Stengal,
 Prochuk, Reid, Scott, Smith,
 Mills, Highton, Kesselowski,
 Kennedy, Jentsch.
 Air Force—Watson, Blere, Mc-
 Alpine, Novak, Bevington, Bay, Manson, Kerr, Melville, McKil-lops, Fowler, Dmytriuk.
