NO BEER SO CITY QUIET

Result of Rationing of Beverage Has Desirable Effect

Curtailment of hours during which Prince Rupert beer parlors remain open for business has resulted from the new beer rationing regulations of the Liquor Control Board. Several of the beer parlors have been exhausting their daily quotas by early evening when they close up. The effect of this, the police report, has been a general and gratifying quietening up of the downtown section of the city by night. Police express their satisfaction over the notable change.

This Saturday night, for instance, all of the beer parlors except one or two were closed up by early evening.

Meningitis In Forces Here

Two Cases Among Soldiers But So Far Civilian Population Is Clear of Malady

Two cases of spinal meningitis have occurred among the forces in Prince Rupert and, as a result, public gathering places have been declared out-of-bounds for men of the services. There are no cases of the malady reported in civilian quarters. Steps are being taken to prevent overcrowding as far as possible.

COST JAPS HEAVY TOLL

Reinforcements Landed on New Guinea But 133 Planes Destroyed or Damaged and Three Transports Sunk

MELBOURNE, Jan. 11 (CP)—Remnants of a Japanese troop convoy reached Lae on the north New Guinea coast but the reinforcements were made at the cost of 133 Japanese aircraft destroyed, probably destroyed or damaged and three troop-laden transports sunk and three others damaged in a three-day running battle with Allied bombers and fighters.

ORGANIZING OF SALVAGE

Conference with A. Sheline, Organizer—Looking for Uilding—Fats and Bones Badly Needed

GOOD RESPONSE
A. Sheline, salvage organizer from Calgary, after making a tour of local butcher shops this morning, stated he had found a most encouraging attitude of co-operation in every one in connection with the urgent campaign for salvage of fats and bones. In fact, some of the butchers were wondering why something had not been done sooner. All the butcher shops are ready to receive from householders tins of one pound or more of rendered fat or loose fats which may be presented in cartons or bags. All the housewife had to do is get the fats to the butcher shop. From there on the organization of getting the glycerine from the fats to the plants where it will be used for the making of munitions is complete.

"Salvaging of essential materials is one of the big jobs of the war effort," A. Sheline, Dominion government salvage organizer from Calgary, told the executive of the Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce at a conference held yesterday afternoon at the residence of C. G. Ham, secretary of the Junior Chamber.

BUTTER IS DECLARED

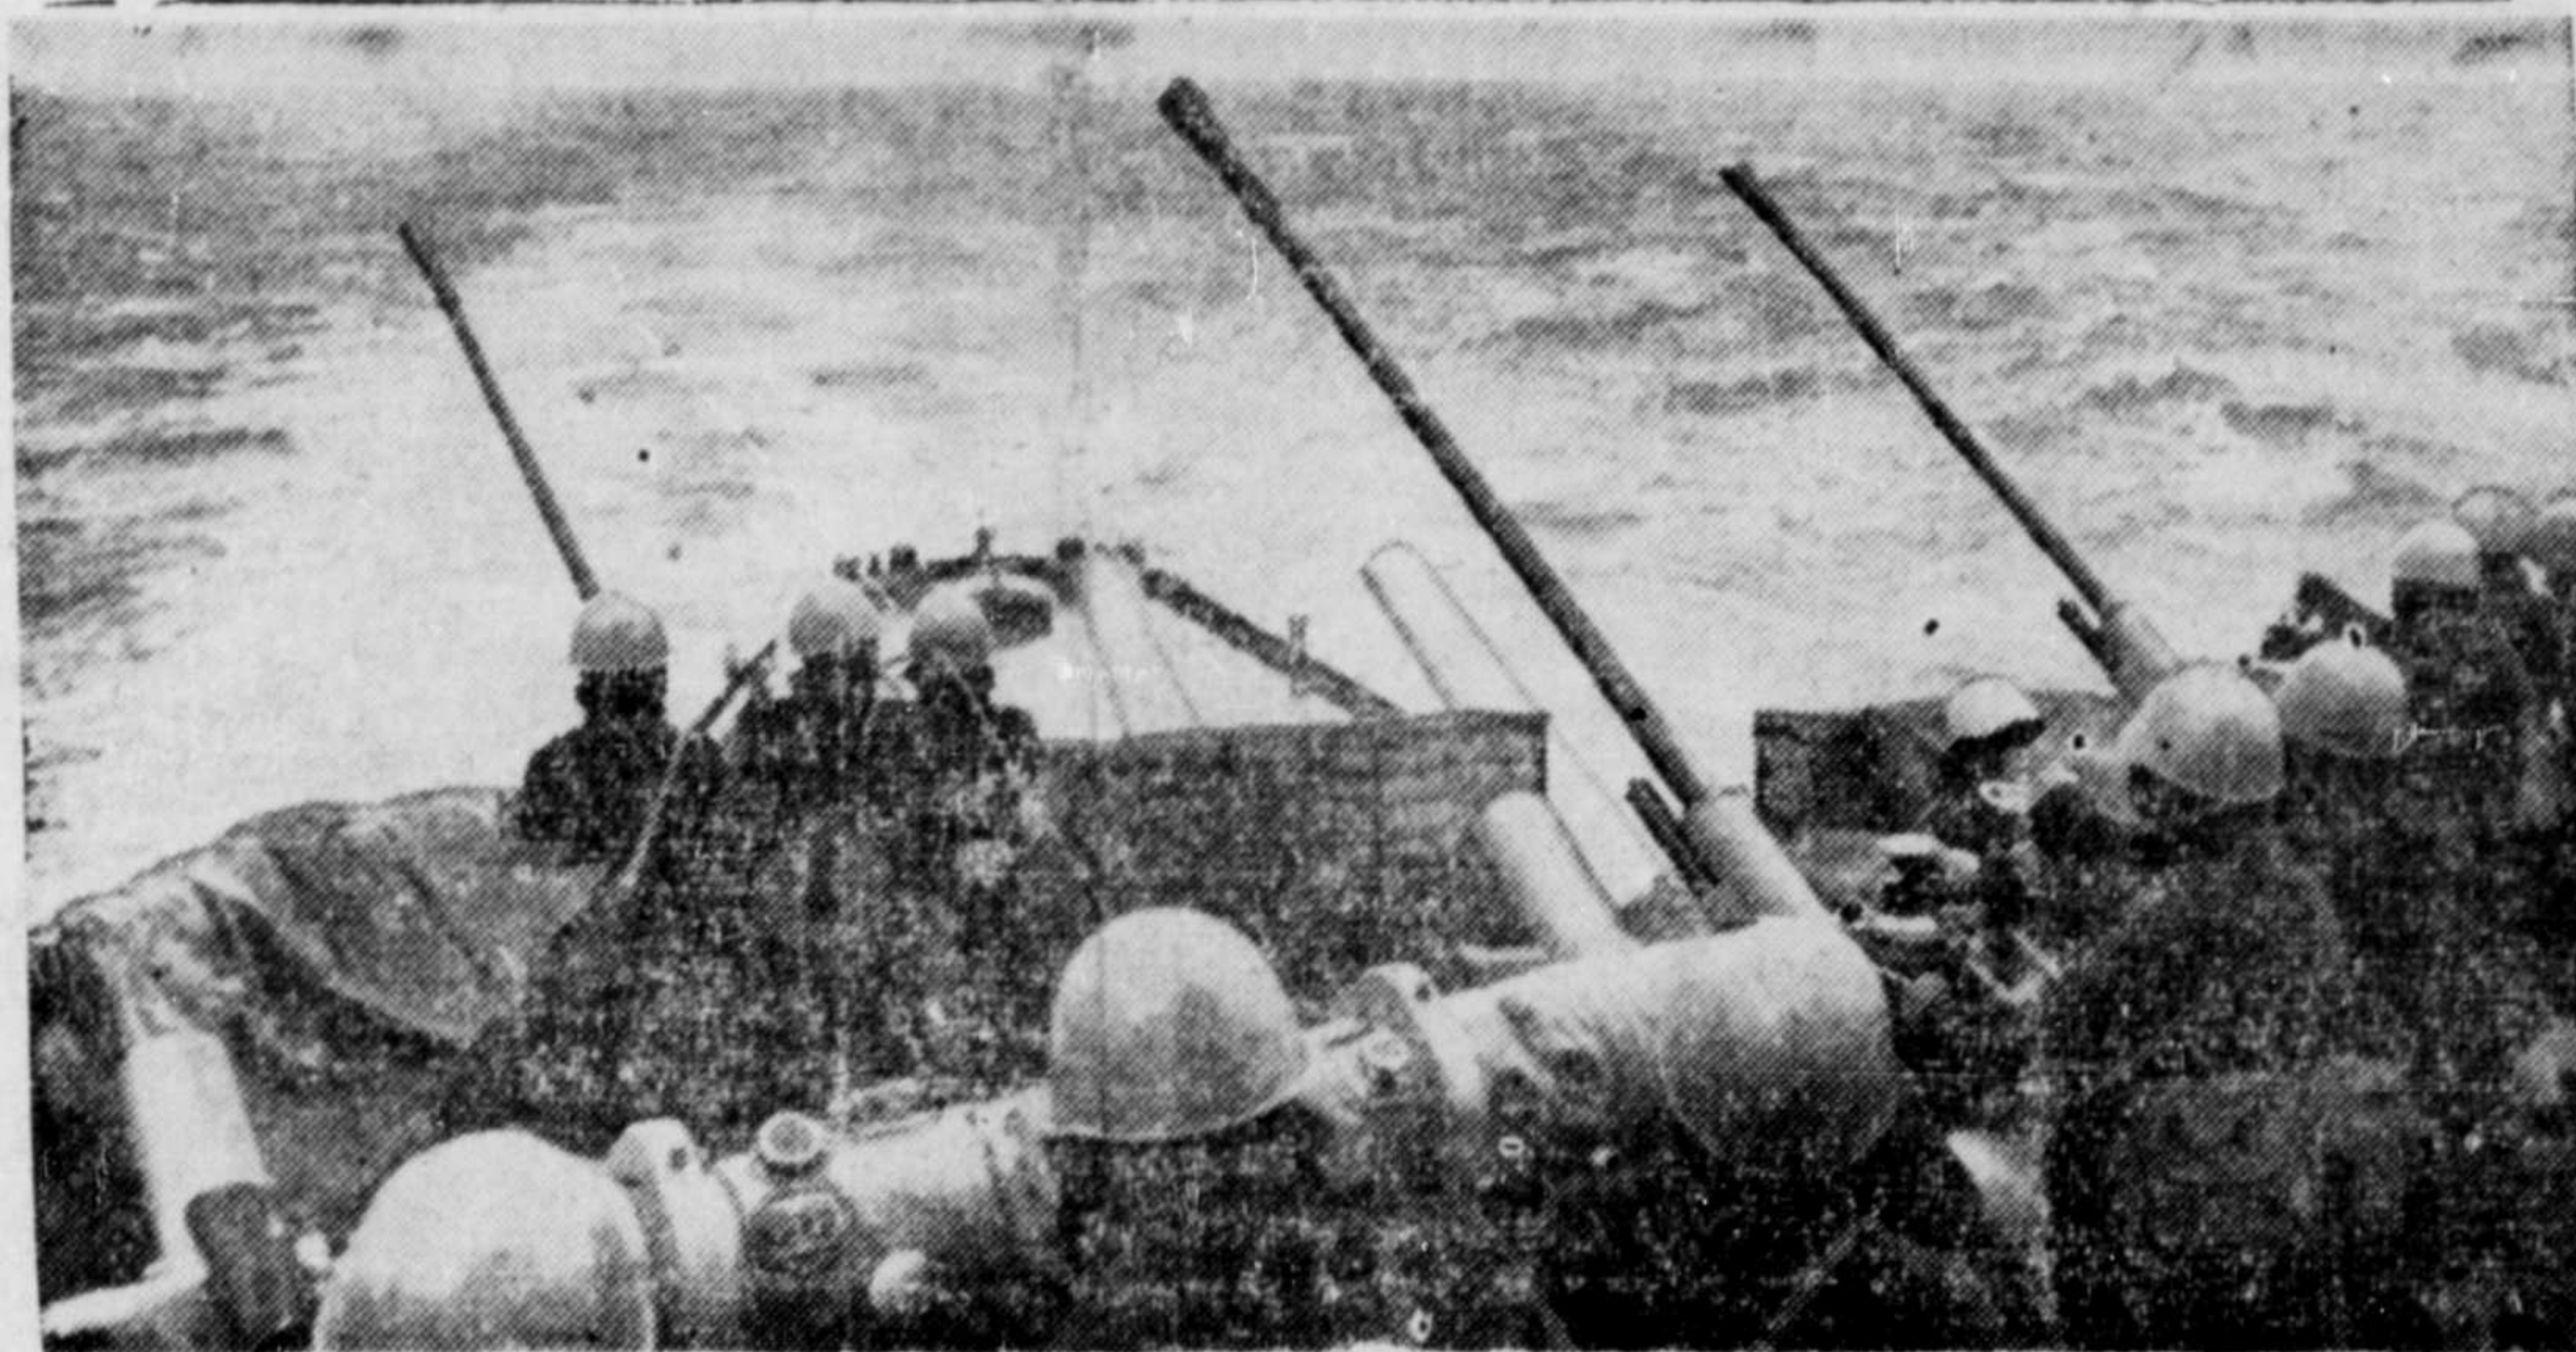

Some Conscientious People in B.C. And Even Prince Rupert

When Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced the rationing of butter on December 20, 1942, he said: "Any person who now has in hand more than one pound of butter for each person in the household is required to report such supplies to the nearest regional office of the Board and to surrender coupons for the surplus."

Declaration of overstocks of butter in the B. C. area have not been heavy as compared to some parts of Canada. In the Vancouver region 51 people reported having more than one pound of butter on hand and the total amount of the commodity thus disclosed was 361 pounds—an average of about seven pounds per person for those reporting. The ration, of course, is half a pound per person, per week. In each case the person concerned had to turn in butter coupons to cover the supply on hand.

In Prince Rupert four people reported a total of 32 pounds of butter and in Victoria, 15 conscientious citizens declared they held a total of 61 pounds.

BIG SNOWS DOWN EAST

John Dybhavn Tells of Exceptional Weather Conditions—Attended Research Board Meet at Ottawa

Returning on this morning's train from a trip to Eastern Canada and the United States, John Dybhavn tells of unique snow and frost conditions at Ottawa and Montreal during the New Year season. Accumulated snow, made more difficult by a severe frost coming on top of rain, actually lifted the street cars off their tracks. For almost a week street car traffic was completely paralyzed in both Ottawa and Montreal. When Mr. Dybhavn arrived in Ottawa on New Year's morning, the downtown portion of the city was deserted except for snow shovellers. The snow was eighteen inches deep. Not a street car was moving that day nor was it possible to resume street railway traffic until the Wednesday following.

NO RAISE IN WAGES

Increase is Denied to Steel Workers at Sault Ste. Marie and Sydney

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 (CP)—The majority report of a commission investigating wage rates at the Sault Ste. Marie and Sydney steel plants commends that there should be no change in the basic rates except in the case of some maintenance men. The present basis rates are 50 1/2¢ at Sault Ste. Marie and 52 1/2¢ per hour at Sydney. The commission recommends overtime at time-and-a-half for the seventh day whenever it is found necessary to work a seven-day week.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE STEADY

Soviet Forces Still Sweeping Forward in Caucasus and Towards Rostov in Lower Don Area

MOSCOW, Jan. 11 (CP)—The Red Army has seized thirteen more settlements from the Germans in the north Caucasus where the German held railroad junction of Georgievsk is threatened with encirclement. A Soviet communique today also said that the Russians had broken a German salient thrust into Russian positions on the central front far to the north. The advance down the lower Don continues despite desperate German efforts to block it some sixty miles northeast of Rostov, key Nazi supply centre in southern Russia, it was reported. Another German-held community was gathered into the Russian lines in the lower Don area. The Russians are moving towards Rostov at the rate of fifteen miles per day. During last week German planes numbering 350 were shot down while the Russians lost thirty-three.

PASSING OF WM. BRAND

Well Known Fuel and Transfer Man Dies After Long Illness

William Brand, well known in the fuel and transfer business here for fifteen years, passed away at noon yesterday at his home, 1136 Second Avenue, after a long illness from which it had been realized for some time there could be no hope of recovery. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon from the Grenville Court Chapel of the B.C. Undertakers.

The late Mr. Brand was born seventy-seven years ago at St. Andrew's, Scotland. His parents were tenants on a nobleman's estate and deceased, as a youth, was a groom in the estate stables. He left Scotland for Canada in 1887 and was first located at Winnipeg where he worked as a teamster. He came two years later to Vancouver when Hastings Street was only a skid road. From Vancouver he went south and spent a year in California and two-and-a-half years in Oregon where he worked in the meat packing business. Returning to Canada, he became located at Edmonton where he was married in 1913. Then Mr. Brand became identified with the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and followed the line to Prince George. After that he bought a farm at Woodcock and was located there for a while. In June, 1927, he moved into Prince Rupert and went into the fuel and transfer business. Of more recent years he was a familiar figure as collector of mail from the pillar boxes.

Predeceased by his wife in 1934 Mr. Brand is survived by two daughters—Mrs. Thomas (Jessie) Harvey and Mrs. George (Mina) Selig.

RUSSIANS ADVANCING EVERYWHERE
MOSCOW—The Red Army is pushing forward in the Caucasus and elsewhere on the long Russo-German front in spite of stiffened Nazi resistance. The advance towards Rostov continues as quickly as ever and the Russians are only 60 miles away now. In the lower Don there has been a further advance of eight miles. The Soviet forces have reached to within thirty miles of Zolsk. Hemmed in at Stalingrad, the Nazis are fighting desperately. They are well armed and equipped with strong fortifications but are suffering heavy losses.

ALLIED HEADWAY IN AFRICA
LONDON—A vigorous Axis counter-attack on the southern sector of the Tunisian front has been repulsed. The French have captured two more points in their campaign into Tripolitania from the south. Allied bombers are continuing their daylight assault upon Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces retreating towards Tripoli and Tunisia and also upon Axis bases. Royal Air Force planes are operating from Malta and the Egyptian and Libyan coasts and Americans from newly-established bases in Tunisia.

H.M.S. UTMOST LOST
LONDON—The famous British submarine, H.M.S. Utmost, is long overdue and presumed lost. Completed in 1940, the Utmost achieved note on spending fifteen months at sea during which she sank an Italian cruiser and 69,000 tons of enemy shipping. She was a vessel of 545 tons and carried a crew of 77.

ESSEN HEAVILY RAIDED
LONDON—Essen, site of the Krupp munitions works, was the chief objective of the Royal Air Force in the third straight night of raiding the industrial Ruhr of Germany. Big Lancasters dropped many 4,000-pound bombs. Large fires were started in railway yards and on other targets. The fires were visible 100 miles away, although fog was encountered enroute, weather was good for bombing and there was also heavy anti aircraft action. Mines were also laid in enemy waters. Seven British machines failed to return from the raid on Essen in which 150 planes participated.

LIGHT RAIDS ON BRITAIN
LONDON—There was no Saturday night raiding of Britain but some enemy planes were over eastern England and the southwest coast Sunday. One enemy plane was shot into the sea off the southwest coast.

ACTION IN ALEUTIANS
WASHINGTON—United States bombers have sunk another 4,000-ton Japanese cargo ship off Attu Island in the Aleutians.

HITTING AT AXIS ARMY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 11 (CP)—Allied bombers have struck again at possible junction points for Marshal Erwin Rommel's Libyan forces and the Axis army of Tunisia, raiding Gabes, a village of Kebili, west of that port, and Kairouan, it was announced today.

Highlight of the day's air activity was a one-man bombing attack by Major P. G. Cochran of Erie, Pennsylvania, leader of a P-40 group. Alone and carrying one large bomb, he swept in low over Kairouan and dropped the explosive in the middle of military headquarters, destroying it.

United States bombers are now operating from well advanced bases in Tunisia. Thirty-five Axis planes were brought down in one day with the loss of twelve Allied planes.

End of the War...

President Franklin D. Roosevelt "hopes" but does not "predict" that the war will be over in 1944 with a victory for our side. It is to be noted that he does not even "hope" the war will be over this year although he suggests that the United Nations will be well on the road to Berlin, Rome and Tokyo ere the coming twelvemonth is out.

The President is one of those who realizes that we have lost a lot and have a lot now to win back before we should be hazarding any very definite guesses as to when the end will be.

Roosevelt, like Churchill, is inclined to be quite realistic and fact-facing when talking about the war and the outlook. It is probably just as well for us that they are. They appear to be of the opinion that it is better to face the issues squarely instead of glossing them over and being further let down by things not turning out as pleasantly as we had hoped for.

Roosevelt and Churchill are both convinced now beyond peradventure that victory will be ours but they are not disposed to minimize the trials and tribulations we may have to bear before the great day comes when peace on our terms shall be accomplished.

The Russian Situation...

Russian announcements record steady progress along the fronts coupled with statistical data as to the vast amount of booty captured in victories of which not even the imaginative officials of D.N.B. can hope to keep the German people in ignorance for long. The fact that Berlin has admitted severe reverses bears witness to the gradual realization on the part of the German high command that the initiative which the Russians have seized is a much more dangerous threat to the whole system of Nazi defence than was the less ambitious Soviet counter-offensive in the early winter of 1941.

As matters stand now, Hitler's plan to rest his legions, in preparation for renewed attacks on the Soviet line next spring, is already frustrated. More important still is the imposing evidence that the momentum of the Russian advance not only is not slackening but is actually increasing. D.N.B. may soon have to prepare the German people for more bad news. Verily has the New Year begun auspiciously for the valiant Soviet armies—another good argument, by the way, for great support for the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund.

Keeping Guard Up...

Col. R. J. Manion, director of civilian protection for Canada, in a speech from Ottawa last week, appealed to the municipalities of the Dominion not to let down in their air raid precautions but to develop them further. There is no doubt that here in Prince Rupert as well as elsewhere, since the Allied position on the various war fronts, including the Pacific, has been somewhat improved, there has been a tendency to slacken up and lose interest in the matter of A.R.P. Dr. Manion, however, warns that we may be in even greater risk of danger as the enemy becomes more desperate and that his very desperation may cause him to strike an unexpected blow.

Military men, evidently, are by no means satisfied that the risk of attack on this coast is passed. We must agree with Col. Manion and the others that, even though things may be looking much better for our side than they did, we should not let down our guard but should be continuing to perfect and exercise our defensive measures, civilian as well as military.

It will be plenty of time to think of giving the defences a holiday after the final peace has been signed.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT, Hostess

Jack Keast of the Royal Canadian Artillery, who went back East on a draft about a month or two ago, sent me his latest verse. We knew him well as a young poet of unusual promise and I think this poem will make you realize his ability. His youth makes him over intense and apt to take life more seriously than is good for him but his thoughts are fine and noble and expressed beautifully.

THE BEGINNING

By John R. Keast

I stand, head bowed, beside your lifeless form,
And hear their muffled sobbing,
see their warm
And living hands dismiss a swelling tear,
Bereft, they mourn, and turning,
disappear.

Here, I alone, in scented stillness stand.

Sweet face that I have loved;
pallid hand,

These limbs are scraps of life and spiritless,

Remaining substance, waster comeliness,

The soul lives on in deathless angel's care,

Who wait it up a winding, golden stair

And bear it onward, through the mystic Gate,

Beyond the slumbrous Halls to God's estate.

Thus, Life is fled to blind Infinity,
Now Dust to Dust—and Immortality.

His verse recalls to my mind a little phrase that gave me endless comfort during an unhappiness of the last war. I ran across it by accident and found it had much truth and wisdom in it. It was "Death is the beginning, not the end."

Letter Box

A. R. P. AND RESERVE

Editor, Daily News:
Recruiting begins tonight for the creation of a local machine gun unit and I would like to make a few observations, and correct some wrong impressions which have been brought to my notice.

In the first place, the government has no intention of scrapping civilian protection to replace it with a civilian offensive defence unit.

It is not true that a man can serve both units. If enemy landing attempts are made, the manoeuvre will most certainly be preceded by heavy bombing which bombing will be maintained until the enemy's objective is attained or defeated.

That would place the two-way recruit in no dilemma at all for, as a member of the machine gun unit, he would be compelled to comply with the orders of his company commander which most certainly would not be to the advantage of A. R. P.

And it would be folly to lose well trained first aiders to a unit which would remove them from civilian usefulness in emergency. That goes too, for the warden, police and fire auxiliaries.

On the other hand, there are hundreds of eligible men in this city who have as yet, accepted no responsibilities of this nature and it is from these that recruits for the new unit should be taken.

The enemy is constantly improving his methods of fragmentary and incendiary bombs and I am convinced that only by compulsory service to give sufficient manpower to our military and civilian defence units, can we, at this stage, hope to successfully neutralize the effects of a modern bombing raid.

H. T. LOCK
Assistant Chief Protection Officer.

The New York State Athletic Commission dethroned Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling just 12 years ago when he refused to sign for a return bout with Jack Sharkey. The black-browed German remained in the fistic limelight until June 1938 when Champion Joe Louis flattened him in one round at New York. Schmeling had beaten Louis previously in 1936.

Frank Chance signed a $25,000 three-year contract to manage New York Americans, now the Yankees, 23 years ago. One-third of the still-famous Chance-to-Ever-to-Tinker Chicago Cubs combination, Chance piloted the Yankees in 1913-14, and was succeeded by Bill Donovan.

Paul Berlanbach, former world's light-heavyweight boxing champion who earned more than $500,000 in pre-depression days, started a wrestling career at New York nine years ago for milk and rent money. He was a preliminary "boy" and got $150 for 11 minutes.

PLEBISCITE AT TERRACE

Vote to be Taken on Question of Giving Light and Power Franchise

TERRACE, Jan. 11 — A public meeting of the electors of Terrace village was held on Wednesday to consider the question of giving a franchise for light and power service. It was so poorly attended that the village commissioners decided to hold a plebiscite vote shortly to get the majority opinion.

An application for a permit or franchise extending over a period of twenty years has been submitted for the purpose of establishing and operating a light and power service and no agreement may be entered into which extends beyond the current year without the assent of the electors.

Chairman Haugland presided at the meeting and expressed his regret that there was not a more representative gathering.

The only way to get this assent or to learn whether the voters say "yes" or "no" is to hold a plebiscite. This will take place at the municipal office on January 28.

Cheerful About War

Of course, says Mr. Dybhavn, the all absorbing topic of discussion is the war and the principal activity is in connection with the war effort. Everywhere there is a much more cheerful feeling in regard to the war, it being generally accepted that the tide has turned.

While in Ottawa, Mr. Dybhavn had a visit for a day or so from his son, Lieut. George Dybhavn, who came up from Halifax where he is on active service with the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Mr. Dybhavn went east to attend the annual meeting of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada of which he is a member. Work of the Board continues to be dictated by changing conditions, the chief aim being to assist in the war effort in which valuable work in various directions is being carried out.

Dr. A. H. Hutchinson of the University of British Columbia has resigned after being a member of the board since 1924 and has been succeeded by Dr. W. A. Clemens, formerly director of the Nanaimo Biological Station and now professor of zoology at the University of British Columbia.

A new problem which the board is giving consideration is the situation which has arisen owing to an acute shrinkage of manpower for the Atlantic fishing fleet. Adoption of the long line system of fishing instead of dories is being proposed as a means of increasing production which has been falling off.

Chamber. The conference was held for the purpose of organizing for the systematic collecting and disposition of salvage materials, of which there is a wide variety, in Prince Rupert, Arnold Platen and H. A. Breen of the Red Cross were also in attendance.

The outcome of the two hour discussion was the decision to have the salvage committee of the Junior Chamber, headed by Robert Parker, proceed with the necessary steps leading to the formation of a permanent salvage organization in the city. One of the most important immediate problems facing the committee will be the obtaining of a building to be used as an assembly depot. Meantime steps will be taken to foster the salvaging of fats and bones which are needed urgently at this time for the manufacture of glycerine, one of the most essential of war materials.

The general plan in connection with organization of national salvage campaign here, the responsibility for which is being taken over from the Red Cross by the Junior Chamber, is to call representatives of all organizations together and form various committees each of which will be charged with definite functions. Mr. Sheline described how the "block" system of salvage organization had worked out successfully in other cities. Under this plan a competent woman was selected from each city block to canvass that block and explain the procedure of salvage to the housewives. By this means householder education was accomplished and the collection of salvage was made more effective both as regards quantity and quality.

Urgently Needed Mr. Sheline emphasized the urgent and immediate necessity of salvage of fats and bones from which could be derived glycerine which was so essential in the manufacture of munitions. In Canada it was necessary to obtain forty million pounds of fat by the end of May to make up a deficiency caused by the stopping of normal sources of supply. This meant an average of one ounce per person per week or one pound per family per month. There was established price and markets and arrangements had been made whereby the fats could be turned into the butcher shops in tin containers, the butchers to pay for the fat which will, in turn, be sent to the packers for further rendering.

The matter of war material salvage generally was discussed at some length with Mr. Sheline, local difficulties such as means of collection, storing, sorting and shipping were gone into. Of these the question of obtaining a suitable building appeared to be the most perplexing. The co-operation of the military authorities in this, it was felt, might be obtained. Many details of the salvage work were talked about with the final decision that the Junior Chamber's committee should carry on with its activities leading up to the point where the organizations' representatives could be called together when the whole thing would be made a community job on a permanent basis.

After the meeting of the Junior Chamber executive, Mr. Sheline called upon Mayor W. M. Watts and this morning he was visiting local butchers to obtain their co-operation in connection with the handling of salvaged fats and bones.

Mr. Sheline arrived in the city on Saturday night's train from Calgary and leaves this evening on his return there.

Mickey Rooney and Freddie Bartholomew in "A Yank at Eton" Next Week

Starring Mickey Rooney and Freddie Bartholomew, "A Yank at Eton" comes tonight and Tuesday to the Capitol Theatre.

Mickey is the centre of the story, as a typical American boy whose hopes of going to Notre Dame are shattered when his widowed mother marries an Englishman and he is enrolled in exclusive Eton.

Contemptuous of his new surroundings, he gets into one predicament after another, and finally gets "sacked," after taking the blame for smashing the house-master's car.

When he learns that Freddie, as his stepbrother, wasn't the guilty party, as he suspected, he sets out to clear himself. Helped by twelve little Eton boys, he kidnaps the proprietor of a roadside inn, after as wild a slapstick fight as has ever been filmed.

The proprietor's testimony clears Mickey and he is reinstated by Edmund Gwenn, who is the house-master, in time to run in the annual steeplechase. After a thrilling race he edges out the Eton bully, played by Peter Lawford.

Then he decides that Eton isn't so bad after all, and neither is his stepbrother, with whom he has been battling throughout.

Most of their misunderstandings arise over the flirtatiousness of newcomer Tina Thayer, Mickey's newest sweetheart on the screen.

Quanita Quigley, Alan Mowbray, Ian Hunter, Marta Linden and Raymond Severn also are included in the cast.

New Subscription Rates

Effective from February 1, 1943

Changing conditions due to the war and its effects are forcing newspapers throughout the country to increase their subscription rates.

Under prevailing conditions advertising revenues are falling off while costs of production and service are mounting.

In order for the newspapers to remain in business and maintain service to their readers, there is no choice but to ask readers to pay a higher percentage of the cost of the newspaper than they have been doing.

The Daily News has carefully considered the matter and finds reluctantly that it, too, must increase its subscription rates. The increase will be as small as possible.

We shall continue our policy of rendering the utmost possible service in proportion to the public support received.

In making the increase we are satisfied that the public, generally speaking, will understand our position. We believe the increased cost is far less than the measure of value and service given by our paper.

The new schedule of subscription rates will be as follows:

By City Carrier, effective as from February 1,
15c per week 65c per month $7 per year

Mail Subscription Rates—40c per month,
$4 for twelve months

Stewart Has Xmas Tree

Former Residents Now at Prince Rupert Make Entertainment Possible

STEWART, Jan. 11—Thanks to the kindness and generosity of a number of former Stewart residents now living in Prince Rupert, the children of Stewart and Hyder had a real bang-up Christmas party and Christmas tree recently. Santa Claus arrived loaded with bags of good things for the young guests, there being apples, oranges, nuts and candy present in profusion.

Due to unfortunate weather conditions Santa was unable to get his icecream to the party but the icecream arrived the next day and was distributed free to all children of the community through the co-operation of the Stewart Book Store.

Music was provided aplenty and games and dancing filled up the evening.

The young children know there is a Santa Claus, and the older people know that there are many former Stewartites in Prince Rupert who have retained a soft spot in their hearts for their former home town.

Masonic Funeral Service Sunday

Universality of God's People

Rev. A. F. MacSween Describes Restoration of Christian Spirit For Settlement of Disputes

In fixing responsibility for war guilt, while admitting that an iniquitous system had been set up by the enemy, it should also be remembered that conditions had been forced upon Germany which had caused her people to turn in desperation to Hitler and his promises, declared Rev. A. F. MacSween, pastor of first Presbyterian Church, in his morning sermon at First Presbyterian Church yesterday. Mr. MacSween mentioned spirit of superiority man over man for such superficial differences as wealth, social position and intellectual attainments as causes of strife. Righteousness, mercy and justice of God's truth recognized no such distinctions. In the restoration of permanent peace, it was necessary to meet on the common ground of all people as the children of a universal God.
