FIRE BUG AT WORK

Incendiary Fire Attempts Uncovered — Victory Rooms May Have Been Arson

At least two arson attempts have been definitely uncovered in the city and it is strongly suspected that a "fire bug" may have been responsible for the starting of the fire which virtually destroyed the Victory Rooms premises at the corner of Third Avenue and Eighth Street early Thursday morning.

While the fire at the Victory Rooms was being dealt with, there was a fire at the King George Hotel, corner of Second Avenue and Eighth Street, just a block away. This fire, it has been established, was started by paper being stuffed in the bottom of a partition from the basement. The flames ran up through the partition and were extinguished by occupants of the premises through use of water without the aid of the fire department.

The same night there was an attempt at incendiarism in the Clinton Rooms on Fraser Street, also a short distance from the Victory Rooms, where paper soaked with oil had been stuffed through a basement window. The pane of the window had been previously broken and had been boarded up. The board was knocked out. Nearby was found a can which had contained oil.

Another suspicious circumstance probably bearing on the Victory Rooms fire itself is that a tin which had evidently contained oil was found just across the lane from the rear of the Victory Rooms. In the same lane it was found that oil had been taken out of an oil barrel which was placed there. It is also considered possible that the fire of a couple of weeks ago in Blain's carpenter shop may have been of incendiary origin. Circumstances were also suspicious there as the fire evidently started from more than one point.

Police and fire departments are continuing investigations leading it is hoped to the apprehending of what appears to be a dangerous individual.

YANKS ARE MOVING UP

Take Somewhat Stronger Grasp on Leadership of American League

NEW YORK, June 5 (CP) — New York Yankees extended their margin of American League leadership to one-and-a-half games yesterday as a result of a ten-inning victory over the St. Louis Browns. The Detroit Tigers won a close contest over Washington Senators to advance into the runner-up position, ousting the Senators from that position. As a result of yesterday's play the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago White Sox are tied for fourth place with games won balancing games lost.

With the leading Brooklyn Dodgers and the second place St. Louis Cardinals both winning, the National League standing remains little changed with the exception of the Phillies, by losing to the St. Louis Cardinals, falling into sixth place below Boston Bees.

Coal Miners of United States to Resume Jobs Until June 20

WASHINGTON, June 5 (CP) — John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and the policy committee of the union yielded to the United States government yesterday and called off the coal strike effective next Monday, the deadline set by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Lewis announced yesterday that he would recommend the return of the coal mine workers to their jobs Monday. Later the policy committee adopted the recommendation. However, the United Mine Workers' leadership announced today that authorization to resume work beginning Monday is limited to a period ending June 20 indicating that a truce rather than a settlement had been reached.

Brindisi is Latest Objective and Much Damage is Done There

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 5 (CP) — Nearly 125 tons of bombs were dropped by United States bombers on the smothered Grottaglie airfield near Brindisi in southeastern Italy yesterday while other Allied planes shuttled over Pantelleria, Sicily, and Italy in daylight blows at Mussolini's anti-invasion strongholds. Cairo dispatches said that hangars and administration buildings at Grottaglie were covered with direct hits which left large fires burning.

Adolf Hitler Has Narrow Escape From Train Wreck

LONDON, June 5 (CP) — The Daily Sketch reported today that Chancellor Adolf Hitler missed by ten minutes an explosion which wrecked a French railway line near Laon when he was returning from a visit to his "Atlantic Wall" in Brittany recently.

The newspaper, quoting neutral sources, said Hitler, accompanied by Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, Admiral Karl Donetz and Gestapo Chief Himmler was forced to leave the train and travel by motor car.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 5 (CP) — The Department of the Navy announced that the campaign on Attu Island in the Aleutians cost the Americans 1535 casualties including 342 soldiers dead, the Japanese losses being five times that many.

The landing was attended with no loss of naval ships or personnel. Secretary of the Navy Knox said that work on the air field lost by the Japs was proceeding and possession of Attu would prove "embarrassing" to the enemy.

War Industries Fully Charted

LONDON, June 5 (CP) — Total planning of all Britain's war industries has been completed. More than 60 offices have been established throughout the country and they have collected details of every factory and workshop in their areas. A glance at a card index system shows whether a factory should be given more contracts or whether their shops have work planned for two years.

FISH ORDER TO BRITAIN

Local Company Endeavoring to Enlist Women Workers in Order to Handle It

The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. has accepted a contract to supply the British government with a quantity of species of fish which have not been caught before in any quantity in local waters but is finding it almost impossible to fill the order owing to shortage of labor.

In order to obtain the necessary help, the company is now endeavoring to interest local women in taking up the work of handling the fish to supply the British market. The same scale of pay as that prevailing for men doing similar work is being offered.

LISBON, June 5 (CP) — Seven unidentified Canadian airmen who parachuted yesterday from a crippled bomber off the Bay of Biscay said their plane was attacked by enemy aircraft which, apparently, were continuing patrols in force in that area.

Earlier in the week an unarmed commercial transport, reportedly carrying Leslie Howard among the passengers, was shot down shortly after taking off from Lisbon for London.

URGES ZEAL IN KNITTING

I.O.D.E. President Says There's Much to be Done

EDMONTON, June 5 (CP) — In the reconstruction period following the war an organization such as the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire could help materially in bringing about a better world, and the I.O.D.E. Empire Study Committees exist for this very purpose, Mrs. W. B. Horkins, National President of the I.O.D.E. declared in an address at the 43rd annual meeting of that organization here.

"The pre-war world is gone forever. We propose still to enjoy freedom of speech, freedom of religion, to try to bring about freedom from fear and want but it is not to be expected that we can produce a new paradise. It may be very difficult not to feel bitter but our energies should be directed to a better purpose and every member of the I.O.D.E. should work toward the building of a better and permanently progressive world," Mrs. Horkins said.

The I.O.D.E. was designed to function both through peace and war, said the National President, paying tribute to the "magnificent manner" in which members had carried out the dual function. It was impossible to disassociate the war work and the peacetime activities, she pointed out.

Avoid Loose Talk

Mrs. Horkins urged all I.O.D.E. members to become a potent factor in controlling rumor and avoiding loose talk. She stressed the need for women to "go back to their knitting needles with increased zeal" as comforts for fighting forces would be needed in ever increasing quantities in the immediate future. Members were also asked to make sacrifices in order to purchase increased number of war savings stamps and certificates.

The President said the I.O.D.E. had a real and definite task in helping to maintain a link with the Empire. "If we are true daughters of the Empire we must work unceasingly to strengthen the ties between Canada and the Motherland and to cement the bonds of Empire. No matter how prosaic one's occupation, it is an integral part of a great scheme of Empire building," she said.

Mrs. Horkins paid tribute to the "magnificent co-operation" of provincial presidents of the I.O.D.E. and to the "devotion to duty, loyalty and sincerity of fellow officers."

Is Injured While Working

George Oakley Falls Fifteen Feet, Sustaining Possible Fractured Skull

George Oakley, 30, 631 Tatlow street, steel worker at the local dry dock was injured last night shortly after 11:30 when he fell from the top of a hull under construction to a steel deck fifteen feet below. While working, Oakley was sitting on a plank which was on some lower deck beams. The plank moved and slipped through the beams, taking him down with it, where he struck a steel platform, apparently on the upper part of his back. He was attended immediately by the first aid man on duty and, in a short time, was removed to the hospital.

While his condition this morning is reported to be improved, there is a possibility that he has a fractured skull.

LESS MEAT MEALS NOW

Local Restaurateurs Get Together To Arrange Schedule

RESTAURANT SCHEDULE

Sunday—Steaks and chops or anything available.
Monday—Foasts, bo's, stews and unrationed products.
Tuesday—Meatless.
Wednesday — Roasts, boils, stews and unrationed products.
Thursday — Roasts, boils, stews and unrationed products.
Friday—Meatless.
Saturday—Steaks, chops or anything available.

Faced with the prospect of running out of meat by the middle of the month under the rationing allowance if they continue to serve meals as at present, local restaurant operators, meeting last night at the Commodore Cafe with Jack Scott, local meat rations officer, agreed to serve less meat meals and, in order to spread out the meat available under the restaurant quota, based on the number of meals served in May, set a schedule of the meats that will be served each day in all restaurants. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays roasts, boils and stews will be featured, Saturdays and Sundays steaks and chops and Tuesdays and Fridays will be meatless.

The result of the new meat rationing restrictions will be that some of the higher grade cuts will be a rarity. Such as T-bone steaks will probably disappear altogether and ham and bacon will be scarce.

Revolution in Argentina . . .

The revolution or political coup in Argentina, which ever it might be fitting to call it, looks like another demonstration in favor of the Allied cause in the war. The ousted President Ramon Castillo was the last head of a western hemisphere government of any importance to retain relations with the Axis. Now he is gone before Argentinean revolutionaries who proclaim "Long Live Freedom, Long Live Democracy!" The fact that the coup was so speedily and bloodlessly accomplished indicates that Castillo, if he had not lost favor, had, at least, lost control.

It is rather difficult at this distance to appraise the political situation in Buenos Aires although it was apparent that Castillo, who is now deposed, was no particular friend of ours. Perhaps Argentina will now declare itself with the rest of the freedom-loving nations of the world. In any case a sympathizer of the Allies is the new president.

Rebirth of France . . .

The great diplomatic struggle which has reached its climax in the union of the Giraud and DeGaullist elements is an Allied triumph in that it was a French triumph, too. It took a great deal of delicacy, secrecy and above all, honesty, to wash away the suspicion of Allied aims and the sectional jealousies of the French colonial leaders and to cleanse the area for a rebuilding of French solidarity.

But it is done now and the voice of Giraud and De Gaulle is the voice of France, not only of the colonies but of the ravaged metropolitan area as well, and, because of it, it may be that Giraud will achieve his ambition of leading the army of liberation into his home town of Metz.

The return of the French naval squadron, which for the past three years has been immobilized at Alexandria, Egypt, to activity as a part of the Allied naval strength is another of the signs indicating rebirth of the unity necessary to the strength of fighting France. The tonnage and firepower of the nine vessels involved may never turn the tide of battle in favor of the Allies but the spirit which prompted their personnel to leave the comfort of internment in Alexandria to fight again is a factor which may.

A great part of the tragedy of France in the past three years was the fact that, following their defeat, Frenchmen thought themselves vastly alone. In their misery, it seemed, even their former friends had forsaken them. The events at Oran and Dakar in 1940 strengthened this unhappy belief. And, finding themselves friendless among nations, the leaders of the scattered French colonial pockets employed a subtle strategy for survival, based, paradoxically, on the strength of their own disunity. The principle of their policy was that, as long as they remained disorganized and, therefore, harmless, they were diplomatically safe from Allied disturbance as well as being for the greater part geographically safe from Axis despoilment. This policy was somewhat modified in North Africa, owing to the closeness of Axis strength, but it was basically the same.

It is doubtful if in these three stifling years there has been a Frenchman who would not have fought to restore the integrity of his homeland. But outside the DeGaullist forces there were not many who would believe that to fight with the Allies was to fight for France.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT
 The Hostess

The new kitten I said I wouldn't have until the autumn has arrived and taken possession of our hearts. He came from Port Edward and I think he must be a brother to the one Johnny Kuntz offered me the other night. The boys who brought him to say his name is "Sarge" but I wanted "Victory" so we have compromised and his full title is "Sergeant Victory." He's coal black and the spunkiest little fellow. You'd think he had been here all his life. Just now he's asleep underneath the canteen counter.

Each Friday night we hold a bingo up here and each Friday night Cpl. Bazan of the Veterans' Guard runs it for us and so far each Friday night I have forgotten to thank him for his yeoman services. So, thanks very much, sir!

People play darts so badly. The majority think the idea is to stand as far away from the board as possible and hurl the darts with the same strength and fury that David used when working his slingshot on old Goliath. This method is best used in a javelin throwing contest and is very conducive of murder, especially if the unintentional victim crosses the path in front of a dart in action. The real technique is to stand nine feet away from the board and aim surely but gently with a quick wrist movement. In that way people in the immediate vicinity of the game are not in danger of their lives.

Well we are losing a real old timer when Cpl. "Pop" Robison of the R. C. A. M. C. leaves us in the near future. He's been here two years now. Good luck to him!

SEA CADETS HOLD TAG
 Raising Funds For Equipment For Local Unit
 The streets of Prince Rupert were marked today with the blue uniforms of the Sea Cadets as 37 boys of the local corps, with their tag and money boxes, reminded the public to support their cause in their annual tag day.
 According to Alex McRae, who with C. C. Mills is in charge of the boys selling tags, the money realized will be used to buy equipment for the local Sea Cadet unit. Raincoats for the boys are the prime requirement, in the light of a previous experience of the unit, when they attended a rally during which they stood in front of the court house in the rain until everyone was soaked. Uniforms and band instruments are other items of expense. Rapid expansion of the Sea Cadets numbers, which in the past year have increased to about 135 and by the end of the year is expected to reach 200, cannot be accomplished without an increase in available funds.
 Names of the boys who are selling tags today are: Robert Berthelet, Bill Davidson, B. Nicholl, Bob Mitchell, Ted Forman, J. Flaten, G. Rothwell, Bob Anderson, Paul Shannon, D. Larson, Bill Rothwell, S. Hemming, Bill Anderson, James Comer, Ben Fortune, E. Pierce, G. Mutch, R. McKay, H. King, J. Ladicos, F. Clapp, R. McArthur, Bill Sunbury, Don Bouvette, Robert Stacy, Ted Caine, Kenny Smith, Harold Skalmrud, E. Lein, Thomas Smith, James McDougall, Arnold Pipke, A. McChesney, M. Thompson, A. Berthelet and Ole Skog.

Waterfront Whiffs
 New Halibut Regulations Are Discussed
 —Advantages and Disadvantages—
 Prices Here Immediately Affected

At the moment we can see some disadvantages that may accrue to Prince Rupert as a result of the order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board requiring that 50 per cent of Canadian halibut be frozen for use in Canada. The object is, of course, to divert from export to the United States, where the large proportion of our halibut has been going, to the market in Canada fish which may thus improve the Canadian fish supply. At the same time, in pursuance of the government's determined anti-inflation policy, a ceiling is placed on the price of the fish to be bought for freezing and use in Canada. Whether or not the desired result will be accomplished without too much hardship being imposed on any particular branches of the industry remains to be seen. There is, no doubt, that Canadian fishermen will be righteously indignant at seeing, as accrued even yesterday, the price of half of their fish pegged at a mark several cents before the prevailing fresh fish price. They will be indignant even if the controlled price may be much higher than they have been receiving for many years.

As far as Prince Rupert is concerned the port may lose some fish through necessity of sending it to other points on the coast where there are cold storage plants.

The new regulations will involve considerable change in the way we have been handling our halibut here and, until they have been put into actual operation, it is a little difficult to measure just what the effects will be.

For the moment we can see the disadvantages as far as Prince Rupert and her fleet are concerned outweighing the advantages and we can only hope that the new order will not be too harmful to us. We do not like to think that the authorities responsible for the making of the order have not given full consideration to all the angles and satisfied themselves as to the advantage to be gained before the promulgation.

Of course, anything having such an important bearing on the halibut fisheries as has this order is of vital interest and importance to Prince Rupert.

Commenting on the order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Col. J. W. Nicholls, general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., states that his company will pay Canadian fishermen a fair price on the percentage of
