Kind of Peace Important

British Columbia was keenly and vitally interested in the kind of a peace and the kind of trading economy that would follow the war. If the nations of the world should adopt policies of strict internal economy British Columbia stood to feel the effects more deeply than other parts of the world.

The development of better conditions and facilities within the province depended upon the finding of outlets for natural resources. The province was most definitely interested in policies of international trading and currency-"matters on which so much depends for us and with the formulation of which we have so little to do."

As for this north country, Mr. Perry said that he had always been optimistic. Every dollar he owned personally was sunk in differing interests this part of the country.

An Outstanding Address . . .

An outstanding and masterly address couched in broad vision which carried his listeners out of the realm of community thought and parochial affairs to the major problems of world postwar settlement and reconstruction was delivered before a comparatively small luncheon gathering yesterday by Hon. H. G. Perry, minister of education and chairman of the British Columbit Postwar Rehabilitation Council.It was regrettable that more people could not have been present to hear the address for it would have done them good to be pulled out of the little area of local interest in which there is a tendency to become too solely engrossed, forgetful of greater and more vital problems that must be solved before we can have even the opportunity of working out our own comparatively small local affairs.. There is no intention to belittle those community matters that must be attended to or to suggest that we should no keep our own house in order and plan for its improvement and efficiency but it is also good that we should realize there are much larger things to be dealt with and in connection with which some of us might be playing a greater part.

Mr. Perry has the reputation of being one of the keenest thinkers and most lucid speakers in the public life of British Columbia today. This fact he proved yesterday in the fine address he had made in Prince Rupert, an address which would have been appreciated by and been beneficial to a much larger audience than had the privilege of hearing it.

Dry Dock Choral Grop Gets Splendid Reception

On its initial appearance the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyard Male Choir met with a splendid reception from a capacity audience in the First Presbyterian Church last evening. Under the leadership of C. A. Davis, piano-conductor, the choir sang their numbers very effectively. In addition to the choruses and solos there were instrumental numbers and these were of special merit. Miss

NO OTHER NATURAL CEREAL GIVES IT SO RICHLY

With less meat today, wise women are happy to know that by serving Quaker Oats for breakfast, they can give their hard-working family a rich source of meat's main element-protein. No other natural cereal is so rich in this vital factor for energy and growth as whole-grain patmeal. And it is richest of all natural cereals in Vitamin B1

needed for sound nerves and energy! No wonder more families than ever are calling delicious, hot breakfasts of Quaker Oats daily a "must" for wartime diets. The Quaker Outs Company of Canada Limited
