Optimism Expressed

Inspiring Address by Hon. H. G. Perry.

Another eloquent and inspiring address on the subject of war problems, his second of the day, by Hon. H. G. Perry, Minister of Education and Chairman of the Postwar Rehabilitation Council, featured a regular monthly dinner Monday night of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Perry expressed satisfaction having found in Prince Rupert the spirit of pioneer energy that had built up this city. There had been hardships and disappointments in the early days of settlement, but the same good land in the interior, the same open and agriculturally located port at Prince Rupert, this north city possessed resources which would bring richness, happiness and prosperity to thousands of people. He believed that there was a part of the Empire that looked forward to the future with greater optimism than when once again freedom would ride triumphant through the Orient, particularly to Canada, as a field for enterprise. A tremendous flow of commodities must inevitably go through this port in that trade in one or two years, one or two decades.

Mr. Perry referred to the dependence of Canada, and particularly British Columbia, on the grain trade. There were intricate, deep, baffling and perplexing problems to be faced there was no simple solution. Such a simply conceived type of system as having the government take over and the Canadians run industry would defeat the objectives which were sought. The national interest now almost double what it was before the war, must be safeguarded. Printing money can only accentuate collapse. Mr. Perry spoke of plans which governments were already considering to maintain the productive industries and promote employment.

There in British Columbia," the speaker said, "we have done a great deal of work and the government is not neglecting to carry out the recommendations." The importance of industrial research was another matter to which Mr. Perry referred. Re-arranging planning, inventory of resources, power development including rural electrification were among matters which had been studied.

The importance of making life attractive was stressed by Mr. Perry. He foresaw eventually thousands of prosperous families and contented families like the Bulkley and Nechako valleys.

Mr. Perry then went into a discussion of conditions that might be anticipated immediately after the war and then more remotely after. Prince Rupert now experiences buoyancy due to war activity, particularly shipbuilding, would have its problems, the nature of which was difficult to anticipate.

Defends Personal Interest
It was time for much deeper thinking than merely protesting that the governments were over. What was needed was a system of combined operation in peace as in war, a combination of private interest with government cooperation. Mr. Perry was forthright in defence of the principle of private enterprise inspired by the idea of gain. Thrift, he contended, was a virtue. Saving and investment were beneficial and profitable both to persons and nations. Self interest need not be "selfish" interest.

As for the youth who would return from the wars, Mr. Perry felt they were not contented not so much with the establishment of a Utopian era but were fighting merely for ordinary things, the simple privileges, to which they had been accustomed before they went to war. They were fighting

Wartime House Sale Discussed

The possibility of Wartime Housing Ltd. selling some of the houses it had erected in Prince Rupert was brought up Monday night at the meeting of the city council. Mayor W. M. Watts suggested that a committee be sent to Wartime Housing to assure that the city's interests were protected in such sales. There might be general ill-effects from such sales, it was felt.

"It is up to us, the fathers and mothers, to have for them when they return a land where they can make a living, a land where they can improve themselves and find better things than we enjoyed," concluded the speaker. "I think the governments are living up to their trust in that regard."

A bylaw allowing four and one-half per cent interest on taxes prepaid before March 31, 1944, was approved by the city council in meeting Monday night.

LIBRARY DISPLAY

Interesting Book Show at Local School Yesterday.

Indicative of the progressive approach of British Columbia educationalists to the difficult business of installing learning into the modern school child is a display of books which was open to the public yesterday and today at King Edward School.

Arranged by a group of book publishers with the cooperation of the department of education and B. Thorsteinsson, Inspector of Schools, the display is a colorful surprise to the visitor who remembers the drab textbooks of his own school days.

Color, simplicity, and familiar comparison, seems to be the common note among all the books arranged on tables in the King Edward display room. Bright illustrations with simplified texts invited the younger children to turn the pages of the books meant for them, and the illustrations themselves implore the child to read the accompanying text.

"It is part of the activity or enterprize approach to education which encourages students to dig out information for themselves," Mr. Thorsteinsson explained. "The idea is carried out with modifications in application, but not in principle, to the higher grades."

The books now being printed contain the works of the most skillful illustrators, and are vividly written by the best writers. They range from colored pamphlets to children's encyclopedias.

The idea behind the display is not to sell books to school students. Mr. Thorsteinsson emphasized. The expense to parents would be prohibitive. School libraries are the answer he is certain.

"It draws attention to the need for added library facilities in schools," he declared, "for only in that way is it practicable for students to have access to a great number of books at small expense."

Teachers are not neglected by the representation of books either. One display table is given over to books on teaching methods based on the latest advantages in instruction and psychology.

The provincial government through the Department of Education makes annual grants toward school libraries to school boards who allocate funds for library purposes. The system works on a fifty-fifty basis, the government and the school boards contributing an equal amount.

The display is open to the public, with special invitations to teachers and such groups as the Parent-Teachers' Association, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Rotary and Gyro Clubs and others.

Air Traffic Is Increased

WINNIPEG, Dec. 8—In the first ten months of this year, Trans-Canada Air Lines carried 116,995 passengers, 3,021,771 pounds of mail and 656,877 pounds of express, according to figures released by O. T. Larson, Trans-Canada Air Lines' vice-president, as compared with the corresponding period last year, the number of passengers increased by 30,841, mail volume was greater by 1,293,380 pounds and express by 378,913 pounds.

Education makes annual grants toward school libraries to school boards who allocate funds for library purposes. The system works on a fifty-fifty basis, the government and the school boards contributing an equal amount.

The display is open to the public, with special invitations to teachers and such groups as the Parent-Teachers' Association, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Rotary and Gyro Clubs and others.

Hon. H. G. Perry, Minister of Education, was among those visiting the display.

Mrs. Howard Hibbard and child returned to the city this morning from a trip to Vancouver.

AMBULANCE ORGANIZING

Committee Representing Public Bodies Has Taken Charge

Following ratification by the city proposals outlined for the operation and maintenance of an ambulance, the committee appointed by these bodies and the citizens of the community met again last night to consider ways and means to put these proposals into effect.

The committee chose as its name "The Prince Rupert Ambulance Committee" and named Alderman George E. Hills as chairman, Arnold Flaten as treasurer and H. D. Thain as secretary.

As the result of the indicated wish of the Gyro Club, the funds collected by that organization are being turned over to the committee and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the Gyros for the excellent work they have done in this connection.

The committee contemplates building a garage in the vicinity of the City Hall and a minimum objective of $5,000 has been set for the purpose of purchasing the ambulance and erecting the building. Enquiries are now being made as to costs and priorities have been applied for. It is felt that the sum mentioned is the very least that would be required to provide modern equipment and that the type selected will have to be governed by the money available.

It is understood that approximately $1500 has been collected to date and an immediate appeal is being made to all citizens to make donations to either the newspapers or to Mr. Flaten, treasurer of the Prince Rupert Ambulance Committee. It was pointed out that no sum is too large and none too small to aid in this project, which may prove of benefit to every citizen.

Allied Gains Toward Rome

ALGIERS, Dec. 8 (P)—The Allied Fifth Army has captured the summit of lofty Mount Camino, routed the Nazis from three villages southwest of Mignano and recaptured Monastery Ridge in bitter fighting to win the heights overlooking the road to Cassino and Rome, it was announced today.

Official reports said that the enemy had been shoved back to firing from the ridges on the northern and western edges of Mount Camino and Mount Maggiore. The Fifth Army's drive was accompanied by fresh gains in the Eighth Army's Adriatic coastal sector.

The Eighth Army beat off Nazi counter attacks and reported limited advances in the area of the Moro River, where both British tanks and infantry have crossed the stream.

Bound With Allies By Closest Unity Assert Churchill-Roosevelt

Three-day Conference Has Been Held — Friendship Between Ottoman Empire and Russia Also Attest to.

"BENEVOLENT NON-BELLIGERENCY"
ANKARA, Dec. 8—The Turkish policy has been officially described as "benevolent non-belligerency" in relation to the Allies. A million men have been called to arms and the streets of Ankara are filled with soldiers. Defences are being bolstered everywhere. Marshal Rommel's forces are starting a full scale offensive in Yugoslavia and Nazi forces are being rushed into Bulgaria and Greece.

CAIRO, Dec. 8 (CP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Franklin Roosevelt announced Tuesday night the conclusion of a three-day conference with President Ismet Inonu of Turkey in which they studied the general political situation, "examined at length the policy to be followed" and found their countries bound by "closest unity".

The immediate reaction in Cairo was that a full scale Allied Balkans campaign is planned with the assurance that Turkey would co-operate directly or indirectly or in some way facilitate a drive against the back door of Hitler's Europe.

Firm friendship between Turkey and Russia was attested to in a communique. The Soviet ambassador attended most of the sessions on December 4, 5 and 6.

Cairo was flooded with rumors including the prediction that Turkey was ready to enter the war immediately on the side of the Allies.

The sober fact seemed to be that Turkey is near sizeable German ground forces and air fields and she would need Allied help if she should abandon neutrality.

The possibility remained that Turkey, while maintaining neutrality, might cede bases to the Allies as neutral Portugal did in the Azores.

At London Turkey's new alignment was seen as a prelude to a Balkan smash calculated to precipitate the collapse of German's tottering satellites Bulgaria and Rumania.

LINE-UPS ALL OVER

Looks Like People Are More Interested in Liquor Than Anything Else, Says George Nickerson.

"There is a liquor line-up in every city in the United States and Canada," remarked G. W. Nickerson who returned to the city today after an extended business trip to many points from one end of the country to the other.

"There is plenty of money to spend, evidently, and people seem to be more interested in buying liquor than anything else."

"No one ever is heard complaining about shortage of meat and butter but let them be denied their liquor and their is a hue and cry."

"And what do you think of that attitude?" Mr. Nickerson was asked, replying with the comment that he did not approve of any one wasting money on liquor.

QUESTION OF JAPS

J. A. Paton, M.L.A., Would Not Give Government to Those Favoring Them—Steel Mill.

J. A. Paton, M.L.A. for Vancouver-Burrard and another member of the rehabilitation council, was also heard briefly at Monday night's Chamber of Commerce dinner. He referred humorously to experiences in Prince Rupert in the early days, acknowledging the progress which had been made since the founding of the city. Prince Rupert had been a difficult place to build from a municipal standpoint but now he believed it was "ready to go."

Mr. Paton prescribed the establishment of a steel mill on this coast as the nucleus of a new era of industrial development. This was a matter in which he felt the provincial government might well take the initiative.

Mr. Paton also had something to say about the question of permitting the Japs to return to the coast. "In the main I would say the people do not want the Japs but would send them back home after the war. I would not entrust the government of the country to people who would favor bringing them back here."

Float Watchman Is Being Asked

The city council Monday night decided to ask the federal Department of Fisheries to establish a watchman at the fishermen's floats to look after property there including the city installations which have been suffering from vandalism.

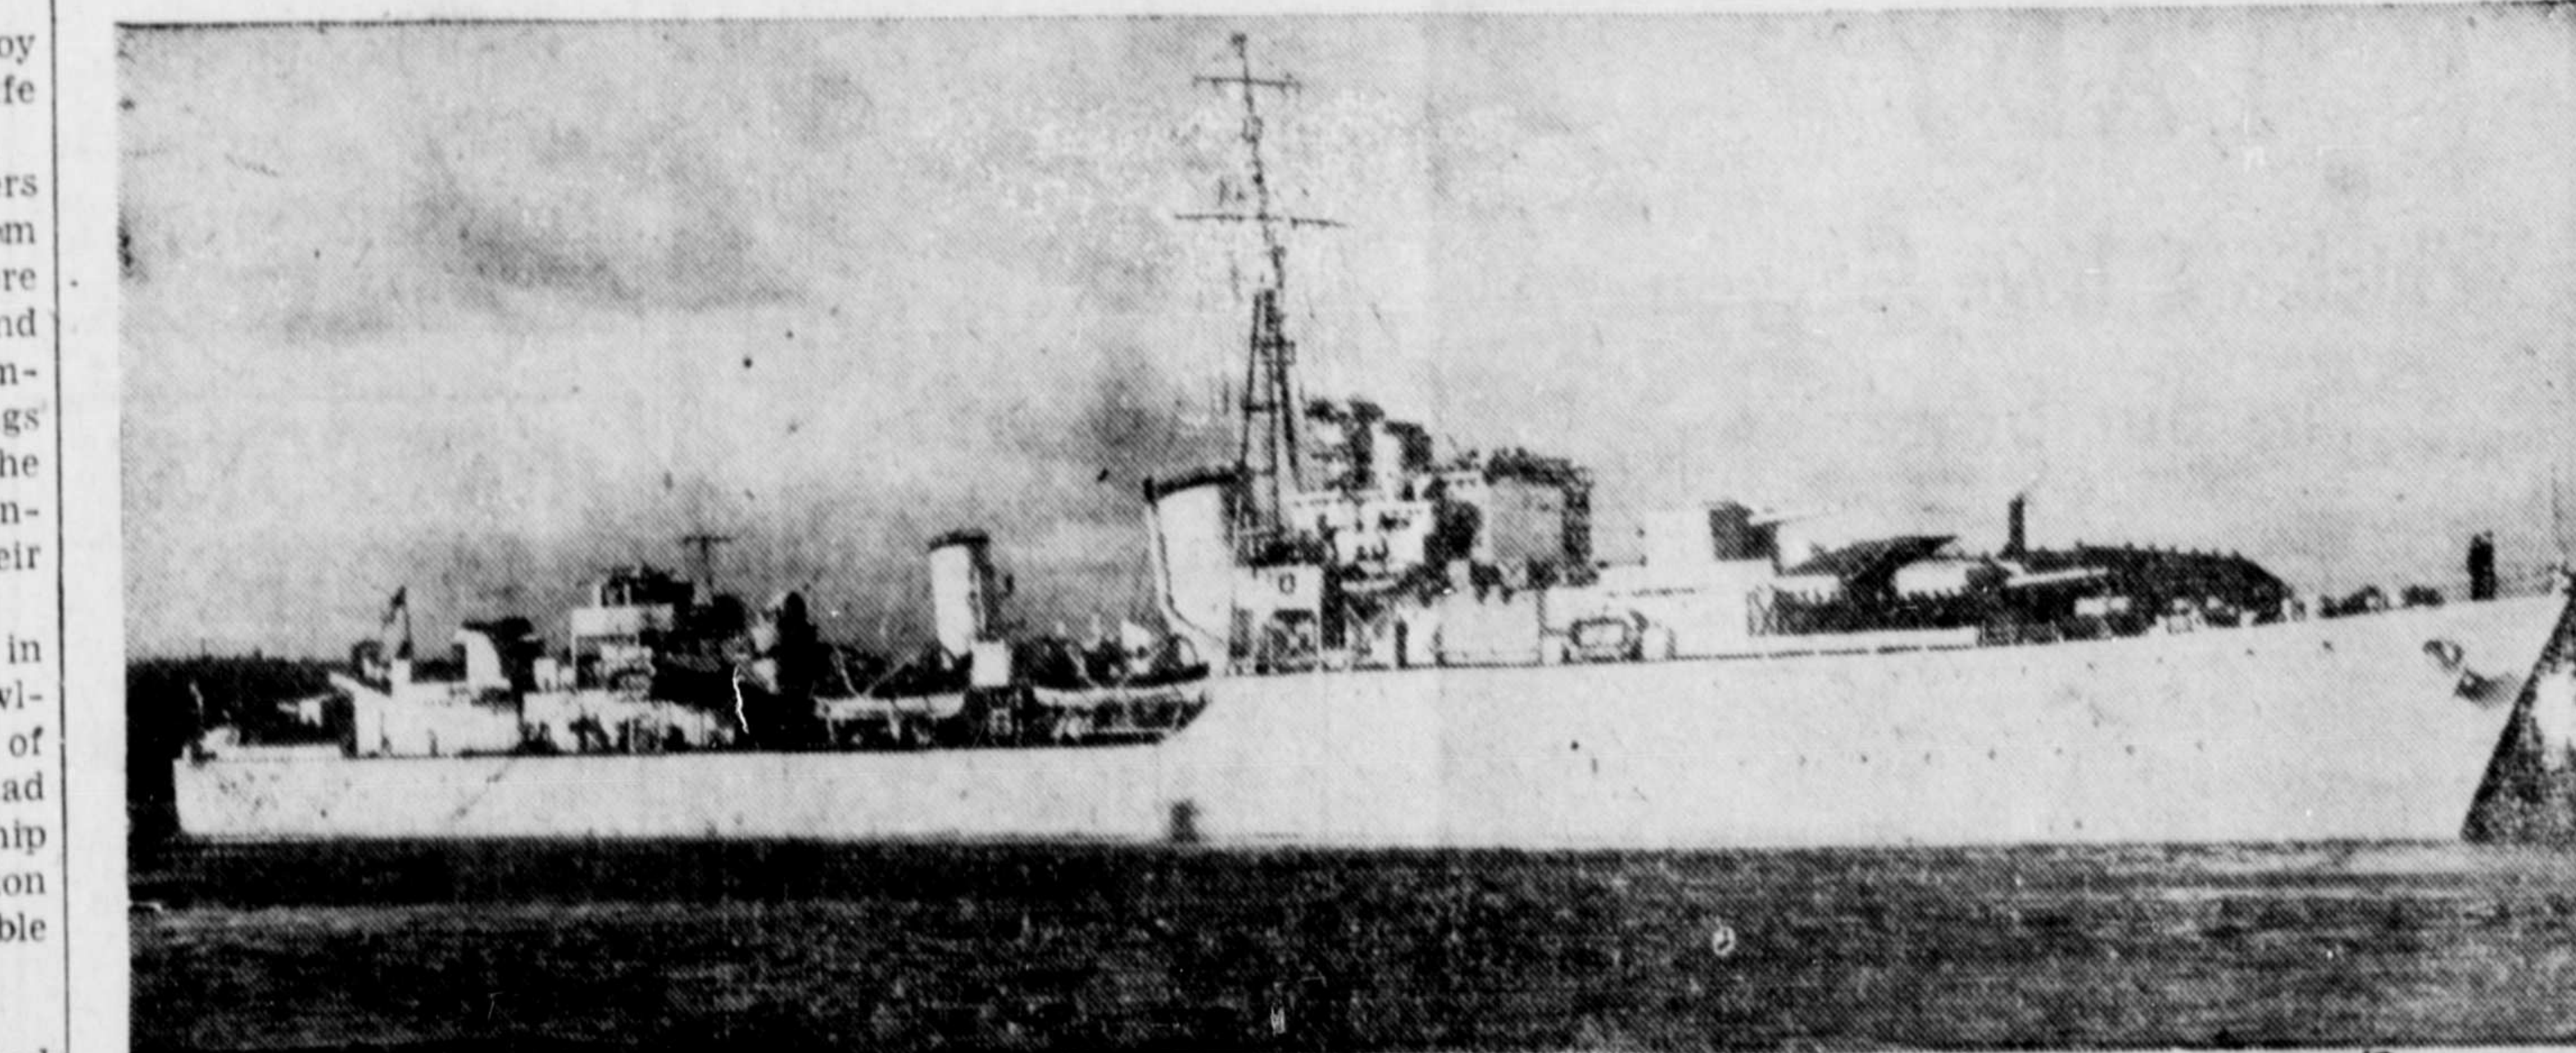

Ald. Robert McKay felt that men who made their homes on boats at the floats to elect from their number some who would be responsible for the caring of the property and the maintenance of sanitary arrangements.

Owing to the transient nature of the property at the floats, Ald. Sorensen thought it would be impracticable to have a permanent committee in charge of the floats but he suggested a rental might be charged whereby the services of a watchman might be paid for.

Ald. Daggett thought the matter might be taken up with the harbor master.

At the suggestion of Mayor Watts it was decided to take the matter up with the Department of Fisheries. Inquiry was also made in regard to light and water services at the floats. The minister of fisheries was going into this, the mayor said.

H.M.C.S. "Athabaskan"

Damaged by a glider bomb in a battle with a score of Nazi planes last August, H.M.C.S. "Athabaskan," Tribal Class Destroyer, is back at sea again. Her losses in the engagement were five dead and twelve requiring hospital treatment. The bomb passed completely through "Athabaskan's" hull from port to starboard, through the Petty Officers' Mess, exploding in the water 20 feet clear of the ship. Here is "Athabaskan," before the action.

Teheran Announcement . . .

That Great Britain, United States and Soviet Russia are not only solidly agreed upon the procedure that is to be followed in winning the war through the effective military defeat of Germany but also firmly determined to adopt principles that will establish a sound and lasting peace based on premises obviating the circumstances leading up to future wars is good and important news—the gist as it was of the joint announcement made Monday by "Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill" following the epochal Teheran Conference. Nothing could have been more forthright than their declaration that "no power on earth can prevent our destroying the German armies . . . U-boats and . . . war plants."

If there was any doubt in the minds of any one that the three great powers were not wholly together in the aims of both war and peace the declaration signed personally by their supreme leaders must have now surely removed it. And the declaration also carried the assurance, implied if not actually said, that the three powers are now definitely and assuredly on the march of victory and have the situation so well in hand that it is at last a question of "finishing the job" as speedily as possible—and they seem to be well on the way to that.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

Thursday afternoon the Service Wives Club will meet in the ladies' lounge at the "Y". Mrs. Strand, the secretary, says that she has notification that the Christmas party parcels are on the way and she will be getting in touch with you when it's time to wrap them up.

L.A.C. "Chuck" Lacroix came in yesterday with that "have-a-clear" look on his face to tell me that he was the proud father of a small son born in Montreal on December 6. The baby's name is to be Gary and he weighed nine pounds six ounces when born.

Frank Ryan tells me he is trying to get some honest-to-goodness kiddies' films for the Christmas party. Jack MacClelland says that last year by some error the kiddies at the Seal Cove Christmas party were treated to "The Battle of the Midway." So Frank's making sure they get the right thing this time. "Keep-on-tryin'-Ryan" they call him.

At the supervisor's meeting this morning holiday schedules for next year were being made out. It certainly makes time fly by when you're planning for August, 1944, before old 1943 is decently buried, let alone dead. What was it the Bard said:

'Tis but an hour ago since it was nine,
And after one more hour 'twill be eleven,
And so from hour to hour we ripe and ripe,
And then from hour to hour we rot and rot—
And thereby hangs a tale.

And wise old Shakespeare put these words into the mouth of one of his fools.

Two interesting Christmas cards have come my way this week—one a scene from Dickens is from—you guessed it—Frank Guy Armitage and the other is from Wren Joyce Blackburne who was one of my evacuee children and is now with the British Admiralty delegation in Washington. The regulation naval insignia of crown and anchor is topped by a saucy little Jenny Wren. A combination of dignity and impudence that is refreshing.

COMMUNITY INDUSTRY

Editor, Daily News:
In his speech last Sunday, Mr. Winch, brought up several points which merit the attention of all people in Rupert, irrespective of their agreement or otherwise, with Mr. Winch's political views.

Mr. Winch asked his audience—What was to become of Prince Rupert after the war? He asked what provision was being made to provide employment of the thousands now engaged in war industry in this community and the many Rupert boys now in the armed forces.

It seems unthinkable that Prince Rupert will revert to its prewar status after we have kicked Hitler and Tojo. But unless we the people of Rupert get busy now and do something about it that is undoubtedly what will happen. True, there may possibly be a naval base or something similar here. But it remains an indisputable fact that, if shipbuilding ceased or was seriously curtailed, a very large percentage of our population would have to move elsewhere. The majority of our new citizens do not expect to remain here after the war for the simple reason that they do not think that there will be anything for them to do. I submit that such a situation does no build a community on a sound basis.

Recent Victory Loan drives and other money raising projects have proven that there is a large amount of surplus purchasing power available today right here in Rupert. Can not some way be devised to use some of this, to start a community project for the public ownership and operation of some peace-time industry here.

Mr. Winch referred to late lamented pulp mill plans. I am no expert in these matters but if experts advise that Prince Rupert is the logical centre for a pulp mill, then why not have a community owned pulp mill? It is no use waiting for some benevolent capitalist, in Vancouver or Seattle, to provide means of employment for the people of Prince Rupert. If he has faith enough in this town to build an industry here, he must figure that there is a percentage in it for himself. Why should not this community collectively get that percentage?

It seems to me to be a question whether we have enough faith in ourselves and in our resources to build up our own community or whether we have not. It is not a question of politics or tremendously involved economic theories. Here we have twenty thousand people in a war dependent largely upon an industry which they themselves expect to operate on a much smaller scale, if at all, after the war. On the other hand we have at present the money and the resources to build an industry to replace our present source of income. Is it not about time we stopped talking gloom and started helping ourselves?

It is all very well to talk about the new and better Can-

Inquiries were made at Monday night's meeting of the city council if anything had been done in the matter of walk repairs on Sherbrooke Avenue and at Sixth Avenue and Fulton Street. Ald. Robert McKay explained that there had been some difficulty in obtaining materials.

Further information is to be obtained by the city council in connection with the case of a church which was reported to be using its premises for other than church services and collecting revenue therefor. In such cases churches are subject to losing tax exemption privileges.

Basketball Buzz

The high-flying Little Americans, who are tied for first place in the Area Basketball League, are slated to tangle with the Reserve Army quintet in the Naval Drill Hall Thursday night. In five games played to date Reserves have dropped but one tilt and the Little Amerks are unbeaten.

Another team which hasn't tasted defeat yet, the Yanks, is scheduled to meet Air Force in the second half of a double-header at Seal Cove. In the curtain-raiser, Navy collides with Ack-Acks.

Other engagements will bring together Fortress and High School and Coast Regiment and Ontario Regiment.

Unless the two United States clubs are defeated they will be in a commanding position atop the league. The only Canadian team which is threatening their grip on the top rung is Reserve Army. The Reserves handed Air Force a 64-40 setback in their last game, but it remains to be seen whether they will be able to subdue the Little Americans also.

The standings:

Little Amerks	5	0	10
Yanks	5	0	10
Reserves	4	1	8
Air Force	3	2	6
Fortress	3	2	6

Petty Thieves Are Active

Various and unpredictable are the inclinations of thieves. Having turned the past few days and nights into a veritable festival of petty crime with their activities, reports of strange losses are turned in to police headquarters by the victims.

A hat, hanging in the hallway of the residence of Mrs. James Park, Ambrose Avenue, was reported stolen.

Climbing a fire escape and entering through a Grade Seven classroom, thieves took a small amount of money from a desk in Booth Memorial School.

Police are investigating a break-in at the home of R. M. Winslow at 349 Fourth Avenue East.

A letter from Fisheries Minister Bertrand stating that the city's request for improvement of fishing float facilities was being given sympathetic consideration was brought up for discussion at the city council meeting Monday night.
