Prince Rupert Man Saves Corvette From Foundering in Wild Atlantic Storm

AT A NORTHERN IRELAND PORT, June 1 (CP)—The Royal Canadian Navy might have had one corvette less today if it had not been for a 63-year old navy man now based at Prince Rupert. He is Chief Engine Room Artificer John Griffiths who was in service on H.M.C.S. shipping water through a jammed sea cock in an easterly gale and then found that the pumps would not work because of waste jammed in the intakes.

"Somehow Griffiths kept one pump working all the time, enough to keep even with the water coming in," said Lieut. Commander John Littler, the Brandon's skipper. "He and his men had to work in the water for twelve hours to do it with the seas so high water was pouring in through the ventilators and doors but he brought us through."

HONORED BY KING

Skipper Jimmy Thomas is Made Member of Order of British Empire

OTTAWA, June 1 (CP)—Skipper Coxswain W. J. Thomas of the Fishermen's Reserve at Prince Rupert has been created a member of the military division of the Order of the British Empire in the King's Birthday honors announced this afternoon.

Skipper "Jimmy" Thomas is one of Prince Rupert's best known pioneer mosquito fleet operators of Prince Rupert. He has been here since the early days and for years operated a charter power cruiser. He now owns and operates the well known fish packer Viner. The choice of Skipper Thomas for King's Birthday honors will meet with general approval.

Only Matter of Time Before Remaining Jap Snipers Are Cleaned Up

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 1—Small remaining pockets of Japanese resistance on Attu Island have been surrounded by the Americans and it will only be a matter of a short time before they are cleaned up. There are only a few Japanese snipers still hidden in rocks and gulleys.

United States engineers say it will only take a few days, with the use of mechanical equipment, to have the air base on Attu, which the Japanese had been building with hand work, in readiness for use.

Allied Fighting Planes Back Over Enemy Territory Yesterday

LONDON, June 1 — Allied fighters swarmed across the English Channel yesterday to resume the assault on Reich controlled territory after a night of comparative inactivity in the air war. Docks, railway lines, factories and oil stations in the Low Countries and France were vigorously attacked. Two enemy planes were shot down over Neuport.

Again today Royal Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force fighters sped over the southeast coast today to resume attacks on the Nazi-held Channel coast.

STRIKE ON IN MINES

Collieries of United States Pretty Well Tied up Today Following Expiry of Deadline

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 1 (CP)—Work whistles sounded in vain in the most of United States government-operated coal mines today as by far a greater proportion of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers again followed his injunction against "trespassing" on mine property in the absence of a contract. Expiration at midnight of the twice-extended truce which kept the pits operating in spite of deadlocked wage negotiations brought no word from Lewis to the men but he had made it clear previously that the mines would not "trespass" when the contract ran out.

A general work stoppage was quite evident today with hundreds of thousands of miners affected in Pennsylvania, Alabama, Kentucky, West Virginia, Illinois, Ohio, Colorado and other states following the expiry of the old agreement.

If appeals to the miners fail, troops may be sent into the coal fields, it was said here today.

"There definitely is sabotage in this case," said Inspector W. G. Ingram of the provincial police. No arrests have yet been made.

The communique also said that 31 enemy planes were shot down and eight more probably destroyed in Allied raids on Ichang Monday. The latest Japanese drive upon Chungking appears to be collapsing with defeated Japanese forces in flight.

MEAT SALE HERE HEAVY

Rationing Caused Rush Last Week But it Has Been Quiet Since

While the first three days of meat rationing cannot reveal locally at least any sure indication of the trends which will be caused by it, it is thought unlikely at Prince Rupert meat markets that rationing will cause any increase in their troubles. One meat market reported that sales for Thursday, Friday and Saturday had shown a slight slump, owing to the fact that people had bought meat in heavy quantities for several days before in anticipation of fancied rationing shortages.

Most of the city's meat markets have been operating in high gear for months and, while it is not known if the rationing order will reduce the quantity of their sales, it certainly will not increase them, and it may have the effect of distributing the week's business more evenly throughout the six days.

It is expected that the sale of certain choice cuts of meat will be reduced because of their high ration value—that is the lower quantity to be obtained per coupon.

EDITORIAL

DAILY EDITION Tuesday, June 1, 1943

New Moves Are Due . . .

The Japanese campaign in the Pacific has slowed up. We have only to consider what our enemy across the water has done so far this year in comparison with his onslaught of last year and its tremendous results. Today we see him stalemated in the southern Pacific, being to large extent held by the Chinese in their area, at a standstill in Burma and now suffering reverses in the Aleutians. The Jap is losing face and that is the time when he can be most dangerous and surprising. That is the time when it is quite unpredictable where he may strike next.

There are certain places where our Oriental enemy certainly can and might be reasonably expected to strike. Indeed, there are many such places. Prince Rupert is one of those places.

Without appearing to be unduly alarming, this might again be a good time to consider what the effects of an attack might be and to take what reasonable safeguards we can. It is obvious from what we see about us that the military authorities are not unmindful of the possibilities and are preparing to meet them. Civilians would also do well to be on their guard these long summer days.

New Alberta Premier . . .

Chief personal disciple of the late William Aberhart in Social Credit and first lieutenant of the dead Premier as head of the Alberta government, Hon. E. C. Manning, as might have been expected, has become the new Premier of Alberta after being chosen by a Social Credit caucus to succeed Mr. Aberhart.

Former minister of trade and industry and provincial secretary in the Aberhart government, Mr. Manning may be expected to carry on along lines very similar to those which Mr. Aberhart followed — a government which would be idealistic but which it has been found by experience must be conducted practically and consistently, compatible with the rest of the world.

By a long measure the youngest Premier in Canada. Mr. Manning, now only thirty-four years of age, will possess the vigor and enthusiasm of youth and a measure of experience that it is the fortune of few administrators of his youth to have behind him. Conditions are ideal for him to serve his province in its highest office with good effect.

Jimmy Thomas Honored . . .

We are happy indeed to record the news this afternoon of the conferring of a King's Birthday honor upon Skipper Jimmy Thomas of Prince Rupert. As far as we are aware, this is the first time that a member of the Fishermen's Reserve has been so honored.

We do not know what particular exploit, if any, was the basis for Skipper Thomas being singled out for the honor but we can say that probably no one more richly merits it than he. To that we are sure that his many friends, and there are none of our marine men who have come over the years to be more widely known and more highly esteemed than Jimmy, will agree. At the same time, we know that Jimmy would modestly say that, in being awarded the King's honor, he does so not only from an individual standpoint but he does so as the member of a service that, since the first of the war and before that indeed, has been doing a yeoman service in the protection and defence of these coasts. Possibly not everyone appreciates just what a job the Fishermen's Reserve has been performing in season and out, in fair weather and foul—a patrol job that it will continue doing quietly and willingly as long as war persists.

So in adding our word of congratulations to our old friend Skipper Jimmy Thomas in the individual sense, we think it is also fitting to pay tribute on this occasion to all the other ships and men of the Fishermen's Reserve whom we here in Prince Rupert know so well and esteem so highly.

Probably only a few of the old timers will recall that Skipper Thomas, who first came here in 1909 where he had been for five years in the fish business, established on old Rupert Road the Central Fish Market, second fish market to be operated in this city. He did not, however, remain long in that line but went into the charter launch business with the cruiser Alice B., which was a popular vessel with picnic parties and as a general service boat in the early days. Later he acquired the larger boat Viner which for years he has operated as a fish packer and presently as a patrol vessel in the Fishermen's Reserve.

ARMY GETS FINE SHOW

Excellent Variety Program Is Presented Sunday Night

(By Dorothy Garbutt)

Sunday night's concert for the troops at the Capitol Theatre was the best of the local talent concerts to date—not that any individual members were better but there was balance and variety which added immensely to the total enjoyment.

As Cleaver Wilson took ill just prior to the performance Doug Badger substituted at a moment's notice as master of ceremonies and made a very good job of it. Russ Isadore's band opened the show with one of Russ's own compositions, dedicated to Prince Rupert, called "The Muskeg Blues." This was followed by the old favorite "The Pagan Love Song."

Professor McLelland's quizz interlude followed. This time it was a musical quizz and the quizmaster was Don MacLean of the Air Force. The contesting teams were the Navy and the Army with the Army winning by ten points. The stunt which followed the quizz was highly embarrassing for the contestants but evoked great waves of laughter from the audience. It consisted of an army man being given a large square of white cotton and a safety pin and having to arrange it in a diaper fashion upon a scarlet faced partner. Only one man did it correctly and I fancy that was more by guess than by good judgment.

Next came Isobel Connery in a tap dance. Mrs. J. S. Black accompanied. It was nice to have our friend Mrs. Black back with us again and to see a few girl acts after a long dry spell of all man shows. The boys certainly showed their appreciation by applauding again and again both Isobel and Yvonne Riffou who sang and Phyllis Hamblin who recited. Phyllis's act brought forth a lot of good natured ribbing and especially the talents of a corn-fed humorist in the back of the house but Phyllis was equal to it and always just one jump ahead of the boys. At any rate when she "spoke her piece" in her own highly unorthodox fashion she just about brought down the house. We need more Phyllises in this grim old world.

Sergeant Bob Dillon of the new regiment at the Cy Peck Camp played a pleasing medley of popular numbers on the piano. This was followed by the Ack-Ack boys in stirring hoedown music. They were recalled so often that they ran out of tunes. After this came that genial, smiling southern boy "Red" Painter of the Americans with his tee-tar and the tunes only he knows how to give. I suppose I should be very impartial in these write-ups of the concerts but honestly I could listen to him and his songs for hours, especially to the song about the rooster a-sayin' his prayers and a-layin' down the law to the hens upstairs and how the

LETTERBOX

JUST SABOTAGE

Editor, Daily News:

I would like to say something about what my friend and I experienced and which lots of men are doing also. My friend and I had been very busy all morning on a certain job. When noon hour came my friend proposed we go to a restaurant for dinner. I agreed. Soon we were at the restaurant. Promptly, very promptly, our meals were before us. These meals might have been fair appetizers but very poor hypnotizers. My friend remarked: "If they are getting less food in the Old Country than we get here, I don't see how they keep going." I was wondering. How can it be expected of certain men to do the work the country demands of them in our great war effort if they have to work on such meals. Is food so scarce that we have to put up with such as that or is it because prices are so high? We know we have to sacrifice to help to win the war. We are behind the war effort in every way. But when it comes to robbing a man's stomach like this just to suit a few individual's pockets I call it nothing else but sabotage.

The show closed with Russ Isadore's band, featuring Russ and his sax playing the jaunty "Pennsylvania Polka."

Threading through the whole show like something from a larger lunacy were Jack (Bugs) McLelland and his various ladies. In the most unexpected and to say the least inopportune moments came a screaming girl followed by Jack doing a Harpo-Marx - chasing-a-blonde impersonation. Finally amid much hullabaloo the ladies caught up with him and the fadeout was Jack being flitted off the stage by dainty Yvonne.

DETROIT, June 1 — Wendell L. Willkie, speaking before the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church here yesterday, referred to the importance of keeping post-war leadership among the common people. MORE ALARMS DURING MAY

Fire Calls More Numerous Owing To Congestion

The Prince Rupert fire department answered eleven calls during the month of May, putting out the fires in all but two cases before damage was done. In the amount of damage done the largest fire was at the Blain carpenter shop operated by the B. C. Bridge and Dredging Company, and a fire at King Edward School followed. In neither case have the damage claims been adjusted yet.

There were eight fires during April and since the beginning of the year, there have been 60 calls, as against 39 for the same period in 1942.

The increase is attributed by Fire Chief Lock to the present congested condition of the city.

Tonight's train, due from the East at 10:45, is reported to be two hours late.

I CORRECTED CONSTIPATION NATURALLY!

I Stopped "Dosing" Myself

I learned that lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet is a common cause of constipation. So I tried getting the needed "bulk" with KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is delicious as a cereal, or in tender, tasty muffins! Enjoy it every morning. Drink plenty of water, too, and don't forget, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like purgatives. It takes time. In two convenient sizes at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

"Forever and a Day" Coming to Capitol Theatre This Wednesday and Thursday

With an engrossing story covering a century and a third of English history and an unusually distinguished cast of screen luminaries, "Forever and a Day," entertaining and replete with colorful incident and deft characterization, comes to the Capitol Theatre here this Wednesday and Thursday.

A sturdy old English home, built in 1804 by the fiery Admiral Trimble, is the axis about which the story turns. The lives and loves, joys and troubles of various generations of the old admiral's descendants furnish material for the different episodes that occur from that time up to the Luftwaffe raids over London in 1940 when a heavy bomb smashes the structure to fragments. Two of the admiral's great-great-great-grandchildren, an American reporter whose London-born father still owns the property and an English girl who was born and brought up in the old house and wants to buy it, serve to introduce the plot and carry it over the intervals between the episodes. It is these two who, after the bombing, decide to rebuild the old place together if they can help to make a new world where homes and human lives will be safe.

C. Aubrey Smith plays the part of the old admiral and Ray Milland, Claude Rains, Dame May Whitty, Anna Neagle, Jessie Matthews, Ian Hunter, Charles Laughton and Cedric Hardwicke have important roles in the earlier sequences while Ida Lupino, Brian Aherne, Edward Everett Horton, Merle Oberon, Herbert Marshall, Robert Cummings, Elsa Lanchester, Roland Young and Donald Crisp are seen in later episodes. Kent Smith and Ruth Warrick portray the two descendants in the opening and closing sequences.

CAUTION OF YOUNG MAN
 He put on his cap and went into the street. He looked up and down but nowhere in the block was there a vehicle except the former owner deep blue Maria.
 In answer to blunt questions the young man replied that his car was at home. Naturally he lacked the crust to drive to, of all places, a police station, without a licence.
 "I want to be examined for a driver's licence," he told the constable at the desk.
 "Have you a car?" he asked.
 The young man replied that he had a car.
 "Then we'll see how you drive it," said the constable.
CUSTOMS AND EXCISE
 Customs and excise revenue at the port of Prince Rupert for the month of May this year totalled $74,9771.48.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?
LANDSCAPING YOUR GARDEN

The main trouble for the man with a new lot is how to overcome the tremendous job of clearing the entire lot. It is a dejected looking thing with all those stumps, stumps and sticks matted through the ground, and muskeggy, boggy growth covering the whole lot, not to mention any new second growth that has to be cut down and dug out with the rest of the rubbish. Mentioning those young evergreens I think it will be the right place to suggest something about them. It is obvious enough to everybody that these young trees are in their native habitat so much so that they really give this city a certain air that, with very little effort, could be made into something just as impressive as the avenues of palms are in Los Angeles and points south. Granted that we have so many of these young trees here, that does not make them any the less noteworthy to the observant party or even to the layman who feels and enjoys the unusual aspect without even stopping to analyse why this is so. Most of the cultivated older gardens here have eliminated these beautiful trees and shrubs entirely and little wonder for, when they were ambitious enough to make an attempt at a garden, the balance of their surroundings were so thickly overgrown with these evergreens that they simply had to eliminate them altogether to let as much sunshine and air into the clearing as possible. In time neighbors bought other lots around them and the most natural thing would be for them to play the old game of "Follow your leader" for what was good enough for the Johnsons next door ought to be good enough for them. This all happened when the present city of Prince Rupert was only a very young village with the inhabitants counted in units of one where they now may be counted in tens, not to say hundreds. But the necessity of that day is altogether gone and so are the evergreens and now you may go for blocks and blocks without ever anything of these impressive trees or natural groupings that needed no human hand to guide them in their effectiveness. At that time, when all the soil was new and not so very productive because of all the acids that were continually draining in from the surrounding bush, the main concern was to get as far away from these detrimental growths as possible and every available inch of ground had to be used for the raising of the much needed vegetables.

This is not the case today however, but it is only in a very few places that you may see these plants made use of. The entire American coastline from the Bering Straits to Fuego has gone garden conscious and a regular planning for proper effects, especially where some native attractions can be made useful, these may quite well come back to their own rights and if properly handled be made into a stunning general effect.
