Gas Masks Here . . .

Brind, by River.

It is gratifying to hear that gas masks have arrived for the civilians of Prince Rupert - some four thousand in number. They are selling, we are informed, at $1.25 each with the provision that to those who are really unable to pay for them they will be available without charge.

It is up to the people themselves now to see that they get the respirators. The responsibility of the authorities ends after fully advising the people specifically of how to obtain them.

Possibly, Prince Rupert people will be more interested in supplying themselves with these respirators than were the people of Vancouver and Victoria.

Axial rotation of the world increases from zero at the poles to 1,038 miles an hour at the equator.
